During Christmas vacation, the Y. M. C. A. has planned a basketball tournament for the Hi-Y's of Fort Wayne. Each Hi-Y may have five teams for participation in this tourney. The tourney will be of the double elimination type, which will give the teams more than one chance to play. During this week, there will also be other entertainments — swimming, ping pong, and pool. The entrants must not necessarily be members of Hi-Y, but must be captained and managed by a Hi-Y member.

Last week, the South Side Hi-Y was invited to hear the North Side Hi-Y's speaker, Howard Michaud, a member of the North Side faculty, who spoke on conservation.

Schmidt Leads Winning Team In Sales Tilt

Magazine Campaign Brings In Total Of $459.50; Home Room 38 Is Best Group

Monday marked the end of the Social Science Magazine Campaign, carried on for the past week, with the Floy-Floys headed by Eugene Schmidt being victorious over the Floggies headed by Doris Williams. A total of $459.50 worth of subscriptions were sold by the whole school, a little short of the goal of $500.

Home room 38 headed all other home rooms with a total of $83.25. Major of this home room is Eleanor Vesey, who will receive $3 and Captain Eugene Schmidt will receive $2.

Eleanor Vesey led all school salesmen with a total of $65.50; Helen Schotemeyer followed with $31. Each girl will receive the season basketball tickets donated by the athletic association.

Those who sold subscriptions to a member of the family, neighbor and relative get to go to a movie, to be announced later. Captains are requested to turn in accurate reports to room 108 immediately. No one will receive an award unless an award number is specified on the home room report sheet. No award will be given for only one sale.

Students Appreciate Decorative Attempts Of Congress Group

Members of the Inter-Club Congress certainly have not decorated the Greeley Room and the Voorhees Room in vain. We owe many thanks to them.

A few of the replies when students were asked what they thought of the decorations are:

Bill Newhard: Very superb and attractive.

Jewel Diehm: Simply sublime.

Laura Grazier: They're grand.

Sally Moorhead: Very attractive.

Jeanne Hench: They add to the attractiveness of the room.

Calvin Schultz: Just too ducky for words.

Phil Hayner: They're pretty.

Dick Dosch: They'll do in a pinch.

Jane Cocks: Beautiful.

Delores Reiter: Very pretty.

Jim Straley: Do in a pinch of salt.

Betty Baumgartner: Simply gorgeous.

Kathleen Ramer: The trees are decorated scrumptiously.

Don Wolford: They'd be OK if a little bit taller.

Chuck Haug: Snappy, just like me.

Mrs. Rieke Lauds Extemp's Session

Judges, Twenty - one Speakers Are Praised By Club Adviser; Refreshments Are Provided.

Extemp Club held the most successful of any of their meetings last Thursday night, December 8 at 4:30 o'clock. Mrs. Dorothy Rieke stated that the speakers and judges cooperated well and that the twenty-one speakers did a fine job.

The judges for last week's affair in addition to Mrs. Rieke were Mr. Herbert Rieke and Mr. David Parrish.

The food for last week's event was furnished by Carl Goebel and Dick Garton. Dorothy Rohrbach and Phyllis Geller brought the dessert. For tonight's affair, the food will be furnished by Joyce McAlister with Harry Velfok in charge of the dessert.

DECEMBER

The painted window pane greets us each morning now,
The elfs of Christmas day are peering 'round,
A hundred packages are hidden 'bout the house
And some are square and some are big and round.
The children all are trying to be good this month,
Their faces all are clean as they can be;
At eight o'clock each one is tucked within his bed
And little hearts are filled with mystic glee.

But we are older now and there are thoughts that come
Of Jesus Christ and of His blessed birth
And of the star that gleamed throughout the orient
That guided wise men o'er the rugged earth
And brought them to the manger there in Bethlehem
Wherein they found the Christ, the blessed King;
So while the children find their joy in little gifts
Let you and me His constant praises sing.

And let us place a holly wreath above the door
And let us trim a stately Christmas tree;
Yes, let us give and give and give of all we have
In honor of the Christ who set men free;
Too let us humble be this blessed Christmas Day
That cold December brings with frost and snow,
Let every heart sing praises to the new born Christ
Until the ruddy sun has lost its glow.

School's First Alumni Dance Being Planned

Will Be Held From 9:30 To 12:30 O'clock December 29 In New Club Room 170.

Tickets On Sale In Office, Grill

Are 75 Cents A Couple; Oscar Eggers In Charge; Election Of Officers Set. Undergoes Operation

For the first time in the history of South Side High School, an alumni association, the class of '38, will sponsor an alumni dance to be held on Thursday night, December 29, in the new club room, 170, from 9:30 to 12:30 o'clock, featuring Jimmy Sanford's band, Oscar Eggers, class president, is heading plans for the affair. Tickets, priced at seventy-five cents a couple may be purchased at the general office or at the South Side Grill.

Election To Be Held
In charge of arrangements for the affair are a group of class officers and representatives of the class including Julia Crabill, Lillian Gunzenhauser, Margaret Ann Ruckel, Helen Addington, and Don Helm.

Election Of Officers
The coming year will be featured at a reception to be held from 7:15 until 8 o'clock. Superintendent of Public Schools Merle J. Abbott and Principal R. Nelson Snider will address the group. Chaparrones for the dance and guests include Mr. and Mrs. Merle J. Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. R. Nelson Snider, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Chappell, Miss Adelaide Fiedler, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd K. Whelan, Miss Hazel Miller, Miss Pauline VanGorder, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Verne Flint.

To Form Permanent Group
A permanent society will be formed at the reception before the dance and will be in charge of class affairs to be held at Christmas time each year. This is the first time a graduated class of South Side has formed such an organization, and is the first time the class of '38 has planned such an event since their senior prom last June.

Meterite Theatre Party Tomorrow
Latest Meeting Is Given Over To Christmas Festivities Featured By Beloved Old Songs

The Meterite theatre party will be held tomorrow night it was decided at the December 13 meeting.

The remainder of the meeting was the annual Christmas party. Gloria Kramer did a Spanish dance accompanied by Janice Sprunger on the piano. Several girls spoke on Christmas in other lands. Phyllis Ann Packer told about Holland, Belgium, and France; Romayne Rediger discussed Germany and Italy; Gloria Staley told about Finland, Sweden, and England; and Ellen Harry told about Russia and Spain. Marjorie McMahon read a humorous poem, and Gloria Kramer gave a tap dance.

To open the musical program, Helen Savage sang "Stille Nacht," Carol Whittier sang "Adieu Fideles," and Gloria Staley sang "Cantique de Noel." Then these three girls sang, "Away In a Manger." They were accompanied by Lois Gumpner on the piano.

The members of the club sang "The First Noel," "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear," "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing," and "O Little Town of Bethlehem," accompanied by Elaine Hirschy. Carol Trenary played while the members sang "Santa Claus Is Coming To Town."

Elaine Hirschy played a medley of Christmas carols on the piano while the refreshments, tea and cookies, were served. At the close of the meeting a ten cent gift exchange was conducted by Phyllis Lauer, social chairman.

mendations for the persons listed, basing their selections on scholarship, leadership, service and character. The lists are then sent back to the committee and the final decisions made.

The students to be tagged by the graduates next Thursday are only the mid-term seniors. The present senior B's will be voted on and tagged in June.

An assembly will be held next Thursday afternoon at which the new members will be announced. Mr. Herman Makey will explain to the student body the function of the National Honor Society.

Disaster Aid Is Organized At South

be ready for action at all times. South Side is the first high school to organize a Red Cross disaster relief program among high school students. Therefore, the entire student body should be very proud and willing to co-operate to the best of its ability. Since South Side has no distinct Red Cross Club, Travel Club has taken over the Red Cross work in our school. The present cabinet and the former Red Cross representatives decided that it would be a splendid idea if South Side students were so organized that in case of disaster, even one could do something to help. After consultation with both our local and national directors of disaster relief, Travel Club devised the plan that is now being put into effect.

Undergoes Operation

Miss Elizabeth Kelley

Miss Elizabeth Kelley who has been absent for approximately one month from school because of a serious illness, was operated on Wednesday morning, December 7, at the St. Joseph Hospital. It was a major operation, and visitors are not admitted as yet. Miss Michelas is substituting for Miss Kelley during her absence.

I. C. S. Distributes Enormous Amount Of Correspondence

A thousand persons inquired daily about the International Correspondence School home-study courses covering some four hundred trades, vocations, and professions. About 20,000 pieces of mail leave the Scranton headquarters of the I. C. S. daily for all parts of the world. Over $500 worth of stamps are affixed or metered to get this instruction material and lessons to interested students.

To prepare, publish, and keep up to date I. C. S. texts has meant an investment of $5,300,000. More than 60,000,000 pages of instructions were sent to students last year. The average I. C. S. lesson is condensed to 57 pages of carefully organized instruction.

At the Scranton headquarters of I. C. S., 1,300 persons are engaged in providing and administering instruction. In other offices scattered in forty cities, there is an additional staff of 2,500.

More than 500 high schools, colleges, vocational schools, and universities are using instructional texts prepared and published by I. C. S. The International Library of Technology now consists of some 5,000 bound volumes. All of these are written, edited, and published in the I. C. S. plant at Scranton.

I. C. S. instruction is used in employee training by 287 railroads of the United States and Canada and by 2,558 companies and industries in this country.

The International Correspondence Schools were founded October, 1891, to reduce the toll of life from accidents in Pennsylvania mines. This was the first instance of trade training offered by correspondence on an organized and effective plan.

Anti-T. B. League Pencils Are Placed On Sale Here

Anti-Tuberculosis League pencils were put on sale here and in other Fort Wayne schools Tuesday. The cost of the pencils is five cents; they are red and yellow with a picture of Santa Claus and the sentence, "Fight Tuberculosis with Christmas Seals" inscribed upon them. The proceeds will go for the support of Camp Christmas Seal. The money from the Anti-Tuberculosis seals is insufficient for tuberculosis prevention work here.

Two South Siders Break Into Newspaper Print

The articles of two South Side Archers were published in last Saturday's Youth's Passing Show. An article written by Keith Spiker, junior, told about deep sea fishing which he declared was a mean sport. The other by Betty Jo Nelson, freshman, was about South Side's victory over Kendallville in the recent basketball game.

Rat Killing Is Line Of Faculty Member With Chocolate Aid

Hickory, dickory, dock, the mouse ran up the clock, the clock struck one, the mouse ran down, hickory, dickory, dock. This is the way the old nursery rhyme goes, but what really happens in the Times room is that all the mice run into Miss Rowena Harvey's two mouse traps. That is all except the most educated mice who know all about getting the bait out of the trap without getting caught themselves.

So far "Mouse-Killer Harvey" has been quite successful. She attributes her success to the pieces of chocolate which she places in the trap. Her victims now total seven quite dead mice. It is altogether befitting that Miss Rowena Harvey be labeled "Chief Mouse-Killer of The Times Room."

Archer School To Be Painted Over Holiday

Remainder Of Building To Be Given General Cleaning; Is City - Wide Drive.

During Christmas vacation the school building, Archers may be interested to know, will have "its face washed". Mr. R. Nelson Snider has announced that the north and center halls will be painted. The gymnasium, also, will be redecorated, and the inclines and cafeteria will be touched up. "This," Mr. Snider pointed out, "will be the extent of the painting in the building."

In taking further advantage of the eight day vacation, the rest of the building will be generally cleaned, though if it were not for thoughtless students it would be unnecessary.

The work is to be done by school employees from all over the city, and is certain to be finished during Christmas week. The project is a part of the new reconstruction and clean-up drive to improve the appearance and structure of the school buildings throughout the city.

The building has been generally cleaned previous to this coming paint-up campaign, and the wall surface which is to be painted has been washed.

A epic-and-span building will await the students on their return from the Christmas vacation. All that is asked is that this improvement be appreciated through careful handling of the property that belongs not only to one student but to all.

Marionette Club To Arrange Party

Event Will Be Held At Lillian Sherbondy's Home; Gift Exchange Will Be Sponsored.

Plans for Marionette Club's Christmas party to be held Friday evening at 9:30 o'clock at the home of Lillian Sherbondy, 253 Maple Place, will be completed at the meeting of the club this evening in the workshop.

A ten-cent gift exchange will be made at the party. The members who have been named on various committees are Lillian Sherbondy, general chairman; decorations, Betty Bolman, Jim Strawbridge; entertainment, Betty Showalter, Dick Green, Jeanne Hench, Max Spencer; refreshments, Mildred Berry, Donna Dennis, Wilma Carriker; clean-up, Marcia Allen, Virginia Hill and Ralph Lansome.

After the business meeting a skit will be presented under the direction of Bill Morgan. Others who will be in the skit are Nadine Mueller, Irene Kleinfelter, Mary Ellen Barrett, Betty Bolman and Royal Steiner.

Feature Of Wo-Ho-Ma To Be Christmas Skit

Wo-Ho-Ma Club Christmas party will be held this afternoon in the Greeley Room. The main part of the program will be a Christmas skit in which Santa Claus will be introduced. There will be a ten-cent Christmas exchange. Refreshments will also be served.

The committee in charge is as follows: Chairman, Louisa Haug; assistant chairmen, Norma Sprunger and Mildred Korte; Irene Blombach, Eileen Blombach, Janet Hoover, Betty Medsken, Betty Peppier, Vera Moser, John Snouffer, Bonnie Parker and Alice Myers.

So-Si-Y Club To Stage Play At Next Meeting

"Christmas Patches," a Christmas play will be presented at the Christmas meeting of So-Si-Y, next Tuesday. Those in the play and their parts are Elsie Pederson, Marie Bradford; Dorothy Bloemker, Roger Bradford; Thelma Krauskoff, Sue Bradford; Dorothy Amstutz, Billy Bradford; Marjorie Price, Don Wright; Helen Karmap, Mrs. Nolan; Betty Cary, Helen Bradford; and Mary Emily Seibt, Jim Smith.

Another important feature will be the annual candle ceremony, which will be in charge of the president, Velma Connert.

Show Case Glass Broken

No doubt most of us have wondered why a large piece of cardboard covers the window in the front hall show case. It is because of an accident which occurred Tuesday evening after school. The cooperation of all students is needed in order to prevent this sort of thing.

Community Sing To Appear On Program; Many Well-known Carols To Be Sung

Illness Of Leader Causes Changes

Emalyn Rimmel, Sophomore, Is Soloist; String Trio To Give Selections

Mr. R. Nelson Snider has announced that the December music assembly will be held either today or tomorrow. The postponement of it from Tuesday was made because of the illness of Mr. Jack Wainwright, head of the music department. He has been confined to his home in LaGrange because of a severe cold.

Emalyn Rimmel, the featured soloist of the program, will sing two verses of "Caroline De Noe," with the chorus and glee club singing the repeat chorus. Emalyn, a sophomore, is a soprano and is singing for the first time at a music assembly.

The string trio, consisting of Ruth Dauner, Ruth Bade, and Loretta Rineason, will play several selections including "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town" and a "Christmas Medley" consisting of several well-known carols, including "Silent Night."

The chorus and glee club will sing the "Hallelujah Chorus" and "God Is My Guide." They will sing "Up On the House Top" with Santa descending a chimney.

A community sing will be held; the audience will join the chorus in several familiar carols, including "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing!," "Jingle Bells." The orchestra will conclude the program with "Joy to the World" as the audience leaves the gym. A recording of the song will be played over the radio system and students and teachers in their class rooms are asked to join in the singing of this familiar carol.

Mr. Wainwright has not stated what selections the band and orchestra will play.

Latin Club Holds Christmas Party

All Members Of Foreign Language Department Attend; Sing Carols, Explain Holiday.

A Christmas party for all members of the foreign language department was sponsored by the Latin Club Thursday, December 15. Most of the program was spent in singing Christmas carols under the direction of Mr. Earl Sterner. The German students sang "O Tannenbaum" and "O Christmas Tree" and "Die Heilige Nacht" or "Silent Night." Members of the Latin Club also sang several carols in Latin and the Latin version of "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town."

As the Saturnalia was the Roman holiday most resembling our Christmas, Laura Grazier, a member of the Latin Club, explained this holiday. Richard Garton, a German student, told about Christmas Customs in Old Germany. Some Christmas greetings in Latin and German were explained by Margaret Kutsch.

Several selections on the harp were rendered by Frau Flaig. She played "Pavane" by Bach, "The Dance of the Blessed Spirits" from Orpheus by C. W. Von Gluck, and "Country Dance" by Beethoven.

A report on the work of the skate committee was made by Velda Oppenlander, the chairman of the skate. Her committee, consisting of Dorothy Gore, Jane Nathan, Jane Bowen, Roger McVay, Charles Beall, and Ivan Truman, are to meet in room 36, January 6.

The committee for this meeting was composed of Laura Grazier, chairman, Violet Steinbauer, Jane Bowen, and Margaret Kutsch. Chocolate Santa Claus was served as refreshments. The committee in charge of the next meeting to be held January 12 is made up of Betty Elberson, chairman; Evelyn Erickson, Jane Nathan, Joyce Cleaver, Eileen Eidner, Gloria Spanley, Helen Ninde, and Faye Gumpert. This committee is to meet in room 36 today.

Radio Group To Give "Catherine The Great"

Miss Gretchen Smith announced that the radio players will give their last play this evening. The play they have chosen is "Catherine The Great." The characters are as follows:

Catherine The Great, Margaret Gross; Ted, Kenny Warren; Jack, Tom Gallmeyer; Betty, Rebecca Abbott; and Doris, Emalyn Rimmel.

South Siders Favor Transcribed Carols From Lincoln Tower

It seems that some people do not enjoy the carols from the Lincoln Tower, and they say that the carols should be discontinued. But the boys and girls from South Side, that were asked if the carols should be discontinued, agreed that they should not. The reasons they gave for not discontinuing them are as follows:

June Whalen: They make one think more of Christmas.

Peggy Wittmer: They get the people in a better spirit.

Gertrude Irmischer: They put the spirit of Christmas into the community.

Harold Lassen: They give one the Christmas spirit.

Jack Dunifon: They are pretty.

Marjory Kruse: They bring out the Christmas spirit.

Delores Reiter: They give everybody the right Christmas spirit.

Nathan Tagmeyer: They add to the Christmas spirit, and they sound nice.

Kathryn Zaegel: They give one the Christmas spirit.

Doris Bremer: They are pretty.

"We Want Our Parents To Stop Late Dances!" Scream Many Archers, Times' Poll Reveals

Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of monthly polls taken by The Times in order to ascertain the viewpoints of students and teachers on a certain subject. This poll was answered by pupils in home rooms 80, 94, 140, and also in room 2.

(By The Poll-of-the-Month Editor)

This was an extremely lop-sided poll; over majority answers being given on almost all the questions.

The most evenly divided question, however, was whether high school students should attend college and other extremely late dances.

It was found that only a small portion of the students are in favor of having intermissions at dances.

Of those polled a majority students believe that parents should organize and do something about late dances.

Question One: Do you think there is much reason in having a dance last as late as 2 a. m.? Three-fourths of the students questioned, answered, no. But the others believe that it was "all right" because these dances did not occur very often.

Question Two: In your opinion should parents organize and try to stop the late dances. As an average, almost every Archer believes emphatically that they should! Some of the pupils were of the opinion that the students themselves should organize and try to remedy this situation. Someone suggested that an organization similar to the Allied Youth movement be formed that would deal with many phases of young people's life today.

Question Three: Do you believe high school students should attend these dances, especially the college dances? The opinions on this question were fairly divided as sixty per cent answered yes. However, most of them stated that they didn't like these dances during the week. Also they don't believe students should attend these dances and then stay away from school the next day.

Question Four: Are you in favor of the rule we have now that all school

Betty Daniels Will Be Next G. M. Of Staff

Will Take Over Responsibilities At Mid-Semester; To Succeed Eleanor Vesey.

Shifts Are Made On Business Side

Lora Lee Montgomery Is Business Manager; John Bonsib, Advertising Head

Betty Daniels, senior, was announced as the next general manager of The Times. This announcement was made by Miss Rowena Harvey at the 1500 Club potluck which was held December 19. Betty will begin her services as head of The Times at mid-semester in January. She will succeed Eleanor Vesey, who has been general manager since September.

Betty started her work on The Times' staff when she was a junior. She has been a room agent, editorial writer, news reporter, assistant circulation manager, proof reader, copy reader, copy editor, co-managing editor, and business manager.

While Betty has been a student here at South Side, she has been a member of Library, Philo, ex-president of Latin Club, Three P's, Inter-club congress, Social Science, and 1500 Club.

Other major staff changes which were announced are: Lora Lee Montgomery, present advertising manager, will become the new business manager; John Bonsib, ad solicitor, will be the new advertising manager; and Virginia Goeglein will continue to be the circulation manager for The Times for the first three weeks of next semester and then will be assistant circulation manager of The Totem.

Opinions Given

When asked to make a statement, the newly appointed major staff members said the following:

Betty Daniels: I feel very honored and delighted. I hope that I shall live up to all that is expected of me; with the co-operation of the staff I believe The Times can continue to be the foremost of papers.

Eleanor Vesey, present general manager: It isn't quite over yet, but I know that when it is I'll be awfully sorry. It's been grand to work with such a co-operative and willing staff as we have had this year.

Lora Lee Montgomery: I hope that

Follow His Example

Mr. Merle J. Abbott

We approach this season with every spirit of good will and good wishes to you each one. The time was never more appropriate and the requirements more impelling to the end of preparing useful lives. We trust that the fine example of One who gives us Christmas will be the standard for your living and lives.

Sincerely,
Merle J. Abbott.

Honor People To Be Tagged From Seniors

Portion Of Mid-Term Grads Will Be Chosen For National Honor Today.

Today, a representative portion of the mid-term graduates will be made members of the National Honor Society. These students will be tagged by the past graduates who belong to the South Side Prometheans Chapter of the national group. The students that will be tagged by the alumni have been selected by the executive committee.

An assembly will be held after the seventh period today and Mr. Herman Makey will speak on the functions of the National Honor Society. Mr. R. Nelson Snider will then introduce the new members of this society to the rest of the students.

A list of the eligible students was sent to all members of the faculty who in turn sent recommendations of students listed back to the committee. This committee then rendered the final decision at a meeting held Tuesday, December 6, as to who should be tagged today.

To be eligible for the National Honor Society a student must be in the upper third of his class. Other requirements are that nominees be prominent in service, scholarship, character, and leadership.

Students May Buy Christmas Totems

Cards To Be Sent To Receivers In Time For Annual Holiday Yearbook To Cost Two Dollars

Parents, relatives, or friends may give 1939 Totems as Christmas gifts to anyone interested in having one. The Totem staff will send out especially printed Christmas cards notifying students that they will receive The Totem in June.

The agents that worked for the sale of Totems from the beginning of the campaign will assist in this Christmas gift offer. These gift-subscriptions will be $2.00.

At a meeting of the agents on December 14 Nadine Mueller and Phyllis Geller outlined and explained this new plan.

Over nine hundred subscriptions have been sold already for the 1939 Totem. Forty-six is the highest number any one has gotten. This amount was achieved by Dick Buchholz. The next highest sales were made by Kitty Clinard, who sold forty-five, and by Phyllis Hayner, who sold thirty-four.

Principal, Teacher, Dean Offer Cheer Of Holiday Season

This Christmas season is unique in that it recognizes and celebrates the nativity of a great man of no warlike reputation, of no kingly record, of no material accomplishment. The season emphasizes the characteristics of the Christ which each of us can emulate; it announces thankfulness for the great changes wrought by the example of the carpenter's son.

It seems to me that the three outstanding traits of Christ's character which we can follow were faith--in a supreme being, and in our fellow man--a supreme honesty, and service to others. If we try to make these three a part of our lives and beings, then everyone can truly say "A Merry Christmas to all."

Mr. R. Nelson Snider.

Christmas cheer for all is my wish for you.

I hope that the holiday season adds to your joy and happiness.

The deepest pleasures come from a realization of the real meaning of Christmas.

I should like to suggest that each one of you includes in his holiday plans attendance at church services. The beautiful, impressive services provided by our churches help us to enter into the real Christmas spirit. Make this a beautiful Christmas.

Martha M. Pittenger.

The Christmas holiday season is one of joy and good cheer. It is our wish that it may mean much in these respects to each and every student of South Side. It is an opportunity to renew old friendships and to make new ones. It is also an opportunity to start on the old year and be ready to start the new one with renewed vigor.

A. Verne Flint,

On behalf of the teachers.

Six Are Named In Quill, Scroll Scribe Society

Rowena Harvey Appoints Seniors To National Press Group At 1500 Gathering

Eleanor Vesey, Phyllis Geller, Frieda Schubert, Julia Ann Smith, Joe Bex, and Ed Reeves, all senior A's, were named as members of Quill and Scroll, national honorary society for high school journalists, by Miss Rowena Harvey, publications adviser, at the first 1500 Club pot-luck of the semester, held in the cafeteria Monday night.

All six, to have been eligible for the award, are in the upper third of their class, and have served either The Times or Totem with outstanding ability for at least one year. All named are mid-term students, and hold major positions on the school paper or yearbook. Other seniors who have fulfilled these qualifications will be announced next spring.

Janice Dyer, program chairman, took charge of the meeting at which eighteen former South Side Quill and Scroll members for the past two years were present. "Editorial" provided the theme for the pot-luck, as the program was patterned after The Times' weekly editorial page.

Beverly Griffith used "Wee Sketches of Big People" as her topic, and in turn introduced Betty Daniels, who presented Miss Harvey with a Silax coffee maker as a token of the staff's gratitude for the help which she has given them during the past year.

Names New Chief

Miss Harvey, "Senior Synopsis," named the new Quill and Scroll members and announced Betty Daniels as the next staff chief. Lora Lee Montgomery as the next business manager, and John Bonsib as advertising manager to succeed Lora Lee Montgomery.

Doris Williams and Eleanor Vesey presented two editorials concerning etiquette and "The Adventures of Throckmorton." Sam Bacon reported "News-Vues"; Jeanette Warren, "Jam Session of the Jitterbug"; and Bruce Bradbury, "Kelly Ko-ed Kut-Ups."

Classes Will Resume Work Early In 1939

School will be dismissed Friday afternoon, December 23, for the annual Christmas vacation, which will last eight days. Classes will be resumed Tuesday morning, January 3, 1939.

Teachers Begin State Organization Of Social Groups

Advisers From South Bend, Lafayette, Muncie, Montpelier Gather December 9

Adopt Constitution, Choose Officers

Mr. Walter Myers Of Washington, D. C., Comes To Meeting; To Return Soon

In December a group of teachers from Indiana high schools met with Mr. Wilburn Wilson and Miss Eleanor Smeltz to consider the organization of a state-wide league of social science clubs. This idea has been discussed before, but until recently no group really began to actually work out a plan of this sort.

Teachers who attended the organization meeting were Mr. Kuhn, head of Social Studies Department at Central High School of South Bend; Mr. Kuhne, a student council adviser at the same school; Mr. Maple, South Bend; Mr. Culbertson, Lafayette High School; Mr. Martin, also of Lafayette High School; Mr. McNutt, head of the social science department, Muncie High School; Mr. Sinks, North Side High School, Fort Wayne; Mr. Ashler, Central of this city; Mr. Wilson, of Montpelier High School; and Mr. Walter Myers, director of the Civic Education Service at Washington, D. C.

This group decided to organize a state-wide league as soon as possible with all of the schools who were represented at the meeting being initial members of the Indiana Student Forum, as the league is to be called. A constitution was adopted and temporary officers were elected at this first meeting.

The representatives of the schools present form the board of directors for the Forum. This board will serve until the first annual convention of the Forum. The first convention will be held this spring with the Social Science Club of South Side acting as hosts to the incoming delegations.

Officers elected at the first meeting of the board of directors are Mr. Wilburn Wilson, president of the board of directors; and Mr. McNutt, of Muncie, executive secretary.

The Indiana Student Forum is being formed as a result of the activities and desires of the Fort Wayne Social Science Club, which has had ideas about organizing such a Forum for a long time. This Forum will bring together all of the social science clubs throughout the state, and will allow these clubs to have debates and discussions on current topics of interest to club members. This is the objective of the Forum. The Social Science Club of South Side hopes to arrange panel discussions with other schools in the Forum on problems of national importance.

The club in this school has been the nucleus around which the Forum originated and has worked on the project along with the faculty advisers, Mr. Wilson and Miss Smeltz. The members of the Social Science Club of South Side wants to have the Forum grow into a state-wide organization slowly, but expect to have about fifty clubs from other schools over the state in the Forum by the first convention.

Marionette Club Holds Christmas Fete Friday

The Marionette club held a Christmas party for the members at the home of Lillian Sherbondy last Friday evening. Miss Dorothy Magley, adviser, was presented with a gift from the members. A ten-cent gift exchange was held among the members. Those who served on the various committees were Lillian Sherbondy, general chairman; decorations, Betty Bolman, Jim Strawbridge; entertainment, Betty Showalter, Dick Green, Jeanne Hench, Max Spencer; refreshments, Mildred Berry, Donna Dennis, Wilma Carrier; clean-up, Marcia Allen, Virginia Hill, and Ralph Ransome.

The plans for the party were completed at the regular meeting of the club Thursday, December 16, in the workshop. After the business meeting a skit was presented by a group under the direction of Bill Morgan. The skit was in the form of an amateur show. Those who took part in the presentation were Nadine Mueller, master of ceremonies; Bill Morgan, dancer; Ilene Klinefelter, young blues singer; Mary Ellen Barrer and Betty Bolman, dance team; Bill Morgan, pianist. Royal Steiner took care of the properties.

Let's Make And Keep New Year's Resolutions; Not Make And Break

According to William Shakespeare in his play "Macbeth", a traitor is "one who swears and lies", meaning of course a person who makes a vow and breaks it. If this were applied literally, those people who make New Year's Resolutions on January 1 and proceed to break them on January 2 (or even sooner) could be called traitors. There is nothing quite so disgusting as the spineless individual who sets himself a higher standard for the new year and then doesn't have the will power to follow his own convictions, because he fears the "crowd" will think him poky. But it's better to lose the friendship of the crowd than to lose all respect for yourself; and how can a person keep his self-respect when he knows he's a turntail and a coward? To make no resolutions at all would be preferable to making them and falling down on the job.

One resolution which every good American citizen should make is: "I will be more appreciative of my country and its democratic government." When you look at a map and see the bloody checkerboard that is Europe, then switch your eyes back to the broad expanses of our own native land, which without the foresight and courage of our ancestors might have been another turbulent checkerboard, gratitude and pride should well up in our hearts. Surely a resolution to love, honor, and revere this country is not asking too much.

Our wonderful school of champions is another thing which few students appreciate enough. Would it be taking too much on to ourselves if we suggested some good resolutions for those Archers who really are interested in the welfare of their school?

1. A bigger and better display of school spirit for the sake of our future State Champs.
2. More courtesy at all times.
3. Respect for school property.
4. Co-operation in activities that add to the laurels of the school.

These are a very small portion of the things that can be done for the school. If they are followed, the new year should be a huge success.

Receive Happiness Yourself By Giving It To Others

This is the Christmas season—the season of "Peace on earth, good will to men". Let's remember our fellow men at this time especially, as well as the whole year round. Remember everyone you can in every way you can.

In these times, there are many people who need your help. Perhaps they need physical comforts, spiritual comforts, or perhaps even a kind word to help them along their road of life.

In this world, we need to learn to give, for "it is more blessed to give than to receive". There is always an opportunity for those who want to, to give a little here or there. So many people say, "Well, I would gladly give something if I had a chance". Their chance never comes. Those who look for opportunities are those who find them. So, let's always be looking for opportunities to give and bring a little cheer and a ray of hope to someone.

Christmas is a wonderful time to give. Let's remember, that while we are having a good time, someone may be suffering. We can always have a good time helping someone else. The happy expression on someone's face, the laugh of a child, the contentment of an old lady, will add just that much more to our lives.

This may be a much happier Christmas for you and for everyone else if you remember someone instead of wrapping yourself up in your own thoughts.

Speaking of opportunities to help people, everyone included, an excellent place to start is in your own home. Your family are the ones who deserve your first attentions. They have done things for you, why not do something for them that will make them love you a little more?

Don't forget to buy your tickets for the Alumni dance, people. Remember, it's the first to be sponsored and is bound to be a huge success with all the graduates home from school and all.

Sing out! Sing hearty! Both of these rules were aptly and enthusiastically carried out at the recent community sing which was held by the foreign language department.

Pay your nickel and help an exceedingly worthy cause. Buy your pencil from the Red Cross Organization today, and thus indirectly give help to those who really need it.

Senior Synopsis

By R. U.
Graduating

As we sit down to write this column, we gather the realization that Ye Olde Yuletide season is nearly upon us once more. And all of us seniors can't help feeling with certain depressing worriment that it is our last Christmas together... And we also sorta kinda like to reminisce back over now-gone seasons when we were cheerful underclassmen looking forward to the future high school holidays.

Scanning the Shows, we actually find a streamlined senior tossing a daily dozen at the Embroid Theatre with Santa Claus. Milo Chasey, herebefore mentioned who acts as exchange interpreter for Kute Kris Kringle. Y'understand how it is. He is the kiddies' demigod as he answers all their mercenary questions. We hope we haven't shattered any dreams of all you young'uns.

Not a Creature Was Stirring. Particularly a Mouse, especially when Adelheide (I Baggum) Scheele was found traipsing around, for so they tell us, Adelheide, the bully, caught barehanded (no hooks used) a poor struggling mouse in a waste-paper basket. She picked it up, squeals and all, and carried it into the study (?) hall... Much to the horror-ror of all her gal-pals. Was that nice, Scheele?

Henslee's Heart - Heater, Mickey Mitchell says that all mistakes in this column are p'untinted. Thanks, Max, any timely contribution is appreciated.

Have You Remembered to start slinging your sheekles in advance per cap and gown... And while we're reminding all of you, don't forget to call for your senior pick-yours. This hint ought to be sufficient, we hope!

Embarrassment Reigned for "I'm Still Agoing" Neff. The poor lad wandering dazedly around asked substitute a la Kelley where the teacher was. He was a little confused and for once did not know what to say. You Leave Me Breathless, huh, Roger-lad.

Somebody Asked Us if we heard the one about the professor who said "Well, I guess I've lost another pupil", as his glass eye rolled down the drain... We hadn't heard it, incidentally.

To Ready, Willing and Able Bev Griffith we offer three loud hip, hip hoorays for this snappy senior is one of the outstanding females of upper-class sassiness. Hard work has given her recognition, ability and talent has made her a leader, and a sparkling personality has won for her a host of friends. Nice going, Bev, we like it. You deserve a Gail of Honor.

Many Many South-Folk may be struggling through the mingling and somewhat maddening daze of town these Christmas days. Credit should be given to these courageous folk. The stores are so crowded that even the pick-pocket has to ask his victims to take a breath so he can take his hand out of their pockets.

Well, jolly-spirited people, and I imagine most of you have the Christmas spirit by this time, we will take a little leave of vacation absence from you... And thus departing, we of this column wish all of you readers out there, the happiest and the bestest of the holiday seasonal wishes.

Jam Session of The Jitterbug

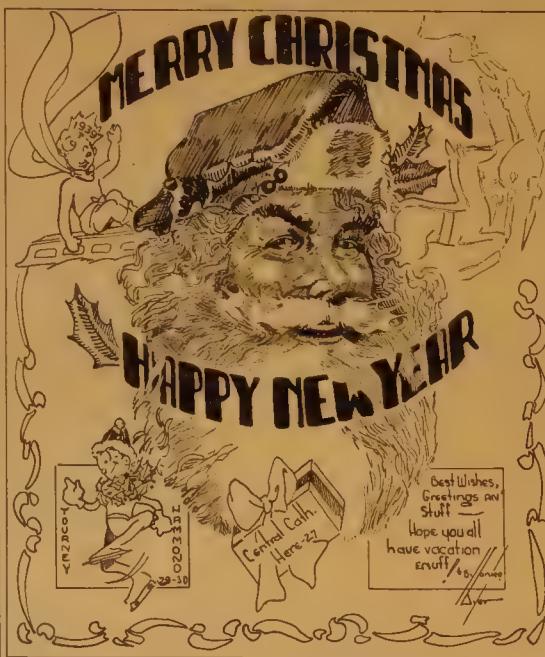

Christmas comes but once a year, a fact for which we're very thankful. We've been sitting here trying to think of presents for Aunt Hussy, Uncle Zeke, and our cute "second cousin"... And Cousin Elmer, of course. If you've been as slow as we have about doing your Christmas shopping, you'd better hurry and get it done... Because, counting today, there are only THREE more shopping days until Christmas!

Our conception of what who should get for someone: When Margie Knoll throws the covers from her bed Christmas morning, she will find a Giant Baby Panda (from Tom) perched on the foot of her nightly domain (bed, dope), regarding her with two soulful eyes. How Marge will react to this unusual present will probably be worth observing... A Bear will be bombarded with home-made fudge (from Phyllis), and we'll wager that he won't return to school after vacation... And we'll try and get Norbert Holloway into Irma O'Brien's stocking, but it will probably be an awful close fit... And now that college is out, Phyllis Mueller will probably receive a big crate of oranges from Miami... Maybe it will be the former Archer accompanying the fruit that will be the main attraction, in other words, Paul Brown... While we're on this subject, Newell Beaty will be more than satisfied with a Human Stoptight... So there, too.

It's really a good thing to break up with the "one" a couple of days before Christmas and stay that way for a couple of weeks... It solves a lot of problems. If you don't feel that way, here are a couple of gift suggestions: a watch (for him) that runs backward instead of forward so that we can stay out later and truthfully say, "His watch was wrong". Or we might give an alarm clock to our mother made on the above principle. For the blonde in the next block, we suggest a rose filled with chloroform... Its purpose should be quite evident... And to the prospective shaver, you might offer a razor without a blade.

It's all been in fun, so don't feel bad if he doesn't get you what he promised... Have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year... And enjoy yourself during vacation.

Merry Christmas

Archers Enumerate Opinions Appraising "Kute Kris Kringle"

Speaking about original ideas, we think the Emboid produces them all. Their latest attraction for the past few weeks has been that "Kute Kris Kringle." Of course, everybody thinks they know how it is done. Just so! But do they? Now, you see, it's all done with mirrors. When you look in the little glass, you seem to be looking through the wrong end of a telescope. Simple, isn't it? Yeh!

Many South Siders got the surprise of their life when they talked out loud in front of the little house which contained a real Santa. Santa talked back to them. There has been quite some talk around the Alma Mater about this new and fascinatin' idea. Read and see what a few of the students think about it.

Margaret Wittmer: Now, I thought it was very original.

Frieda Schubert: Gosh, I thought it was swell.

Beth Chadwick: I asked Santa for a Betsy-Wetsy. He'll bring me one, all right.

Ellen McKay: I thought it was cute, but it puzzles my little (?) sister.

Phyllis Branning: It was grand.

Russell Crumrine: It was a very clever idea.

Anna Anderson: I thought it was cute, but I know how they do it. (Well, good for you!)

Carol Trenary: A real cute idea.

Sally Moorhead: I don't know much about it.

Charles Wehmeyer: It was pretty good.

Gloria Kramer: It was sure a cute idea.

Jim Melch: Oh, it was all right.

Mary Burt: It was a very clever idea.

Ella Jo Reed: I thought it was kinda' cute.

Virginia Fleming: It was clever, but not especially outstanding.

Art Pontius: I looked, but it was a blank. Santa wasn't there.

Dottie Rohrbach: It's a clever idea. It draws a large crowd, but most people are able to figure out how it works.

Robert Hinkle: I think it's okay.

Betty Kayser: Oh, it makes me sick. If I was ten years old, I would enjoy it, but since I am eleven, I don't.

Max Wagner: It is a good idea.

Kathryn Limecooly: Oh, it's darling.

Milo Casey: Just call me "Kris".

Vera Jane Wells: It is sure a novelty, all right.

This week I've got plenty of dirt up my sleeve, mainly about people (surprise!)

A brand new romance between Ileen Eidner and Bud Hayner has sprung up without hardly anyone knowing it. That Hayner's a sly one, all right. My own private opinion is that any guy who can win the favor of bee-ootiful Ileen must have something extra-special.

Another romance that's not quite so new but nevertheless news, is that hot affair between Barbara Roth and Blackie Dagger. Blackie found out when he first started a'courtin' Babs, that he had plenty of competition but that didn't daunt him. He wooed so consistently that finally he has become the one and only. It is rumored that the romance between Helen Fry and Donald Burnside is really glowing. They went to church together last week.

Although Jimmy Weaver firmly denies it, his heart yearns for a certain D. L. H. Why don't you do something about it, Jimmie? Remember, faint heart ne'er won fair lady! So go to it!

Warning to Howard Stilwell!!! You had better win Wilma Brown now if you ever hope to 'cause from what I've heard, Bob Jamieson is slowly getting the edge on you. She's a swell kid and incidentally very very cute. All I've got to say is may the best man win!

It's too bad that two swell kids like Bob Robinson and Marjorie McNabb can't get together. Of course if Marge prefers a certain Dick Fishing, it's O. K. with me.

Pro and Con

Everything of late seems to have gone modern. Everything seems streamlined but the modes of making classes more interesting. In schools of other states, motion pictures to illustrate different vital points are used. Motion pictures dramatizing different important battles of history are shown.

Most of the modern students seem to become disinterested in school when the road gets rough. If the classes were made more interesting perhaps students would work harder. This question has two sides and before you make your decision it is only just that you carefully weigh both the pro and con.

PRO

Mr. Pro starts his argument by bringing in the fact that many times a well written text book explains in detail only the very important parts, omitting the parts which would be perhaps less important, but far more interesting. The students should not have to dig deep into only the cut and dried subjects, but they should also be permitted to study interesting facts. It is vitally important that a student learn outstanding and necessary facts and to encourage the student to learn these, more interesting methods of teaching should be applied.

In a history class, after the students had studied some of Abraham Lincoln's life, a motion picture was shown. This picture followed Lincoln through his childhood to his death. Many students agreed that seeing this picture taught them more about Lincoln than did reading his life. It has always been said that a person can learn more by seeing something happen than by merely reading about it.

If English classes could either hear a play enacted over the radio or even see the play by means of motion pictures, and then have an examination covering what they saw or heard, students would really take a greater interest in these fine pieces of literature and really understand them.

In many classes at present, the students are permitted to go as a group to trial and outside programs, having some connection with the subject. If more of this were done, these classes would be even more interesting.

Our public address system could be used very well. Important programs, which are broadcast while students are in class, could be heard.

CON

Mr. Con seems to put up less argument but still he has his viewpoints. He says that it is probable that many students would not take such methods of making classes more interesting, seriously. He claims that a student really pays more attention to written material than to something that seems more like entertainment than serious facts. Perhaps some students will not pay close attention to one of the most important things and thus lost out.

If a pupil has a textbook to go by, he can refer to this book in case he wants to refresh his memory. It would be expensive to keep showing a motion picture time and time again.

The plan may look good and may seem very promising but there is always the big problem of financing it. The visual education department at present has much expense and if more pictures were purchased this expense would be increased. If more pictures were purchased the students would be forced to aid financially.

These are only a few of the arguments which constitute the opinions of both Mr. Pro and Mr. Con. It is every man for his own opinion and by weighing carefully both sides of the question you should be able to formulate some opinion of your own.

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

News - Vues

In our state of being, a new problem has at last been smoked into the open. Simply, it is this: many of our parents have taken their stand against the late hours of night when dances, sponsored by groups of young people, have closed.

And it is a just stand—taken at a just time—the waiting days before the coming of the Christmas season, a time of joy and of one when social dances cap the climax of a glorious holiday.

In previous years we never have weighed such aggressive policies with such a mighty men. We may have thought and talked against such a policy, but we have never taken action.

The time is near; the fruits of their labor is ripe, and they will pluck their prize with undying deftness.

What can we do or say that will gain more action? Leading students in all fields, in all classes, agree with our parents and instructors.

Ask the girl on your right if she would rather attend a dance which starts early in the evening, or one which she must wait until 10 or 11 o'clock at night before she may attend. And question the boy who sits on your left if he appreciates the fact that so many dances start so late. Ten to one, he doesn't!

One person won't be able to accomplish this task alone, but with the united effort of all, we can. Commandable has been the progress many of our parents have made in developing this project. It is a new and untried field, but it is a needy one. How can we, therefore, do our part?

Have you ever stopped to think that upon you the burdens of a nation lies? Our moral and mental stability rests upon the dignity and care with which we conduct ourselves, and we see that it is an individual and sectional problem.

But we cannot stop here since it is a far deeper problem than this, and that it will probably continue as long as time endures. The first step is often the hardest; the rest follow in rapid succession.

We have taken this first great stride; and it is up to you to see that the rest quickly will follow!

New Jefferson Nickle Meets The Approval Of Archer Students

All of this talk about the pinkishness of the new Jefferson nickel must have been started by someone who had been seeing pink elephants. The specimen that we are adding to our coin collection has a slightly brazen tinge. This trend toward the appearance of a telephone slug is heightened by the Monticello design on the reverse—an alteration, we are informed, of the original prize-winning design.

The arrangement of the lettering has also been changed, and for the most part, I believe it is disliked. The head of Thomas Jefferson in profile on the coin is, however, an excellent example of the art of coin design. It has life and character, and it expresses the kindly temperament of the author of the Declaration of Independence. Incidentally, it bears a certain resemblance to another theorist about the rights of man—one whose idealism caused the execution of 1,285 persons in 46 days. He was none other than Maximilian Francois Marie Isidore de Robespierre (in case you don't recall this rather important person in the making of our Constitution, refer to your general history; I know you are terribly interested). To compare these two in any way would be, of course, grotesque, but—"The tree of liberty must be refreshed from time to time with the blood of patriots and tyrants; it is natural manure." Who wrote that? It sounds like the fantastic French revolutionist, but it was the gentle American statesman and scholar, in seeking to excuse Shay's rebellion.

Well, perhaps a few of you extra brilliant students have something to say on the appearance of the nickel, but on the other hand, there are many others who care little what they look like. Their main worry is that they obtain them to spend, and that they are accepted.

Buy, Use Christmas Seals

How much do you think of yourself? Enough to be interested in protecting yourself against tubercle bacillus? Tuberculosis is a communicable disease, but it can be eradicated. It is still an hourly threat—but to someone else as you are often prone to believe—but to YOU, yourself, and family. The disastrous results of this plague have been aptly described as follows, "Tuberculosis strikes the young, cuts short the life of many boys and girls of promise" (there YOU are again), "destroys the earning power of older people, and twists the destinies of whole families."

What, then, is proposed as a plan for checking the spread of this monster menace? Educational and preventive measures can hold the threat in check. Treatment can restore many already afflicted to health and earning power. YOU can support such movements through your contribution to the local Anti-Tuberculosis League by buying Christmas seals. But it is not sufficient just to buy them—put them on your holiday mail and packages to remind others to do their share to check this needless and preventable disease from spreading.

Remember: "If but one small child should grow more strong because YOU made a contribution, happiness would be your portion."

Congratulations, Inter-Club Congress, your decorative works are more than appreciated. The festively ornamented club rooms really help to create a Yuletide atmosphere.

The walls have ears, and they offer the following interrogation. What did the little icicle say to the big icicle? Came the answer. "H'ya you big stiff."

C'mon, Archers, let's show Central Catholic what real champions are made of and come out on the tallest end of a tall score in that tilt next Tuesday.

Most of us are ready, willing and anxious in anticipating our Christmas vacation time. Maybe we need a little time off.

It takes a courageous South Sider to go Christmas shopping these crowded days. Who was it that said the more the merrier?

Have you Christmas friends heard about the young man who went window-shopping, and bought several awfully nice windows.

South Siders Stand Supreme 'specially Studying Studiously.

1938 Winners Of Declamation Are Published

Three Final Champs Will Be Given Medals Later; Coached By Mrs. D. Riecke

McAlister, Safer, Newhard, Victors

Richard Buchholz, June McAlister, Robert Robinson Awarded Second Place.

Winners of the sophomore, junior, and senior divisions of Wranglers' 1938 Oratorical Declamation Contest, in which thirty-three Wrangler members competed, were determined last Monday night, December 19, in the Greeley room. The winning sophomore finalist was Robert Safer; second was taken by Bob Robinson, and third by Harold Martin. Junior finalists were first place, taken by June McAlister; second by Joyce McAlister, and third by James Murphy. Winners of the senior division were first, William Newhard; second, Richard Buchholz; and third, a tie between Helen Wiehe and Eleanor Vesey.

Charles Bollman was the chairman of the sophomore finals which was held the seventh period in the Greeley room; Dorothea Gardner acted as chairman of the junior and senior finals which were held at Wranglers' meeting. The contest was the first oratorical declamation in which the contestants were divided into separate groups according to their classifications.

Speakers In Group

Entrants, in groups of three and four, spoke in separate contests throughout the day, excepting the fourth period. The winners of these contests competed in the finals which were held the seventh period and after school before Wranglers' Club. The final champion of each sophomore, junior, and senior contest will receive a medal at Wranglers' banquet in the spring. Each of the thirty-three contestants was coached individually by an untiring Mrs. Dorothy Riecke, who originated, supervised, and directed the contest.

The contests, which were held in room 190 and in the Greeley room, were judged by Mr. J. H. McClure, Miss Lucy Osborne, Miss Lex Combs, Mr. J. H. Cook, Miss Maxine Mariotte, Mr. Earl Sterner, Mr. Clyde Pierce, Mr. James McFadden, instructor at Franklin; Mr. Lawrence Warner, a teacher at James H. Smart; and Mr. Robert Klopfenstein, a south side graduate, and senior at Lake Forest College.

Contestants Listed

Contestants, the order in which they spoke, the room and division in which they spoke follow:

Period 1, room 190, sophomore division: Entrants were Ed Meyer, Dick Fishering, John Bonsib, and the winner, Robert Robinson. The chairman was Carl Goebel.

Period 2, room 190, sophomore division: Entrants were William Newhard, Sam Bacon, and Harold Martin, the winner. Chairman was Dorothy Rohrbach.

Period 2, Greeley room, junior division: Those who competed were Dorothy Foellinger, Jeanne Gumpfer, and champion, James Murphy. Betty Daniels acted as chairman of the contest.

Period 3, room 190, sophomore division: Entrants were Ivo Gallmeyer, Margaret Niblick, and June McAlister, winner. Chairman was Charles Bollman.

Period 5, Greeley room, senior division: Leonard Weinraub, Janice Dyer, Helen Wiehe, and Richard Buchholz, who tied for the winning place; were the entrants. John Magley acted as chairman.

Period 5, room 190, junior division: Sally Moorhead, Joyce McAlister, Bruce Bradbury, and Dorothy Gore competed. Dick Dyke was chairman.

Period 6, room 190, senior division: Entrants were Charles Will, Dick Shorter, Eleanor Vesey, the winner, and William Gerard. Chairman was Dorothea Gardner.

Period 6, Greeley room, senior division: Imogene Wright, Elaine Bernstein, Jeannette Warren, and winner, William Newhard.

Mothers' Gym Group Has Christmas Party

The P.T.A. Mothers' Gym Class held their annual Christmas party on Monday evening, December 12. The pot-luck supper, held at 6:00 o'clock in the handball court, was in charge of Mrs. C. E. Hudson and Mrs. C. G. Fries. After eating, they played volleyball in the gym. To add to the Christmas spirit they exchanged gifts. Guests at the occasion were Miss Martha Pittenger, Miss Gretchen Smith and Mrs. T. V. Howell.

The members who were present were Mrs. J. Lamb, Mrs. J. C. Fyock, Mrs. B. Ault, Mrs. C. G. Fries, Mrs. H. C. Connett, Mrs. R. A. Sutton, Mrs. C. E. Hudson, Mrs. G. Shannon, Mrs. J. Duiser, Miss Eva Ringenberg, Mrs. Ray Teeple, Mrs. R. I. Pequinot, Mrs. R. V. Foremar, Mrs. A. J. Parmalee, Mrs. E. C. Knock, Mrs. P. W. Iba, Mrs. E. Etzler and Miss Alice Dean, sponsor.

The final meeting of class for this semester will be January 9, 1939.

Feature Of Wo-Ho-Ma Is Skit Of Christmas

Louisa Haugk, chairman of the December meeting with her assistants Norma Sprunger, Mildred Korte, Irene Blombach, Eileen Blombach, Janet Hoover, Betty Medsker, Betty Peeper, Vera Moser, Jean Snouffer, Bonnie Parker, and Alice Myers presented a Christmas skit at a Wo-Ho-Ma meeting in which Dick Aronhalt took the part of Santa Claus.

There was also a ten cent Christmas exchange. Ice cream, cookies, and chocolate Santa Clauses were served as refreshments.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

The students of Miss Dochtermann's art classes are painting Christmas cards and decorating panels. They are using a Christmas theme and are choosing their own designs.

The following students of Mr. Murphy's United States history 2 classes recently received A's: Shirley Rubin, Ray Lohman, Marian Karick, Fritz Lohman, Delores Menefee, Bob Peters, Phyllis Bundy, Mary Derck, Ray Swinehart, Marjorie Butler, Robert Hageman and Dorothy Rohrbach.

In Mr. Cook's home room, Lilia Patton is chairman of the Christmas basket committee.

On a recent test given by Mr. Heine to four of his biology 1 classes, the following students made 100: Period 1, Dorothy Jaggers and Harriet Will; period 3, Mary Ann Florence, Margaret Heine, Byron Singer, Lenora Moyer and Elinore Muntzinger; period 6, June Whalen and Ruth Hoover; period 7, Ruth Hagemann, Dorothy Heslip, Sally Hobbs, Carolyn Snoko and Janice Sprunger.

Mrs. Carson states that Jack Bush, who was in her Latin 1 period 3 class, has moved to West Lafayette. Joseph Leaming in her Latin 1 period 6 class has moved to Indianapolis.

Margaret Kutsch gave a well planned talk on "Farming and Country Life in Rome" last Friday to Miss Oppel's period 6 class, which is now studying Caesar.

In Mr. Paul Sidell's geometry 3 class, Eileen Briggs, Alex Azar, Richard Gerig, Vincent Bacon and Charles Long made the highest grades on a recent test.

The Christmas committee in home room 56 are as follows: Lois Campbell, chairman of the Christmas basket committee, assisted by Charles Close and Virginia Nunencamp; Christmas program committee, Kathryn Kuntz, Bob Wylie and Jane Cochs.

In Miss Perkins' French 4 class, Barbara Arney, Ruth Bade, Joe Bex, Phyllis Geller, Margaret Gross, Dorothy Hall, Betty Marquardt, Dorothy Rohrbach and Marjorie Sheldon made A grades on a final idiom test.

As soon as the boys finish their drawing problems in Mr. Chappell's mechanical drawing 6 class, they ink the problems which they have drawn. These are first inked on drawing paper and then inked on tracing cloth from which blue prints are made.

Over an eight weeks' test in Miss Oppel's Latin 1 class the first period, Betty Medsker received 100, Martha Stenler, 93, and Lee Smith, 90.

On a recent test given by Mr. Clyde Pierce to his United States history 2 classes, the following students made the highest grades: Phyllis Lansborough, Ronald McVay, Betty Jean Pressler, Phyllis Sprunger, Eugene Tigges, Doris Williams, Dorothy Gore, Maurine Seibert, Dick Warner, Robert Holloway, Russel Crumrine and Bruce Bradbury.

In Miss Pocock's English 3 class Howard Tyndall brought a hunting horn to class and demonstrated its use.

The students in Mrs. Grace Welty's junior Latin 5 class are just beginning Cicero's third oration against Catiline, which was given in December, 63 B.C., 2001 years ago.

In one of Mr. Moss' general history classes, Robert Hackmeyer made a report on the Albigenses, Joan Squires reported on the Peter Waldo and Waldensess and Gloria Staley reported on the Holy Inquisition.

The following persons in Miss Smeltzley's general history 1 classes received A or A- on a biography of Charlemagne: Faye Gumpfer, Louisa Haugk, Janet Holtmeyer, Richard Nahrwald, Robert Allen, Mary Bowlby, Helen Harlan, Reba Coppock, Martha Jean Smith, and Martha Jane Krauskopf.

In Miss McClosky's English 8 class the two highest grades on a recent test on Macaulay's Essay on Samuel Johnson were made by Eugene Schmidt and Carl Goebel.

In room S the 9A's have been discussing their plans and also good manners. Mr. Flint explained the different branches of the commercial course. Marjorie McNabb conducted a panel discussion in which the following people took part: Bernice O'Brien, Paul Wolford, Kathryn Guild, and James Barrett. Their topics were Office Work, Aviation, Home Economics, and Law. Jonejean Tracht entertained the members of the class by playing Hungary written by Koelling and Impromptu in A flat which was written by Schubert on the piano. Coleen Glentzer and Vivian Ruck have given safety talks recently.

On a recent test over negotiable instruments in Mr. Post's period 4 class, Veriene Wiedleman received 100, while Delores Ulrich and Vivian Bushroe received 90.

Miss VanGorder's home room 64 is preparing a gift for Iola Horne. She is the second in this home room to have an emergency appendectomy.

Hi-Y Has Initiation Of New Members

John Magley, Bob MacKay, Frank Devlin, Bill Riethmiller, Max Mitchell Are Enrolled

John Magley, Bob MacKay, Frank Devlin, Bill Riethmiller, and Max Mitchell were initiated into the Hi-Y Club last Thursday night at the Y.M.C.A. The "first degree ritual" was administered to the initiates by the officers of the club: Richard Buchholz, president; Maurice Lehman, vice-president; Jack Bostick, treasurer, and Roger Neff, secretary.

The guide was Morton Nahrwald, Inter-Club Congress representative, and Andy Bremer operated the electric Hi-Y sign.

The check-room at the Vincennes-South Side game was operated by the Hi-Y Club. Dick Aronhalt was in charge of room 22 and Maurice Lehman was in charge of room 4. Those who assisted Dick were Herb Daner, Dick Olcott and Howard Miller; and those who assisted Maurice were Morton Nahrwald, Roger Neff and Jack Bostick.

Hi-Y members also operated the check-room at the dance after the game. Richard Buchholz was in charge of these check-rooms, and was assisted by Murray Squires, Clayton Jensen, John Magley, Bob MacKay and Max Mitchell.

A double elimination basketball tourney will be held at the Y.M.C.A. for the Hi-Y and Torch Clubs of Fort Wayne, during the Christmas vacation. Five teams may be entered by the South Side Hi-Y. Members of these teams must not necessarily be members of the club, but the captains and managers must be Hi-Y members.

On a recent test given by Mr. Paul Sidell to his fifth period physics class, Eileen Briggs made the highest grade.

On a test over Lancelot and Elaine in Miss Pococks English 8 classes, the following made A or A-: Bob Dahman, Mary Ellen DeWood, Ned Kelsey, Kenneth Simmers and Carl Stumph.

Marvin Schleifer made a fine poster, which hangs above the door in room 32 about fire drills.

On a final test over "Sans Famille" in Miss Perkins' French 4 class, Joe Bex, Ruth Bade, Phyllis Geller and Marjorie Sheldon made A grades.

Practically all of the students in Miss Hemmer's English 1 classes have finished their book reports.

Bedding, Fabrics, Hosiery, Cooking Utensils, Electrical Equipment and Table Appointments are the names of the pamphlets which Mr. Walker has distributed to all of his marketing classes.

In Mr. Cook's English 6, period 3 class, those who made the high test grades on final tests were Robert Holloway and Betty Fearn. In his English 6, period 7 class, those who led the class were John Davenport, Mary Griffith, Donald Nolan, Hilda Knoche, Marian Karick, and Charlotte Allen. In his English 1, period 6 class, George Junk led the class.

In Miss Smith's third period dancing class, Eileen Eidner and Betty Bohn are instructing the class in Tyrolean waltz clog.

Holly Has Various Meanings According To Many Opinions Of Archer Teachers, Students

The tradition of Holly has lived through the ages and today it is still a symbol of Christmas. It is holly or an imitation of holly that partly decorates our homes and churches. This custom of decorating churches and homes is said to have come from the Romans, who often sent boughs to friends during their holiday season which began on our December 17. Because Oak and other trees didn't have leaves, the people brought holly or other evergreens to decorate their churches. Not only Roman churches were decorated, but almost all the churches were and are today decorated with holly and other evergreens.

Holly derived its name from several languages. "Holegen" is the Anglo-Saxon name. When Chaucer wrote of holly he called it "Hulfure" which in turn came from the Norse, "Hulfr." Another old designation was "Hulver." The French name is "Holin." Many superstitions are connected with holly. In Asia, Persia and India especially natives used leaves of holly in their religion. They sprinkle the face of a child at its birth with water together with the bark of holly to keep evil spirits from harming the child. These superstitious people believe that a branch of holly with its bright red berries will bring good luck if it is brought in the house on Christmas day. The fire worshippers, or the disciples of Zoroaster, believe that holly will not cast a shadow. If a holly or holly tree is planted so that it surrounds the house it is supposed to prevent the house from being struck by lightning and also to keep evil spirits from entering the house.

Has Many Uses
Among the many uses of holly for Christmas decorations and other things is the use of holly for medicine. For many centuries doctors have used holly leaves which they compounded for an astringent. The bark was used to lower fever and the berries were used as a cathartic.

Most people do not have a very good idea what holly is used for. In fact many people do not even know what holly means. The teachers seemed to have a very good idea what it means. When asked, "What does holly mean to you?" the teachers asked replied:

Miss Emma Shoup—"It means cheerfulness and happiness to me."
Mr. James Mills—"Well, sometimes things are matters of association. When I think of holly I think of my grandmother in Washington who used to send us holly and we enjoy it."

Miss Georgianna Hodgson—"It just means Christmas. The kind of holly I saw in Portland, Oregon, decorated yards. Here it just means decoration."

Mr. Ora Davis—"I think it's pretty."
Miss Crissie Mott—"Oh, it just always means Christmas."

Miss Lucy Osborn—"Well, I have several associations. I think of it as growing in my Washington cousin's yard as a big tree."

Opinions Are Given
The students varied in their opinions for when asked, "What does holly mean to you?" they answered:

Jennie Hacker—"Nothing; it is just red berries and little green leaves."
Doris Hage—"I don't know. Christmas, I suppose."

Claribel Squires—"Nothing."
Audrey Longworth—"I don't know. Why?"

Alice Myers—"Christmas, joy, good-will to men."
Dorothy Snively—"I don't know."
Kathryn Browning—"I think it's Christmas."

Bob Babbit—"Don't mean nothing."
Marylin Anweiler—"Represents Christmas, I guess."

Mary Ellen Baritt—"I consider it as one of the many symbols of Christmas."
Keith Blauvelt—"Nothing."
Eugene Bachefan—"Same as anything."

Dan Auer—"Doesn't mean a thing."
Marylin Rose—"Nothing. Christmas. Marjorie Benitt—"Christmas. Oh, I can't think of anything."

Jean Junk—"Christmas."
John Enslly—"Christmas. Why?"
Harold Boehm—"Means Christmas, as far as I'm concerned."
Lois Bloemker—"Anything."
Reva Coppock—"Christmas, I suppose."

Teachers Begin State Organization

At present there are approximately ten member schools in the Forum.

Myers Is Organizer
One of the original organizers of the Indiana Student Forum was Mr. Walter Myers, who is director of the Civic Education Service, with headquarters in Washington, D. C. He publishes five weekly papers for students in all the different grades of schools who want to study and learn about current events. He intends to give the Indiana Student Forum and the Social Science Club of South Side, as well as this school, space in his publications. This will bring Indiana and South Side to national attention. Mr. Myers will also help in publicizing the project in other ways. He believes that it will be possible to use Indiana, with its schools, as a demonstration state in which to try out new projects of national importance.

Mr. Myers was so enthusiastic about the Indiana Student Forum that he has promised to keep in touch with the progress of the organization and also come back to Fort Wayne in the spring to attend the first annual convention of the Forum as the principal speaker. This shows his interest in the project for he has to spend a great deal of time on his work in Washington. Mr. Wilson said that Mr. Myers would be of inestimable value in the organization of the Forum.

Much of the preliminary work of the Forum will fall on the members of the Social Science Club of this school according to Mr. Wilson who was instrumental in bringing to the initial meeting of the board of directors the many leaders in social science work in the state.

This Forum should continue to keep South Side of Fort Wayne in front in all ways. Already our school is known in state-wide circles for our basketball teams, public speakers, scholars, and now the Social Science Club will put South Side out in front again by starting the Indiana Student Forum, with members from all parts of the state.

Archer Grads' Room Will Hold Third Meet

Miss Pauline VanGorder announced early this week that the alumni of home room 64 would meet Tuesday, December 27 at Jean Aronhalt's home at 345 Arcadia Court. This meeting is the third since the alumni graduated, the first one being held at Jean Aronhalt's also.

Louise Closs is general chairman of the party and she has charge of the reservations. Dorothy Aldridge is in charge of the food; John Bex, Dick Bridges, Bob Storm, and Bud Brandt will be in charge of the entertainment. There will be a gift exchange.

314 Pencils Are Sold To South Side Studes

Exactly 314 anti-tuberculosis pencils were sold at the end of last week. Mr. Ernest Walker is credited for selling the greatest number of pencils.

The pencil is yellow with a red Santa Claus and a sign of the Red Cross on it. The words "Fight Tuberculosis" are also printed on the pencils.

Archer, Central Catholic Net Squads To Clash Tuesday

Southern Gym Will Be Scene Of Tilt Playing

Kelly Klads Will Initiate Defense Of Local Crown Held With North Siders.

Green Favored To Be Winner

Lineups Of Teams Is Given; Southerners Beat Alices; Irish Lose To Central.

The Green and White of South Side will be pitted against a strong Purple and Gold team from Central Catholic as Indiana's basketball state champion Archers initiate the defense of their city crown which they hold jointly with the North Side Redskins, Tuesday night, December 27, in the Southern gym.

The game promises to be one of the best ever played between the two schools, but the state champs will be heavy favorites to come through with their sixth victory of the current season.

Tigers Beat Irish
Irish hopes fell somewhat last Friday night when the Purple absorbed a 34-32 beating from that ever-fighting Bengal Tiger of Central. C. C., although strong offensively, could not quite stop the brilliant scoring spree of Hank Kulesza who made 21 of Central's 34 points. It was the sixth start of the season for the Irish and was their first defeat, spoiling their previous record of five straight.

Meanwhile the banner of the state champion Archers continued to wave supreme as the Green and White machine overpowered the Auburn Red Devils and the Alices of old Vincennes to bring their record for the current season to five in a row. Carl Hall led the Green attack in both engagements, chalking up 14 points against Auburn and 16 against Vincennes. On the basis of their impressive showing thus far in their 1938-39 season, the South Side five should continue their string of conquests on December 27, when they meet the Irish in the Southern gym.

Stanzak Leads C. C.
Last year the South Side Archers swept to a 43-26 win over the boys from the downtown school. This season, both schools put veteran squads on the hardwood and both are showing up well in competition. The Irish have Bitler, Boedeker, and Stanzak returning from their last year's varsity. Stanzak has led the Central Catholic offense to date and will be a real problem for the Archers to solve.

South Side's squad boasts four men who played on the tournament squad which won for South Side its first state crown. These boys are Glass, Bolyard, Beery, and Chedester. Of these Chedester has seen the least action this season, being troubled with a bad ankle. Carl Hall, veteran of the 1936 and 1937 Archer campaigns has also returned to the hardwood to help defend that state crown.

In the game with Central Catholic, which will be the only regular season tilt for the Archers over the holidays, Coach Friddle probably will send in the following starting lineup: Bolyard and Hall at forwards, Glass at center, Beery and Hire at guards. Other Archer players who will no doubt see action are Cook, Chedester, Hamilton, and Hines. Coach John Levicki is expected to use Gormann and Heiny at forwards, Stanzak at center, and Maxwell and Bitler at guards.

Archer Reserves Take Auburn Five

Final Score Is 47-21; Braden Makes Many Baskets, Hornberger Shows Improvement.

The South Side Archer reserve squad, with a sudden reverse of form, easily defeated a strong Auburn five by the score of 47 to 21. The Archers led throughout the whole game, having their greatest lead at halftime when they led by the score of 17 points while playing only three-quarters of the game. "Blackie" scored from every conceivable place on the floor, while also playing a good defensive game. With a few more field days like this, Braden will find himself playing quite a bit on the varsity squad.

Control Ball Well
The Archers outplayed Auburn throughout the whole game by controlling the ball well, making their shots count, and throwing a tight defense against Auburn which they were unable to score against with regularity until the third quarter when Coach Kitzmiller substituted freely. Jack Hornberger, who is the most improved player on the reserve squad, scored six points. Jack started out slowly in the first few games of the season, but he is now hitting his stride. We will undoubtedly hear more of Hornberger in the coming games.

Other boys who were outstanding are Keith Spiker, Chuck Close, Frederick Bills, Ralph Shimer, Ralph Shimer, Ralph Vetter, Bob Englehart, and Rahe Tiehman.

Meet Archers During Holidays

Intramural Individualities

Once again we are here to tell you a little bit about the intramural heroes of South Side. Many boys are interested in intramural sports so it is only natural that a great many should win letters for participation in the various sports on the intramural program.

Of the lettermen there is one who finished last spring with plenty of points and won his letter. The boy is none other than Walter Staigh, who earned a total of 117 and a half points last year. The first year in high school he earned 52 points. Walt will probably get another letter in the near future for it seems that he gets plenty of points from every sport he competes in.

Another high point man is Robert Ferguson. Bob has two letters now and is aiming for his third. In his first year of intramural sports he won a letter. In his second year of intramural sports he won a letter. In his third year, —we can't (or rather it seems impossible that he can) go on like this; but anyhow, Bob has started on his third letter in as many intramural seasons. There is no doubt in our minds but what he will get his third letter so we would like to ask him if he really needs all of his letters, and if he doesn't need them all, well we might help him keep them in circulation.

Junior Griffin is another intramural individuality who has his first letter and is started on his second. This boy won his first letter at the beginning of the '37-'38 season and is well on his way to his second award.

One of the fellows who is in a lot of intramural competition is Roy Ehlerding. This boy almost has his first letter; should have soon after the beginning of next year. Roy has not entered into as many sports as others, but the ones he did compete in he usually placed in.

Well, boys, here's some good luck coming your way. Why aren't some of you other fellows winning some letters and getting your name in this worthy (?) column?

Miss Perkins' French class has finished its study of "Sans Famille" and has started "Le Voyage de Monsieur Perrichon."

Green Squad May Attempt Wildcat Five

South Side Quintet Hopes To Meet Hammond In Tourney Games At Fete.

South Side's hopes for victory in the Hammond tourney shot skyward with the seemingly effortless victory administered to the Alices of Vincennes here last Saturday. Having matched power successfully once with Vincennes, the Archers feel more confident that if they meet the Alices in the finals, they can come off on top.

The first game of the tournament is scheduled between Hammond and Hammond Tech. Although the highly touted Hammond team has four victories and no defeats to its credit, it barely came through on a 15-14 victory over Hammond Tech on a scheduled game last week. Hammond Tech, showing plenty of power, was leading 11 to 14 with one minute left to play. Using an out-of-bounds play, the Hammond five caught their opponents napping to make the score 13-14. Evidently Hammond Tech still thought that they had the game on ice since only a few seconds remained. On the final play the Wildcats pulled a sleeper worth exactly two points to win the game 15-14. So if the first game of the tournament should go Hammond Tech's way, it will not be exactly in the nature of an upset. This game might also go to prove that Hammond is not as tough as they are written up to be. In such a case Archer hopes are again raised.

The Archers' first test comes in the form of the winner of the Frankfort-Hammond Clark contest. If successful in this contest, they meet the winner between Vincennes and the winner of the Hammond vs. Hammond Tech clash. If Vincennes wins, the Archers will have even less to worry themselves about.

Vincennes was thought to be as powerful or even more powerful than any of the Hammond fives.

However, any upset is possible and because South Side defeated Vincennes once is no reason that they can defeat them again.

Volleyball Season Draws To Close

Display Of Finesse Is Seen At Last Of Tourney Games; Seniors Are Victors Of Group

A remarkable display of finesse in Friday's well-played games marked the end of the upperclass volleyball season.

The undefeated seniors closed their tournament with a flourish with an 18 to 1 win over sophomore 2. The stars of the game, which was played at 3:30 on the north court, were Hazel Perry, Gwen Roberts and Betty Shiele.

At 3:30 on the south court, junior 2 team scored a victory over their opponents, the junior 3s. The winning team really went to town, scoring 21 points against Captain Morrison's 6.

Captain Ferguson's team 3 climbed to victory at 4:00 on the south court and blew in a final score of 31 points over the defeated sophomore 4 team's 22 points. Good plays were executed by Frances Nash, Elaine Ferguson, Bernadine Bender, Bernadine Pressler and Barbara Brower.

The north court at 4:00 saw the final stages of the battle between the junior 1 and sophomore 1. Captain Smith's little girls went out in front with a 38-to-20 victory. Outstanding players were Jeanne Smith, Audrey Hall, Margarte Brower and Elaine Hirschey.

City Net Fives Meet Various Outside Teams

North Side Takes Elkhart, Garrett; Central Beats Irish, Lose To Kokomo.

North Side with two wins, Central with a win and a loss, and Central Catholic with one loss are the results of last week's campaigns.

Central Catholic, after winning six games in a row, finally fell a victim to the Central Tigers led by Henry Kulesza, who seems to make a habit of tearing his opponent's defense into shreds. Kulesza led his mates to a 34-32 victory over the Irish in one of the most thrilling games played so far this season. Although the Irish never led, the score was tied twice and the game saw-sawed back and forth, the Tigers building up a slight lead only to be cut down to two or three points by the Purple. Stanczak, having scored consistently during the season, continued his fine work hitting four times from the field and four times from the foul line for a total of twelve points.

Central In Lead

Central took the lead during the first period and built up a 12-2 score before the slow-starting Irish began to click. Entering the second quarter, the Blue ran the score to 15-6 before the Irish began to move. Out-scoring the Central five eleven points to two, they tied up the game at 17-17. However, they were unable to pass the Tigers, and the Centralites came through with three more points to put them ahead, 20-17, at the half. Kulesza hit four times from the field after the start of the third period, and Central took the lead again with a margin of nine points. Central Catholic again rallied and changed the score from 29-20 to 29-26 early in the last quarter. Stanczak tossed a charity shot for the Purple and Talley scored a fielder for the Blue. Bitler hit again for the Irish to put his team within one point of Central at 30-31 with four minutes left of the game. Kulesza came through with three more points, and a few seconds later Bitler hit for the Irish leaving the score 34-32 in favor of the Tigers. During the excitement of the last minute, the Tigers fouled twice during the Central Catholic five a chance to win the game. They were unable to connect, and the gun brought the end to the struggle.

North Wins Seven Games

North Side made it seven in a row last week-end by winning both games of a double header. Tackling Elkhart last Friday, they defeated them 25-23 in what proved to be another one of those last-minute classics. The Redskins trailed until the start of the last quarter when Cowan put a fielder through the hoop to send the North-erners ahead for the first time at 23-22. Elkhart tied it up at 23-23 but were unable to score after that. Hieber scored the winning points for the Red late in the final period putting the Redskins again ahead 25-23. The North-erners hung on until the gun ended the game. Hieber was the outstanding player of the game running up a total of ten points. Hieber is only a junior and is considered one of the team's sparkplugs. He is expected to do great things with a bas-

Week-End To See Two City Games

Tiger Net Team To Meet Decatur Central; Northern Squad To Play Decatur, Illinois.

An unusually light basketball schedule over the week-end, because of the approaching Christmas holidays, will be in store for the basketball fans of Fort Wayne. Only two games will be played over the entire week-end. Central on Friday night will appear at Decatur Central; and North Side on the same night will take on Decatur, Illinois, at the North Side gymnasium. Central Catholic will go into action next Tuesday night against South Side in a city series battle.

Redskins, Tigers Play

Decatur, Illinois, for the last two years has appeared on the North Side schedule. Two years ago Decatur edged the Redskins by a 23-20 count. Last year North Side won by a score of 39 to 29. Tomorrow these two teams meet for the third time. Decatur is always one of the best prep basketball teams in Illinois, and this year is no exception. However, North Side will be trying for its eighth straight win of the season, and Decatur will have their hands full trying to stop such sophomore stars as Young, Cowan, and Erwin. This game will be the rubber game, and both teams will be shooting the works against each other.

Central's uncertain Tigers will face another strong team in Decatur Central tomorrow night at Decatur. Decatur Central has a big speedy team, and the Tigers will have their hands full trying to turn in a win. It will be Decatur's job to try and stop Henry Kulesza. Central's scoring ace, who in the last four games has scored over 60 points.

Kethall Next Season

Traveling to Garrett, the Red won a 39-28 victory over their hosts. Again starting slowly the North-erners trailed until midway in the second quarter, when they rallied, tallying eight points in succession to take the lead. Young and Leakey led the scoring with fourteen and ten points respectively. North Side continued to hit consistently during the third and final quarters and were never in very much danger. At the end of the third period they held an advantage of seven points which grew to eleven as the game ended.

Kokomo Defeats Central

After conquering Central Catholic Friday, the Tigers met a 31-22 defeat Saturday at the hands of the powerful Kokomo five, considered to be one of the top-notchers of the state. Top-notch or not, they also were unable to stop Henry Kulesza, who managed to dump in fourteen points before he finished up for the night. The Kats stole an early lead from Central and controlled the ball nearly the whole game. By half-time they had built up a commanding lead of eleven points. Although Chet Gabriel, six-foot-ten center was not in the lineup, the Kats still had more height than the Blue five. Central put up a game fight but was an inferior team to the Kokomo five, which by virtue of Saturday night's victory has extended its string of triumphs to seven in a row.

Dribbling Dope

Reminiscing—

Archer fans got their first taste of sweet victory last Saturday night as the Green romped over the Alices of old Vincennes 43-22. The Archers were really hot with Carl Hall being the warmest. Carl did all his scoring, 16 points, in the first half and incidentally set the crowd crazy in rolling up his total. As Vincennes was rated one of the state's toughest fives, it really makes us wonder just who, if anybody, will succeed in knocking off the Archers. Vincennes had defeated a highly rated New Albany outfit the preceding night by a 38-14 score, but the Friidmen have respect for neither name or reputation as they roll on through opponent after opponent. It all looks too simple to be true.

Another rather amazing feat is the individual scoring spree being put on by Hank Kulesza, flashy Central forward. Henry got under way against Kendallville when he banged in 25 points. He followed this record up with 21 points against Central Catholic and 14 markers against Kokomo. The amazing part is that Kulesza is not afflicted with that undeniable desire to score with no distinction made as to how, where, or with what effect it has on the team as a whole. Henry really earns every one of his shots and every one is a good shot. His simple formula is that he merely hits on the ones he takes. Once again it sounds too simple. Last Friday Kulesza led the brilliant attack which knocked the Irish of Central Catholic from the undefeated ranks.

Another mystery of Fort Wayne court circles is how do the North Side Redskins do it? Opening their season with a crippled and not particularly impressive five, the Redskins last week extended their victory march to seven straight. The Red seem to have a knack of coming from behind to pull game after game out of the fire. Off-hand we don't know exactly who it will be who first defeats the Redskins, but we sure hope it is South Side.

Notes From Here and There—

Dick Frazell, former Archer football, track, and basketball star and a member of the 1938 state championship team, was awarded his varsity letter at Franklin College where he is a freshman. . . . Jim Roth and Johnny Hines, who are home for Christmas vacation, sustain the well-known adage that Indiana basketball is the toughest to be found. . . . Curly Armstrong, Herm Schaeffer, and Tom Motter, former Central basketball stars, are really going to town for Indiana this winter. . . . Dale Hamilton, unforgettable Archer forward, who led the Green and White in their victorious campaign at the Butler Field House this spring, is tossing them in for Franklin this winter.

State Wide Chatter—

South Side's Archers are in our opinion on top of the heap of contenders for state recognition. However, Kokomo, who without the services of Chet Gabriel, 6 foot 9 inch

Frosh G. A. A. Choose Heads For Basketball

May Scheele, Betty Hargan, Rose Stemen, Lenora Moyer Selected Captains.

The first organization meeting of the freshmen G. A. A. basketball teams was held Monday night. They selected their captains and chose teams. After their organization meeting they played their first game. The winners for this series were teams 2 and 4. Team 4 won by a wide margin, the score being 4 to 17. Team 2 won by the score of 16 to 12.

There are now four freshman teams. Team one is composed of twelve girls with May Scheele as the captain. Other members are Clara Makey, Marilyn Loomis, Marjory Kruse, Joan Druhot, Catherine Dinkel, Betty Kammeier, Gloria Orr, Joan Blum, Delores Murphy, Carolyn Slatter, and Betty Wolfe.

Choose Captain

Betty Hargan was selected as captain for team 2. Other members are: Rosemary Spore, June Whalen, Martha Stenler, Patricia Smith, Elaine Boerger, Bertha Coudret, Connie Bender, Mary Menze, June Van Pelt, Melrose Lyons, Kathryn Marshall, and Dorothy Lou Holle.

Rose Stemen was chosen as the third captain. Her team is composed of Kathleen Neith, Betty Bligh, Neva Kirk, Violet Ehrman, Betty Littlefield, Betty Baker, Mertly Ernest, Tompsie Hall, Delores Bodenhorn, Pat Ehle, Norma Witsel, Ruth Affel-doffer, and Peggy Greaney.

Team 4 is captained by Lenora Moyer and her team is composed of Jeanette Wetsel, Jean Junk, Mary Parker, Dorothy Snavey, Annabel Masterson, Vasilla Stephan, Elinor Muntzinger, Alice Witte, Sylvia Shultz, Lois Bremer, and Mary Jane Hale.

Takes Part In Play

Eleanor Monesmith, '38, a member of the Franklin Players at Franklin College, took part in the play "Stage Door." While at South Side, Eleanor placed second in the state declamation contest and was music editor of The Totem.

Glass In Door Broken

At the northwest entrance of South Side, a pane of glass in the door was broken. The operation of all students is needed to prevent these things from happening again.

center, handed the Central Tigers one on the nose, ranks as one of the teams to beat. Our third and last choice for special mention this week are the Happy Hunters of Hunting-burg, who so far have found the hunting pretty good and have eight consecutive victories to their credit.

We Predict—

South Side over Central Catholic. South Side to win Hammond Invitational tourney. Central over Auburn. Central to win Kendallville Invitational tourney. North Side to have a good time relaxing over the holidays.

Bob Bolyard Hopes To Be Ball Pitcher With Yankee Team

Almost ever since Bob Bolyard was old enough to walk he has had a basketball in his hands. Raised in a family of older boys, Bob soon became quite an athlete on the court. He was born on December 4, 1920. He received his early mental training in the James H. Smart school. While in grade school, Bob played basketball and softball. After entering South Side in 1935, Bob immediately went out for South Side reserves. It didn't take him long to land a place on the reserves. From that time on Bob's rise to basketball fame has been as rapid as one of his replies to a wise-crack. Last year at Indianapolis, Bob was placed on the All-State team without a dissenting vote.

Likes Baseball

But basketball isn't the only athletic accomplishment of Bob's. He is also a splendid baseball pitcher. Last summer Bob pitched several no-hitters. He also can handle the bat with the greatest skill. It is one of Bob's fondest hopes to become a big league pitcher. He says he would like to pitch for the New York Yankees some day. Bob's brother, Earl, already plays for Baltimore, one of the Yankee farm teams.

So much for Bob's aims and ambitions. Now let us review small bits of his school life. Last year Bob proved himself to be popular with his classmates. He was chosen vice-president of the junior class. Bob thinks a lot about a certain blonde-haired girl. In fact Bob thinks a lot about brunettes and blondes. Bolyard also belongs to the All-State team here in South Side.

Not Bashful

Regarding this year's team, Bob, of course, thinks they will again be named state champs. Bob has gotten praise galore from many of the leading sports writers of the state, but all this praise has failed to turn his head in the least. However, Bob is anything but bashful and unassuming. He is a firm believer in the adage, "A shy hound never got anywhere." He is one of South Side's hopes for all-state honors on the all-state team; and, if he continues to play the brand of ball he has in the last five games, we don't see how he can miss.

Bolyard is leading the pack with a total of 44 points. So, the next time you see Bob Bolyard playing basketball, think of him not only as a great basketball player, but also as a great all-around fellow.

Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist Returns to Ft. Wayne

During the past three years Dr. Seaman has been in Los Angeles, California. While there he qualified for and received an appointment on the staff of the Los Angeles County General Hospital, serving regular duty in the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Department.

During this opportunity for intensive study and treatment of eye, ear infections and deafness, NEW AND EFFECTIVE METHODS FOR IMPROVING THE HEARING WERE DEVELOPED. IN MOST CASES HEARING CAN BE IMPROVED BY THIS NEW METHOD.

It is difficult for a child with impaired hearing to get an education—no one wants to employ a deaf man or woman. Earache and discharging ears mean beginning deafness and treatment of known effectiveness should begin at once. Office: Gaskins Bldg., 809 Calhoun St. Phone E-1303—E-1828

Archer Wins High Acclaim In Competition

Bruce Bradbury, Junior, Is Winner Of Annual Quill, Scroll Writing Contests

Bruce Bradbury, a junior, won first place in the editorial division and honorable mention in the feature writing division of the East Central section of the Quill and Scroll contest held on November 5, at South Side. The winners were announced in this month's issue of the Quill and Scroll Magazine.

The subject for the editorial contest was: "Are the Movies Our Best Form of Entertainment?" Bruce chose to write on the negative side of the question. The feature was written on the subject: "What Thanksgiving Means to Me." Bruce asked the opinions of teachers, class officers, outstanding students of the school concerning this question.

These awards are the fourth and fifth won by Bruce in competition in Quill and Scroll contests. When a freshman, he received first place in the feature division and honorable mention in the editorial division. As a sophomore he won honorable mention in proof reading.

Adviser Gets Originals

In this contest the original entries were handed in to Miss Harvey, faculty adviser for The Northern and The Times, who judged these entrants and selected Bruce's to be sent to the judges at Northwestern University. These judges select the ten final national winners and also the divisional winners.

South Side has always won a place in the Quill and Scroll contests. In the last contest Ozzie Eggers won first place, national, in the interview division of the contest. In 1937 Bob Storm won a first place in sports writing.

This year Alice Ludwig, a sophomore at North Side, also won fifth place in the divisional feature group.

The East Central section of the contest includes Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin. These contests are held for the benefit of high school students who are interested in furthering themselves in the knowledge of writing feature stories and editorials.

Airplane Boys Receive Points

Standing Of Each Member Given, Requirements For Earning Letter Are Also Listed

At the last South Side Airplane Club meeting held on Wednesday, December 14, 1938, there were approximately twenty-five boys present, many of whom received points toward their letter. The following list shows the standing of the active members: Alison Arnold, 68 points; Bob Hodel, 47 points; Harold Boyes, 46 points; Roger Haifely, 40 points; Harold Hollenberg, 32 points; Nick Markoff, 23 points; Warren Wyneken, 17 points; John Wise, 13 points; Frank Duwaldt, 11 points; Dick Slatvenson, 8 points; Bob Rabbit, 4 points.

Two hundred points are required to get a letter. The general idea of the point system is as follows: Two points for attending the meeting or a city-contest; 10 points for first place in city contest; 6 points for second place, and 3 points for third place. The flight points are as follows: Indoor models staying up 20 seconds, 1 point, and up to 7 minutes, 15 points; outdoor models staying up 30 seconds, 1 point, and up to 6 minutes, 10 points. Gas models staying up 30 seconds, 1 point, and up to five minutes, 12 points. The constructive points are as follows: Indoor models, 2 to 4 points; outdoor models, 4 to 6 points; glider, 1 to 3 points; gas models, 6 to 12 points. Extra points are given for vent models.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Wednesday, January 9, 1939, in the gym at 7:30. This should be a very interesting meeting because during the Christmas vacation the boys will have time to construct new models. More models will be brought to this meeting than to any previous meetings. The Airplane Club invites anyone who is interested in airplanes to attend the meeting.

Elaine Boerger Plans For U. S. A.'ers Party

Elaine Boerger has planned a party for the Christmas meeting of the U. S. A. Club today.

The degrees will be given to the girls who have earned them.

A Christmas poem will be read by Marie Schultz. Barbara Miller will read a "Christmas Story." A quartet consisting of Delaine Rose, Eleanor Muntzinger, Marilyn Sappington, and Elaine Boerger will sing two songs. A Y. W. C. A. Christmas poem will be read by Esther Schueler. Community singing and a candle-lighting service will also be held. Refreshments will be served.

History Of So-Si-Y Organization Shows Purpose Of Club, Numerous Activities, Services Performed, Its First Advisers

As a Girl Reserve I will try to be: Gracious in manner Impartial in judgment Ready for service and Loyal to friends Reaching toward the best Earnest in purpose Seeing the beautiful Eager for knowledge Reverence to God Victorious over self Ever dependable Sincere at all times.

Thus goes the code of the girls of the So-Si-Y Club, the name of which is an abbreviated form of South Side Y. W. C. A. At the suggestion of Miss Martha Pittenger, this club was started in 1922, one of the first Archer organizations. The response to the extensive membership campaign was great, and 134 students became charter members. The slogan of the campaign was "Every girl of South Side a So-Si-Y member", all but fourteen of the school enrollment joined.

The club's first advisers were Miss Devitt, Miss Burns, Miss Brigham, and Miss Plentye. The present ones are Miss Beulah Rinehart, beginning in 1925 and 1926; Mrs. Alda Jane Woodward Carson, Miss Hazel Miller and Miss Eleanor Smeltzley, all becoming advisers in 1926 and 1927.

The purpose of the club is in accordance with its code. It is a character building organization, and its members are instructed to live up to standards set forth in the code. The programs are varied to help provide for the development of the mental and moral health of those who hold membership in it. So-Si-Y is noted for its service work, and the girls that are thus engaged gain worthwhile experience.

Four Annual Events

There are four annual events at which the So-Si-Y-ettes meet with other Girl Reserve organizations to enjoy themselves and to exchange ideas. At Camp Yarnelle during the first week-end of school each September, they meet to discuss joint projects which will be carried out the following semester; this assembly is called the "Setting Up" conference. Christmas brings the "Hanging of the Greens" ceremonial when representatives of the six senior Girl Reserve groups of the city decorate the Y. W. C. A. building with pine branches and wreaths.

At the beginning of the second semester there is another "Setting Up" conference, at which more plans are made for the activities of the year. They also sponsor a Tournament Dance during the basketball tournament at the high school at which the games are played. To complete a well rounded-out year they hold a banquet in the spring at the Y. W. C. A. The five clubs, besides So-Si-Y, which take part in these activities are U. S. A., also of South Side, Polar-Y of North Side, Wheatley Center Girl Reserve, Central Triangle, and the Friendship Club of Central.

Parties and Potluck Given

Besides these joint meetings, So-Si-Y has parties and potlucks here at school. There is at the beginning of each semester a recognition or an initiation service. Previous to the Christmas holidays, an appointed program committee entertains the rest of the club with a suitable Christmas play. In the spring they feature a Mother-Daughter Tea.

Each semester the cabinet selects a theme which they use throughout the term as a basis for discussions for the bi-monthly meetings. This year's theme is China, and included on the club calendar of this year have been speeches concerning the customs, occupations, languages, etc., of China. In furthering the interest of this theme, Mrs. M. L. Sears, whose sister is a missionary in China, exhibited a collection of Chinese clothing, silks, and jewelry, that were sent to her from that country. Interesting themes of other terms have been "Building Our Tomorrow", 1933 and 1934; "Flying Above the Clouds", 1934 and 1935, and the "Indians", 1936.

Services Many and Varied

The services of So-Si-Y are many and varied. This October in co-operation with the Needlework Guild, they hemmed more than seventy towels.

Valentine and Easter egg projects are carried out for orphan children. As a world friendship undertaking, they are sending clothing and toys to Spain. Several members have dressed dolls for the Day Nursery. A regular project is that of filling a Christmas basket.

Officers, Members Named

Present officers of the club are as follows: President, Velma Connett; vice-president, Beth Ellen Chadwick; secretary, Marjorie Price; treasurer, Dorothy Bloemker, and Inter-Club Congress representative, Dorothy Amstutz.

English Class Holds Party Having Basis Of Literary Lyrics

Yesterday Miss Emma Kiefer's third period English class had a program in the Greeley room. Literary lyrics, which great poets have written and which composers have set to music, were the basis for the program.

Ruth Ellison entertained the class with two vocal solos, "Hark! Hark! the Lark!" by William Shakespeare and Peppas Song by Robert Browning. Victor Hugo's Morning Gallop was played as a piano solo by Velma Lehman. Donna and Rosella Foutz featured the class with an accordion duet.

The feature of the program was the recording of two of William Shakespeare's love lyrics. It was a Lover and His Lass and Who Is Sylvia; these were played on the victrola.

The whole class joined in singing The Barefoot Boy by John Greenleaf Whittier; To Celia by Ben Jonson; Flow Gently, Sweet Afton by Robert Burns; Sweet and Low by Alfred Lord Tennyson, Comin' Thru the Rye and Auld Lang Syne by Robert Burns.

The committee in charge of arranging this program consisted of Donna Lou Foutz, Velma Lehman, and Ruth Ellison. Jack Brazy was the master of ceremonies and Velma Lehman was the accompanist.

Archers Sign Cards For Red Cross Group

Approximately 1500 Red Cross Disaster Relief cards were filled out last Thursday morning when Travel Club distributed the blank cards for the students to fill out.

As yet, the cards have not been counted or filed, but a brief glance through the stacked cards convinces one that entertaining children and first aid work are by far the most popular among the students. Other popular skills and recreations were typing, cooking, reading to older children, and swimming.

Volunteer members of Travel Club will count and alphabetically arrange the cards after which they will be sent to the Red Cross office to be cross filed according to the things which have been marked on them. Then, in case disaster should ever strike the Fort Wayne area, the Red Cross would call on the people who have filled out those cards.

With the filling-out of the cards last Thursday morning, South Side became the first high school in the United States to attempt such an enterprise with such pleasing success.

Kelly Student Body Has Varied Choice Of Best Candy Bar

Sweets to the sweet—everyone "craves" a candy bar every so often. That delicious Clark bar seems to be a favorite with most of the students; Heath bar is holding second choice among the victims of this reporter. We all have a favorite candy bar; a few students and teachers expressed their ideas of a good candy bar.

Jeanne Smith: Power House.
Mae Vanderford: Clark.
Marilyn Anweiler: Mars Bar.
Imogene Wright: Nestles, puffed with almond.
Alice Ley: Heath.
Marjorie Bowser: Milky Way.
Jeanne Snyder: Clark Bar.
Bob Moses: (Could be but it ain't).
Stu Welborn: I don't eat candy (like fun).

Mr. Bill Moss: Hershey.
Don Berry: Clark Bar.
Mildred Franz: Clark.
Lavern Engelbrecht: Nestle.
Miss Lou Mellen: Heath Bar.
Miss Elizabeth Demaree: Hershey's Chocolate Almond.
Kathleen Hamer: Dipsey-Doodle (if they're not stale).
Velda Oppenlander: Dipsey-Doodle.

Mr. A. Verne Flint: Hershey.
Nancy Jane Clark: Clark.
Marilyn Soudles: Power House (cause they're powerful).
Rosemary Jones: Clark (if it's fresh).

Betty June Franklin: Clark (no worms).
Mildred Korte: Heath.
Virgill Johnson: Mr. Goodbar.
Rose Wynn: Mr. Goodbar.
Lois Holzworth: Almond Hershey.
Betty Scott: Mars (frozen).
Florence Stoffer: Three Musketeers.
Elsie Pedersen: Power House.

Musical Department Has Christmas Party

South Side's Music Department gave a Christmas party Wednesday in the band room.

For entertainment Dorothy Lanckau gave a tap dance. Billy Foye and an orchestra called the "Cadets of Rhythm" furnished the music for dancing. Everyone was taught the "Lambeth Walk." Games were played and attendance prizes were given. Refreshments were served.

The chaperones were Mrs. Dorothy Riecke, Miss Martha Pittenger, and Mr. Benjamin Null.

The committee in charge was Joan Earl, William Bleke, and Ruth Bade.

Artists' Group Sells One-Half Paper Supply

Art Department Shows Sale Of 150 Rolls; Tissue Is Designed, Sold By Pupils

Latest returns from the sale of the art department's Christmas wrapping paper show that just about one-half of the original supply has been sold. There were 333 rolls of paper to begin with, and about 150 of these rolls have been sold.

The paper went on sale Monday, December 12, and will continue until the present supply is exhausted. Members of the art classes are selling this paper, and it may be obtained from any member of these classes or from either of the art rooms, 77 and 61.

This wrapping paper was designed by all of the art classes of both Miss Blanche Hutto and Miss Emma Dochtermann. The students in all of these classes were to design different blocks, and the best of these were selected and put together.

This year the paper was dedicated to the improvements around South Side. In the colorful design of brilliant green and white there are clocks, steps, designed floors, loud speakers, the new printing press, the Greeley Room stage, a basketball with State Champs printed on it, microphones, basketball players, the new office rooms, motion picture machines, and the school.

Residents living around school seem to take an interest in this paper because several have asked about it.

The paper is selling for ten cents for a roll of three sheets.

The proceeds from the sale of this paper will be used to buy equipment for the Art Department.

Edythe Thornton was named to the Phi Beta Kappa fraternity last Tuesday. The Phi Beta Kappa is a national honor society. Edythe now attends Indiana University and has a major in Latin.

Second Senior Banquet To Be On January 17

"A Glimpse In The World Of Tomorrow" Will Serve As Theme Selected.

Plans Are Based On World's Fair

Officers Receive Information From New York Concerning Room Decoration

"A Glimpse In The World Of Tomorrow" is the theme selected for the second annual Senior Banquet which will be held Tuesday, January 17, 1939, in the new room adjoining the cafeteria. Those who have been in charge of the arrangements are the senior class officers, Eugene Schmidt, Max Wagner, Max Spencer, Janice Dyer, Nadine Mueller, and Eddie Reeves, assisted by the class advisers, Miss Dorothy Magley and Mr. Paul Sidell.

The theme is based on the theme of the New York World's Fair, which will be the most outstanding event at the time of the banquet. In order to follow closely the theme of the fair, the officers have written for and received much material from Grover Whelan, director of the New York event.

The speeches will be based on the possibilities of progress for us as the coming generation. Mr. Merle J. Abbott, Mr. R. Nelson Snider, and Miss Martha Pittenger will be the guest speakers. Three or four seniors will be chosen to give short talks on subjects such as peace, prosperity, tolerance, and achievement in the world of tomorrow. This is in addition to the both humorous and serious history and prophecy, which will be given by Jeanette Warren and Carl Goebel.

Janice Dyer is in charge of the decorations, which will be carried out in the official colors of the New York World's Fair, Eddie Reeves has been put in charge of the speakers; Nadine Mueller, publicity; Phyllis Geller, tickets; Jeanette Warren, music; programs, Ruth Kaiser, and Max Wagner, chief technician. A hospitality committee, consisting of the senior officers, will welcome all the guests. Other committee heads will be named soon.

Practically all of the basic plans have been definitely settled. Work on decorations, favors, programs, etc., and further development of the plans will start immediately after the Christmas vacation. All students of the class of '39 who wish to work on committees are urged to sign in Miss Magley's room, room 14, today or tomorrow.

Most students are glad when their birthday's come close to Christmas for then they get bigger and better presents. Then there's the students whose parents say: "You'll have to wait until Christmas to get presents" and then these students wish they had their birthdays in the summertime so that they would get two sets of presents. Anyhow, we wish all these students a Happy Birthday, Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

December 23—Edward and Donald Meyer, George Keller, Mildred Druhot, Louis Swager, Clairbelle Squires and Gwendolyn Stuart.

December 24—Jack Parker, Don Raines, Betty Rose, Everett Trulock, Delores Mesecbe, Lurmer Duckerson, Joan Smith, Betty Hearn, Bonnie Yaeger and Lois Bremer.

January 5—Gloria Spanley and Jack Brazy.

New Students Enter
During the last several weeks South Side has had two enrollments and nine withdrawals. Eugene Hayden, one of the new students, came from Plainfield, Indiana, and is enrolled as a junior. Walter Friend, the other, is a senior. He came from Libby High School, Toledo, Ohio.

Among the withdrawals are Eli Adams, who moved to New Haven, Indiana; Ruth Fredrick, who moved to Auburn, Indiana, and Joseph Learning, who is now located at Indianapolis. Others who have withdrawn are Betty Ann Boese because of ill health, and Raymond Cochran, who is going to work. Sam Anderson, John Milbourne, Walter Osborn and Delbert Rose also withdrew.

The New Perfection BUFFET CRACKERS

Archer Faculty Members Plan Interesting Activities During Christmas Vacation

All the students by this time know just about what they are going to do during Christmas vacation. Christmas vacation will be a week of visiting friends, ice-skating, skiing, sledding, and going on sleigh rides and over night parties. The teachers also are going to enjoy themselves during vacation.

When some of the teachers of South Side were asked what they intend to do during Christmas vacation, they answered as follows:

Miss Rosemary DeLancey: I am going to North Manchester to visit my folks, and the rest of the time I am going to work on a thesis for my M.A. degree.

Miss Gretchen Smith: I am going to enjoy the usual Christmas holiday festivities.

Mrs. Alda Jane Carson: I'm going to have company, and I'm going to cook and wash dishes.

Miss Alice Dean: I think I'll drive through Pennsylvania and West Virginia. We are also having a houseful of relatives for Christmas.

Miss Beulah Rinehart: I'm going to stay at home and do things I've been wanting to do for a long time. I might go out for Christmas dinner.

Miss Gertrude Oppelt: I'm going to stuff a turkey for Christmas dinner, trim the Christmas tree, and spend the rest of the week admiring the tree.

Miss Georgianna Hodgson: Some friends of mine are going to visit me during Christmas vacation.

Mr. Henry Chappell: I'm going to try to make up for sleep I've lost, and I'm going to the alumni dance.

Mr. Maurice Cook: I'm going with my family to visit friends in Sullivan, Indiana. While I'm there, I'm going to try my luck at hunting.

Mr. Grace Welty: I am going to spend the holidays with my mother in Boonfield, Indiana.

More Are Listed
Miss Mary Pocock: I may go to Chicago and will probably sleep the rest of the time.

Miss Mary Crowe: I am going to stay home this Christmas.

Mr. Bill Moss: I am going to take my family to Southern Indiana to visit my grandmother. I plan to go rabbit hunting for two days. I'm also going to Chicago to attend the National Coaches Association meeting.

Mr. Maurice Murphy: I intend to stay at home and catch up on some work, do the old work around the house, and not get up unless I feel like it.

Miss Erma Dochterman: I am going to stay in Fort Wayne to rest and catch up on my correspondence. I'm going to entertain my nephew, Dick, spend some time in Indianapolis.

Miss Dorothy Magley: I'm going to have my cousin from New York as a guest all week. I intend to have a good old-fashioned Christmas and completely forget school.

Mr. C. A. Bex: I'm going to spend Christmas Day at my parents' home near Vincennes. The remainder of the week I shall spend with my wife's family.

Miss Blanche Hutto: I intend to entertain my aunt and uncle from Dayton, Ohio.

Miss Elizabeth Demaree: I shall visit my niece Cynthia Demaree at Bloomington where she is attending school. I also intend to spend some time with my cousin in Indianapolis during the vacation.

Miss Pauline VanGorder: I intend to spend my vacation in the city.

Miss Nellie Covatt: I intend to spend some time in Indianapolis.

Controlling Of Tuberculosis Is Desirable Due To Effects

There are two main reasons why immediate eradication of tuberculosis is desirable, first of all because it is a communicable disease and secondly, because of its disastrous effects. Although there is no specific means for its prevention or cure, tuberculosis can be controlled, perhaps even eradicated, through present available means.

For a third of a century there has been a gradual reduction of the mortality due to tuberculosis in the United States. Nevertheless, it is still a major public health problem, "because (1) it incapacitates many over long periods; (2) it affects large numbers, and (3) it remains resistant to a considerable percentage of deaths."

Tuberculosis is an ancient disease. It is described in writings which have been handed down from early times. It was probably very common during the period of the Roman Empire. The first statistical information as to the prevalence of tuberculosis is found in the London bills of mortality for 1788.

At that time it was known as "consumption" and was responsible for half of the deaths of children under the age of five. Even allowing for errors of diagnosis, it is fairly certain that tuberculosis under the name of "consumption" was the cause of at least a third of these deaths.

But since the discovery of the tubercle bacillus by Robert Koch, and the means through which it may be combated, there has been a marked reduction in the number of deaths from tuberculosis. A considerable percentage of the entire population is known to be infected with disease. But of the many who become infected, only a relatively few develop the disease. For this reason, in order that those infected may not develop it, it is necessary to live healthfully and in sanitary living quarters. It is with this latter problem, that of providing the masses with suitable social and economic living conditions, that the National Tuberculosis League has been concerned. This plague is a disease chiefly of the poor, because they are not fed and housed properly.

"The first line of defense is sound body," Dr. Grant Fleming of McGill University, Montreal, Canada, has pointed out.

The general public can help fight this battle by being certain that they themselves are not tubercular. It costs only a few dollars for a tuberculin test to be performed, and it may be the means of saving a person's own life, or the lives of the members of his family since it is a communicable disease. Many people refuse to take these tests on the grounds that "I am not sick so why should I go to this expense?" The answer is simple. Anyone interested in public health will co-operate. Only in this way can early cases be detected. One demands fire and police protection; health protection should be listed even before these. A few thousand dollars may be saved now, but later on it will cost millions. So senseless to ask if this is wise economy?

A quotation from Coleridge is applicable: "And in today already walks tomorrow."

Junior Math Society Plans To Elect Heads

As there will be only one more meeting of the Junior Math club the nominating committee was appointed to nominate officers for the offices of president and secretary. The members of the committee are Leonore Kensler, Jean Junk, and Duane Shidler.

After the business meeting, Joan Squires played "Don't Wait Till The Night Before Christmas" on the piano. A Christmas quiz, planned by Mary Ann Florence and Margaret Heine, was given. "Mathematical Wrinkles" was presented by Dorothy Heslip. Several other games were played. Ice cream bars served as refreshment after which Christmas carols were sung by the group.

Alumni Dance To Be Staged December 29

Ozzie Eggers To Be In General Charge Of Affair; Jimmie Sanford Will Play

Led by Ozzie Eggers, president, the '38 alumni association will sponsor a dance to be held on Thursday, December 29, in the new Greeley room. This dance, which will be held from 9:30 to 12:30 p. m., will be the first of its kind to be sponsored by South Side. Jimmy Sanford's orchestra will provide the music.

The alumni association plans to form a permanent organization which will meet during the Christmas holidays each year.

New officers of the alumni group will be elected at a reception to be held from 7:15 until 8 o'clock, preceding the dance. Retiring officers of the group are Ozzie Eggers, president; George Castle, vice-president; June Close, secretary-treasurer; Julia Crabill, George Kempf, and Martin Ankenbruck, social council.

Members of the group who are assisting with the arrangements include Ozzie Eggers, Julia Crabill, Lillian Gunzenhauser, Margaret Ann Rukel, Ellen Addington, and Don Helm.

Presiding will be Mr. Merle J. Abbott and Mr. R. Nelson Snider who will address the association. Chaperons include Mr. and Mrs. Merle J. Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. R. Nelson Snider, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Chappell, Miss Adelaide Fiedler, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd K. Whelan, Miss Hazel Miller, Miss Pauline VanGorder, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Verne Flint.

Tickets for the fete may be purchased in the general office or at the South Side Grill.

Is This Christmas?

By Bob Robinson

Why do we have Christmas? Perhaps that is a question that could be frowned upon by most people at this time, but still I ask for the answer. Is Christmas a task of the year when people try to obliterate their sins with a spurge of giving and holiness or the actual high tide of a year-round Christmas feeling?

Meet A "Man With Wings!"

Pictured above is Hank Velkoff, well-known Archer model airplane enthusiast, pointing out details of a gasoline model while attending a national convention held at Detroit last summer. With him are a number of youths from other parts of the country who are also inspecting the craft.

By Jeannette Warren

Meet "a Mad Modeler." Yes, Hank Velkoff, literally and figuratively speaking, through his interest in constructing model airplanes and through his membership in "Mad Modelers," a city-wide airplane club, is truly a mad modeler. It all came about last year when he became a charter member of the above club. Other South Side model airplane enthusiasts who are members are Bob Hawkins, Allison Arnold, Ralph Obringer and Bob Hodell. The present active membership is about thirty-five. Hank is also a member of the South Side Airplane Club.

Hank is capable of constructing anything from out-door flying jobs to indoor flying jobs of light construction. During the summer, he makes the heavier, more powerful models with tiny gas motors. During the winter he "babies" his feud with Bob Hawkins, namely, arguing with Hawkins over the question of whose models are capable of the longest flights. At present he has five completed gas models that are in flying condition. He always has one under construction.

Hank has gained national recognition through his outstanding and energetic ability in constructing hundreds of tiny crafts. Last year at Detroit during the week of July 7, Hank, Ralph Obringer and Bob Hawkins attended a four-day national convention, at which entrant's planes were tested for endurance. Velkoff's plane received twenty-fifth place, and he received a medal for his efforts. The winning model stayed in the air twenty minutes. At Indianapolis in 1936 and at Detroit in 1937 he entered several contests for "experience" as he puts it (he didn't place).

In explaining some of the technicalities of the various types of planes, Hank pointed out the average sizes of each. The indoor models vary in length more than any other type; they are anywhere from twelve to thirty-six inches long. The large outdoor gas models are from five to eight feet in length. Last winter Allison Arnold, Jack Buck and Hank worked on constructing a gas plane to be radio controlled. Construction will be continued and the model completed when there are available funds.

I rather imagine Mr. Velkoff sees airplanes zooming around in his sleep judging from the number he constructs in such a short length of time. Last year he made fifteen indoors, ten outdoors, and two gas models.

It all started approximately seven years ago when he finished a model which his brother had under construction.

His workshop is anywhere from the breakfast nook to the basement. His family is split on their opinions of his hobby, his brother and sister being of the negative side. His mother doesn't mind it too much. They all appreciate seeing them in the air.

I rather imagine Mr. Velkoff sees

airplanes zooming around in his sleep judging from the number he constructs in such a short length of time. Last year he made fifteen indoors, ten outdoors, and two gas models.

It all started approximately seven years ago when he finished a model which his brother had under construction.

His workshop is anywhere from the breakfast nook to the basement. His family is split on their opinions of his hobby, his brother and sister being of the negative side. His mother doesn't mind it too much. They all appreciate seeing them in the air.

Hank is capable of constructing anything from out-door flying jobs to indoor flying jobs of light construction. During the summer, he makes the heavier, more powerful models with tiny gas motors. During the winter he "babies" his feud with Bob Hawkins, namely, arguing with Hawkins over the question of whose models are capable of the longest flights. At present he has five completed gas models that are in flying condition. He always has one under construction.

Hank has gained national recognition through his outstanding and energetic ability in constructing hundreds of tiny crafts. Last year at Detroit during the week of July 7, Hank, Ralph Obringer and Bob Hawkins attended a four-day national convention, at which entrant's planes were tested for endurance. Velkoff's plane received twenty-fifth place, and he received a medal for his efforts. The winning model stayed in the air twenty minutes. At Indianapolis in 1936 and at Detroit in 1937 he entered several contests for "experience" as he puts it (he didn't place).

In explaining some of the technicalities of the various types of planes, Hank pointed out the average sizes of each. The indoor models vary in length more than any other type; they are anywhere from twelve to thirty-six inches long. The large outdoor gas models are from five to eight feet in length. Last winter Allison Arnold, Jack Buck and Hank worked on constructing a gas plane to be radio controlled. Construction will be continued and the model completed when there are available funds.

It Flew
Teacher: Lot was warned to take his wife and daughter and flee out of the city. Lot and his wife and daughter got safely away.
Willie: What happened to the flea, sir?

There was a fellow named Izzie.
Who had a beautiful Lizzie;
He stepped on the brakes
A moment too late.

1908—"Oh, sir! I am promised to another."
1910—"You'll have to ask father, Henry."
1938—"Step on it, George, the old man's gaining on us."

Political Candidate: Will you join our party?
Marjorie: Certainly! When is it?

Arnold: Give me some of that prepared monaceticacidester of salicylic acid.
Clerk: Do you mean aspirin?
Arnold: Yes, that's it. I never can remember the name.

Just Out Of Date
Honestly, now, would you think that I bought this car second hand?
Never in a lifetime. I thought you made it yourself.

Upon seeing a sign, "Dead End Street," Jane remarked, "My, my, that picture 'Dead End' must have been unusually good. They even named a street after it."

Nellie watcher her first football game;
Oh boy, was she having fun!
But she grabbed her knees and blushed with shame
When the crowd yelled "50-yard run."

Little Willie in the best of sashes
Fell in the fire and burned to ashes.
After a while the room grew chilly
But nobody wanted to poke up Willie.

Don: We have a goat with no nose.
Drake: How does he smell?
Don: Terrible.

An insurance salesman made a visit upon a prospective customer, who was a farmer. Driving into the farmyard he saw the farmer standing in a cloud of dust with a crank in his hand, gazing upward. Following his gaze, he asked the farmer what had happened, and the farmer replied, "Well, sir, I started to crank it, but it flew off the handle."

A Frenchman was touring Scotland. One day, while hiking around the hills, he came upon a shepherd and his flock of sheep. After awhile he noticed what an exceptionally fine dog the shepherd had. When he asked how much he wanted for it, he was told it wasn't for sale. An hour or two later he came back just in time to see the Scotchman pocketing ten pounds and an Englishman leading the dog away. Pushing up to the Scotchman, he irately inquired as to why the dog wasn't sold to him, but was sold to an Englishman. The only answer he got was, "Hoot mon, no matter how good my dog is, he canna swin the English Channel."

IT'S MIGHTY TOUGH
It's mighty tough
When you have a date
And her poppa says—
Now don't be late.
And the stars are bright—
She looks romantic—
And you feel just right.
The stars all twinkle
And you bend your head—
And she says sweetly—
Let's see a show instead.

Girls are like street cars—
They take you for a ride
And they drop you.
Girls are like street cars—
You have to catch them
As they come.
Girls are like street cars—
When they are inconsistent
You miss them.
Girls are like street cars—
There is always another Coming along.

BRIGHT SAYINGS
Help your wife, says Good House-keeping, When she mops up the floor, mop up the floor with her.
Some girls use a headache to get rid of a headache, but others use a headache to get rid of a pill.
They all laughed when I went to the postoffice with an undertaker. They didn't know I was going to get a dead letter.

A Scotchman had been away from home for eleven years. When he returned he found his five brothers wearing long beards.
Why the hair-r-r-r? he asked as he, confronted the group.
Dinna ye remember? Ye took the razor with ye.

MUSIC HATH CHARMS—
Swing music is here to stay. You can't keep a Goodman down.
The musician who invented swing ought to.
Jitterbugs have insect appeal.
When the cat's away, the radio does the howling.

TO MUSSOLINI
If the people of Sweden are Swedes, And the people of Media Medes, And the people of Poland are Poles, Shouldn't the people of Holland be Holes?

And the people of Portugal Ports? And the people of Sparta be Sparts? It should offend no one ■ bit To call the people of Italy "It."

Pa: Well, son, how are the grades this time?
Son: They're under water.
Pa: What d'ya mean?
Son: Below C level.
Ben: I put a tack on the teacher's chair yesterday.
Ted: Did you? I bet that he won't sit down in a hurry.
Ben: No, neither will I.

Mickey fell down the elevator,
Wasn't found till six days later.
Then the neighbors sniffed, Gee whiz
What a spoiled child Mickey is.

Farmer: Now this is my best little calf.
City: You can't kid me—that's a baby cow.

Mother: Thomas, how dare you kick your little brother in the stomach?
Tom: Gee, I'm sorry, Mom, but it was his fault. He turned around.

Many students are like coffee—ninety-eight per cent of active ingredient has been removed from the bean.

Teacher: On this paper you say you know a connecting link between plant and animal kingdom. What is it?
Ans.: Stew.

Advice to co-eds: If you are looking for a real thrill, try kissing a boy with hicoughs.

HURRIED CALL
Singer: And for Bonnie Annie Laurie I'd lay me down and die.
Listener (rising): Is Annie Laurie in the audience?

LINE FORMS ON THE RIGHT
Usher: How many, please?
Exasperated patron: There were five of us, but three died.

Rub a dub dub
Two men in a tub
Curse these small town hotels!

A news item says: One man is knocked down by an automobile every ten minutes in Chicago. One would think it would soon year him out. (Wouldn't one?)

THE REASON
What? The main road to Binkesville is open all the way?
Yes, we had to open it till we got the detour fixed.

Friends, Alligators and Whackies, if you have a few minutes while flitter-cutting around, I have some dribble that I hope will make you able to swing high on your little 'ole agony pipe or to beat it out on your pots and pans!

Concerning Icky Mickey:
Mickey with a thirst for gore,
Nailed the baby to the door.
Mother said, with humor quaint,
Mickey, dear, don't spoil the paint!
There's a store in Lynbrook that sells Jitterbug hats, Shag socks, Hill-ibly shirts, and Killer-diller jackets! If you have all these, you're assured of riding with the cats in style! Nothing corny there, either.

Fro mthe Richmond Hill Domino:
Voice over the phone: Pop, guess who got kicked out of college?
And maybe it's the same alligator concerned here: Doc: Can you let me have a quart of blood for a transfusion tomorrow?

Student: Nope, can only give you a pint. I've gotta shave tomorrow.
Seeing that nursery rhymes seem to be the current craze, the Purple Press swings out with:
Tom, Tom, the piper's son,
Went to school just for fun.
Laughed at French, sang in Math.
Empty pockets, now he hath.

Jack has nothing and Jill has jack.

Here lies the bones of Mary Jones,
For her death had no terrors,
Born a maid, she died a maid,
No runs, no hits, no errors.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS
Scene—a restaurant.
Joe: Waiter, waiter, there's a piece of rubber tire in my sausage.
Waiter: Yes sir, just another example of the motor car replacing the horse.

Let's close with this word to the wise,
Early to bed,
Early to rise,
While your girl goes out with the other guys.

Two mosquitoes once lit on the features
Of two fair and peroxidized creatures.
When asked by what right,
They replied, We're not tight,
We're just seeing the games from the bleachers.

Now, said the professor, pass all your papers to the end of the row; have a carbon sheet under each one, and I can correct all the mistakes at once.

You can always tell a senior;
He is sedately dressed;
You can always tell a junior;
By the way he swells his chest.
You can always tell a freshman
By his timid looks and such;
You can always tell a sophomore,
But you can not tell him much.

Down where the trees make a vista,
I saw a young lady and a mista;
By the distance between 'em,
And because I had seen 'em
I knew the mista had kista.

The Chateau Chambord in France has 440 rooms, 365 chimneys, 63 stairways and no baths!
Motorist (to man he just ran over): Hey, look out back there.
Victim of hit-and-run: What's the matter, are you coming back?

To sit around and pitch the woo
To me seemed awfully dumb.
But now that I have found a beau
I think it's lots of fun!

With Violet cuddling in his arms,
He drove a Ford—poor silly,
Where he once held his Violet
Now he holds a lily.

99, thump
99, thump
Guess what?
A centipede with a wooden leg.

Teacher: What happened to Baby-lon?

Ans.: It fell.
Teacher: Nineveh?
Ans.: Destroyed.
Teacher: And to Tyre?
Ans.: Punctured!

She: Everything is so sweet! Spring is almost here.
Dad: And I suppose the sap is coming up tonight.

Stout Man: Has any one seen my belt around the house?
Wife: I don't know, dear. Did you put it around the house?

Travel Agency Clerk: We'd appreciate a statement about what you thought of our all-expense tour you took last summer.
Victim: Hmmm—it was well named.

Senior boy applying for a job —
Employer: I want a person who will take no risks.

THE POET SPEAKS
Who never speaks when in the hall?
Who has the mild deameanor?
Who is the smartest of them all?
The staunch and sturdy senior.
Who gives us rides most every night? Whose flivvers could be roomier?
Whose grades are really quite a fright, The forgotten man, the junior.
Who are the Small stuff in the school? Who crowd in all the doors?
Who really are nobody's fool?
The silly sophomores.

Citizens were amused when they saw this sign in front of a church. It read: Subject of Sunday evening's sermon—Do you know what Hell is? Beneath it printed in very small letters was written, Come and hear our organist.

AT NO CHARGE
Farmer: Hello, Ed. Say, I've got a freak over at my place—a two-legged calf.
Neighbor: Yeah, I know it. He came over to call on my daughter last night.

A CLEAN BILL OF HEALTH
Has your husband any hobbies? asked the neighbor who was calling.
No, said Mrs. Tuggle. He has rheumatism a good deal and hives now and then, but he ain't never had no hobbies.

FACE VALUE
I hate those impromptu complexions, don't you?
What do you mean?
Those that they make up as they go along.

TROJAN TICKLERS
Jack: Why don't you like girls?
Raymond: They're too biased.
Jack: Biased?
Raymond: Yes—bias this and bias that, until I'm broke.

Stranger: I've come heer to make an honest living.
Native: Well, there's not much competition.

NURSERY NONSENSE
Little Miss Muffet sat on a tuffet
Arranging her curls and waves,
Along came a spider, which sat down beside her
And she cried, Quick, Henry, the flit!

The barefooted young man stood before the grizzled mountaineer.
Mister Burbridge, he stammered, I've come hyar to ask yer fer yer daughter's hand.
Can't allow no such thing, drawled the mountaineer. Ither you take the whole gel or nothin.

Co-ed: Stop that man; he wanted to kiss me.
Cop: That's all right, miss, there'll be another along in a minute.

Love is like an onion—
You taste it with delight,
And when it's gone you wonder
Whatever made you bite.

I hear that Jones left everything he had to an Orphan Asylum.
Is that so? What did he leave?
Twelve children.

It is against the law in Maryland to knock a freight train off the track. Shucks! Can't do anything anymore.

He to her: You're awful dumb, but you're nice.
She to him: You're awful dumb, too.

Art: Didn't Louise let you kiss her?
Paul: O, heavens, no! She isn't that kind.
Art: She was to me.

Life is a joke
And all things show it.
Look at a freshman,
And then you'll know it.

Freshman: Dad, may I go out tonight?
Sophomore: I'm leaving now, be back early.
Junior: So long, Mom, see you in the morning.
Senior: Good night folks.

Sign in New York: Cup of coffee and a roll down-stairs for 15 cents.

Boys, I've quit the hold-up game. I'll hang around joints no more.
So with a sigh—
A little cry,
The garter fell on the floor.

Miss X is my teacher,
I shall not pass,
She maketh me show my ignorance
Before the whole class.
She giveth me more than I can learn
She lowereth my grade.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of knowledge,
I learn not.
She fireth questions at me
In the presence of my classmates,
She annoieth my head with smacks
My eyes runneth over.
Surely notebooks and pencils
Shall follow me all the days of my life.
And I shall remain in the freshman class forever.

A girl is a maid. A maid is a servant. A servant is a serf. A serf is a vassal. A vassal is a yacht. Yachts are expensive things. What do you think girls are?
Friday night to meet the moll—
Stately Airdale in the hall—
Madly dashing to the wall—
Corner drug store—make a call!

Stubborn engine,
Weather keen,
Chauffeur John,
Gasoline.
Chauffeur John's
Mind's a blank
Lighted match,
Just over tank.
Brilliant flash,
Splendid flight
Chauffeur John
Angel bright.

COGITATE
Get a date
That's great!
How do you rate?
Arrive too late?
You relate?
Leave it to fate?
She says hate?
You retaliate?
Get the gate?
That's not so great!

Beware of girls who mingle
With everyone but you,
Until they hear a jingle
In your bankaroo.

RETURNED EARLY
A new one on the absent-minded man:
A fellow put a sign on his office door reading:
Out. Will be back in ten minutes, and on his return sat down on the steps to wait for himself.

Mother: Sam, when you divided those seven pieces of candy with your sister, did you give her four?
Sam: No, mom, I knew they would not come out even so I ate one before I began dividing them.

Verse Macabre (Definish—pertaining to death).
Test tube—chem shark
Kerosene can—foolish lark Lighted match—Flash, Boom!
Chem shark—gone too soon.

DAD, SHAME ON YOU!
Dad: When I was a young man, the girls knew how to blush.
Son: What was it that you used to say to them, Dad?

The thunder roared,
The clouds grew big,
The lightning flashed;
And killed a pig.

Under the spreading mistletoe
The homely cooed
And stood and stood
And stood and stood and stood.

Said the sock to the needle, "Well, I'll be darned!"

Customer: I don't want to buy your crackers; they tell me the mice are always running over them.
Grocer: That ain't so; why the cat sleeps in the barrel every night.

Little words of guessing,
Little words of bluff,
Made the teaches tell us,
Sit down, that's enough!

Daffynitions:
Hot dog—Hamburger in tights.
Shrubbery—King of berry used in making shrubbery shortcake.
Itch—Measurement. Twelve itches in a foot.

He: If you'll give me your telephone number, I'll call you up some time.
She: It's in the book.
He: Fine! And what's your name?
She: It's in the book, too.

He flew through the air
With the greatest of ease;
But the joke was on him
He forgot the trapeze.

'Twas midnight in the parlor.
'Twas dark everywhere.
The silence was unbroken
Cause nobody was there.

In a roadster the girls are so gay;
In a taxi they all can be jolly.
But the girl worth while
Is the one who can smile
When you're bringing her home on the trolley.

At Least He Could Add
Sammy was not given to over-exertion in the classroom.

Therefore, his mother was both surprised and pleased when he came home with the announcement: "I got a hundred this morning."
"That's lovely, dear," she said, "What was it in?"
"Fifty in composition and fifty in grammar."

Grandpa's getting old and gray;
Whiskers getting in his way;
Grandpa chews them in his sleep;
And dreams he's eating Shredded Wheat.

Dear Miss Fixit:
I am looking for an ideal boy friend—please tell me his characteristics so I will know him.

Dear Hopeful:
The following characteristics will help you to find an ideal boy friend
He should have a lot of money
He should be handsome
He should have a lot of money
He shouldn't have other girls
He should have a lot of money.

Dear Miss Fixit:
My boy and girl use my car every night. How can I get to use my car once in a while?

Dear Parent:
The best way to get to use your car is by playing hide the key with your children.

Dear Miss Fixit:
The girls all seem to be crazy about me. What should I do?

Dear B. N.:
You had better take off your glasses, there must be some mistake.

The teacher stood before his class. "What famous person of today is like allayrand, the French statesman?"

"Sally Rand," shrieked a student sitting in the rear of the room.

As his classmates were seized by a fit of laughter, he explained himself, "Because they were both 'FAN-atics'."

So Why Worry?
A boy was about to purchase a seat for a movie in the afternoon. The box office man asked, "Why aren't you in school?"
"Oh, it's all right, sir," said the youngsters, earnestly, "I've got measles."

Higher Mathematics
Why some children are backward:
"How old are you, little man?"
"I don't know. Mother was twenty-six when I was born, but now she's only twenty-four."

Weather Forecast
Monday—Mist.
Tuesday—Mist.
Wednesday—Mist.
Thursday—Bullseye!

Silas Clam
Lies on the floor
He tried to slam
A swinging door.

"Father, have you tried my biscuits?" said the young certain lady.
"No, but from the rest of the dinner I dare say they deserve it," moaned the retired magistrate.

The hide of a cow is used to cover the cow.

Bill: Is your girl friend a very sensitive person?
Herb: I'll say she is. She won't beat rugs or whip cream, tears come to her eyes when she skins onions, and she's too modest to watch the salad dressing.

"What is the tactful way for a girl's father to let her boy friend know it's time to leave?"
He may casually pass through the room with a box of breakfast food.

Dillie: Why do you call your boy friend Humpty Dumpty?
Dallie: Because he fell for me and it broke him.

Teacher: Where's your pencil, Joe?
Joe: Ain't got one, sir.
Teacher: How many times have I told you not to say that? Listen, I haven't one, you haven't one, we haven't one, they haven't one.
Joe: Well, where are all of the pencils?

What happened to Jim?
Oh, someone gave him a pet alligator and told him it would eat off his hand.
Well?
It did.

Boy: The undertaker died.
Girl: Huh, he didn't make much on that job, did he?
Boy: Not much. In fact, he went in the hole.

A girl who's fit as a fiddle always wants a male accompanist.
A wife is a better half. A better half is fifty cents. A cent is a penny and a penny saved is a penny earned. You earn your salary. Who gets the better half?

The American flower—Marry Gold.
Country folks raise alfalfa, and city folks raise hey-hey!

Mother Ellsworth found Donald's clothing scattered over the floor after her young hopeful had gone to bed.
"Who didn't hang up his clothes when he went to bed?" she asked.
"Adam," came a muffled voice from under the covers.

Don: Why is kissing a girl like getting pickles out of a jar?
Virg: I don't know, why?
Don: 'Cause after you get the first one the rest come easy.

Officer: How did you come to puncture your tire?
John: I ran over a milk bottle.
Officer: Didn't you see the bottle?
John: Naw, de kid had it under his coat.

Teacher: What is the most outstanding contribution that chemistry has given the world?
Bob: Blonds.

Recipe for an accident!
Take one fool and steep well with liquor. Place in a powerful car. turn on the gas. After suitable time remove fool from wreckage and place in black box and garnish with flowers.

Teacher: Why do you want to be President when you grow up, Bobby?
Bobby: 'Cause when I go fishing, I won't have to dig my own bait.

Brave Hero: It was snowing out and the gangsters took me for a ride.
Bored Listener: Probably a slay ride.

I'm through with women—they cheat and lie.
They prey on us males, 'til the day we die.
They tease us, torment us, and drive us to sin....
Say, who is that blonde that just walked in?

First Dumb Hunter: How do you detect an elephant?
Guide: You smell a faint odor of peanuts on his breath.

There isn't much to be seen in a little town but what you hear makes up for it.—Abe Martin.

The old fashioned woman who darned her husband's socks has a daughter who socks her darned husband.—Joe Wilson.

Jack and Jill went up the hill
To get a pail of water.
Jack came down, with his eyes all black;
For she was a preacher's daughter.

The man who hears his car was stolen and driven away at ninety miles per hour certainly must feel a thrill of pride.

The fashionable physician walked in, and nodded to his patient.
Well, here I am, Mrs. Biddlebound, he announced. What do you think is the matter with you this morning?
Doctor, I hardly know, murmured the fashionable patient, What is new?

Which weeds are the easiest to kill? asked the young man.
Widow's weeds, replied the farmer. You have only to say 'Wilt thou' and they wilt.

Jack: What did Pat say after you kissed her?
Ray: She told me to call on Friday night hereafter, because that was amateur night.

If you buy a Packard, it costs a pretty penny. A pretty penny is a lovely cent. A lovely cent is "Evening in Paris." An evening in Paris is an expensive proposition. An expensive proposition is the WPA. So if you are on the WPA, go ahead and buy the thing, you must be lousy with dough.

ALL ABOUT MARY:
Mary had a little coat,
With letters written on,
But when it from the laundry came,
The letters were all gone.
Mary had a little lamp,
It was well trained, no doubt,
For every time that J ohn came in
The little lamp went out.

THIS OR THAT—
Teacher: What did we get from Persia in mathematics?
Pupil: The dismal system.

Teacher: Oxygen, an element essential to life, was not discovered until 1774.
Pupil: How did people live until then?

Nearly a generation and a half ago my head was grazed by a bullet at the battle of Chikamauga.
The little fellow looked at the old man's head thoughtfully, and said:
There isn't much grazing there now, is there, grandpa?

Papa: Did you have the car last night, Roger?
Roger: Why, yes, I took some of the boys for a ride.
Papa: Well, tell the boys I found one of their little lace handkerchiefs on the floor of the car.

I'm a dairy maid in a candy kitchen.
What do you do?
Milk chocolates.

Particular Housewife: Oh, be careful when you walk on my polished floors.
Plumber: Don't worry about me, mum. I can't slip; I've got spikes on me boots.

I draw the line at kissing,
She said in accents fine,
But he was a football hero,
So she let him cross the line.

Boss: What do you want?
Clerk: May I use your phone? My wife told me to ask you for an increase in salary, but she forgot to tell me how much.

Mrs. Guppy (thinking of Geneva): Let me see, what is the name of that place where so much has been done to promote the peace of the world?
Guppy: I suppose you mean Reno.

Teacher: Men who take secretarial work get positions easier than women.
Don: Yeah, but think how funny I'd look sitting on my boss' lap.

The great problem in a tabloid newspaper office comes on the occasional day when there isn't anything but really important news to play up.

Dear Aunt Know-it-All,
How can I go up in the world? X.
Dear X, Get on an elevator. Auntie.

Dear Aunt Know-it-All,
How can I raise mashed potatoes so that I won't have to mash them myself?
Grieved.
Dear Grieved,
You might run a steam roller over the field just before you dig them.
Auntie.

Mother: Sonny, how did you like your first day of school?
Sonny: I didn't. The teacher told me to sit in a seat for the present, but I never got the present.

Husband: You spilled some mustard on this waffle, dear.
Wife: George, how could you? That's lemon pie.

Teacher: Johnny, suppose you had ten apples and ten oranges and gave nine-tenths of them away to some other oys, what would you have?
Johnny: I'd have my head examined.

High heels must have been invented by a woman who had been kissed on the forehead.—Christopher Morley.

It need not be assumed that the young bride worships her husband because she places burnt offerings before him three times a day.—Frank Vize-telly.

Stealing a kiss may be petty larceny, but sometimes it's grand. Right, boys?

In Mexico, you first run for president, and then you run for your life.
Judge (in dentist's chair): Do you promise to pull the tooth, the whole tooth, and nothing but the tooth?

The freshman grins; the sophomore blows; the junior growls; the senior knows.

GRISLY AFFAIR

The tall, proud girl turned haughtily to the white robed figure before her. He held a glittering knife, and there were stains of blood on it.
Have you no heart? she asked.
No, he growled.
Well, then give me ten cents worth of liver.

There was a man in our town, and he was wondrous wise,
He swore by all the gods above, he would not advertise.
But one day he broke this rule, and hereby hangs a tale,
The ad was set in real small type and headed, Sheriff's Sale.

He asked me for a kiss—
He went away rejected;
I knew it would be bliss,
But I must be respected.
He asked to hold my hand—
He went away rejected;
I knew it would be grand,
But I must be respected.
And now I'm old and gray,
By people I'm rejected;
An old maid, so they say,
But, by heck, I'm respected.

Say, I hear you want to be a doctor, is that right? exclaimed one bright student to another.
Naw, replied the other bright student, No more!
No more, why?
Well, gosh why spend ten more years going to school after I get out of this place, just to cut some people up? There's no sense to it!
Oh, no, well just think what you can get out of them?

I want to know, said the grim-faced woman, how much money my husband drew out of the bank last week.

I cannot give you that information, madam, answered the man in the cage.
You're the paying teller, aren't you?
Yes, but not the telling payer!

A monkey looks like a man who is worried. A monkey looks like a man who is worried because he had made a monkey out of himself. And a monkey looks worried because he is aware that he looks like a man who is worried because he has made a monkey of himself.

A boy who was away in prep school spent all his money and then wrote home to his dad as follows:
No mon, no fun.
Your son.
His father replied:
Too bad, my lad.
Your dad.

How did George break his leg?
Well, do you see those steps over there?
Yes.
George didn't.

A high school boy likes a girl beautiful but dumb—beautiful enough to please him and dumb enough to like him.

A Russian psychologist says that any girl can marry any man she wants if she repeats very often to him these magic words: "You're SO wonderful."

Teacher: James, define the word "tact."
James: Used in polite society in making people feel at home when you wish they were home.

The student's allowance had run out, so he wrote home for more money. Feeling a bit nervous about the impression it would make, he ended his letter:
"P.S.—I did not like writing to you. In fact, I ran after the postman to get this letter back."

A week later he received the following reply:
"You will be glad to know I did not receive your letter."

Customer: Are those eggs fresh?
Grocer: Madam, the hen hasn't realized yet that I've got 'em.

What was your occupation? a cannibal chief asked the sole survivor of a shipwreck.

I was an assistant editor, was the reply.
Then I will promote you, the chief said.
After dinner you will be editor-in-chief.

A Bit of Thankfulness:
The boys should be thankful for the upward sweep hair styles. Mothers won't find blond hair on the shoulders of her precious son's coat now.

Who was the tightest man who ever lived?

The Scotchman who stepped outside his house on Christmas Eve, fired a gun, and ran in and told his children that Santa Claus had committed suicide.

Freshie: What is the faculty?
Sophomore: A bunch of men and women who are hired to help the seniors run the school.

Upon my word, said the dictionary as the ink dripped through its leaves.

A farmer took a calf to town in a lumber wagon with wide tired wheels. He drove onto the scales and weighed the wagon with the calf, and then drove around to the yard and unloaded the calf. On his trip back to the scales to reweigh the wagon, he had to drive through heavy clay mud.

After he had driven onto the scales, he waited a long time for the weigher who seemed to be puzzled over the result that he was getting. Finally the farmer, becoming impatient, asked,
Wall, what did he weigh?

By gosh, I dunno! 'Cordin to my figures, he weighs sixteen pounds less than no calf at all!

Jean: I just killed five flies—three girl flies and two boy flies.
Derrine: How do you know?
Jean: There were three on the mirror, and two were on the table.

On a recent trip, David Leshar occupied an upper berth in the sleeping car. Awakening once in the middle of the night, his father asked him if he knew where they were. David replied, I don't know where you are, bu I think I'm in the top drawer of my bureau.

THE TERPSICHORE

Jitterbug, jitterbug, fly away home.
Your tired, warm doggies, no more will roam.
No more o'er the dance floor do "hot" melodies ring,
But on through the night, in Dream-land, you'll swing.

Mother (to caller): Yes, our Henry is wonderfully smart in school.
Caller: What is he studying?
Mother: He's studying French and Spanish and Algebra. Henry, say "good morning" for the lady in Algebra.

Teacher: How many sets of teeth does a person have?
Johnny: Three.
Teacher: Three? Name them.
Johnny: Temporary, permanent, andfalse.

As the guy said when hit with an egg, "The yolk's on me."

Darling, I've made up my mind to stay at home.
Too late, George—I've made up my face to go out.

How can you make a thin boy fat? Throw him out of the window and he'll come down plump.

Why is a lady's belt like an ash-cart? Because it goes around and gathers the waste.

An undertaker was just starting in business and advertised that to his first customer he would give a free cremation. Three Scotchmen committed suicide.

Pupil: But, teacher, Dad says we are descended from monkeys.
Miss: We can't discuss your private family affairs in class.

She: My, what a nice cake you baked for me. It even has my name on it, but isn't it a little flat?
He: Yeah, I did that putting it through the typewriter.

Why is a racehorse like a lollipop? The more you lick it the faster it goes.

FAST THINKING

The clever, cagy boxer, who knew practically every trick of the game, finally met his match. In the third round he found himself flat on his back, listening to the referee count over him.

One, roared the referee, two, three, four, five, six, seven—
The fighter on the canvas reached up and grabbed the referee's wrist. I'm a little hard of hearing, he interrupted. Would you mind repeating that?

Jack considered himself quite a humorist, until he sent some of his jokes to a newspaper. In a few days came the reply, no check included: Dear Sir: Your jokes received. Some we have seen before, some we haven't seen yet.

How come you stopped singing in the choir, Butch?
I wasn't there on Sunday, and somebody asked if they'd fixed the organ.

Those cakes of Mrs. Smith's at tea were as hard as iron.
I suppose that's why she said, Take your pick, when seh handed them around.

IN THE WRONG KEY

Gal: I love that song. It haunts me.
Guy: It ought to. You've just murdered it.

STAGES OF HIGH SCHOOL LIFE
Frosh: I beg your pardon, but I didn't quite comprehend the question.
Soph: I didn't understand the question.

Junior: What?
Senior: Huh?

Bystander: Did you get the number of that car that knocked you down, madam?

Victim: No, but the woman driving it wore a three piece tweed suit, lined in green cape de shine and she had on a periwinkle hat trimmed with artificial cherries.

Last parting word with the girls. I might say as a matter of consolation the following: Don't worry if you can't figger da boys out right, dey probably got you figgered wrong, tooo.

Why is a room of married women like an empty one?
There's not a single person in it.

Will a tallow candle or a wax candle burn longer?
Neither, they both burn shorter.

Dear Aunt Know-it-All,
I want to be a policeman, but I don't know which is better, an ordinary policeman, or a mounted policeman.

The mounted policeman is best, of course, because he can get away faster.

If you wear glad rags, you will feel happy.
If you wear a snappy suit, you feel snappy.
If you don't wear any suit, you will feel chilly.

Man is but a worm. He comes along, wiggles a bit, then some chicken gets him.

She: Did anyone ever tell you how wonderful you are?
He: No. I don't think anyone ever did.
She: Then I'd like to know where you got the idea.

On getting rid of a husband, if at first you don't succeed, try, try, a gun.

Teacher: Tom, give me a sentence containing 'flippancy.'
Pupil: Let's flip'n see whether I flunk or pass.

Jim, to be sure that you have your science lesson for today, give me a sentence using the word 'filter.'
I've got an Austin an done day I filter up with gasoline.

If you added seventy-six thousand, nine hundred and twenty-three to eighty-one thousand, four hundred and twelve, what have you?
A wrong answer.

Mary, Mary, quite contrary,
How does you garden grow?
With silver bells and cockleshells
And one measly petunia.

Ex-President Wilson was fond of telling how he made a trip to Missouri one time and saw the monument erected to the memory of Mark Twain. Unrecognized by the by-standers, the president asked one of them if he remembered Tom Sawyer.
Never heard of him, was the reply. Do you happen to recall Puddinhead Wilson?
Oh, sure. I voted for him twice.

A keen-eyed mountaineer led his over-grown son into a country school-house.
This here boy's arter larnin, he announced. What's yer bill o'fare?
Our curriculum, sir, corrected the cholmaster, embraces geometry, arithmetic, trigonometry—
That'll do, interrupted the father. That'll do. Load him up well with the triggonometry. He's the only poor shot in the family.

FELLOW SUFFERER

Dear Aunt Know-it-All,
What shall I tell my father when he sees the 70 on my report card?
Desperate.

Dear Desperate,
Tell him it's the temperature of the schoolroom. Aunt (just between you and me) know it all.

Dear Aunt Know-it-All,
Coude you tell me how iron was first discovered?
I. Ron.

I understand that they smelt it.

They use them to stuff macaroni.

GARDEN PLOT

An Irish soldier in France during the Great War received a letter from his wife saying there wasn't an abled-bodied man left, and she was going to dig the garden herself. Dan wrote at the beginning of his next letter: Bridget, for heaven's sake, don't dig the garden; that's where the guns are.
The letter was duly censored, and in a short time a lorry load of men in khaki arrived at Dan's home and proceeded to dig the garden from end to end. Bridget wrote in desperation, saying that she didn't know what to do as the soldiers had dug up the garden.
Dan's reply was short and to the point—Put in the spuds.

The owner of a house being painted was amazed to find one of his new workmen walking along one hot day all bundled up in clothing. Why on earth are you wearing so many clothes, Pat? I have to paint this fence and the label on the can says—it says, To obtain best results put on at least three coats.

A young fellow was arrested for speeding, and somebody told him that the judge was a hearty, genial old boy who would respond favorably to the right kind of approach—the hail-fell-low-well-met kind.
The youth swaggered up to the bench, put out his paw, gave a laugh and boomed:
Morning, judge, old boy, how are you?
The judge said: Fine—$20.

POLITICS:
You can always tell a carpenter
By the way he files his saw;
You can always tell a dentist
By the way he yanks your jaw;
You can always tell an artist
By his ever-steady touch;
You can always tell a woman
But you sure can't tell her much.

Second: A grass widow.

Guy: Did you hear that Fred and Mary stopped seeing each other?
Gal: Did they quarrel?
Guy: No, they switched out the living room light.

Patient: What's this extra item of ten dollars on my bill?
Doctor: It's for my glasses. I lost them while operating on you.

He: Napoleon must have been aw-

1939 Pledges Banner Year In South Side

General Office Makes Plans For Conventions, Tourneys And Other Activities.

Class Gatherings Loom On Horizon

Senior Banquet, Play, And Dance; Junior Prom, Soph
Party Tops Spring Fetes.

Starting the new year, an outstanding roster of student and teacher activities for the coming year have been lined up and dates set for them by the school's office, it was announced recently by the general office, headed by Miss Dorothy Alderdice. Particularly outstanding will be the annual class affairs, an invitational speech meet sponsored by Wranglers in February, and the first meeting of the Indiana Student Forum to be held at South Side during the spring.

This Saturday, the Hi-Y Club will mark the new year with a skate to be held at Bell's Rink. On January 10, a monthly music assembly has been promised and on January 13 the Girls' Athletic Association will hold their annual recognition services, while Philo will hold a skating party that evening.

Plan Senior Conclave
The second annual senior banquet has been scheduled for January 17, and will use a World's Fair motif to carry out the program. Friday of that week will mark the conclusion of the semester; and the next Monday, the beginning of a new term. The Latin Club will again sponsor their annual skate on Friday night, January 27.

The month of February will be marked with a freshmen mothers' tea, sponsored by the P. T. A., to be held during the first week of the month. The first music assembly of the new term will be held in the gym on February 14, while Wranglers will hold their annual potluck in the Greeley Room on February 27. Early the next morning and throughout all the day, U and S cards will be filled out by South Side's teachers.

On Through State!
An eagerly awaited event, the sectional basketball tournament, will feature the first week-end in March, while the Regionals, Super Regionals, and State Tournaments will be held the following week-ends.

From the third to the eighth of April, spring vacation will provide an end for all Archers during the coming semester. The annual senior play, under the direction of Miss Margery Suter, will be held on the portable stage in the gymnasium on the night of April 14 for a one-night performance, a practice which was inaugurated last year with the production of "New Broadway."

On April 25, the music department's annual operetta will be held during the morning. Lettermen will hold their annual banquet April 27.

Philo Plans Tea
On May Day, Philo will hold its annual tea, while on Friday of that week, the juniors will give their annual prom. On the ninth, third period grading cards will be distributed among the students. That Friday, the Sophomore Party, under the supervision of Miss Pauline Van Gorder and Mr. Earl Sterner, will be held.

Senior Day will feature May 15, while a music assembly and Wo-Ho-Ma's annual skating party at Bell's Rink will be featured during the remainder of the week. The A. A. banquet will be held on May 26.

Recognition Day will be held June 2, when all outstanding Archers will be recognized for their work during the past year. The following week will feature the annual senior dance on Tuesday the sixth, commencement on the seventh, and G. A. A.'s breakfast on the eighth.

Marjorie Price Is So-Si-Y President

Betty Rose, Dorothy Bloemker, Mary Emily Seibt, Dorothy
Gerdorn Are Other Officers

Marjorie Price was elected the new president of So-Si-Y at the election Tuesday, January 3. Betty Rose was chosen vice-president; Dorothy Bloemker, secretary; Mary Emily Seibt, treasurer; and Dorothy Gerdorn, Inter-Club Congress representative.

The meeting was in charge of the pledge group. Delores Menefee presided over the program. Ruth Ellison and Norma Jean Sprunger sang the hymn, "In the Garden." Delores Menefee gave a talk on what the women of China did in past days. Dorothy Douglass talked about what women are doing in China today. Phyllis Branning talked about the meeting of the girls checked papers for their degrees.

Library Club To Elect Heads On January 10

Officials of the Library Club, Janice Dyer, Max Wagner, Margery Rapp, Nancy Valiton and Helen Banks, met Wednesday to draw up a complete ballot to be presented to the club for final voting and election of officers on Tuesday, January 10. Nominees will not be disclosed until that date.

The committee for making plans for the program, Margaret Null, Velda Oppenlander, Helen Karnap, Audrey Hall, Janice Dyer, and Richard Garton, have asked Miss Martha Pittenger to give a general talk on books, which happens to be her hobby. Members of the Library Club are requested to observe that the date of the meeting has been changed from January 17 to January 10.

Elected President

Oscar Eggers

Oscar Eggers was elected president of the newly organized South Side Alumni Association at the first Alumni Reception last Thursday. Other officers are Jim Dern, vice-president; Dale Hamilton, secretary; and Ruth Garrison, treasurer.

Alumni Choose Oscar Eggers Group Leader

James Dern, Dale Hamilton,
Ruth Garrison Are Other
Heads Of New Association

Oscar Eggers, president; James Dern, vice-president; Dale Hamilton, secretary, and Ruth Garrison, treasurer, were elected officers of South Side's first alumni association at the first meeting of the group held in Room 170, on December 29, 1938, during Christmas vacation.

Dalton McAlister, ace of all Archers, public speakers, served as master of ceremonies for the reception held before the dance, which starred Jimmy Sanford and his orchestra. The entire affair was organized and promoted by a group of last year's graduates, Julia Crabb, Ellen Adlington, Lillian Gunzenhauser, Margaret Ann Ruckel, Don Helm and Oscar Eggers, senior class president. Permission was granted for the alumni of all classes to meet and organize a permanent society, which is to meet each year during the Christmas holidays at South Side, early this fall by Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal. Officers will be elected at each year's convocation and the association will continue with the addition of each graduating class.

Chaperones for the dance last week were also guests of honor at the reception. They were Mr. and Mrs. Merle J. Abbett, Mr. and Mrs. R. Nelson Snider, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Chappell, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd K. Whelan, Mr. and Mrs. A. Verne Flint, Miss Martha Pittenger, Miss Adelaide Fiedler, Miss Hazel Miller and Miss Pauline VanGorder.

Fritz Lohman, junior, wrote an article which appeared on the Youths' Passing Show page, December 24. The article told of carving fowl. This article was written for Miss Susan Peck's English 6 class.

State Champs, Reconstruction Of School Top South Sider's Gift From Pop Time In 1938

By Jeanette Warren

With a sigh, perhaps, we turn to be engulfed by the enthusiasm of another new year. But not without the retrospection due that outstanding year of 1938!

First on our list, first in our hearts, first in the eyes of South Side basketball boosters are Indiana's 1938 Championship Basketball Kings, for they emerged from none other than our own alma mater. A final, close but exciting game with Hammond with a score of 34-32 gave the invincible Archers the crown; and also the town for several days.

Reconstruction Era Lauded
Event number two—hardly ranking second in importance to the championship team, but rather comparable because it also is something about which we may brag—is the improvement of South Side via an additional floor.

Construction was carried on during the summer, and a jubilant student body crowded onto the second floor to give their approval when restrictions were removed. Thirteen rooms, offices galore, a study hall, a recreation room—how unnecessary to say that their approval was immediate.

Besides being state champs in basketball, South Side has managed to put herself on top in other fields of activity during 1938. Some of the persons that put her there are Dalton McAlister, James Murphy, Betty Garton, Eleanor Vesey, June Flaig, Martin Ankenbruck, Leslie Johnson, Oscar Eggers and Don Helm. These Archers, you will recall, were prominent in the fields of journalism, public speaking and language.

Class Officers Named
A new time saving, more efficient system of electing class officers was inaugurated. The plan made nominations of officers unnecessary, because each voter, was asked to name six persons, whom he judged to be capable of holding office. Those elected by this method were:

Junior—President, James Murphy; vice-president, Thomas Gallmeier; secretary-treasurer, Ella Jo Reed; social council, Bruce Bradbury, chairman; Jeanne Gumpfer and Doris Dickmeyer.

Speech Battle To Determine Extemp Victor

First Contests Scheduled

On Cup Donated School
By Outstanding Speaker

The dates for the semi-annual Extemporaneous Speech Contest, open to all students of the school who are interested in public speaking, are January 11-12. The subjects for the speeches are (1) Anti-American Activities in the United States, (2) American Neutrality and (3) Totalitarianism in South America. They were chosen by Mrs. Dorothy Rieke, public speaking instructor.

A series of six contests has been planned for Wednesday, January 11. It has been arranged for every entrant to speak once during the day. The contestants will draw their subjects Tuesday night in Room 190 at 3:30 o'clock. The first, second and third place winners will be given Wrangler Honor Awards at the Wrangler's banquet in the spring.

Not Eliminative Tests
Each contest in the series is individual, not eliminative. The audience for these contests will be comprised of Mrs. Rieke's public speaking classes and history and English classes.

Another extemp contest will be held the second period Tuesday, January 12, in the Greeley Room. Entrants in this contest do not draw their subjects until one hour before they speak.

The winners of the contests held the previous day will compete for the McAlister trophy.

Any student who, during his speech career at South Side, wins the trophy three times will be given permanent possession of it. It is probable that the winner of this contest will represent South Side in a similar contest sponsored by the Rotary Club. Dalton McAlister, alumnus of South Side and freshman at Swarthmore College, was state-wide winner last year.

An admission of five cents will be charged for the contest held on Thursday. Students who attend will be excused from their second period classes.

Receive Typing Awards

The following people received awards in typing in Miss Covall's class: Virginia Selby wrote 60 words a minute with 95 per cent accuracy; Lillian Patton, 52 words, 94 per cent; Margaret Hart, 41 words, 93 per cent; and Margaret Wittmer, 50 words, 92 per cent accuracy.

Sophomore officers are: President, Bob Hines; vice-president, Rebecca Abbett; secretary-treasurer, Sam Bacon; social council, Betty Elbersson, chairman; Bob Robinson and John Bonisb.

Senior officers are: President, Eugene Schmidt; vice-president, Max Wagner; secretary-treasurer, Max Spencer; social council, Janice Dyer, chairman; Eddie Reeves and Nadine Mueller.

Campaign Is Tops

Our review wouldn't be complete without mention of the sixth annual magazine campaign, sponsored by the magazine campaign, under the supervision of Mr. Wilburn Wilson, advisor of the club. The plan of campaigning was organized uniquely in militaristic fashion. This extensive and well-organized campaign realized little short of the goal of $500. The profit is to be used for the benefit of Visual Education at South Side.

Of course, though a reminder is unnecessary, it is not possible to forget (nor would we if we could) the five main social events of the year—namely, the senior prom, the junior prom, the sophomore party, the junior banquet, and the senior banquet.

Thinking it over, it was a pretty full year—but, who cares?—Look to what's coming up in '39!

Betty Daniels will take office as the next Times general manager at the beginning of next semester. Betty is now business manager and was formerly managing editor. She will succeed Eleanor Vesey, present general manager, who will become student adviser.

Senior Fete To Be Held January 17

"A Glimpse In World Of Tomorrow" Is Theme Of Banquet; Plans Finished

Definite plans for the Senior Banquet, which will be held January 17, in the new room adjoining the cafeteria, have been finished. "A Glimpse in the World of Tomorrow" has been selected as the theme for the banquet. This theme closely follows the idea of the New York World's Fair.

The speeches will be based on the possibilities of progress for us as the coming generation. Mr. Merle J. Abbett, Mr. R. Nelson Snider and Miss Martha Pittenger will be the guest speakers. Three or four seniors were assigned topics for short talks Wednesday night. After preparing their speeches they will present them with Mrs. Herbert Rieke and the senior class officers as an audience. In addition to these short talks, a humorous and serious class prophecy and history will be given. The dinner will be preceded by musical selections presented by the South Side Trio, composed of Ruth Bade, Ruth Dauner and Loretta Rinehart.

Officers Make Plans

Up to the present time the plans for the banquet have been made by the officers, Eugene Schmidt, Max Wagner, Max Spencer, Janice Dyer, and Eddie Reeves, assisted by Miss Dorothy Magley and Mr. Paul Sidell, advisers.

Members of the class of '39 who wish to work on committees for the fete have been asked to sign up in Room 140. Tonight is positively the last night to sign for this, as definite committees will be selected Friday, January 6. Committee chairmen have been appointed and those who have already signed to assist are as follows:

Roger McVay Is Head Of Junior Math Club

Roger McVay was elected president and Pauline Schoenherr, secretary, at the last meeting of the Junior Math Club. Margaret Heine, Pauline Schoenherr and Clifford Springer were also nominated for the offices of president and secretary. This was the last meeting of the club for this semester. Because the members change so much from one semester to another the rules of the club state that the officers of president and secretary are to be elected for the next semester at the end of the preceding semester. Other officers must be elected at the first meeting next semester, which will be held January 31.

Honor Society Selects Fifteen New Members

Recipients Are Chosen From Upper Portion Of Class
Graduating In January

Seventeen Alumni Assist In Tagging

Five Teachers Are On Committee To Make Final Selections; Members Listed

Fifteen top-ranking students of the January graduating class were named to the Promethean Chapter of the National Honor Society here, December 22. Newly chosen members received their "tags" and honor society pins during school hours throughout the day.

The honor which may be conferred on only those high school students who are in the upper portion of the top third of their class is probably the one most highly regarded by recipients.

All teachers recommended eligible students through reports which were turned in to the committee on awards. The committee, whose duty it was to make final selections, was composed of Mr. Herman O. Makey, Mr. Earl H. Murch, Mr. Elmo Gould, Miss Mabel Thorne and Miss Pauline Van Gorder.

Name Those Chosen
Those chosen for the honor and their chief extra-curricular activities are as follows:

Alison Arnold, track, Lettermen, band, orchestra, Airplane, Extemp, Stamp, Forum; Ruth Bade, Meterite, Travel, French, So-Si-Y, Glees, orchestra, Social Science, Three E's, Totem, Service; Joe Bex, Times, Wranglers, Student Players, Extemp, Latin, French, 1500, Social Science; Mildred Brett, Meterite, Travel, So-Si-Y, Service, G.A.A.; Velma Connett, U.S.A., So-Si-Y, Forum, Times, 1500, Travel, G.A.A.

Phyllis Geller, Meterite, Philo, So-Si-Y, Art, Times, 1500, French, Student Players, Social Science, Totem; Carl Goebel, Wranglers, Math-Science, Social Science, Travel, Rifle, Times, Inter-Club Congress, Extemp; Dorothy Hall, Meterite, G.A.A., Philo, French, Travel, Times, Totem, orchestra; Mark Hall, Math-Science, Social Science, in charge of film operators; Audrey Jefferies, Wo-Ho-Ma, Math-Science, Travel, So-Si-Y, band, orchestra, chorus, Service, G.A.A.

List Is Continued
Eugene Schmidt, Latin, Math-Science, Social Science, Totem, Sophomore Class president, Senior Class president; Frieda Schubert, G.A.A., German, Times, Student Players, Three E's, Totem, So-Si-Y; Robert Shimmel, band, orchestra, Latin; Henry Velfok, Airplane, Sci-Lab, Extemp, Latin, Wranglers, and Eleanor Vesey, Times, Totem, 1500, Social Science, Art, Student Players, Wranglers, Inter-Club Congress, Meterites, Math-Science, Philo.

To Elect Officers At Philo Meeting

Office Of Presidency Will Not Be Open; Betty Daniels To Be
Margaret Null's Successor

All members should try to attend the next meeting of Philo, to be held next Monday at 3:45 in the Greeley Room, as officers will be elected, and an interesting program has been planned. The nominating committee, composed of Joyce Harwood, chairman; Frances Van Buskirk, and Anna Anderson, met last night in Miss De-mare's room. The only office not open for election is that of the president. This position will be filled by Betty Daniels. It has in former years been the custom for Philo's president to hold office until her graduation. However, when the officers were elected last year, Margaret Null and Betty Daniels tied for this office. As a result, each girl will hold the office for a semester.

Since the whole semester has been devoted to the study of the drama, the guest speaker at the meeting will carry out the theme by telling about recent New York plays. William Newhard will entertain with several selections.

Philo's Christmas basket was made up and delivered as usual this year. It was composed of toys and clothing. Money was also collected to purchase a Christmas tree. In this way, one family was provided for, and clothing was given miscellaneous. The committee in charge of the basket was headed by Betty Daniels. Her committee consisted of Kitty Clinar, Rebecca Abbett, Virginia Fleming, Dorothy Gore and Anna Anderson.

January 10 Is Date For Music Assembly

The January music assembly will be held Tuesday morning. Because there was no Christmas music assembly two or three pieces from the Christmas assembly will be played Tuesday. These pieces have not yet been announced.

Mr. Jack Wainwright, who has been ill for two weeks, returned to South Side last Tuesday. He had a very bad cold which settled in his head.

Supervises Skate

Mr. Ward O. Gilbert

Mr. Ward O. Gilbert, Hi-Y's faculty adviser, is supervising plans for the club's annual skate to be held at Bell's Rink this Saturday night. A number of attendance prizes are to be offered. Max Wagner will serve as general chairman for the affair, and will arrange all plans for the skate. Tickets, priced at twenty-five cents each, may be purchased from any Hi-Y member.

Wall Painting In South Side Is Completed

Archer Gymnasium, Corridors Receive Coating Of Cream Color As Finish

The gymnasium and three corridors were painted cream during the Christmas vacation as part of the reconstruction plan. The east corridor down stairs was painted while the front and center halls were painted both up-stairs and down. They used two spray guns, one machine, and eight brushes. This work could not be done before, because it would not have had time to dry.

The new doors which were erected to keep people out during basketball games were stained and varnished.

The boys' shower room and the visual education office were plastered with cement.

All the halls were mopped and waxed. This work was done by twenty janitors from various public schools of the city.

Students Choose Award Candidates

Nominations Are Made For The Recipient Of D. A. R. Good Citizenship Medal Yesterday

Nominations for the annual senior girls' D.A.R. Good Citizenship Award were scheduled to be held yesterday. In the senior home rooms the students were to pick the girl they considered worthy of the Daughters of the American Revolution Award. To be elected a girl must be dependable. This includes loyalty, punctuality and truthfulness. She must also have service which includes co-operation, courtesy and consideration of others; leadership which includes personality, self-control and ability to assume responsibility; patriotism, which includes unselfish interest in family, school, community and nation.

The three girls receiving the majority of votes from their classmates will then be voted on by the faculty. Joan Bonisb was elected last year.

Iron-Willed Archers Express Resolutions Made For Year '39

There are resolutions and resolutions; and, unless the resolve is of strong character, there are broken resolutions too. This year as usual many persons will be guilty of making and breaking one or more resolutions. But a few iron-willed Archers have made several pledges which they intend to follow through.

Bertha Gregory—who hereby promises faithfully to study more diligently. Max Spencer—I resolve not to be row Jeanette Warren's pen any more—but I always break my resolutions. Janice Dyer—Not to comb my hair more than once every three minutes this coming year. (Unquote, you notice Miss Dyer's always slickin' back those red locks of hers.)

Morton Nahrwald—Study harder and go out more.

"Dot" Diehm—Past experience with a certain teacher has caused me to resolve not to slide in the halls any more.

Peggy Wittmer—Study harder.

Helen Banks—To stay away from a certain windy boy ("huff said").

Roger Neff—I'm off girls this year; especially a certain blonde.

"Pat" Lyman—What's the use to make them when you break them right away? (Unquote, hear that, Roger?)

Edna Volz—Concentrate more on my English.

Alma Korte—Really get down to work on my shorthand.

Dick Buchholz—I'm resolved to see that I get my share of dates with Anna Lou Kowalski.

Adviser Visits Florida

Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser of the South Side Times, The Northern, The Legend and The Totem, is at present spending two weeks at Miami Beach, Florida. The first week of her vacation she spent at Key West. After her limited sojourn, Miss Harvey will resume her work on the high school publications which will probably be the latter part of this week.

Hi-Y Members Are To Stage Skating Party

Annual Event To Be Held At Bell's Rink Saturday
8:30; Committee Arrange

Max Wagner Is General Chairman

Mr., Mrs. Ward O. Gilbert
To Act As Chaperons Of Affair; Tickets On Sale

Hi-Y will hold its annual skating party at Bell's Rink Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock. Max Wagner, chairman of the skate committee, has arranged all the details for the event. Tickets for the skate may be purchased from any Hi-Y member or in Room 4 at any time. Tickets will also be sold in the front hall Thursday and Friday after school. The price of each ticket is twenty-five cents.

Provide Skaters' Bus

Mr. and Mrs. Ward O. Gilbert will act as chaperons at the skate next Saturday night. Transportation to and from the rink will be provided by the skaters' bus. The bus will be at the main entrance at 7:15 o'clock. The price of the bus ride will be ten cents.

John Magley and his committee have succeeded in obtaining suitable attendance prizes for the skate. He has announced that many attendance prizes will be given to the people whose numbers are called.

Kellogg Heads Publicity
Aubrey Kellogg, chairman of the publicity committee, has made the posters for the bulletin boards in the halls.

At the last Hi-Y meeting moving pictures of the Grand Canyon, which were taken by Maurice Lehman when he visited there several years ago were shown. Then the club was taken on a pictorial tour of the world visiting such places as Alaska, China, Japan, France, England and Canada.

All the members are asked to be present tonight at the Y.M.C.A. for an important meeting of the club. The nominations for new officers will be made at that time.

Totem People Are To Start Picture Drive

Underclass Photo Campaign Will Begin Next Week;
Deadline Is January 21

The underclassmen Totem picture campaign is being started next week. Underclassmen wishing to have their picture in the 1939 Totem must pay 35 cents to the picture agents and then go to the Jefferson studio to have their picture taken.

Receipts, which will be given to the students when they pay for the picture, must be presented at the studio. These receipts may be purchased in the Totem office or from the underclassmen picture agents.

Make Payments By 21
Payments must be made before the deadline which is January 21. "There will absolutely be no extension of the deadline," stated Max Spencer, Totem editor. Underclassmen agents are being chosen this week by the students holding major Totem staff positions.

Until recently these pictures were taken here at school. Last year underclassmen were given a chance to vote on whether they wanted better pictures for a higher price or whether they wanted to continue having pictures taken here at school without the proper facilities, but at the lower price.

Near 1,000 Goal
"The Totem campaign has proceeded quite well. We have 925 subscriptions to date," Max Spencer revealed. "By the next deadline one dollar must be paid." Friday, January 6, is the deadline.

A new Totem campaign will be started which will be a drive to have all present students of South Side who wish to subscribe do so before next semester.

Santa Claus Is Visitor At German Club Party

The German Club's annual Christmas party was held in the Voorhees Room Wednesday, December 21, 1938. A game called Musical Chair was played for which a prize was given. A gingerbread house was given for the attendance prize.

All gifts were placed in a container. Then Santa Claus, played by Paul Urey, passed the container around the room, and each person received a gift.

Green To Meet Redskins Tomorrow, Froebel Saturday

Both Archers, Northern Team Are Undefeated

South Side Takes First Six Games, North Side Has Eight Straight Victories

Tilt To Be Fought For City Crown

N. E. I. C. Championship To Be Settled Also; Redmen Now Hold Coveted Prize

South Side's Archers will continue their bid for the city championship tomorrow night against the unbeaten North Side Redskins at the northern gymnasium.

The game will be of unusual importance and a capacity crowd will jam the North Side gym to get a look at the foremost city rivals in action. Both the Archers and the Redmen are undefeated in their regular playing schedule, North Side having won eight straight, while the Archers have won their first six games. The fact that the Green has suffered defeats at the hands of Frankfort and Vincennes over the holidays will only lend flavor and added interest to their clash with the Red tomorrow night.

Season's Record At Stake

However, two perfect season's records are not all that will be at stake tomorrow night, as the Archers and the Redskins are co-holders of the coveted city crown which will also be at stake in the Archers-Redskin battle. There is also a matter of the N.E.I.C. championship which should be pretty well settled tomorrow night. Last year the Northerners were awarded this trophy on a technicality and the Archers will be doing all in their power to return it to the Southern trophy case.

Last year saw North Side and South Side split their two-game series, the Redskins winning the first, 31 to 26, and the Archers coming back with plenty of power to take the second, 35 to 16. This season has seen the Redskins develop from an only casually noticed aggregation into one of the few undefeated quintets in the state. Starting with a badly crippled squad Coach Bob Nulf has done all right by himself in developing the present Redskin outfit. Fellows like Cowan, Russell, Heiber, Hill, Turner, Leakey, Young, Werling and Huth are bound to give the state champion Archers something to worry about.

Redskins Will Protect Lead

The Redskins will be out to protect their slim lead in the city series race. To date North Side holds victories over Central and Central Catholic, while the Archers have won their lone city series clash with Central Catholic. The game tomorrow night will have a lot to do with determining the city championship and it should be a thrilling one. The Archers, despite defeats by Frankfort and Vincennes, are favored to best the Redskin attacks after a tough battle. In all probability, defensive play will play the leading role in determining the winner. Both teams are high scoring outfits with the Archers having the edge offensively. However, if the Redskins can tighten their defense and hold down the Archer offense, it will be anybody's ball game.

Both coaches, Friddle and Nulf, have been using from seven to ten men in most of their games. Consequently the starting line-ups have not yet been decided upon. In all probability Coach Friddle will send in Bolyard and Hall at forwards; Glass at center, and Beery and Hire at guards. Bob Nulf is expected to count on Cowan and Young at forwards; Russell at center, and Huth and Heiber at guards.

Betty Showalter, veteran G.A.A.er, sprained her ankle at the recent Lettergirls' "brawl". It seems that she got just a little bit too excited while playing volleyball; and someone, mistaking her for the ball, threw Betty instead of the pigskin. However, since the joys and sorrows of Christmas, she seems to be fairly recuperated.

Orchids this week (and left-over mistletoe) go to our cute little gym instructor, Miss Gretchen Smith, who is also the capable director of the radio players' group. Efficient and business-like as she is charming and good looking, Miss Smith has a great number of friends among the students and faculty of South Side High. Well-known over the city as a prominent participant in many social activities, she truly deserves our flowers to a lady.

Incidentally, at that recent play (?) day of the Lettergirls, Hazel Perry also came out rather banged up. Those Lettergirls are evidently too grown-up to play the regular gentle type of sporting games; they have to get rough before they can have any fun.

The entire G.A.A. wishes to extend their hearty congratulations to two prominent Lettergirls, Frieda Schubert and Velma Connitt, who have received the highest honor that can be awarded to a high school graduate, that of being chosen to the National Honor Society.

Florence Dickmeyer, junior, who was on the winning volleyball team, spent an exciting Christmas at home, and is now refreshed and ready to become the member of a champion basketball team.

Donna Dennis and Wilma Carrier, two senior G.A.A.ers, are also very enthusiastic about their Christmas vacations. It seems that they attended so many parties and things that they are all tired out again and feel that they will have to take another vacation to rest up.

As a bit of confidential advice, we advise you to keep your eyes on Dipsy Doodle Feichter, the Jitterbug. The little gal really danced herself out last week and now is putting all her energy on the basketball season. Good luck, Marion, for a successful one.

Another quiet little G.A.A.er who has steadily stood by her post during four years is Bernice Bender. She will soon get her letter for her steadfastness.

Now to all the members of the G.A.A. Society, we hope that you did not eat too much, indulge too much, etc., over Christmas and that after such a rest you are raring to go. Time will tell.

Archer Squad To Encounter Froebel Team

Green Quintet Favored To Be Winner Over Red-Blue In Spite Of Recent Defeats

Net Fray To Be Run Off At Gary

Coach Friddle Is Expected To Take About 20 Boys On Second Northern Trip

South Side's net squad will once again take to the road next Saturday, when they travel to Gary to take on a strong Froebel outfit. It will be the second invasion of Northern Indiana for the Archers this season and it is expected to be a more successful venture for the Green. South Side was defeated by both Frankfort and Vincennes in the Hammond invitational tourney but are expected to beat Froebel easily.

Last year the Archers handed the Gary squad a pair of defeats, the first of which came in the invitational tourney held on South Side's floor.

Defense Helps Green

South Side's success will probably depend on its defensive ability. At Hammond the Green suffered a defensive relapse which cost them a pair of losses. Don Hire got hot against Frankfort in ringing up 18 points. Bob Bolyard also got back into form and should prove a definite threat against Froebel. Coach Friddle will probably bear down on defense this week in order to get the Archers into shape for this week-end's schedule, which consists of North Side and Froebel.

Froebel Has Advantage

Froebel will have a definite advantage in that they meet the Green immediately after the Archer-Redskin clash. If the Archers are hot Friday night, there is always the possibility of a temporary let up. The fact that the Archers must travel some one hundred fifty miles on the day of the game is also a definite advantage for the Gary outfit.

Coach Friddle is expected to take about twenty boys on the Gary trip. The starting Archer line-up will, in all probability, consist of a combination of first and second teams. The probable starting line-up is as follows: Hamilton and Bolyard at forwards; Glass at center, and Cook and Hire at guards.

Tournament Rehash—

South Side players, fans and casual good wishers got their initial taste of defeat over the holidays when Frankfort and Vincennes took the Archers into camp 42-40 and 30-27. The general reaction of the fans might be compared with that of a surprised baby who for the first time was given a stiff dose of castor oil. How much the defeats may have resembled a dose of castor oil is really unimportant, for in all probability, they were just what the doctor ordered. After thinking it over, most of better informed followers of the state champs will agree that it is quite possible that the team got more benefit out of being twice drubbed, than if they had won the tourney, as expected. Immediately the question is raised, "How so?" Well, in basketball as in all sports, there is a certain something which is called "going stale." Now, it is quite natural for any team, having a string of consecutive victories to their credit to come to look on their coming contests in a mechanical frame of mind, to take the next game as a matter of routine. This is known as "going stale" and is something every coach fears. It is only necessary, however, for this team to be beaten a couple of times before that welcome keyed-up feeling returns. With it comes a quick aggressive spirit and that knack of making the breaks in the ball game. Presto—a championship outfit. Timely defeats are essential in the making of a true champion (and don't forget it!).

About This Week-End—

North Side looms as the next hurdle for the champion Archers. Their game tomorrow night will really be for blood, as the city and N.E.I.C. championships hinge on the outcome of tomorrow's session. However, in our opinion the most potent reason for the sizzling interest being displayed concerning the clash of the Archers and the Redskins is the ever-growing rivalry (friendly, we hope) between the two schools. In the eyes of many Archer fans, North Side is rapidly taking over that coveted honor of being South Side's No. 1 rival. The outcome will depend largely on the kind of defense used by the two teams. In the past, and especially last year, the Redskins have crossed the Archers up with a zone defense or some other of Bob Nulf's concoctions. Tomorrow night, however, the Archers are not to be baffled if Coach Friddle has anything to say about it.

All About Coaches—

In this mad game of basketball, as in most any athletic event, the element of proper coaching has much to do with determining a champion. In Indiana basketball, the hottest to be found, there is a tendency to overlook the coach when praise is being distributed. As in anything, some coaches are bound to excel and stand out. We have picked six which we feel are the choice crop of Indiana coaches and whose teams have stood out over a number of years. We nominate for the basketball hall of fame—as the C. C. boys made good only 33 per cent of their shots from the field and one-third of their free throws. Incidentally, while speaking of statistics, it is noticed that this is the second straight contest in which Carl Hall has taken 14 shots and made 7. He did it against Vincennes, too. It's nice to have these .500 shots around.

Notes on the C. C. Game—

South Side's state champs brought their string of victories up to six against a stubborn Central Catholic outfit during the holiday vacation. In doing so the Green rang up an average on shots from the field. They banged away 48 times to get their 17 field goals or in other words, they made 35 per cent of their shots. Carl Hall led the Archers, making good on 7 out of 14 attempts for a cool .500 average. Don Beery was close behind, sinking 4 out of 9. The Archers were good for just half of their shots from the charity stripe, canning 10 out of 20. The state champs led the Irish in both field goals and fouls

1. Burl Friddle—South Side of Fort Wayne.

2. Everett Case—Frankfort.
3. Archie Chadd—Anderson.
4. Glenn Curtis—Martinsville.
5. Cliff Wells—Logansport.
6. Pete Jolly—Muncie.

Archers Drub Irish Net Men By Ten Points

Hall Leads Green Attack By Making Seventeen Points; Final Score Reads 44-34

Before an overflow crowd of some three thousand ardent fans, the powerful South Side Archers ran their string of victories to six straight as they beat down a stubborn Central Catholic attack and came out on the long end of a 44 to 34 score.

Although the Archers were never in serious danger at any time, the game was far from being a run away. After the early lead of the Irish had been wiped out, the closest the C. C. boys came to overcoming the Green was late in the third quarter when Stanczak hit from underneath to make the score 33-27. From this point on the Green gradually pulled away to lead 44-34 as the final gun ended the game.

C. C. Gets Early Lead

Central Catholic got off to an early lead when Maxwell tossed in a one-hander. Glass opened the scoring for the Archers with a free throw, but Heine hit from underneath to make the score 4-1. Hall and Glass then hit from the field to give the Archers a 5-4 lead which they never relinquished. As the first quarter ended the Archers were out in front 9-5. In the second period the Archers, led by Hall and Beery, got a powerful offensive drive under way to bring the score to 20-10 before the Irish managed to get a counter attack underway. Fielders by Dehner and Maxwell and a free throw by Heine kept the Irish in the ball game and the half ended with the Green and White leading, 22-15.

With Carl Hall setting the pace, the Archers increased their lead to 29-17 before the Irish rallied to make the score 29-23.

Call Time Out

The Archers then called time out to talk it over and came back strong to apparently put the game on ice.

Archers Lose In Two Games At Tournament

Old Rival, Hammond High, Crashes To Victory; Green Bows To Alices, Hot Dogs

The seemingly impossible, the feat that school after school had tried and had failed, was accomplished in the Hammond Invitational Meet at Hammond last week. South Side's state champions were beaten twice in the tournament by two southern teams, Frankfort and Vincennes.

Hammond High won the tournament, beating Frankfort in the finals by a score of 31 to 25.

When six of the top-notch teams of the state compete in a blind tourney, things are bound to happen. The six teams were South Side, Hammond Tech, Hammond High, Hammond Clark, Frankfort and Vincennes. The tourney opened last Thursday with Hammond beating Hammond Tech and Frankfort overwhelming Hammond Clark, Vincennes and South Side drawing byes.

Frankfort Downs Archers

Frankfort's vaunted Hot Dogs downed the Archers Friday afternoon in the most thrilling contest of the tourney, the outcome never being decided until the final seconds. The Archers led at the finish of the first period 11 to 8 by virtue of Carl Hall's fielder during the closing seconds of the period. Bolyard and Hire took up where Hall left off and the champions were out in front 23-18 at the half.

Johnson, Frankfort's all-tourney center, went to work on Glass and managed to get Glass to foul out of the game. With Glass out the champions' defense was shattered and the Hot Dogs really went to town with Cook and Johnson getting busy. Between themselves they put the Hot Dogs ahead at 36 to 34. Hall tied it up and Don Hire, who played a bang-up game for the Green, put South Side ahead again 38 to 36. Cook and Johnson again put Frankfort ahead with a pair of two pointers. Bolyard hit and the count was tied up at 40-40.

Team Misses Glass

With the game rapidly drawing to a close, the Green really missed Glass height during the wild scramble that issued beneath the basket. It was during one of such scrambles that Cook of Frankfort pushed in a rebound shot, and the gun followed almost immediately. The final score was 42-40.

South Side hit on a total of 18 out of 52 shots while Frankfort chipped in with 17 out of 59 shots. The Archers lost the contest from the charity stripe, hitting only on five of their nine shots. The Hot Dogs made 8 of their 14 attempts.

In the consolation game against Vincennes, South Side got little consolation, losing by a score of 30-27. The defeat came as somewhat of a surprise, South Side having thoroughly subdued the Alices earlier in the season by a score of 43 to 22.

Second Team Starts

Burl Friddle started most of his second team against Vincennes. This team grabbed a 14-10 lead at the quarter. The Green starting five opened the second quarter, but these boys appeared tired from the Frankfort game. Bob Chester tallied 14 points to win the game all by himself. He dropped in his last goal and two free throws in the final minute to wipe out a 26-27 Archer lead.

Varnish New Doors

During Christmas vacation, the new doors on the second floor which serve to keep students out of the new addition during after game dances and during basketball games, were given several coats of varnish. The doors, newly hung, are one of the many additions in the construction program in South Side this fall.

Ice Skating Proves Very Popular Sport Of Week's Vacation

It seems that the Archers were really kept busy on their Christmas vacation, for when asked, "What did you do on your vacation?" they answered as follows:

Lillian Schweizer—Slept late in the morning, went away in the evening.
Valatta Favory—Went away every day.

Betty Pepple—Went to parties and ice-skating.
Opilda Braun—Went ice-skating. Had a grand time.

Marjorie Kruse—Ate too much candy.
Catherine Dinkel—Went ice-skating and took flops.

Marjorie Boese—Went ice-skating; had fun; didn't flop once.

Martha May Scheele—Kept fixing lights on Christmas tree.

Eugene Bockofun—Slept.

Junior Wedler—Ice skating.

Ralph George—Played basketball, handball and went skating.

Kenny Wollman—Took it easy.

Kathryn Zaegel—Read very interesting books.

Marilyn Anweiler—Went skating.

Mae Vanderford—Went skating.

Clara Long—Made a blouse.

Yule Party At Meeting

At the German Club's annual Christmas party, which was held in the Voorhees Room December 21, the song, "O Tannenbaum" (O Christmas Tree) was sung in German to start the program. Santa Claus then went around the room distributing gifts. Following that there was a drawing for the attendance prize. A game called Musical Chair was then played for which a prize was given.

Refreshments consisting of ice cream, candy, and German Christmas cookies were served. To conclude the program "Stille Nacht" (Silent Night) was sung. Calvin Schultz was the piano accompanist, and Paul Ulrey was Santa Claus.

Philo Choses Lucky Landing As Skate Motif

Decoration Committee Led By Janice Dyer; Ticket Sales Headed by Branning

Date Of Affair Set For Friday, 13th

Price Will Be 25c; Attendance Gifts To Be Given; Bus To Transport Pupils

The Philo Club, South Side's scholastic club for girls, plans to hold their annual skate tomorrow night at Bell's Rink. The skate will cost 25 cents.

Since the date for this year's skate is the traditional unlucky Friday 13, every effort is being made to break this precedent and prove the date lucky. To carry out the theme of luck the skate is being called Lucky Landing, and good luck favors are being made by the members of the decoration committee. This committee is composed of Janice Dyer, chairman, Margery Rapp, Helen Banks, Alice Pope, Hertha Hoffman, Jean Gumpner, Marjorie Dyer, Audrey Hall, Betty Marquardt, Betty Daniels, Miriam Jackson, Katherine Beckman, Lois Rea, Helen Wiehe, Betty Neeb, and Bernice Etzler.

This year the ticket committee is being divided into two teams. The chairman is Phyllis Branning. The captains are Rebecca Abbott, Miriam Jackson, Gwen DeWees, Beverly Griffith, Ruth Kaiser, Velma Oppenlander, Maurine Siebert, and Kathleen Ramer.

Several attendance prizes are being selected by Anna Anderson and Rebecca Abbott, while the floor show is being planned by Donna Lou Foutz.

The bus from Bell's will be at the Calhoun entrance at 7:30 o'clock. Tickets may be purchased now from any member of Philo or at the bus Friday evening. Tickets are also on sale in room 68.

Betty Daniels Is New Philo Head

Gwen DeWees Is Vice-president; June Holzworth, Secretary; Phyllis Branning, Treasurer.

New officers for the semester were elected at the meeting of Philo, Monday in the Greeley Room. As a result of a tie for president, Betty Daniels will automatically take over that office, which was formerly held by Margaret Null. Other officers elected were: Gwen DeWees, vice-president; June Holzworth, secretary; Phyllis Branning, treasurer; Kathleen Ramer, sergeant-at-arms; Rebecca Abbott, program chairman; Betty Marquardt, Inter-Club Congress; Elizabeth Rose, pianist; Katherine Beckman and Marjorie Dyer, publicity committee; Frances VanBuskirk, chairman of music; and Virginia Shidler, chairman of Thespians.

To carry out Philo's theme, drama, Mrs. Chester Lane reviewed several plays recently shown on Broadway. She spoke of three outstanding types now "on the boards": propaganda spreading, musical comedy, and religion. An example of the first was "The Third of a Nation," which dealt with the housing problem. The musical comedy Mrs. Lane told about was the satire, "Pins and Needles," put on by the Union of Women's International Garment Workers. A few of the religious plays were "On Borrowed Time," "Susan and God," and "Shadow and Substance." This latter play was reviewed more fully.

Bill Newhard, accompanied by Richard Strausburg, sang "Oh That We Two Were Maying" and "On the Road to Mandalay."

Wrangler Election Is Set On Monday

Charles Bollman, James Murphy, Ed Reeves Are Presidential Nominees; Others Are Listed

Wranglers first meeting of the year will be held on January 16 and will be devoted mainly to the election of officers. The treasurer will make his final report on the financial standing of the club, also, at this meeting.

Preceding the campaign speeches for the three Wranglers who have been nominated for the presidential office, President Richard Garton will give a farewell speech.

Nominees for the various offices have been announced. They are for president, Ed Reeves, Charles Bollman, and James Murphy. Those who are nominated for vice-president are June McAlister, Eleanor Vesey, and Anna Lou Kowalski; for secretary, Margaret Niblick, Sally Moorhead, and Jeanette Warren; for treasurer, Carl Goebel, Henry Velkoff, and Richard Buchholz.

Nominee for Inter-Club Congress is Bill Riethmiller; nominees for parliamentarian are Helen Banks, Dortha Gardener, and Dorothy Gore; for sergeant-at-arms, Ed Meyer, Sam Bacon, Bill Siebold, and Dick Theye.

Hi-Y Group Sponsors Skate Saturday Night

The annual Hi-Y Skate was staged last Saturday night at Bell's Rink. Seven attendance prizes were donated by the South Side Grill, the Harrison Hill Barber Shop, Miller's Ice Cream Company, and Meyer's Brothers. Mr. Ward O. Gilbert's daughter was seen on the prizes were Miss Gilbert, lectured to do the drawing. Those who Kenny Warren, and George Crickmore.

Heads Skate Plans

Miss Elizabeth Demaree

Miss Elizabeth Demaree is in general charge of the Philo Skate to be held tomorrow night at Bell's Rink. Margaret Null, president, is helping make the arrangements for the event.

Speech Group To Conclude Extemp Meet

Annual Confab Finals Set For January 12; Contestants Will Draw Subjects

Today, January 12, marks the last in the first series of extemporaneous contests which are held semi-annually at South Side. The contest, which will be held this morning, the second period in the Greeley Room will feature the winners of yesterday's contests. The contestants will draw their subjects one hour before they speak.

The subjects for today's speeches, as were yesterday's, are: (1) Anti-American Activities; (2) United States; (2) American Neutrality; and (3) Totalitarianism in South America. They were chosen by Mrs. Dorothy Rieke, speech instructor.

These six winners will be competing for the McAlister Trophy. Any student who, during his speech career at South Side, wins the trophy three times will be given permanent possession of it. It is probable that the winner of this contest will represent South Side in a similar contest to be sponsored by the Rotary Club.

An admission of five cents will be charged for the contest and should be paid at the door. Slips will be given those students who attend which excuse them from their second period classes.

Latin Club To Give Roman Skit Today

"Slaves And Clients" Is To Be Presented; Program Committee Named; Skate Is Planned

"Slaves and Clients" will be the topic of the meeting of the Latin Club to be held today at 3:30 o'clock in room 23. A short talk will be given by Betty Elbersson concerning the practice of employing slaves in Rome. A skit, representing a Roman slave market, written by Betty Elbersson and Evelyn Erickson, will be presented. Eileen Eider will speak on "Clients in Ancient Rome." The program committee for this meeting consists of Betty Elbersson, chairman; Evelyn Erickson, Jane Nathan, Joyce Cleaver, Eileen Eider, Gloria Stanley, Helen Ninde and Faye Gumpner.

During the business meeting, Velda Oppenlander, chairman of the committee for the skate to be held January 27, will report on the work of the committee. The skate will be called "The Skate of the Gods," and at this meeting the members will be divided into three teams bearing the names Venus, Juno and Minerva. The captains and assistants of these teams are as follows: Venus, Jane Nathan and Charles Beall; Juno, Dorothy Gore and Ivan Truman; Minerva, Jane Bowen and Roger McVay. Each member will be given five tickets to sell and a small identification card bearing the likeness of the goddess representing his team. Posters for the skate made by Miss Hutto's art classes will be inspected by the club.

Sondles Is Head Of U. S. A. Group

Will Succeed LaVerne Greiner; Other New Officers Are Hornmann, Sheets, And Cocks.

At the last meeting of the U.S.A. Club, the members elected new officers for next semester. Marilyn Sondles will succeed LaVerne Greiner as president. Other new officers will be as follows: Eileen Hornmann, vice-president; Jean Sheets, secretary; and Jane Cocks, card keeper.

The other officers of the last election were as follows: Betty Mann, vice-president; Marjorie Voltz, secretary; Marilyn Sondles, treasurer; Eileen Hornmann, publicity chairman; Louisa Haugk, service chairman; Iona Jean Tracht, social chairman; Rozanna Weston, social chairman; Jean Sheets, membership chairman and inter-club congress representative; and Jane Cocks, card keeper.

Other minor officers for the new term will be selected by the new officers some time this week. Besides the election, a game which was suggested by Mrs. Grace Welty was played.

Travel Group Will Sponsor Skating Party

January 20 Is Date Selected For Annual Fete Of Club; Contest To Be Featured

On Friday, January 20, Travel Club will hold its annual skating party at Bell's Rink. Jillas Patton, general chairman, will be assisted by Betty Baumgartner, who is in charge of posters, Irene Meyer, Patty Lyman, and Phyllis Louer.

As in previous years, attendance prizes will be given to those holding the lucky tickets. A skaters' bus will be at South Side at 7:30 o'clock; a fee of ten cents is required to pay for transportation.

One of the features that will be used to keep the skate in everyone's mind is a poster with the face of a freckled boy grinning at the audience. The person who guesses the number of freckles on his face, or the one who comes closest to the number, will receive a free ticket to the skating party. Entrance tags for the contest will be turned in to Miss Mabel Thorne in room 52 before the skating party.

Miss Thorne, the club's adviser, will act as chaperon. The price of the tickets will be twenty-five cents each, and they may be obtained from the members of the club, or in room 52 any night after school.

Three E's Group To Meet Saturday

Margery Rapp To Entertain Club At Home At 2:30; Assisting Hostess To Be Helen Banks

Margery Rapp will act as hostess to the Three E's Club at the meeting to be held Saturday at 2:30 at her home, 3814 Fairfield Avenue; Helen Banks will be the assistant hostess.

The tentative plans for this meeting include a talk by Bruce Bradbury on old English inns, an exercise in forming derivatives from a well-known Latin stem, a contest in noting changes in spelling of prefixes, a spelling contest, one in synonyms, and a lesson in word study directed by Miss Emma Kiefer.

Members are asked to notify one of the hostesses if they cannot attend the meeting.

Twenty-eight members and guests were Miss Kiefer's guests at the club's Christmas party which was held at her home December 29. Guests included Ed Betty Hayner, Indianapolis, who was the guest of Julia Ann Smith and Rosemary Lehman, Betty Garton, Beatrice Fudge, and Mae Persing, alumnae guests. Miss Kiefer was assisted by Miss Evelyn Kiefer of Concordia High School. John Magley became the newest member of the club.

Betty Garton won the contest in defining words, Annette Snook was the winner of the contest in foreign words and phrases, and the contest in abbreviations was won by Helen Banks.

The decorations and refreshments were in keeping with the Christmas season.

Danglers To Discuss Club Business Tonight

Nadine Mueller, president of the Marionette Club, announced that instead of the regular meeting which is scheduled for today, the club will hold a short business meeting at 5:30 o'clock in room 142.

After the business meeting some of the underclassmen will meet to arrange a skit to be presented for the parents of the incoming freshmen at a meeting next Monday night. Bill Morgan has been put in charge of the skit. Those who will assist him are as follows: Lillian Sherbondy, who will speak on the history of the club; Bill Morgan, making marionettes; Katharine Beckman, costumeing and designing; Lillian Sherbondy, manipulation; and Margery Dyer, choosing and producing a play.

A small skit will be given by Bill Morgan, Betty Bowman, Jane Klinefelter, and Lillian Sherbondy.

Main Library Adds Latin Credit Books

Mr. Rex Potter, head of the Public Library, has placed on the shelf in the main library two copies each of many books found on the Latin collateral reading list. Also at the Shawnee and Fortine branches will be found copies of most of these books.

Goy Jones' Orchestra Plays For Dance Saturday After Franklin Encounter.

Goy Jones, '38, and his orchestra will play for the "after game" dance on Saturday, which will be held in room 170, and is being sponsored by the Parents-Teachers Association. Dancing will begin right after the game with Franklin. Tickets may be obtained for twenty-five cents a person. Tickets will be twenty-five cents a person and forty cents a couple.

Mrs. Arthur K. Remmel is chairman of the arrangements committee and is in general charge of the affair. Mr. and Mrs. Don Parkinson will have charge of the tickets for the dance.

The members of the Ways and Means committee will be the chaperons for the dance. They are as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur K. Remmel, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Iba, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Tract, Dr. and Mrs. Karl Eberly, Mr. and Mrs. John Bostick, Miss Martha Pittenger, Mr. A. Verne Flint, Mr. William Moss, and Mr. Elma S. Gould.

The proceeds from the dance will be given to the Welfare agencies. There will be no decorations for the dance.

Inter-Clubbers Will Sponsor Clean-up Fete

Tuesday Morning Students Clean Out Lockers; Club Members Will Be Guards.

Tuesday, immediately following the home room period, Inter-Club Congress will again sponsor the semi-annual locker clean-up staged at the close of each semester. Members of the congress have been assigned as guards at various posts throughout the school. They are: east incline, boys' lockers, Carl Hall and Bill Riethmiller; girls' lockers, Doris Williams and Jean Sheets; west hall, Dick Hebermehl, Gloria Staley and Eleanor Vesey; center hall, Dorothy Amstutz, Evelyn Kruse, Dick Buchholz, and Max Wagner; northeast hall, Clayton Jensen, Joan Cox, and Vera Berning; southeast hall, Jean Fortreide and Dick Weaver; south hall, Carl Goebel and Geneva Martin; boys' locker room, Roger McVay, Donald Hensch, Kenny Warren, Donald Pens, Morton Nahwald, and Allan Miller; and the girls' locker room, Helen Savage, Wilma Carrier, Betty Daniels, Betty Lyman, Velda Oppenlander, and Lavonia Spore.

A committee of three girls, Joan Cox, Vera Berning, and Wilma Carrier, has been appointed to make identification tags for the guards.

At the meeting Tuesday, Mr. Rex gave reports on the Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets, reporting that the congress delivered between 50 and 60 each time.

Marjorie McNabb Is Meterite Head

Carol Trenary, Rosa Lee Hall, Joan Cox Are Other Executives Elected On Tuesday.

Marjorie McNabb was elected president of Meterite Club at the final meeting of the semester on Tuesday. Emalyn Remmel was in charge of the election. Other officers are Carol Trenary, vice-president; Rosa Lee Hall, secretary; and Joan Cox, treasurer.

A graduation party for the 10B's was also given, with Marilyn Loomis in charge. First Joan Cartwright gave a farewell address. Wilma Lageman, a 10B, responded. Ellen Harry and Janice Sprunger played two selections on the piano and violin. Mary Burt gave favors and diplomas to the girls who graduated with honors. These were: Marjorie Roberts, Marjorie McMahon, making marionettes; Katharine Gumpner, Hilda Schubert, Phyllis Lauer, Mildred Hanke, June Flaig, Helen Savage, Wilma Lageman, Rosemary Rediger, Gloria Staley, and Katherine Kuntz. Other graduates were: Reba Coppock, Harriet Greer, Elaine Hirschy, Martha Jane Krauskopf, Emalyn Remmel, and Bettill Stein.

June, Joyce McAlister Give News Broadcast

A news broadcast, written by Bruce Bradbury, was presented by Joyce and June McAlister on Tuesday, January 10, over WOWO at 5 o'clock. The news items discussed were the organization of the new alumni association, new McAlister trophy, the Student Players' initiation, the senior banquet, the National Honor Society, promotions on The Times staff, and the Hi-Y skit. These programs are presented at 5 o'clock every Tuesday. Each school has five minutes in which to present its news, and three schools broadcast each night.

There are from ten to thirty performers to present each sketch. All of the public schools will have been represented by the end of the school year, eighteen having been represented so far.

The reason for the picking of the McAlister twins was on account of their ability as public speakers, as they have both won honors in public speaking contests.

Archer Writes Poem

A poem written by Etheldrea Behling, a freshman, appeared on Youths' Passing Show Page of last Saturday's News-Sentinel. The poem was entitled "Break O' Dawn." The theme of the poem was early morning.

World Of Future Is Selected Theme For Senior Event

Heads Dance Plans Upperclassmen Shape Plans For Annual Banquet; The Committees Are Named

Phyllis Geller Is Head Of Tickets

Admission To Feast Will Be Sixty Cents; Mrs. Herbert Rieke Will Aid Speakers

"A Glimpse in the World of Tomorrow" has been selected as the theme for the affair. This was based on the theme of the New York World's Fair, and all decorations will be carried out in the fair colors. The short after-dinner speeches will be based on the opportunities for progress in the world of tomorrow. Mr. Merle J. Abbott, Mr. R. Nelson Snider, and Miss Martha Pittenger will be guest speakers. Three-minute talks following the same idea will be given by several members of the speech department, Janice Dyer, Phyllis Geller, Henry Velkoff, and Ed Reeves. Dick Buchholz will give the class history; Catherine Clinard, the class prophecy. All speeches are under the supervision of Mrs. Herbert Rieke, public speaking instructor.

Music will be presented by the South Side Trio, composed of Ruth Bade, Loretta Kinearson and Ruth Dauner. Velma Lehman will accompany the class in the singing of songs.

Tickets which will be 60 cents, were put on sale last Monday for the senior banquet, the first of the outstanding senior activities, which will be held Tuesday, January 17. All seniors who wish to attend the banquet are urged to get their tickets as soon as possible because there will be a limited number sold. Friday is the deadline for seniors to buy their tickets or see Phyllis Geller, chairman of the ticket committee, and make reservations.

Invitations Issued

Formal invitations have been issued to Mr. and Mrs. Merle J. Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. R. Nelson Snider, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Chappell, Mrs. Paul Sidell, Miss Adelaide Fiedler and Miss Martha Pittenger to be guests at the banquet.

Hi-Yers To Hold Election Tonight

Officers For Next Semester Will Be Chosen At 7:30 At Y. M. C. A.; Will Hold A Potluck

Hi-Y officers for next semester will be elected tonight at a meeting of the Hi-Y Club, which will be held at the Y.M.C.A. at 7:30 o'clock. Nominations, which will not be disclosed, were made from the floor at the last meeting. All members are asked to be at the meeting to participate in the election.

At the last meeting the club decided to hold a potluck on the Thursday of the week which marks the change in semesters. At this potluck the newly elected officers of the club will be honored. Bill Riethmiller was made chairman of the committee which is to arrange all the details of this collective meal. Assisting Bill with the plans are Murray Squires, Dick Garton and Max Mitchell. The potluck will be held at the Y.M.C.A.

The club also decided to hold a banquet some time next semester. A committee was appointed to look into this matter and to report back to the club such details which are necessary in staging a banquet. This committee consists of Aubrey Kellogg, chairman, John Magley and Clayton Jensen.

Members Of So-Si-Y Will Hold Installation

So-Si-Y installation meeting will be held next Tuesday, January 17, in the Greeley Room. New officers will be installed. There will be a discussion on Confucius' proverbs by Miss Hinebaugh, executive secretary of the Y.M.C.A.

Beth Ellen Chadwick is in charge of the committee, and those aiding her are Imo Mick, Mildred Franz, and Mildred Trout.

Quill, Scroll To Hold Contest On Thursday

A Quill and Scroll contest will be held this afternoon. The contest will feature an advertisement writing and news judgment. Any one wishing to enter this contest may do so.

South Side Can Boast Long List Of Attainments During Year Of 1938

Students of South Side will soon pass another milestone and embark on one more lap of the road to graduation. At the end of a semester it always seems appropriate to look back over the "dear, departed" weeks and see just what has been accomplished. Of course our list of accomplishments should be headed with the new addition to the school and, along with it, the gala Open House Night when the improvements were first viewed by the general public.

As always our Alma Mater has proved herself tops in the field of sports. Although our football team just couldn't seem to hit that good old winning streak, they were unexcelled in spirit and sportsmanship. As for the basketball team, —well, when they are presented, all Archers will join in the chorus of "Stay As Well As You Are."

This resume would not be complete without mention of those individuals, who have shown themselves to be the possessors of certain outstanding qualities. Leading the list come the newly elected members to the National Honor Society. Somehow we know that these people will do big things in the future. In addition there are the golden-tongued orators who have taken honors in speech contests, the art students and Booster Club members who have helped with decorations for school affairs, and naturally, the officers of the four classes.

Skates, club dances, games, potlucks, and banquets all filled last semester to overflowing; and it's our guess that the coming semester will offer even more. Not being psychic, we are not able to gaze into the future; but it's a sure thing that South Side will continue to put her best foot forward and that her graduates will be a force to be reckoned with now and forever.

Start The New Semester By Aiming For High Goal

This semester is almost over and too late to do any cramming on your studies to get through with a passing grade. But a new semester is just around the corner, with all the chances of making an honor student out of anyone not too far along the road to failure. Since it is so near the beginning of the year and resolutions are still in order, especially for a new semester, it would be a very good idea to resolve to set our aims a little higher than the ordinary scholar.

Recently, we witnessed the selection of fifteen National Honor students. These students received this honor for their outstanding work during their four years. You freshmen who have the ambition and interest to reach the top will have a grand chance to get started in two weeks if you have not started already. Sophomores and juniors, you still have time to come out from your shell and show everyone what you can do. It is truly no fun to be a nobody and forgotten by the student body and teachers when the time comes to give honors. To be a member of the National Honor Society, a student must be outstanding in leadership, service, scholarship, character, and he must rate in the upper third of his class. Start at the beginning of the four year race and it will be easier to reach this very worthwhile goal.

In less than two weeks, a new group of freshmen will enter this school to start four years of learning. Let's show them that we really have high ambitions, go to work, and do what the teachers tell us to do.

Things are still flying past us—the couples in this school come and go as rapidly as those A's and B's we received the first grade period.

Seniors, that two dollars you've been wondering what to do with may be paid in the office now for your cap and gown.

Some people are still relaxing from the last vacation. Final grades in about a week will wake them up.

Seniors, remember to set aside January 17 for your banquet.

Don't rush off after the South Side versus Franklin game. Stay for the P-T. A. dance to be held in 170 immediately following the game.

The Seton High School presented its first drama of the year, "The Little Town of Bethlehem." It was a very great success—every last person was thrilled by the drama.
—Seton High School.

Instead of having the same old cut-and-dried contests, the Decatur High School decided to have a novel contest. The title of the project was "Having Fun with a Camera." The picture was to have been taken during the school year beginning September 6, 1938. Fun, huh?
—Decatur, Indiana.

Flash! Something new in assemblies! The Junior High students of the Atchison High School attended an imaginary night club at a recent assembly. The fourteen-act floor show was amid the colorful atmosphere of a swanky night club. Charm and reality was added to the program by a spotlight which was focused on the performers.
—Atchison, Kansas.

Although it may be a little late to report this, I'm going to anyway; it may help some later. The Girl Reserves of a high school in Saint Francis, Kansas, learned how to wrap gifts attractively and economically. In trying to find something new and different, the speaker suggested a Mexican paper and rope to tie the packages. The conventional colors, green and red, were replaced with brown and gold.

Nearly 2,000 Trenton High School students were given the Mantoux tubercular test. The paper states that when it came to sissies, there were far more boys than girls.

Senior Synopsis

By R. U.

Graduating

With the classroom biggies, the inimitable senior killer people, once more trying very hard to settle themselves back into the pleasantly binding harness of study and hard work, especially after a glorious eight days of vacation, the Southern portals are a trifle significant of a dull existence. However, and it's the truth, no institutional mode of living can be very unexciting very long, and with this heartening fact in mind, we scribe happily on.

GET OUT OF TOWN, MARY MICHEL, or better still have all the foreign-city-males come to you. It is a no-too-secret fact that Mary is the pleased recipient of several burning epistles weekly. Oh well, it's nice work if you can get it; so we say, "Letter go."

WE ISSUED A CALL TO ARMS on behalf of senior male-men who have been slandered, stormed, sacked, and ridiculously ridiculed by one junior alumni worshiper, who claims that not one present senior species is half as old acting or looking as those who have formerly gone beyond. Tisn't true, McKay. Anyhow, Bergel is a plenty youthful youngster himself.

WE BELIEVE WITH GOOD INTENTION that there is one couple who definitely could be. This delectable partnership has been flowering for some time in the hearts of both concerned. However, and unfortunately we announce that nothing has been done about it. Anyhow, we maintain with beaming hope against hope that versatile, charming, Kitty Clinard and attractive, mannerly Dick Garton would be an ideal twosome and a pleasant eyeful to behold.

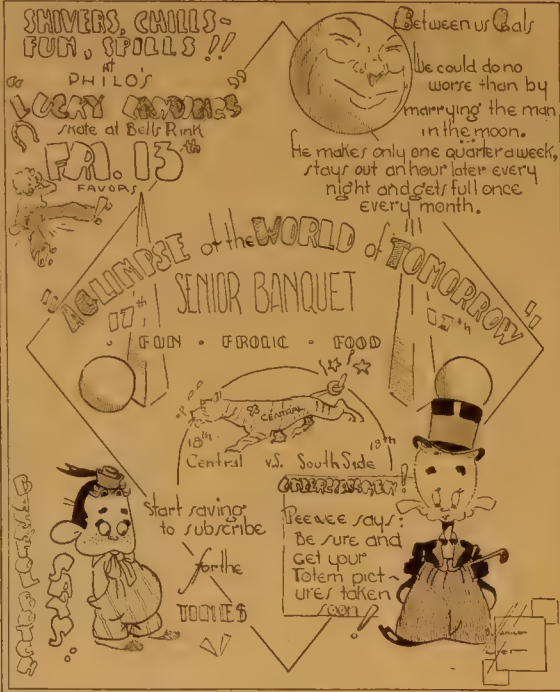

AN' NOW WE GIVE YOU Mr. America of 1939 put together bit by bit from the remnants of outstandingly attractive boy-grads. The perfect specimen would possess: The hair and eyes of Eddie Reeves. The physique of Tom Moorhead. The smile and teeth of Max Magner. The personality of Max Spencer. The nose of Dick Buchholz. The dancing technique of Phil McKay.

An' there, gentle folk, you have it. DOUBLE FEATURE PICTURES were properly inaugurated in the past two weeks. All seniors could be found exchanging framed faces with arched enthusiasm. It seems gosh-awfully funny to look at your photograph and say, "Gentlemen, my Senior Picture." Ah me, posing in such sweet sorrow.

TERRIFIC TWINOSITIES are very evident among the senior swingers. However, there is one outstanding resemblance which we feel should receive due mention now. Did you ever notice how really much Dickie's gal-friend Janice Cross looks like Alice Faye. If you haven't delved your attention into this matter it might be well to do so, for the facial likeness is truly outstanding.

ORCHIDS TO A LADY, and the feminine beauty involved this time is our own chipper pal, Nadine Mueller. An enthusiastic bud of the upperclass branch, we find Nickie popping up in nearly everything and doing very well at it too. Radiating a vivacious personality, we find this ardent Archer followed by a huge line of friends. She is also found occasionally Dickering around. (Thanks Bev.)

And now, once more we must come to a typical Times finish. So closing our typewriter, we bid you adieu and bon so! hoping that we meet under the same pleasant circumstances in the very near future.

Frequent Archer Question Is What Did Santa Bring You?

Tuesday morning! And the school was dead as a door nail. Small wonder! The holidays were just too much for all those students. Everything but school work was important. Discussions consisted of dances and parties and Christmas gifts. Just about 2,000 sleepy people were almost too tired to get up. Congratulations and bouquets to all who did come. The vacation was grand, but "all work and no play"—Anyhow there were many who had a really, truly swell Christmas. Read on children and see what your countrymen did.

Our very own Pug Owens (Marian to you who knew her when) received a very cherished gift. Her long wanted and awaited gold cross. (Did your Santa Claus have a long white beard?)

Norbert Holloway complained of insomnia, but that's Norbert for you. Curly-top Hawkins must have a pull. Besides getting a most beautiful ring, he has a cute little girl on the telephone. (The telephone sounds better than a line.) Have you noticed how he sparkles in his bright red sweater?

Lilas Patton seems to be really satisfied. She got everything she wanted and more besides.

Bob Shemel, Jr., had a lovely Christmas. He broke his glasses on Christmas day. I wonder if you all knew that Bob attended Carl (Deacon) Moore. Incidentally, he was the guy who put the hole in the floor under the mistletoe. Some fun, I'll bet!

Julia Pressler enjoyed the holidays by taking it easy. When she wasn't sleeping or eating she was skating. Her prize Christmas gift was her class pin. It's a beauty, too.

Bob Ferguson was pleased to get a wallet and a bang! bang! (Gun, you dopest.)

Funny-man Goebel is in the happy hunting grounds once more. He sought out a little Indian from the Redskins and seems to be doing all right. At least, he isn't scalped yet.

Edith Summers is blissfully contented. No wonder. Her gifts were clothes, money and perfume.

Charlotte Kern spent her vacation learning more about bridge. Her favorite Christmas gifts were a picture (guess who) and a beautiful compact. Another year has gone, and Charlotte didn't get her dog.

Phyllis Bundy said she got a pretty wagon. Aw shucks, I'll bet she didn't! Joan Gunter is all a-twitter because she got lots of clothes.

Margaret Wittmer received a lot of really nice things. She spent most of her time at parties and dances, fitting away her time.

George Keller said he got Santa Claus. Maybe it's a joke.

Velma Connett was ambitious

From a very good friend of mine I secured some swell first hand information (I hope)! Helen Cox, home from college over the holidays, and Joe Bex hit it off once more. They were seen at a couple of dances and also were seen out walking. It's okay when two swell people like them get together. That steady romance between Kay Kuntz and Bob (Trevor) Young seems to have broken up by mutual agreement. That seems like a good idea. Going steady isn't what it seems to be (especially when two other people are involved)...in this case Bob Robinson and Margaret Fellows, North Side. Don Parkinson and Karl Eberly are two fellows who certainly keep us on the jump with their actions. We can never tell just who they go dating. With Mr. Parkinson a large number of girls, including Marjorie McMahon, Jane Nathan, Jean Well, Alice Hall, and Kay Kuntz. How he can ever keep track of so many women is beyond us. Karl Eberly also goes around with Kay Kuntz, evidently a very popular gal, Patsy Siebel, and some others. What interests us is that nearly all the boys in the sophomore class are trading feds as fast as they can. It started over the vacation, but when it will end nobody knows. We found a surprise package in Aubrey Kellogg's heart. He has, (and I'm not fooling), eleven different heart-throbs. He is the sensation of the stronger sex. Aubrey seems to think that variety is the spice of life, and if my memory holds out, I'll tell you the reasons. Those lucky gals are (1) Joan Reichard, (2) Pearl Wallen, (3) Martha Jean Smith, (4) Rena Bennett, (5) Peggy Harrod, (6) Marjorie Butler, (7) Arlene Snider, (8) Anna Lou Kowalski, (9) Phyllis Bundy, (10) Laura Jane Reed, (11) Bonnie Yaeger, (and incidentally, each gal has, at some time or other captured the heart of Corky Bostick. And their friendship still lasts! Well, it's beyond me!

'Tis rumored hither and thither that Ruthmary Riedy desires Dick Didier for a trinket on her charm bracelet.

In someone's opinion Marilyn Rose should be spanked. She tripped over to Central Catholic for a boy friend, and she ended up with four. The lucky boys are John Truemier, Don Hoffman, Jim Triberger, and Bob Roone. (And you call this school spirit, Marilyn?)

There's a brand new romance a-blooming between Dale Amstutz and Marge Gysinger. What about Becky, Dale?

Bernard Pressler is sizzling over Ed Murchland. He must be a hotcha boy with a girl in every port. (The only thing is—there isn't any port! Oh well, a small matter!)

To show you what brilliant students we have roaming around our halls, here's an example of one note I received this week:

'Elfrida Hanke has gone over the deep end for A. J. Ferguson and vice-versa.' Anyway, Elfrida isn't so dumb!

Why does Bob Ensen come to school so early? Is it to see that blonde?

Pro and Con

This being January, everyone in Indiana and especially at South Side is basketball conscious. Small wonder when you consider our supreme basketball team, the toast of the town, and the pride and joy of South Side. Then, there is the slight matter of season tickets, the ways and means of getting into the games. Speaking of these tickets brings us to the matter of the day...whether or not the comparatively new system of checking up to the nth degree on season ticket holders is such a good idea after all. Before deciding on which side of the fence we stand, let's view the situation with an unbiased eye.

Pro In the days of yore, when the athletic department didn't care a snap what students did with their tickets after they received coin in exchange, students took unfair advantage of their privilege in various ways. For city games not listed on the tickets, the athletic department negotiated to allow students admittance to the games for half-price upon presentation of season tickets. This was a good act...but students took advantage of this by presenting the tickets several times.

Something had to be done...hence, the clamping down on ticket-holders. This system more or less induces honesty on the part of ticket-holders and is doing a lot toward breaking up the old practices. In fact, the system is so efficient that students wouldn't even attempt to buy a ticket twice using the same season ticket.

Con If a student pays for a ticket, it should be entirely up to him whether or not he wants to sell his ticket, and solely the business of the buyer whether or not he wants to pay more for a game.

In this new system of not announcing the number of the ticket until the doors open, it is practically impossible to sell a ticket, unless one wishes to trust it to a stranger, which isn't at all probable.

Another possibility, which in reality is an actuality, is losing the whole season ticket, and having to go through the red tape of replacing it. Of course you might say, "Don't be so careless," but despite precaution, this mishap often occurs. Before we run into further mishap, we'll wind up this discussion and ask you the question, WHAT IS YOUR VIEW-POINT?

Mazie Mixit

Dear people, in your midst is a gigantic mess-upper. No other than your dear Mazie Mixit. Each week I will answer all questions sent to me. Drop them in the mail box by the study hall. Everyone can send in questions, even little freshmen. So with no further ado, I begin this week's stuff.

Dear Mazie: For quite awhile I have tried to get a certain basketball star for my steady. However, I have had no success. Just what does one do?
Yours truly,
Jane Nathan.

Dear Jane: This is a very serious and baffling question so I will have to go into a trance. Hopkus Pokus, Dominokus, ah, I see a certain young man—wait, wait, ah Bob Bolyard. He is admiring some sweet petunias in front of a florist shop. We must love sweet petunias. That's the answer; you must send him sweet petunias every day, and you will have him.
You're welcome, come again,
Mazie Mixit.

Dear Mazie Mixit: I have made some swell New Year resolutions but I am afraid I'll break them. What should I do?
Yours truly,
Tom Gallmeyer.

Dear Tom: Write the resolutions on a sheet of paper and stick it on your chest. The resolutions will stick to you forever. Heh, heh, get it? I didn't think so.
Yours truly,
Mazie Mixit.

Jam Session of The Jitterbug

Three more days to go in this semester and our many cares will roll off our shoulders—only to be replaced by similar ones...and those poor unfortunates who are now senior A's will no longer be classed as seniors, but will be just "has-beens"...but not forgotten "has-beens."

It seems that even with the start of a new year we can't get rid of those everlasting triangles. The best triangle that we know is not a triangle but a quadrangle...Irma O'Brien seems to be the center of attractions this week. Robert Hawkins is dating her every chance that he can get, under many murderous glances from Norbert Holloway, while Carl Goebel just sits and glares at Hawkins in home room... The outcome of this very interesting situation should prove well worth observing...The Old Green Monster finally has enveloped that invincible Paul Wolford. Poor Paul lost his best girl, Lois Campbell, to a young kid by the name of Dick Dosch... Flash! A very important discovery has just been made. That secret one-and-only man in Alice Jean Light's life is just about to be made public. It is none other than that matinee idol, Carl Gable, only here in school he spells it Goebel...Too bad, Alice, that Carl is so occupied with breaking one of the Ten Commandments.

Music Is Basis Of Jitterbug Craze Says The Dignified Parent

On a recent radio program a statement concerning the modern dances was made by a middle-aged man. He said that the modern dances were ridiculous. Ridiculous? Why? Ridiculous because of the way the young high school boys and girls do them. The man went so far as to forbid his young children to shag and truck.

If we were to question this man, we might ask if he did the two-step which was introduced when the waltz was still popular. When the young people of yesterday started doing the two-step, our grandparents thought that such a dance as that was a disgrace to the people of that time. In comparison with the criticism aroused by the two-step, is that aroused by the modern jitterbugs any worse?

It has been said that many a grandmother fainted when she saw her son or daughter doing the undignified two-step. "The idea of the young people hopping around to the tune of a song with a tantalizing melody!"

Did you ever turn on a good dance band playing one of your favorite numbers and try to keep still? There is a certain something about this thing called swing that makes one want to stamp his feet or move his body.

Some statements have been made to the effect that the modern dancing, as it is done by the typical jitterbug, is injurious to the health of the modern youth. Some schools are not permitting any of these difficult dances to be done at the school dances.

To stop these modern crazy dances, we will first have to stop the composing of songs which simply make one want to dance. If swing is here to stay; so are the jitterbugs. If it's "so long" to swing, it's "so long" to these dance steps.

Many people claim that if the dancers of today could only sit in the audience and see how ridiculous they really look, the number of dancers would really thin out.

The furtherance of swing and of these dances is up to the modern youth of today. Perhaps these modern dances do receive a lot of criticism, but they are not any worse than the two-step, which was done when only the waltz was thought to be the only dance valid by dignified boys and girls.

Students Are Given A Chance To Rate Teachers

The Schnieder-Cleland plan? I can immediately see that all you folksies are aroused with an overwhelming degree of curiosity at the very mention of this plan. However, you will be interested in the contents of it and the decided change it makes over the former plan. If it ever goes down in history, it will probably be put under the heading reformation.

The plan which is in operation at Purdue University and is being considered at the University of California is a means whereby students rate the instructors instead of the instructors rating the students. Each student is given a card on which he rates each instructor on the following five points: attitude toward the students; tolerance; presentation of subject matter; power to stir intellectual curiosity; and general comment...the idea is to eliminate apathetic teachers...indifferent in other words. However, since this is no pro and con column, criticisms or compliments are not in order, and if you especially, like the idea, I am sure you will be obliged to wait until you enroll in Purdue to be given the privilege of rating your instructors...Don't you think so?

Said the young daughter to her mother, "It isn't fair. At night, you tell me I'm too little to stay up, and, in the morning, you say that I'm too big to stay in bed."

Contributor: You sit on every joke I offer you. Editor: Yes, but I wouldn't if there were any point to them.

Operator, give me eleven times 31, minus 6, divided by 5, and add to it twice the original number, and make it snappy.

Dumb Dora thinks that glow worms were made especially for birds that get hungry at night.

The secret of good health is onion eating, but how can onion eating be kept a secret?

Some girls will go out with any worm when they're fishing for a husband.

"Wings fail me," said the boy as he flunked his spelling test.

Hold that joke about the tomato while I catch up.

Archers To Face Hartford City Friday, Franklin Saturday

Second Battle Will Be Fought On Own Floor

Archers Favored As Victors Over Airdale Squad; To Play On Opponent's Floor.

Kellies To Defend Unbeaten Schedule

Lineup - Is Bolyard, Glass, Hall, Hire, Beery; Hamilton, Hines Make Good.

This week-end the vaunted South Side Archers will cover two more laps of their route to the possible 1939 state championship. Hartford City will be the first opponent of the Archers as the Green will travel to Hartford City to meet the Airdales Friday night. The second week-end attraction will find the Archers on their home floor taking up the cause against a potent Franklin outfit.

South Side will enter the Hartford City game as overwhelming favorites to continue their regular schedule undefeated. The Airdales, although they have been an in-and-out ball club all season, can give the Archers plenty of trouble if they should hit a hot streak. The game will be an important one for the Archers as it will be counted in the N.E.I.C. ratings. At present South Side is leading the N.E.I.C. race with four victories against no defeats.

On Saturday night the Archers will take on a tough Franklin outfit in the southern gym. While the Archers should have a pretty easy time of it at Hartford City, they will have to be on their guard to turn back this tough Blue and White aggregation. Franklin possesses one of the best season records of any team of the state, having won ten games while losing only one.

The game will take on added interest as Franklin is the alma mater of Burl Friddle, South Side's coach. It was with the Franklin Wonder Five of 1920, 1921, and 1922 that Friddle came into basketball prominence. The game is without a doubt one of the best on the Archer schedule this year and should attract a near capacity crowd.

Boys' Handball Is Well Under Way

Winners Named From Heavyweight Group; Victors Picked From Light, Middleweights.

Intramural handball is still going strong, even though it is coming to an end. There have been many matches played in the last few weeks.

Flash! Flash! But not from Walter Winchell. Have you heard the latest? Miss Smith has finally decided to change her career from teaching gym to selling used cars. Good luck, Miss Smith, and we all hope that you come out well in your new job.

This week the bouquets go to one of our prominent G. A. A. members. This girl is Margery Price. She was recently elected president of So-Si-Y; she will succeed another one of the very best G. A. A. members, Velma Connett. Congratulations to both girls; we are pulling for both of you.

If you see any money flying around, please return it to Peggy Whitmer. Friday night she went around trying to find someone who would take a nickel out of her quarter. But after all, she was paying her fourth month's I. O. U.'s for a nickel tie.

G. A. A. swimming meet will be held January 14. Some outstanding swimmers who will take part are Margery Price, Audrey Hall, Tompsie Hall, and Marcia Allen.

It has finally come the time when we must all get together to decide just what the initials on the back of Hazel Perry's scarf stand for. The last we heard was that they might be either a boy's or a girl's. Come on, Hazel, let out the secret, it's all among friends.

If any student here in South Side finds some green gym suits walking around the famous halls, please report them to the girls' gym office. It seems if Beth Ellen Chadwick and Betty Oberson can't find the lost and found box so they can't find their gym suits. Won't everyone take it unto themselves to help these gym-suitless girls.

One of the greatest side shows in the history of South Side was displayed Friday night in the gym office by Velma Connett and Frieda Schubert. Their new dance step they have called the late ballet in jitterbug style.

If anyone wants to know why Velma Connett was late to the basketball game last Friday night, just ask someone who was in the gym office last week. She explained just how she cleans her letter with a toothbrush. She had to clean her letter before the game.

Eileen Hoffman, who lets her friends call her "Hefty", has gone in for less strenuous sports, namely, being an "old maid." Here's a tip for you, "Hefty"! Maybe Bob H. could help make it more interesting.

Wilma Carrier is like the little boy who yelled "Wolf" because she came into the gym office and told everyone that the game has started. When they got out there, she told them she was only fooling. When the game really did start, no one would believe her. We'll excuse you, Wilma.

G.A.A. Teams Start Season In Basketball

Girl Athletes See Action On Friday Evening As First In Series Of Games Begin.

In the first game of G. A. A. upperclass basketball season, Friday evening, a more experienced junior team led by Marian Feichter defeated Maxine Sterling's sophomore team 17-12. At the end of the half, the score was tied at eight apiece. Audrey Hall then came into the game for the juniors and boosted the score to 13, thus becoming high point scorer for the winning team. Hart and Hirschy hit for the losers in the second half adding four points to their score.

The game on the south court at the same time was won by Betty Thiele's sophomore team by a large margin. The losing team did not get a chance to score in the first half and scored only eight points in the second half. The scoring honors were evenly divided between Coudret and Squires. Barbara Brower gained the position of high scorer by contributing eight points to her team's 16 points.

Perry's Team Wins. The later games proved to be cinches for both Hazel Perry's seniors and Frances Nash's sophomores. Perry, besides being captain of one of the best teams in the tournament, was also high scorer for the evening with eight points to her credit. Playing good basketball the first half of the game, the junior team held the seniors to a score of 6-4. Then the seniors gained their stride and hit seven times and as the whistle blew at the end of the game, they were ahead 20-8.

On the south court, two soph teams tangled with Nash leading her team to victory and also held the other team to no scoring. The final score was 10-0.

Hazel Perry is the captain of the Senior team; and the members of her team are Bender, Bloemker, Brackman, Braun, Carrier, Chadwick, Connett, Kack, Lyman, Price, Roberts, Scheele, Schelper, Schubert, Wittmer and Shwalter.

Teams Given Junior 1 is captained by Feichter. The members of her team include Allen, Derck, Dickmeyer, Hall, Herrmann, Hoffman, Hudson, Jarvis, Marquardt, Mutschelner, Schweizer, and Schelper. On Junior 2 team are Berry, Beyrau, Dochla, Gogelein, Hoover, Menefee, Neith, Rarick, Scheiman, Ulrich, Werling, Wittner and Zaege. The captain of this team is Morrison.

The girls composing Sophomore 1 are Baumgartner, Bender, Dunten, Krauskopf, Merkel, Murchland, Nichols, Pressler, Schubert, Stein and Smith, who is the captain of the team. Sophomore 2 team, captained by Smith, is composed of Coudret, Deel, Gross, Kensler, Lyman, Martin, Shimer, Squires, Medsker, Harrod and Wolf. Thiele is the captain of the Sophomore 3 team; and the members of her team are Brower, Campbell, Fry, Meyer, Michelfelder, Mischo, Sappington, Schoenherr, Weston, Wiebke and Voltz.

Ferguson, the captain of Sophomore 4, has Demetre, Ellenwood, Fuhrman, Hanke, Jackson, Lahrmann, Lebamoff, Mann, Porter, Sheets and Stough on her team. The fifth Sophomore team is captained by Sterling. Members on this team are Brower, Calkins, F. Gumpfer, L. Gumpfer, Hart, Holzworth, E. Hirschy, C. Hirschy, Van Curen and Wylie.

Intramurally Speaking

With Christmas over and the New Year beginning, let's all resolve to enter into the intramural sports offered at South Side. Intramural sports are one of the finest extra-curricular activities as good health is the essential asset in everyone's life, and sports can easily prepare one's resistance against disease and sickness. Intramural sports also gives one excellent facilities to indulge in his favorite sport, for our gym is one of the best in the city, and our intramural sports equipment is of the best quality. So, beginning this year, let's see plenty of interest in our intramural activities.

Intramural handball is drawing to a close. In the three weight divisions, only the lightweight division have had their final playoffs. The other two divisions will, no doubt, have had their playoffs by the time this column gets in the paper. In the heavyweight division the play-off will be between Art Chevalier and Maurie Lehman. In the middleweight division the winner will be decided when Ferguson and Hofstetter have their deciding bout. In the lightweight division the winner is Dallas Zuber, who won the two-out-of-three-games decision with a score of 15-13, 12-15, 15-8.

Not much has been going on in the intramural basketball league this week. However, one little point interested me much which is connected with our intramural basketball teams, and so I think I'll pass the humor on to you. You all have, no doubt, noticed the exclusive titles which our teams are inscribed with. Well, no one complains when the teams submit such names as the Skunks, S. O. M. A. C., Sissies, etc., but when someone went so far as to call their team the Ex-Laxers, there was a little controversy in the boys' gym office. After extensive debating, the members finally agreed to be called just the plain Laxers.

Mural Markers

There was no change in the scoring standing this week. Tom Brower and Dallas Zuber continue to lead the intramurals. Brower has scored 37 points; Zuber has scored 33. O'Brien, Gettys, Schwartz and Butler are bunched together behind the leaders.

Player and Team	Points

Archers Drub Redskin Five, Froebel Squad

North Side Taken By Score Of 34-21, Gary Men By 32-31 Last Week-End.

South Side's Archer netmen chalked up their seventh and eighth victories of their current season last week-end at the expense of the North Side Redskins, whom they drubbed 34-21, and Froebel of Gary, over whom they eked out a 32-31 victory.

Last Friday night the Archers proved that any hope of state recognition for a Fort Wayne team this season will vary with the success of the powerful South Side Archers, when they handed the previously undefeated North Side Redskins a major setback to the tune of 34-21. Led by diminutive Ralph Hamilton and Don Beery the Archers turned, what was supposed to be a tight ball game, into a near rout before the final gun. The victory was particularly impressive due to the fact that the Archers played the entire game without the services of their all-state center, Jim Glass, Bob Hines, who was in at center the entire 32 minutes of play, gave an excellent account of himself, holding the highly touted Redskin pivot man, Dick Russell, to a lone foul shot.

Hamilton was high scorer for the Green with nine points but was closely followed by Beery with eight. The Redskin scoring was well distributed with Huth and Cowan accounting for six apiece.

On Saturday night the Archers ran into a hot Froebel of Gary five and were only saved from defeat by Carl Hall's fielder in the last 50 seconds of play. This was the first game of the season in which the Archer's trailed all the way and were forced to put on a last quarter rally to salvage victory.

The Blue Devils set the pace throughout the entire game, leading 14-7 at the end of the first quarter, 23-16 at half time, and 28-24 as the final period began.

Carl Hall led the Archer attack with 10 points closely followed by Hamilton with 8. Brown led the Blue Devils with twelve markers.

Newest Court Star Is Found In Archer He-Man, Don Hire

One of South Side's newer court stars is Don Hire, until recently little known on the reserve squad. By his steady playing and his calmness in ticklish situations, Don won a place on the varsity squad after spending his freshman and sophomore years on the reserve team.

Don began playing basketball when he was in grade school at Harrison Hill, the school from which many of our stars come. He was at Harrison Hill only two years, having spent the first years of his school life at South Wayne. His coaches at grade school were Pop Tudor, former member of the faculty of this school, and George Nulf, brother of North Side's mentor.

When Don came to this school, he went out for his favorite sport, basketball. He also likes to swim, play tennis, and compete in most sports. In the summer he enjoys tennis more than other sports.

Now Don is a regular and expects to play varsity basketball the rest of his high school career. Most people say that Don is the most improved player on the Archer net squad. He has filled one of the important positions on the team, that of being a reliable guard. But Don is not content with being a swell guard, he also has great possibilities of becoming a high score man and has several times led the team in scoring.

After graduating from South Side, Don has no plans although he does want to go to college. At present he has no choice of colleges, mainly because he has not decided definitely what his life work is to be. Don said that he had ideas about becoming a coach, but he has not made up his mind. So, we leave you with a basketball player supreme, and—oh, yes, about girls, Don said, "They don't bother me much."

Archer Paper Hopes To Get Honorary Cup

South Side Times May Again Get Possession Of Circulation Honor Award

Because of the good record of The Times circulation staff in the collection of the money owed on subscriptions it seems that The Times will have possession of the circulation cup once more.

This cup is awarded to either The Northern or The Times for the highest percentage of subscriptions. At present both schools are tied with approximately sixty-two percent. However, The Times is leading by a fraction of a percent.

Small Amount Due

Only $3.70 is still owed by subscribers of The Times, while The Northern still has about $40 to be paid, and this might mean a difference of sixty or seventy subscriptions in the final tabulation of the percentage if some are collected.

However, it is possible that the awarding of the cup will be held off until the actual end of the semester when everything owed on both papers will be counted for the final tabulation. With the lead The Times has, although it may be very small, it is doubtful if The Northern can win the cup.

One Paid in Full

One book, number 2, conducted by Marjorie McNabb, has all of its money in. Each of the other books owe from $0.20 to $1.00. Eight rooms are not paid up in full, but most of these will have to be paid in a short time.

Parties Are Held In Speech Classes

Public Speakers Stage Christmas Events; List Of Toastmasters, Committees Given.

Four public speaking classes of Mrs. Dorothy Benner Rieck held Christmas parties during their respective classes December 22 and 23.

John Chedister was toastmaster of the first period public speaking class in the absence of Max Mitchell, who was prevented from attending the party by sickness. John's program was presented by June Enoch, who read an interesting editorial; Jean Gumpfer, who told the secrets of many of the class by unveiling their New Year's resolutions; Mr. Holloway, who explained the ups-and-downs of skiing in the yuletide spirit, and Cal Stocks, who presented the class with a prophecy. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served and a white elephant exchange was held.

Members of the class then made impromptu speeches of presentation, members of the class Artie Roach, were: Chairman, John Chedister; June Enoch, Bill Hall, Cal Stocks, and Jean Gumpfer.

Joan Earle Is Toastmaster
The second period class held their party Thursday, December 22, and was the only class to do so. Toastmaster for this party was Joan Earle. The program was as follows: Betty Bolyard, Origination of Christmas; Mary Holthouse, An Original Christmas story, which was acted out by members of the class; Artie Roach, Azadia Barker, and Rhoda Crecraft, O Little Town of Bethlehem and Away in a Manger. As an encore they sang The First Noel; Margaret Null, True Christmas Spirit; Al Mueller, The Night Before Christmas. A white elephant exchange was held with impromptu speeches of presentation and refreshments were served.

Mrs. Reike Receives Gift
Ed Reeves was chairman of the third period party. His committee consisted of George Finkehouer, Audrey Hall, Jane Knoche, and Marian Owens. Toastmaster was Charles Will. The speakers on the program and their subjects were: Jane Bowen, Christmas Customs In Other Lands; Russell Long, Christmas in Other Countries; Charles Bollman, Santa Claus; Bob Byers, Christmas Spirit, and Eugene Schmidt, Origin of Christmas. Ed Reeves presented Mrs. Reike with a gift from the class, and also introduced the guests, George Kempf, John Hines, Audrey Hall, and Leslie Johnson. Jane Knoche completed the program with several xylophone selections.

Rapp Is Chairman
Margery Rapp was chairman of the fifth period and her committee was composed of Bob Hageman, Eugene Tigges, Bob Holloway, and Jean Catlett. Toastmaster for the party was Bill Riethmiller. Speakers on the program were: Lum McDowell, A Christmas Story; John Magley and Tom Moorehead, a humorous debate on the subject—Chimneys Should Be Standardized For St. Nick; Dick Shorter, original poem which told about every member of the class; Anna Lou Kowalski, How the Name of Santa Originated; Dorothy Gore, leader of Christmas carol singing. The theme of this party was St. Nick's Sleigh Ride. A white elephant Christmas exchange was also held.

To Issue Paper Monday
The next edition of The Times will be issued after vacation on Monday, January 23. Eleanor Vesey, retiring general manager, and Betty Daniels, new general manager, will work together on the issue. The rest of the staff will remain unchanged.

Plan "A Glimpse Of The World Of Tomorrow"

Mr. Paul Sidell

Eugene Schmidt

Miss Dorothy Magley

Mr. Paul Sidell and Miss Dorothy Magley, senior class advisers, and Eugene Schmidt, senior class president, are completing the plans for the senior banquet, which is to be held January 17. The theme follows the idea of the New York World's Fair.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

Mr. John Johnson, Mr. Sam Hess, and several members of the Board of Health and the Board of Public Works, gave talks to Mr. Wilson's sixth period class.

In Mr. Sterner's Latin 1, period 3 class, Jean Russ received 98 in a test covering six weeks' work.

Mrs. Reike's public speaking classes are interviewing some of Fort Wayne's most popular citizens. Then they gave a talk telling the class what this person said during the interview. Those who gave the best reports are as follows: Margaret Null on Newell Tarrant, director of the Old Fort Players; Dorothy Rohrbach on Helene Foellinger, publisher of The News-Sentinel; Richard Dyke on John Hackett, sports announcer; Bill Riethmiller on Franklin Tooke, program director of WOYO and its associate station WGL; Allan Mueller on Captain Taylor, chief of detectives; Margery Rapp on Herbert Willis, president of Lions Club; and James Murphy on Otto Marahrens, president of the Home Telephone Company.

Mr. Pierce's U. S. history 2 classes are following the new Congress very closely and may have a test over it when they are through.

Next week in Mr. Sidell's algebra 2 classes and geometry classes, the students who have made highest grades will be chosen to take the test for the annual Spring Recognition Day.

There is, on the bulletin board of Miss Emma Kiefer's room 58, a New York Times cartoon which depicts the New Year asleep in its crib, while three witches, Hitler, Mussolini, and Japan, stand ready to go into their "Policy of Violence" dance. Below the picture is a quotation from "Macbeth."

On a recent physics test given by Mr. Hull to his second ten class, the following made grades of 90 or above: period 3, Joyce McAlister and June McAlister; period 4, Dick Doermer, Sam Hite, Arthur Matott, and Ralph Thompson; period 6, Fritz Lohman, Jack Parker, and Richard Secrist.

Robert Formanek, a student in one of Miss Mary Crowe's history classes, brought in Literary Digest covers that tell the story of the life of George Washington. Charles Long, another student, brought in seven unusual portraits of some presidents and statesmen in American history.

Miss Perkins' French 4 students have handed in their maps showing the voyages of Remi as presented in "Sans Famille," the book they recently finished reading.

In Mr. Gould's period 1, 2, 4, and 6 botany classes the following students made the highest

Final Grade Period Closes January 18

Final grades will be issued on Wednesday, January 18, during short periods. Students will then have a two and one-half day vacation until Monday, January 23, the start of the spring semester. All regular class work for this semester must be in by Friday, January 13.

grades concerning the stems of plants: Ruth Ellison, Jim Holzworth, Roberta Maggart, Mildred Franz, Verlene Wiedelman, Vivian Bushroe, and Virgil Guebard.

Miss Smith's period 2 dancing class is learning a dance to the song "Angels With Dirty Faces" from the recent musical comedy.

All the boys in Mr. Chappell's mechanical drawing 6 class are going to spend the rest of the semester inking the mechanical drawings which they have made.

Maxine Crago, sophomore, went to Florida during the Christmas vacation.

Virginia Shidler had charge of the Christmas program in home room 32. Lillian Sherbondy, Mildred Beery, and Max Spencer put on a puppet show which everyone enjoyed. Margaret Null led the home room in singing Christmas carols.

In Miss Pocock's English 8 class, Bob Fenimore made A on an 800-word theme the title of which was "The School Print Shop."

On a recent grammar test in Miss Perkins' fifth period French 1 class, Dorothy Foellinger, June McAlister, Rosa Lee Hall, Vivian Semler, Clara Makey, and Joyce McAlister made grades above 90.

Purdue tests will be given to all of the pupils in Miss Fiedler's algebra 1 and geometry 1 classes today.

Ned Kelsey, a graduating senior, has left school to take charge of Kniffin's Food Shop while the owner is in Florida.

In Miss Perkins' second period French 1 class, the following students made grades above 90 on a recent grammar test: Suzanne Sweet, Virginia Fleming, Ella Jo Reed, and Ellen McKay.

The students in Mr. Bex's wood-working classes have been working after school lately. They hope to finish their projects by the end of the term. Some of the projects are lamps and nut bowls.

In Miss Smith's period 7 dancing class, Marjorie Hoover is teaching the "Yan" to the class.

Honor Service To Be Feature Of Girls' Meet

G. A. A. Organization Will Stage Recognition Event For Worthy Members.

Friday, January 13, will mark another annual recognition day for the Girls' Athletic Association. The room committee for this service is composed of Betty Hargan, Bernadine Pressler, and Lucile Schumann. The guest speaker is to be Betty Eisenacher.

Hazel Perry, the president, will point out the various sports on the regular G. A. A. schedule; and as she explains each activity, a member of the G. A. A. will enter to represent each sport. The sports and their representatives are as follows: Speedball, Marjorie Schelper; tennis, Nadine Mueller; hockey, Beth Ellen Chadwick; volleyball, Evelyn Kruse; basketball, Dorothy Bloemker; baseball, Donna Dennis; swimming, Gwen Roberts; tumbling, Frieda Schubert; hiking, Marjorie Stratton; skating, Mary Jane Rison, and track, Pauline Oetting.

Numerals and letters will be awarded by Miss Gretchen Smith. Freshmen to receive their numerals are Betty Baker, Betty Bligh, Delores Bodenborn, Patricia Ehle, Myrtle Ernst, Peggy Greeciney, Thompson Hall, Betty Hargan, Lenora Moyer, Kathleen Neith, Rose Stemen, and Carol Whittier. The sophomores are Audrey Cooper, Margaret Geroff, and Marjorie Van Cavan. Dorothy Amstutz, Lucille Scheiman, Pauline Werling, and Eleanor Wittwer are the juniors, and Mildred Franz is the only senior to receive her letter at this time.

Miss Martha Pittenger will address the group, after which the singing of the school song will conclude the program.

Have Articles Published

Gwendolyn DeWees, a senior, and Dorothea Gardner, a junior, wrote articles which were published in "Youth's Passing Show" page of the News-Sentinel last Saturday. Gwendolyn wrote about the Roman feast held by the Latin Club. Beside the article was a picture of a scene from the play "In Caesar's Garden", given by the Latin Club. Dorothea told of her attempts at trying to learn to dive.

9A's Extend Friendly Greeting, Best Wishes To New Freshmen For Ensuing Spring Semester

Dear 9B's: We've been here only one term now, and already we've begun to feel the influence which South Side has had upon us. We have been joining many clubs, have begun to be active in speech work, and some of us have even been elected club officers during our short stay here.

Welcomes Everyone

Miss Martha M. Pittenger

Greetings to South Side. Your dean wishes for you a happy and profitable semester.

MARTHA M. PITTENGER.

New Wrangler Speech Head Is Ed Reeves

Murphy Runs Close Second; Kowalski, Warren, Banks, Siebold, Bacon To Serve

Ed Reeves, senior A, was elected to the presidency of Wranglers Club in a specially cast second ballot Tuesday, January 17. After the tellers had tabulated the votes at the regular Wranglers meeting on Monday, a tie was reported between James Murphy and Ed Reeves, making the casting of a second ballot necessary.

Officers who were elected at Monday's meeting are program chairman or vice-president, Anna Lou Kowalski; secretary, Jeanette Warren; parliamentarian, Helen Banks; and sergeants-at-arms, Bill Siebold and Sam Bacon. Dick Bucholz was also elected treasurer. The new officers will take over their duties at the next meeting. Old officers will continue with the plans for the dance to be held February 3 after the North Side-South Side game.

The entire meeting was devoted to business. Ed Kettler, assistant treasurer, reported on the financial standing of the club. Campaign speeches were given for the presidential nominees by Anna Lou Kowalski, Eleanor Vesey, and June McAllister.

When we first came into this huge place, some of us were afraid that we might not like South Side; but now we feel that we wouldn't have missed coming here for the best treasures in the world.

Write For Teacher Some of us have expressed our sentiments very appropriately in writing at the end of last semester when Miss Lucy Osborn, one of our favorite English teachers, asked us to tell in a theme what South Side had done for us in the course of one brief semester.

Here are some of our sentiments: Dick Brandt: The Definition of High School: According to the dictionary, a school is a place for instruction. Well, I firmly agree with the dictionary, but I don't think the dictionary can possibly translate the meaning of the word school to suit us freshmen. Ye Freshman Translation: Our school is a place of learning; as not only the freshmen know, our school is a place also where friendship has a chance to grow. Our school is a place where teachers—Who are always very wise—Take us freshmen over.

And give us sound advice. Our school is a place of adventure. With all its interesting clubs. We work, we play and we study all day.

The life that the freshman loves! Gladys Reeves: When I first entered South Side I was frightened, but now I know I was frightened over nothing. I imagined high school would be difficult; by that I mean high school subjects. I imagined we would have one test right after another, but I know my "imaginings" have just been all wrong. I have met and made many friends in both the classes and clubs. All in all, my impression of South Side is that it is one grand school.

Supports G. A. A.

Mary Brinker: South Side, in my estimation, is a wonderful school to attend. One of the reasons why I like South Side is that there are numerous clubs which one may join. One of the clubs is the Girls' Athletic Association. In this club various sports and activities are participated in. There is basketball, volleyball and many other games which are too numerous to mention. The teachers at South Side are very nice, and are always ready to help wherever they can. I like South Side very much, and I think that everyone else likes it, too.

Mary Ellen Barrett: When I first entered South Side last September, I felt like a needle in a haystack. The building seemed exceedingly large and there seemed to be an innumerable amount of students. I thought I knew quite a few of the girls and boys going here, but I found that out of the throng I knew only a handful. By now I feel like a part of the haystack. By joining clubs, I made many new acquaintances. In the clubs I also have met more teachers and this all helps keep South Side a friendly and happy school. So, to all the new needles, alias freshmen, coming in, I hope they all have as grand a time at South Side as I have had and hope to have.

Another Loyal Booster Catharine Somers: Since one semester has almost seen its last days,

Redskins Lose Times' Trophy To South Side

Circulation Cup Is Given Up By North Side In Semi-Annual Race With Archer

Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser of The Times and Totem, announced last Wednesday that South Side's high school publication had won the circulation cup awarded every year in the annual subscription race between the North Side Northern and the South Side Times.

At the final counting, The Times had a percentage of 57 plus and The Northern, North Side's weekly paper, 54 minus. At the close of the subscription campaign of the two schools a counting showed that the two papers were tied at 56 per cent. The collection of all the money for Times subscriptions was the deciding factor in the winning of the cup by The Times, because The Northern still has nearly ten dollars in unpaid subscriptions.

Students Leave School This makes it impossible for North Side to reach The Times percentage. A large number of former students of North Side have left school without paying for their paper, and because of this The Northern lost several per cent.

This cup will rest in the trophy case of South Side since the entire school's co-operation was necessary in winning the cup. The complete co-operation of the student body and faculty resulted in the awarding of the cup to The Times. The cup was paid for by joint funds provided by The Times and The Northern. Each paper contributed half of the price of the cup and each school has an equal chance of winning it.

Manager Makes Statement Virginia Goerlein, circulation manager, said about the winning of the cup, "I'm very glad we won it, and I want to thank all of the subscribers for helping us win it."

We also won the cup last fall, in 1937. The Times' staff also expects to win the cup this semester. The race is always close with neither paper holding a commanding lead, but the circulation staff of The Times feels that they can gain enough subscriptions to win the cup again.

Nineteen Changes Are In Schedule

Reconstruction Causes Changes In Rooms' Schedule; Complete List Of The Rooms Is Given

Nineteen changes in the home room schedule have been announced. Because of reconstruction during the first of the term, a number of classes were changed to new rooms as soon as the rooms were completed.

Mr. Louis Briner's home room was changed from the gym to the improvised club room, 26; Mr. George Collyer was moved from 172 to room 8; Mr. Maurice Cook's home room was shifted from room 59 to 24; Miss Covalt's junior class moved themselves from 24 to 184; and Miss Adelaide Fiedler was moved from room 12 to 188.

Make Additional Shifts Mr. Russell Furst's commercial classes were changed completely from 22 to 178; Miss Lucy Mellen's home economics classes were changed early this fall from room 85 to the school's cafeteria.

Miss Hazel Miller's social science classes as well as her home room were slightly shifted from room 8 to 12, while Mr. James Mills' home room was changed from 28 to 182. Mr. Bill Moss, South Side's new football coach, and his home room were sent from room 75 to 114; Mr. Delvan Parks' classes were shifted from 26 to 172, one of the new set of rooms on the second story. Joe Plaster had his room 30 changed to 26; Miss Mary Pocock's classes were shifted from the school's library to room 30.

Mr. Stanley Post has had his classes changed from room 25 to 186. Mrs. Dorothy Riecke's classes have been changed from 178 to the new public speaking room, 190; while Miss Eleanor Smeltz's classes have been changed from room 6 to 10.

Lead Church Activities

Sunday evening, January 15, Carol Whittier, freshman, led the singing and devotions of The Epworth League of the Wayne Street M. E. Church. "The Church Needs Youth," the discussion topic, was led by Reba Coppeck, sophomore.

Activity Of Boosters Seen As Outstanding Since Year Of 1926

Since 1926, the Booster Club has sold refreshments at the football games, basketball games, and other activities. This year, same as all the other years, the Booster Club is selling refreshments for the home basketball games. The faculty members are Miss Rowena Harvey, Miss Nellie Covalt, and Miss Mary Pocock. The profits made are given for the benefit of the school.

Members that sell ice cream are Clarence Freeman, Carl Goodwin, Robert Kite, and Dorothea Rarick. The ice cream stand is located in the room across from the girls' gym office. The coca cola stand is in the same room. Those who sell coca cola are Bob Martin, Miriam Rarick, Kirk Brown, and Max Stobaugh. The candy is sold by Delores Menefee and Eileen Goddard. This stand is in the hall outside the south entrance. The popcorn is sold by Maxine Sterling and Mary Griffith. This is located inside the door of the girls' gym office. The sellers that go among the people present are Betty Clem, Barbara Hughes, Martha Silvers, Kathryn Browning, Paul Johnson, Cloyd Davis, and Helen Peck.

Roman Group To Hold Skate On January 27

Theme Of Event To Be "Skate Of The Gods"; Club Divided Into Teams.

Plans were made for the "Skate of the Gods" to be held January 27 at Bell's Bank at the last meeting of the Latin Club held Thursday, January 12, in room 26. The club was divided into three teams bearing the names Venus, Minerva, and Juno and captained by the members of the skate committee. This committee is composed of Velda Oppenlander, chairman, Jane Nathan, Charles Beall, Dorothy Gore, Ivan Truman, Jane Bowen, and Roger McVay. These team heads gave each member five tickets to sell and a small identification card showing the goddess representing their team. Final plans were to be made later.

"Slaves and Clients" was the subject of the program, which was arranged by Betty Elberson and her committee, Evelyn Erickson, Jane Nathan, Joyce Cleaver, Eileen Eidner, Gloria Spanley, Helen Nidne, and Faye Gumpner. "The Practice of Employing Slaves in Rome" and "Clients in Ancient Rome" were discussed by Betty Elberson and Eileen Eidner, respectively. A skit, representing a Roman slave market, written by Betty Elberson and Evelyn Erickson, was presented. A poem was written for the meeting by Joyce Cleaver.

The committee for the February 9 meeting consists of Bruce Bradbury, chairman, Ione Jean Tracht, Jim Barrett, Betty Daniels, Kathleen Ramer, Velda Oppenlander, Dorothy Gore, and Jane Holmeyer. This committee is to meet January 26 in room 36.

Andy Bremer Is New Hi-Y Prexy

Aubrey Kellogg, John Magley, Clayton Jensen, Bill Riethmiller Are Others Named

Andy Bremer was elected president of the Hi-Y at a special election held Tuesday afternoon. Other officers who were elected are Aubrey Kellogg, secretary; John Magley, treasurer; Clayton Jensen, Inter-Club Congress representative; and Bill Riethmiller, sergeant-at-arms.

The retiring officers are Dick Buchholz, president; Maurice Lehman, vice-president; Roger Neff, secretary; Jack Bostick, treasurer; Morton Nahrwald, Inter-Club Congress representative; and Herbert Dormer, sergeant-at-arms.

A banquet was held at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday night honoring the newly elected officers. Chairman of the committee was Bill Riethmiller. Assisting him were Max Mitchell, and Murry Squires.

All junior and senior boys are cordially invited to attend the next meeting which will be held next Thursday night at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 o'clock. Junior boys are especially invited.

Pat Lyman To Be Wo-Ho-Ma Head

Mary Demetre, Eileen Hormann, Eileen Kiessling Are Other Officers For Next Semester

Patty Lyman will be the new head of the Wo-Ho-Ma Club. She succeeds Lois Gumpner. Other officers elected are Eileen Kiessling, vice-president; Mary Demetre, secretary-treasurer; Eileen Hormann, Inter-Club Congress representative.

Games were played, conducted by Eileen Hormann, after the business meeting. A potluck preceded the games in room 75. Sixty members were present. The committee in charge is Eileen Hormann, chairman; Eileen Kiessling and Marjorie Gering, assistant chairmen; Clara Long, Helene Lisius, Louise Buesking, Laura Nahrwald, Joan Blum, Helen Dicke, and Lorene Dicke.

Large Picture Order

One hundred eleven orders for underclassmen pictures were turned in at The Totem office last Wednesday.

500 Subscriptions Is Goal In Times' Campaign Today

Has High Hopes

Mr. R. Nelson Snider

Two thousand young men and women working together can accomplish many valuable things; a small group pulling back can destroy much of our effectiveness. I hope that our new semester will find all South Siders directing their efforts toward the welfare of all, that every new and old member of our community will be willing to sacrifice a little personal pleasure and ease for the benefit of the group. If each will do his best, will try earnestly to adjust, and will practice consideration for others, we shall have the semester which all would like.

R. NELSON SNIDER.

To Sell Books In Same Way As Last Year

Mr. Louis Hull Will Be In Charge Of New Book Sale; Office To Handle Old Ones.

Mr. Louis Hull will have charge of the sale of new books, and the second hand ones will be handled through the office. The method of handling the sale of books this semester will be the same as that used last semester. All pupils should familiarize themselves with the details of the scheme.

The sale of new books in the class rooms will be on the first day only, unless some teachers wish to retain their books longer. On the second and third days of the semester, pupils may buy books at the book store during the eighth period only. After the first week, all purchases of books must be made in home rooms or in classes.

During the second week of school, the orders for new books may be sent to Mr. Hull any evening. After the second week, orders will be taken on Wednesday evening only. Used books will be sold in rooms according to the list given to the teachers. Teachers may send their unsold used books to the window in the front hall this evening.

Following is the list of places new and used books may be bought:

New Books German, 144, Schmidt; Occupations, 64, Van Gorder; Economics, Civics, Sociology, 110, Murphy and M. Crowe; General and U. S. History, 10, Collyer and Miller; French, 90, Perkins; Latin, 56, Oppelt and Sterner; Algebra 1, 3, 4, 80, Fiedler and Hodgson; Geometry 1, 3, 80, Fiedler and Hodgson; General Math, 54, Sidel and Fortney; Botany, 76, Gould and Yoder; Chemistry, 76, Gould and Yoder; Commercial Geography, 76, Gould and Yoder; Physical Geography, 14, Whelan and Friddle; Physics, 14, Whelan and Friddle; Health, 32, E. Crowe and Smeltz; Commercial, 176, Parks and Murch; Books for English 1, 2, 38, Kiefer and Null; Books for English 3, 4, 72, Makey and McCloskey; Books for English 5, 6, 7, 8, 68, Demaree and Rinehart; Cooking, 79, Mellen.

Used Books Algebra and Geometry, 52, Thorne and Welborn; General Math, 54, Sidel and Fortney; Latin, 36, Carson; German, 144, Schmidt; French, 90, Perkins; Health, 32, E. Crowe and Smeltz; Botany, 76, Gould and Yoder; Chemistry, 76, Gould and Yoder; Commercial Geography, 76, Gould and Yoder; Physical Geography, 14, Whelan and Friddle; Physics, 14, Whelan and Friddle; Commercial, 184, Furst and Covalt; English 1 and 2, 30, Pocock and Welty; English 3 and 4, 60, Peck and DeLancey; English 5, 6, 7 and 8, 140, Magley and Cook; Social Studies, 70, McClure and Wilson.

Max Magner Chosen To Head Library Club

At the last meeting of the Library Club, January 10, Max Magner was elected to the presidency; Dick Riethmiller, vice-president; Dick Garton, secretary; Bill Newhard, sergeant-at-arms; Evelyn Kruse, Inter-Club Congress representative, and Kathleen Ramer, point recorder. These officers will take office at the next meeting, which will be held February 21.

Miss Martha Pittenger was guest speaker at this last meeting of the semester, speaking on the subject, "Books". Books happen to be her hobby. She stated that she loves books next to people and that she loves to do research work. Refreshments, consisting of cookies and dixie cups were served.

To Give Pupils First Three Issues Free As Initial Step In Drive Is Taken

Ferdinand Poster Is Placed In Hall

Person Finding Correctly Marked Ticket Will Win Free Times Subscription

Times' Subscribers Break All Records!

For the first time in the history of The Times, all of the money owed by subscribers has been paid up entirely in one semester's time. Every year during the preceding circulation campaigns at least a few people refused to pay their money for some reason or other by the end of the term. At The Times' staff meeting held in room 16 last Wednesday, Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser, gave the credit for this outstanding achievement to Virginia Goerlein, the circulation manager of The Times. Miss Harvey termed Virginia Goerlein one of the best circulation managers the paper has ever had.

A first day goal of 500 subscriptions has been set by the circulation staff of The South Side Times as the beginning of this semester's circulation campaign. This first goal, to last only the first day, is expected to be reached if all the Times agents will cooperate with the student body. The first day goal has never yet been reached; but Virginia Goerlein, the fifteen-year-old circulation manager of the publication, said, "We're going to make it this year."

To help reach this goal the circulation staff has asked all staff members to subscribe for the paper the first day. All agents are expected to enroll in as many subscriptions as possible. Agents will circulate through the halls all day in an effort to reach the goal.

Hidden Ticket Contest

Tickets will be scattered all over the school the first day and one of these tickets will have a mark on it which will signify the fact that the student will receive one free subscription to The Times for this semester. Ferdinand the Bull in the front hall will characterize the eventual goal of this subscription drive, which has been set at 1,600 subscriptions. The Bull, representing 1,500 subscriptions, is being chased by a bee, which is to represent the number of subscriptions already taken in. It is the wish of the Times staff that Ferdinand might get bitten by the bee.

As usual the first three issues will be free. These papers are to show the student body the type of paper The Times is, and to stimulate subscription for it.

Badges will be given to all subscription agents so that students will know to whom to give the money. These badges will be given to agents Monday.

To Award Prizes

Two prizes will be given to agents who get the most number of subscriptions the first day. These prizes will consist of a dollar bill and a fifty cent piece. The agent with the largest number of first day subscriptions will get the dollar, and the second highest agent will receive the fifty cents.

At a Times staff meeting held last Wednesday, Virginia Goerlein announced that Sam Bacon and Kolman Gross were the two new circulation assistants replacing Lucy Smith and Rebecca Abbott, who will join the editorial staff. Other assistant circulation managers are Beverly Ann Griffith, Marjorie McNabb, Maurine Seibert, and Emilou Allendorph. These four assistants were members of the circulation staff last semester. Each of these assistants is in charge of a book with ten agents each.

Posters on the bulletin boards throughout the school are the products of Janice Dyer's artistic ability. Janice made all of the posters for this year.

Principal Gives Pep Talk

Last Friday a meeting for all room agents was held. Miss Rowena Harvey, Mr. R. Nelson Snider, Betty Daniels, and Virginia Goerlein spoke at this meeting.

This was the first room agents meeting; so a special meeting was held for all of the new freshmen agents who were unfamiliar with the workings of The Times. Sam Bacon, new assistant, spoke at this meeting. He told the new agents everything that they would need to know to start times work. This meeting was held at 10:30, a half hour later than the general room agents meeting.

Other room agents meetings will be held January 25 and 30, and February 6. These meetings will be held to keep an accurate check-up on the subscription activities of the paper and to stimulate the enthusiasm of the agents.

Select Times' Days

February 7, 8, and 9 have been selected as Times Days for the entire school. On these days home room agents are to have most of the home room periods in which to contact all of the people in the home room so that more subscriptions can be obtained. Home room teachers are to turn as much of the home room period as possible over to the Times.

Teacher At Home

Miss Elizabeth Kelly, English instructor, who has been ill for quite some time, is now at her home in Montpelier, Indiana. Her condition is improved, but she has made no definite plans to return here to school.

Pity The Poor Frosh! You Were As Green As You Think They Are

At the beginning of every semester the incoming freshmen are fairly bombarded with advice, both well-meant and sarcastic. It is small wonder that the poor frosh is bewildered, and by his slightly wacky actions earns the title, "greenie." Probably, if left to his own resources, he would act almost normal.

Looking back through the long vistas of time, we see ourselves trudging sturdily up to the imposing facade of the Alma Mater with our pencils clutched in our little hands and our hearts sounding like the drum corps in an American Legion parade. Then upon encountering our first brazen sophomore, we firmly resolved while struggling to keep back the tears that we would be little men and would not let these monsters in human form know our fears.

After a few days of aimless wandering in this labyrinth, we encountered a kindly-eyed senior who graciously offered to show us to the nearest exit. On our way out of the rifle range—yes, we had ended up there—he volunteered this information which we in turn pass on to you.

"When into the halls during class you would go, it would be most wise a pink slip to show."

If in the halls a sophomore you meet, beg for mercy and kneel at his feet.

In study hall, the making of noise, tends to destroy dear teacher's poise."

In case you are wondering, freshmen, all seniors speak in this lyric fashion.

Students Should Consider Efforts Of Times Staff

You are a subscriber of The Times; you read this publication every week; but, do you know who writes the stories, features, and editorials that you read? Why not look the staff over once? You will surely find many of your friend's names there.

These people publish the paper you read every week. Are these workers given enough credit for their hard work?

This work is all done for you. We serve you in every way possible. We work until the wee hours of the morning to get a paper out that will tell about you and your friends and thus to satisfy the egotistic desires of our public. Yet, you don't care. You take all our work for granted; you go to your clubs and have a good time; you have plenty of time to ponder over your lessons; go to bed early or go out and have a good time. We have long sacrificed these pleasures for you.

Every Thursday morning you receive your issue of The Times, and sometimes twice a week you get an issue. If you don't get it on time, some of you "squawk." The publication of such a paper is an automatic process to you. If it's not a large paper, some of you object. But, do you realize that every year since 1922, when the paper was first printed, we have received the highest honors in Indiana for our paper? In the United States, we have received first place.

We have done our part to bring honors to our school, why don't you help us continue to bring honors to the school? We need your co-operation to give you bigger and better issues during the coming year.

Current question: Have you seen a robin yet? If you haven't, maybe you had better start lookin' because it seems to be the latest thing, to have seen a robin.

Think of it. In about five more months we will be blissfully enjoying the summer vacation without a thought of school. Funny world, isn't it?

Prepare yourselves for plenty of basketball. Our team will play a lot of games the rest of this month and all of February.

Welcome Freshies. Maybe you don't like that term, but it will be applied to you for exactly one year.

Remember, new members of South Side's student body, nothing counts as much as a good beginning.

Semi-annual question: Well, freshly, did they throw your shoes on the gym floor? The answer:

Simile (semi-annual): As lofty as a 10B. If you don't think so, look around the hall.

Studes! Are you ready for the new semester, or are you going to flunk again?

Senior Synopsis

By R. U.
Graduating

As we beset our individual selves down to wield some senior sketches to all of you column-optics out there in the huge group of copy readers, we wonder if you can possibly realize the magnetic force with which all ardent upperclass relatives are drawn together and whether you can in any small measure feel the deepening regret of the futuristical graduates. And today as we write, we dream with reminiscing minds and full hearts.

AMONG OUR TIMELY MEMOIRS, we wonder if you remember when: We were several hundred freshmen embarking on our high-school adventures and playing to the fullest the part of a vivid, green freshman and wondering who hid the legendary elevator.

We had our Sophomoraical theme of Salmagundi at our second year party event.

We participated without prejudice in our junior eatin' fest.

We deliriously danced at our Prominent ball amid Nep-tune-tic melodies.

SARDONICALLY SHAGGED may be the synonymous expression applicable to Aubrey Kellogg, the original woman's home companion. Many corrupt column writers have issued the statement that 'il Aubrey has reputedly taken some of Corky Bostick's (Don Juan, some say) old flamingos. All we can say in refutation is strong man Kellogg is no second hand Andy for anybody's love interests.

SENIOR PLUTOCRATS were found traversing their eatin' habits at the annual upperclass eatin' fest last Tuesday's P. M. A regally glorious fete, the entire affair was voted super deluxable in every way. Or are we just prejudiced?

EVERYBODY'S LAUGHING, humorously or otherwise at Kitty Clindard's class prophecy which was an uproaric success at the aforementioned affair. An' yet we think Eleanor The Milk-Maid Vesey would look mighty, mighty peculiar on a chicken farm. Foul play?

BOW ME DOWN, Messrs. Buchholz, Spencer, Warren, Magley, and Magner, fo' lo and behold you certainly handed all ignorant Senior symphonies a rare treat (?) when all five of you male atrocities bashed in on non-too-mildly-hued bow, neck adornments. An' to all five members of this queeristic quintet we say, "If at first you don't succeed, tie, tie again."

SLINGING THE BOUQUETS, we find a deserving and worthwhile recipient in one Jessie Freeman. Long, laborious hours are characteristic of Jessie, who untiringly does more than her share in putting out an Archer publication; yet, her praises go unsung. So, we of this column designate this space now in order that long past-due laurels may be heaped upon this truly school-spirited Senior.

PUNNIFUL JANICE DYER tells us very humorously that barking is going to the dogs, by collie. All we can say is that we'll be doggoned.

PUTTING ON AIRS, among other ethereal epicures, we find Jack Brazy M. D. (mustache dynamo). It is an undeniable supposition that Jaques is out to set the so-called record as far as radio announcers go. And eventually they do go.

Even bad things must eventually come to their bitter ends, and we too must consequently dash a finish to these inscriptions. And so for the boring present we will retire only to start gathering tripe, drivel, and stuff for next week's column.

Jam Session of The Jitterbug

School's out, school's out. The teachers are gasping still from their hard struggles to try and pull Johnny Jones and Susie Smith over to the right side of that inevitable fence, namely, the fence that means that you will or you won't pass.

We thought that we'd take a little time out to pay tribute to those people who have successfully gone "steady" for so long that we can't even remember exactly when they started... First on our list comes Bill Korte and petite Barbara Arney... I doubt that the kids themselves can remember anything about it but that it did happen sometime in their junior year... Next on our list is Bob Dahman and sweet Alice Sweet... The last romance is comparatively new, but it seems to be clicking... Marion Owens is again in the ranks of the ones keeping company. The lucky guy is none other than Herb Blombach of North Side.

A very amusing situation happened one day last week in the gym... One of our better known basketball stars was teasing one of the more egotistical members of the second string. To make a long story short, the party of the first part walked away with the hat of the party of the second part right up to where Jeanne Gumpfer was sitting looking very, very lonely. The one to whom the hat belonged followed, not the hat, as might be expected, but Jeanne. The outcome of the whole thing was that about every member of the team was grouped around that one spot in the gym. And the funny thing was, that when Jeanne moved, the fellows were right behind her, well, maybe two steps behind.

Students Tell Occupations If They Stayed Home One Day

The question that I asked for this week succeeded in getting some crazy answers. I asked a few people how they would spend their time if they weren't in school for just one day. Of course, I meant if they weren't ill. Everyone I put the question to gave me

Bernie Laisure wants to live in complete luxury for one day. She wants lots and lots of money for new clothes. Also, she wants to go to three shows. Why three? While we are on the subject, I also interviewed Eary Cramer. He would go hunting, if he could. And then, he would sit down to polish the gun he hasn't got. Some fun!

Mary Ellen Larimore simply says, "I would sleep—eat—sleep—eat and then go to bed for a change." (Imagine she would take a little lunch to bed with her!)

Joan Earl would probably sleep one day through, and if not she would spend the rest of the day messing around.

Elizabeth Most has the time all figured out. She might sleep and go down town and, indeed, have a general vacation.

Irma O'Brien might go downtown and then sew in the afternoon.

Mary Ida Straley knows what she would do. She would sit down and write about ten letters, especially a letter to someone. Who could the someone be?

Bill Weber, one of the up and comin' would spend his day doing nothing. You may as well come to school, Bill. Jane Engleking would try to find someone with whom to play tennis.

Of all the sleepy-heads! One would think the poor children were overworked. But, that is their day and that is the way they want to spend it. So, if that day ever comes, be sure to do what you decided to do, and be especially careful not to overexercise. That's bad for you! Goodbye!

A tisket, a tasket, who didn't throw dirt in the basket? That wasn't very funny but anyhow in plain English... the dirt returns ain't what they used to be. Listen, students, do you realize that without dirt there just can't be a dirt column? Just try to imagine Thursday morning with no dirt to hash over. (No cracks please!)

To whom it may concern: Harold Kitzmiller and Jackie Huguenard are again one. If your memory stretches back as far as last year, you will remember that Jackie and Kitzmiller made a constant twosome. I don't know exactly the reason for their split-up, but it was the belief of many that they still burned for each other. After several months of hit and miss romance, they decided that there's no love like a first love.

Orchids to Annette Snoko: She has at last succeeded in bagging Tom Tompson. They are going steady, by the way.

Bob Brooks, the woman hater, has finally come down off his high horse and has fallen for a fem, no less! The lucky girl is Maxine Fisher, recent fugitive from a romance with Ed Schoweler.

In some one person's opinion, Gerald Dial is wasting his much-sought-after smiles on a certain Helen Galbreath.

The reputed jitterbug or nit-wit was seen beatin' it out at the recent North Side dance with a cute gal by the name of Maria Marvel. These inter-school romances are common lately.

Joe Close and Ruth Doehla have given it all up as a bad job. In other words they aren't going steady any more. However, it didn't take Joe long to find the missing link again. This time it's Loretta Mary Koonberger. The only thing that is stopping this romance is a certain Dick Zieg.

For some unknown reason, Margery Kruse resents the attentions that Nick Marcoff showers on her every fourth period. This is really too bad 'cause Marge is a very cute gal and Nick is a very cute boy. If joined together, they should make a very cute couple, don't you think?

Jane Van Pelt and Eugene Backofen have been affected by what is known in the better circles as infatuation. A little minor interference is offered by Marilyn Anweiler, but to a certain P. K. this amounts to almost nothing.

The plot is thickening in the little romance betwixt Wayne Bastian and one of our lovely freshmen, Virginia Grey.

Martha Silver still carries the torch for Richard Grave, but unfortunately all this is unknown to Dick, which is all very bad. However, if Dick is a smart boy, he will take advantage of this golden opportunity and take up the attractive proposition that going with her offers.

Phyllis Laur is quite the popular gal these days, not that she doesn't deserve it! Many boys have suddenly awakened to the fact that Phyllis is nothing to be sneezed at. One of the boys who saw the dawn is Jack Waldschmidt, and still another is Bob Geyer. I could name more but perhaps I've said too much already.

It seems that Phil Pressler is taking blithely the certain something that is very precious to John Welles. That something is (or should I say somebody?) Betty Stumph. But, Phil, haven't you forgotten the very faithful admirer of yours, Carol Tremary?

Jack Schoenher has fallen so hard for Carolyn Stalter that you can hardly hear him bounce. Of course I don't blame him a bit nor do I blame Sally for falling equally as hard for Jack. This must be the genuine thing called love.

Well, since that is all the dirt that I have accumulated this week, and I can't write about anything else 'cause this happens to be a dirt column, (surprise!) I guess I'd better say adieu.

Exchange Extracts By Ima X Pert

The students at Indiana University expressed their opinions as to what America's typical Cosmopolitan girl of 1939 should be like. They concluded that naturalness is most important. The girl should have poise, she doesn't need to be good-looking, but she must wear sports clothes and formal attire equally well. In a few words the 1939 girl should have dash, but needn't be a glamour girl. There 'tis!

Indian war whoops haunt farmers once again. (Don't take this literally.) The Indians will set up their tepee, and everything in the art room of the Parsons School. The contented farmers will make their abode on a table. Pigs, chickens, cows, and everything as real as possible. The projects just mentioned are being done by groups in the public school art class as samples of the real thing.

—Parsons, Kansas.

In the Boulder High School, students in the journalism or physics classes put their books away for the day of December 6. Instead the classes were shown the first New York Daily paper on the screen. This picture showed the full line of work in the printing of one edition of the paper. The publication of the first New York Daily was compared to the publication of the modern New York Daily.

—Boulder, Colorado.

Some Hilltop Star Reporters visited several prominent firms. The first company was an ice cream company. The next place visited was a manufacturing plant. The third place was a very interesting industrial plant. The facts they gathered were worth while.

—Passaic, New Jersey.

An interesting and educational project was started by the second year French classes at Peru High School which will be carried out during the school year. The students, through the courtesy of the George Peabody College for teachers, fill out blanks stating their age, main interests, etc. to carry on correspondence with French boys and girls of high school age in France. By knowing the age and main interests of each student, the college is able to establish correspondence between people of the same age.

—Peru, Indiana.

The Monroe High School library will soon have a new department. Some of the world's finest music on phonograph records will be loaned to students. Besides their use at home, the records will be used at the school by means of a turn table with earphones that are installed in the library. Aside from the records, beautiful paintings framed will be kept beyond the customary library limit so that they may be better appreciated.

—Rochester, New York.

A model eye has been made by several Northern High teachers for the study purposes. The model, built to show the common causes of eye trouble, will be used to demonstrate the cause of farsightedness, nearsightedness, and astigmatism.

Mazie Mixit

Dear Friends:

In reply to a number of questions concerning who has had their name most in the dirt columns here on the editorial page, I give this answer. The queen and king of the dirt column will be announced next week in my column. This will be the first time in the history of the Times that a queen and king of the dirt column has been named. So without fail look at my column next week and see who the two unlucky people are. To those who still have questions and would like to have them answered, send them to me for foolproof answers. Just drop them in the mail box by the study hall.

Yours truly,
Mazie Mixit.

Dear Mazie:
I'd like to join some sorority in the city. How does go about it.

Yours truly,
Max Mitchell.

Dear Max:
You have rather an odd name for a girl, however that doesn't matter. Sororities are a thing that are very secret to begin with. Secondly they have restrictions that you should look into. So since there are so many difficulties I'll send you the answer by mental telepathy.

Yours truly,
Mazie Mixit.

Dear Mazie Mixit:
I feel lower than a snake's belt buckle. I have found out I wasn't born. I was supposed to have been born on February 29, but February 29 isn't on the calendar. But common sense tells I am born—or am I? Please advise me.

Yours truly,
Ellen McKay.

Dear Ellen:
Where were you when brains were passed out? Your birthday comes every four years, except in 2000 A.D. when it will be eight years.

Yours truly,
Mazie Mixit.

Dear Mazie Mixit:
The boys are always kidding me that South Side will cave in on account of termites. Is this true?

Yours truly,
Marjorie Voltz.

Dear Marjorie Voltz:
No, this can't happen. We put salt on the termites' tails which kills them.

Yours truly,
Mazie Mixit.

Dear Mazie Mixit:
The boys are always kidding me that South Side will cave in on account of termites. Is this true?

Yours truly,
Marjorie Voltz.

No, this can't happen. We put salt on the termites' tails which kills them.

Yours truly,
Mazie Mixit.

Do Final Exams Scare You To Death? Why Not Eliminate Them?

Now that all your final exams are completed, you have no cause to shake in your boots. Do you know that in some cities A students are not under obligation to take final exams? Of course if you are an A student that would be simply swell but the idea doesn't sound so swell to the student who doesn't do A work.

There are many teachers around South Side who firmly believe in a system of no final exams for any student. These teachers believe in giving weekly tests to cover the current lessons. Thus a student is forced to keep up his studies and as a result there is no need for cramming for a final exam. Such a method as this would enable a student to understand thoroughly what is going on and if a student prefers to loaf, there is no chance for him to make up his lost work at the end of the term. There is no opportunity for him to start his earnest work at the end of the term by cramming for the final exam, because there just wouldn't be any.

The staunch supporters of this method have tried it and found it to be a real success. Nine chances out of ten a student who crams for a final exam, which determines his final grade, will forget everything he ever learned when he has completed the test.

In some subjects where your final grade will depend upon your work in final exams such as, shorthand or typing, where you should know more at the end of the term than any other time, if you have learned anything at all, this method would not work. There are a larger number of subjects where final exams are given and really not needed and it is in these subjects where such a system as this should be inaugurated. Other schools in other cities are using this method so why shouldn't South Side give it a try?

Helps To Popularity Reviewed Each Week

The roads to popularity are bumpy and plentiful. But... the BEST roads are few. A column, beginning with this issue, will appear in this paper which will contain helpful hints on which roads you should choose. So all you popularity seekers sit up and take notice 'cause I'm flinging it right at you!

In any languages, they're saying the same I love you. But YOU will never hear these "famous words" in ANY language unless you are an appealing person. And you can not be an appealing person unless you have poise, good manners, personality, unless you are good natured, and neat in appearance. A. N. D. . . . you can not have these essentials for "captivation" unless you read this column. Ha! Ha! So if you want to be his one-and-only, turn to this same column and page at the same time every week and read "Hints To Captivation." If, when these lessons in love are exhausted, you have not captured the heart of the boy you asked for, just send him to this paper and we will guarantee you double-your-beau-back, plus a free booklet on "How to Become a Private Secretary."

And, boys, don't think I've neglected you. If you have some little squabbles with the blonde, you can read the solutions here.

Next week the contribution will be "Bow Ties" and the feminine ideas concerning this problem. So boys, be ready for a shake down! Future discussions will involve such serious questions as: . . . well, just wait and see.

Please remember, any reality in persons or names is purely coincidental. (Except, of course, statements made by students regarding these problems.)

Does Revenge Ever Pay?

Are you one of those students who believe in getting revenge on someone? If you are, you had better sit down and say to yourself, "Will I satisfy my own mind by hurting someone?" When you start out to get even with someone, doesn't your behavior backfire and hurt you most of all? If it doesn't immediately, it will later. I have read about a person seeking to get even with someone and as a result ruined his own life and the happiness of his entire family. We ask you, is it worth it? Revenge is never sweet or in any way satisfactory, and those who try to find sympathy by hurting someone else, usually find disgust instead. After you have reaped revenge do you feel proud of it afterward? We should say you don't, and in a very short time the list of your best friends will steadily dwindle. All we can say, South Siders, is that if you have any scores to settle, isn't it better to leave them to Father Time who seldom makes mistakes than to cause yourself so much trouble and grief?

Well, underclassmen, did you get your Totem picture taken over the week-end?

Congratulations to the newly-elected officers of Wrangler's Club.

Robert Safer Is Proclaimed Extemp Champ

Subject Is American Neutrality; Name To Be Engraved On McAlister Cup.

Robert Safer, a sophomore, was proclaimed champion extempist of the first 1939 Semi-Annual Extemporaneous Speech Contest which was staged last January 12 in the Greeley Room. Safer's subject was "American Neutrality." His name will be engraved on the McAlister Trophy as a result of his win. If he, or any other student of South Side, wins three extemp meets during his speech career here, he will be given permanent possession of the trophy. Safer also won the right to represent South Side in a city-wide extemporaneous contest sponsored by the Rotary Club.

Other Contestants Named
Second place was awarded Allison Arnold, who spoke on "American Neutrality." Third place resulted in a three-way tie between Ed Reeves, Bob Robinson, and Joe Bex, whose subjects were "American Neutrality," "Totalitarianism in South America," and "Anti-American Activities," respectively. Other contestants were Tom Gallmeyer, speaking on "American Neutrality," and James Murphy, speaking on "American Neutrality." The entrants drew their subjects only one hour before speaking.

Judges for the occasion were Principal R. Nelson Snider, Mr. Herbert E. Rieke, and Mr. Loy Laney, speech instructor at North Side.

Six Enter Finals
The six boys who participated in the meet of January 12 were the winners of a series of six contests held during the previous day. Other winners and participants together with their subjects are listed according to the period in which they spoke below. Each of the first, second, and third place winners of the contests held on either of the two days will be presented with Wrangler Honor Awards at Wrangler's banquet in the spring.

Period I
Ed Reeves, first place winner, "Anti-American Activities"; Sam Bacon, second place winner, "Totalitarianism in South America"; Marion Owens, third place winner, "Anti-American Activities"; Dorothy Foellinger, "Anti-American Activities"; and Charles Bollman, "American Neutrality."

Period II
Bob Robinson, first place winner, "Totalitarianism in South America"; Dorothy Gore, second place winner, "Anti-American Activities"; the place winner, Arthur Chevalier, with "American Neutrality" and Richard Carton with "American Neutrality," and Anna Anderson, "Anti-American Activities."

Period III
James Murphy, first place winner with "Totalitarianism in South America"; second place to Margaret Null with "Anti-American Activities"; third place, Bill Richmond, "American Neutrality"; Betty Marquardt, "Totalitarianism in South America," and Richard Dyke, "Anti-American Activities."

Period V
A first place tie between Allison Arnold with "American Neutrality" and Joe Bex with "Totalitarianism in South America"; second place to Dorothy Rohrbach, "Anti-American Activities"; third place to Morton Nahrwald, "American Neutrality," and John Doswell, "Anti-American Activities."

Period VI
Robert Safer, first place with "Anti-American Activities"; second, Carl Goebel, "Totalitarianism in South America"; third, a tie between Betty Daniels with "Totalitarianism in South America" and Donna Lou Foutz with "American Neutrality," and John Bonsib, "Anti-American Activities."

Period VII
Tom Gallmeyer, first place winner, "Anti-American Activities"; Bruce Bradbury and Bob Byers tied for second with "Anti-American Activities" and "American Neutrality," respectively; William Gernand, third, "American Neutrality," and Phyllis Geller, "Totalitarianism in South America."

Judges for contests on Wednesday, January 11, were Mr. Maurice Cook, Mr. J. H. McClure, Mrs. Lex Combs, and Mr. Oliver Eggers.

January 25 Is Date Of Airplane Contest

The Airplane Club will hold a contest on Wednesday, January 25. The meet will be held one week later than was originally scheduled and will start at 7:30 o'clock in the evening in the gymnasium.

There will be two divisions in the meet. The inexperienced builders will fly in one group for a prize with planes of a uniform type. The plans for this plane are in room 44 in Mr. Joseph Plasket, the club superintendent's, care.

The more experienced builders will also compete for a prize. In this contest any type of endurance ship may be flown.

Every model builder is invited to attend.

Faculty Members Praise Work Finished By Archer Student Body In Class Rooms Before End Of First Half Of School Year

Miss Magley's English 8 students are writing their long themes on a review of their four years in high school. Some of them are calling these themes "Thanks for the Memory."

On a review of idioms over the reader that they have finished, the following students in Miss Perkins' first period French 3 class made above 90: Annette Snoke, Margaret Null, Charlotte DuWan, Margery Price, Anna Lou Kowalski, Betty Neeb, and Mary Treen.

The highest test grades in composition and grammar in Mr. Makey's English classes were made by the following: English 4, period 1, Kathryn Anderson; English 8, period 2, Ruth Bade; English 4, period 5, Homer Clendenen. In his freshman classes, the following made A or A-: Dorothy Gildea, Coleen Glentzer, John Gumpfer, Doris Miller, Violet Reiter, Jack Snyder, and Betty Baker.

Mr. Hull has been demonstrating black light, polarized light, and fluorescence in his classes.

In Miss Pocock's English 8 class, Ned Kelsey made 100 on a final test over Idylls of the King. Those who made above 90 are Bob Dahman, Kenneth Simmers, Sarah Smeltzer, and Carl Stumpf.

Those who made the highest grade on the final first aid test in Miss Crowe's health classes were Max Kimble, William Reithmiller, Virginia Menze, and Louise Lovelace.

Loretta Yergens brought a French Christmas card to school which she received from her grandmother who lives in France.

In Miss Welty's English 2 class, Madena Terry made the highest grade on a test on verbs.

Mr. Gould's botany 1 class are studying corms (bulbs) of plants. Mr. Gould has a corm which measures seven inches in diameter. This is unusually large for this type of a corm.

In Miss McClosky's English 3 classes, the following made 90 or above on a final Sohrab and Rustum test: Bernadine Bender, Wanda Bowman, Ruth Dauner, Faye Gumpfer, Louis Hallenstein, Richard Hamilton, Elaine Hirsch, Marcelle Wimmel, Richard Nahrwald, Albert Schaaf, Fred Schwiwer, Jeanne Smith, Jim Straley, Janet Holtmeyer, Martha Jane Krauskopf, Wilma Lagermann, Phyllis Lauer, Carol Lyman, Romyne Rediger, and Ivan Truman.

On a recent test given by Mr. Pierce to his U. S. history 2 classes, the highest grades were made by Ronald McVay, Betty Jean Pressler, Doris Williams, Eleanor Witmer, Maurine Seibert, and Dick Warner.

In an English test given by Miss Osborne to her period 7 class, the following students received high grades: Ethelreda Behling, Lois Decker, Irene Frank, Margaret Kienle, Paul Kutsch, and Truman Neuen-schwander.

All of Mr. Heine's biology classes saw a movie on Luther Burbank's "Development of Flowers." They also saw a movie on "Glacier National Park."

Miss Osborne gave a test over verbs in general to her English 3, period 2 class. The following pupils made grades above 90: Jane Cocks, Justine Coudret, Robert Dalman, Clifford Gunn, Betty Haney, Wayne Ludwig, Mary Murchland, and Catherine Smead.

Donna Lou Foutz, a member of one of Miss Emma Kiefer's English 7 classes, became so interested in a puzzling paragraph in her English Literature that she wrote to one of the authors, Miss Ruth M. Weeks, of Kansas.

Sally Moorhead, as director, and Wilmer Bengs, as assistant, are working with the rest of Miss Dochterman's seventh period art class in finishing the mural that is being painted on the north wall or room 77.

Those students who took the test in Mr. Sidell's algebra 2 and geometry 3 classes for the annual spring recognition day are as follows: third period, algebra 2, James Barrett, Joan Cartwright, Joan Cox, John Gumpfer, Lucy Smith, and Jack Snyder; sixth period, algebra 2, Norman Fortress, Marjorie McNabb, and Olive Miller; and in the seventh period, geometry 3, Vincent Bacon, Eileen Briggs, Richard Geirg, Charles Long, Phillip Pressler, Tom Thiele, Edward Turner, and Richard Warner.

Oliver Eggers, South Side alumnus and practicing attorney, visited Miss Emma Kiefer's home room Wednesday, January 11.

Mr. Whelan's advanced classes saw a moving-picture called The Glacier National Park to illustrate mountains.

In a test given by Miss Osborne to her English 3, period 3 class, the following students made a grade of 90 or above: Louise Buesching, Leona Ehrman, Elaine Goette, Harold Hallenberg, Delores Nahrwald, and Dorothy Perry.

As the sound system does not work in room 5, Arthur Howard and Violet Ehrman have presented the talks that would otherwise have been on the radio. Arthur gave safety rules for bicycle riders and Violet spoke on safety in the home.

Margaret Wittmer, a student in one of Miss Emma Kiefer's English 7 classes, had the only perfect paper in the two classes on a recent test over "Macbeth."

In a test over Homer's Odyssey given by Miss Osborne to her English 1, period 5 class, the following students made a grade above 90: Mary Brinker, Dick Brandt, Celeste Freistoffer, Joan Smith, Catherine Summers, and Albert Speckman.

A question and answer program was recently held in room 5, in which members of the class asked questions concerning costume designing, which Eileen Eldner answered, and music, which was discussed by Carl Whittern. The Journalism questions were answered by Wanda Eller, Percy Greaney, Mildred Holmes, Bud Lampton, and Bob Ault gave a discussion of etiquette.

In a recent test given over the semester's work in grammar by Miss Osborne to her English 1 class, the following students made a grade above 90: Jeanne Hensch, JoAnn Sahie, Byron Singer, Dick Brandt, and Catherine Summers.

In a literature 1 test given by Miss Osborne to her 7 period class, the following students made a grade above 90: Carol Westendorf, Gladys Reeves, Irene Franke, Betty Doehla, Elaine Boerger, and Ethelreda Behling.

Dorothea Gildea made the highest grade in Mr. Makey's 9A English classes on a test over The Piper.

DR. KENT L. SEAMAN
Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist Returns to Ft. Wayne
During the past three years Dr. Seaman has been in Los Angeles, California. While there he qualified for and received an appointment on the staff of the Los Angeles County General Hospital, serving regular duty in the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Department.
During this opportunity for intensive study and treatment of eye, ear infections and deafness, NEW AND EFFECTIVE METHODS FOR IMPROVING THE HEARING WERE DEVELOPED.
IN MOST CASES HEARING CAN BE IMPROVED BY THIS NEW METHOD
It is difficult for a child with impaired hearing to get an education—no one wants to employ a deaf man or woman. Earache and discharging ears mean beginning deafness and treatment of known effectiveness should begin at once.

P.T. A. Sponsors After-Game Dance

Affair Is Held For Purpose Of Raising Funds For Welfare Agencies Helped By School.

The Parent-Teachers Association of South Side held an after-game dance in room 170 January 14. This dance was held by the P.T. A. for the purpose of raising funds for the welfare agencies of the city which are helped by the school organization.

Music for the dance was provided by Sid Crosley's Commandos featuring Goy Jones, 38, as the drummer. About fifty couples attended the dance.

Chairman for the arrangements for the dance was Mrs. Arthur K. Remmel; Mr. and Mrs. Simpson E. Parkinson were in charge of tickets for the affair.

Members of the ways and means committee were the chaperons for the dance. These members of the committee were: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur K. Remmel, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Iba, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Tract, Dr. and Mrs. Karl C. Eberly, Mr. and Mrs. John Bostick, Miss Martha Pittenger, Mr. A. Verne Flint, Mr. William Moss, and Mr. Elina S. Gould.

No decorations were made for the dance because none of the sponsors of the affair had access to the school at the time they were able to decorate.

Mildred Holmes and Betty Leis made A on their scrap books for Miss Van Gorder's occupation class.

On a recent test over one-act plays in Miss Magley's English 8 class, Helen Detamore made a grade of 96 and Dorothy Lebrecht received 92.

Mildred Thayer, who wrote 50.6 words per minute with 94 per cent accuracy, qualified for an award in Miss Covall's typing 3 class.

All girls' gym classes are finishing the basketball tournaments.

In Miss Kiefer's English 7 class, Ruth Ellison gave a very dramatic rendering of Lady Macbeth's sleepwalking scene, ably assisted by Jack Brazz as the doctor and Janice Cross as the nurse.

The students in the English 8 class of Miss Pocock have finished "Idylls of the King" this week and have begun "School for Scandal."

In Miss Oppelt's Latin 4, period 6 class last week, two interesting reports were given on the Private Life of the Romans. One given by Don Meyer described a Roman Funeral and Burial Ground; the other given by Bob Brooks explained the Water Supply of the Ancient Romans.

Miss Kiefer's English 7, seventh period class are studying the development of the short story through the ages, from the Oriental tale of "The Two Brothers," which is 3,000 years old, to the stories of writers living today.

Pupils Of Art Class Complete Beautiful Frieze In Room 28

Art students under the direction of Miss Blanch Hutto have completed a beautiful frieze to decorate the wall of room 28. In archeology, a frieze is that part of an entablature which extends across the front of the temple. This frieze, which has been made, follows the plan of the Doric frieze of a Greek temple. There are ten triglyphs.

Frieze Described

The illustrations on the metopes are white, on a background of soft Pompeian colors. These background colors are reflected on the white frieze, which produce the light and dark effect. The eleven metopes consist of the following: a pair of lovely Greek vases; Jupiter and his favorite bird, the eagle; Daphne changing into the form of a laurel tree; four members of the Roman senate clad in beautiful flowing togas; Minerva, goddess of war and wisdom; the water carriers, two Roman boys carrying a skin of water; Hercules and the Hydra; Mars, the god of war, at repose; Pan and a bear; and Diana, the goddess of the moon and hunting.

The frieze is twenty-eight feet long and two feet high. The art students first made sketches on wrapping paper from illustrative material of the Greeks and Romans. These sketches were all cut apart and assembled again on the beaver board, similar to a jig-saw puzzle. As each piece of the sketch was removed from the beaver board, the paint was sprayed on, producing a stylized, rather than a naturalistic, effect.

Honors Are Given
For the making of the frieze, first we give honors to Miss Hutto for her splendid supervision and co-operation; second, we give praise to Gene Ayres, who did all the painting with an air brush; third, we give recognition to Lois King, who did the stenciling and arranging; and last but not least, recognition to Betty Horstmeier, Jeanne Shinnick, Bernetta Morgan, Lois Briggs, Mary Snaveley, and Eugene Stair for their untiring efforts in the laying-out and sketching of the originals.

The students in the Latin classes in room 28 are enjoying this beautiful frieze and appreciating the classical atmosphere that it gives. All students and teachers are invited to room 28 to view this work.

Awards Given To G. A. A.'ers At Recognition

Active Members Receive Letters; Freshmen, Upperclassmen Get Numeral

Twenty-three active G. A. A.'ers were given awards at the Recognition Day Services held in the Greeley room on Friday, January 13. Miss Alice Dean presented numerals to all freshmen girls who had earned at least 300 points. Those girls were Betty Baker, Norma Whitesel, Kathleen Neith, Delores Bodenhorn, Peggy Greaney, Betty Bligh, Myrtle Ernst, Thompson Hall, Rose Stemen, and Betty Hargan. Betty Hargan was the only 9B who received an award. The other girls are all 9A's.

Name Numeral Recipients

The upperclassmen who received numerals are Audrey Cooper, Savaka Geroff, Maxine Stough, and Marjorie Van Curan. Miss Gretchen Smith presented these. She then presented letters to the upperclassmen who have earned at least 1,500 points from participation in G. A. A. Those girls who received letters are Bernice Bender, Mildred Franz, Margery Price, Dorothy Amstutz, Mary Griffith, Audrey Mutschelner, Lucile Scheiman, Pauline Werling, Patty Lyman, and Eleanor Wittner.

At the beginning of the service, a short business meeting was held with Hazel Perry, the president, presiding. The group was then led by Betty Showalter in repeating the Law of Sportsmanship. The two guest speakers at the meeting were Miss Martha Pittenger and Betty Eisenacher, former president of G. A. A.

G. A. A. Ritual Read

The G. A. A. Ritual was read by Hazel Perry, and as she mentioned each sport in the G. A. A. program, a lettergirl entered, dressed to represent that particular sport. The girls and the sports that they represented were as follows: Speedball, Marjorie Schelper; tennis, Nadine Mueller; hockey, Beth Ellen Chadwick; football, Evelyn Kruse; basketball, Dorothy Bloemker; baseball, Donna Dennis; swimming, Gwen Roberts; tumbling, Frieda Schubert; hiking, Marjorie Stratton; skating, Mary Jane Rison, and track, Pauline Oetting. This ritual was read before the presentation of the awards, after which the singing of the song concluded the service.

New South Team Plays Ping Pong

Archer Table Tennis Squad Is Victor In Second Encounter Against Arcola Racketers.

The newest sport at South Side is ping pong. Several weeks ago a few boys formed a team and were challenged by Arcola. The Archer team was beaten decisively, so they challenged them to play here. The second tournament was played last Thursday. This time the tide was turned. South Side won with these results:

Archers Hold Annual Bowling Tournament

The annual Archer Bowling Tournament was held December 19 at the Metropolitan Bowling Alley. To participate in this tournament, the boys had to bowl ten outside games at any bowling alley. The contest proved to be the most satisfactory in many years.

P. Dammier and M. Lehman took first place in the middle and heavy-weight divisions. A. Hall, middle-weight, and A. Hertel, heavy-weight, took second places in the tournament. The participants and their averages are as follows:

P. Dammier, 159; D. Kigar, 96; H. Hageman, 119; J. Parker, 125; A. Hall, 140; B. Ault, 96; C. Rose, 95; R. Brandt, 97; W. Scholle, 83; M. Nahrwald, 147; M. Lehman, 155; A. Hertel, 151; D. Schieferstein, 100.

BELL'S Invite You

Matinee Special on Sundays

Congratulations to all those who received awards at the annual recognition service! These letters and numerals signify that you not only have worked hard to get them, but that you have really been interested in the G. A. A. and have been loyal members. Each of you deserves a big bouquet!

Special mention goes to Betty Hargan, whose outstanding participation has won her numerals for her. Not content to take part in every sport possible, Betty, who incidentally is the only freshman B to receive this award, earned many points by hiking and skating. The G. A. A. is very proud to have such an enthusiastic member.

This freshman class is remarkable indeed. Rose Stemen has been an outstanding captain many times during her first year in G. A. A. and now as a freshman A, Rose accepts her numerals with great satisfaction. And no wonder! Her intense interest in every activity has been rewarded, as she has the highest number of points of the freshman girls. We sincerely hope that these girls keep up the good work and some day soon a letter will be forthcoming.

It certainly was a treat to have Betty Eisenacher back to speak to the organization in which she was so well known one short year ago. Having been president of the G. A. A., she is naturally very much interested in it even though she no longer participates in its activities. We are all glad to see her back as she is pleased to be back.

It seems there was indeed a serious mistake involving Patty Lyman and Mildred Franz at the recognition service. These girls were looking forward to receiving their letters along with the other girls, but it seems there was a very unintentional discrepancy in the record somewhere and Mildred and Patty weren't presented with their letters until after the service, when the mistake was noticed.

Attention all underclassmen! You're going to have to do something about these seniors. They've won the hockey and volleyball tournaments, and from all appearances they're out to win the basketball tournament as well, having already won the first two games. A word to the wise is said to be sufficient!

Just a word of praise to Miss Dean. In spite of the fact that she has been here only a short time, she has made countless friends among the G. A. A.'ers with her sweet disposition and her willingness to be helpful at all times. Through her, many freshmen have found G. A. A. a delightful as well as a beneficial organization with which to be associated. We hope you will be with us for a long time to come, Miss Dean.

Exhibits Poinsettia
Mr. Elva S. Gould is the owner and keeper of a large poinsettia plant kept in his laboratory, room 78. This plant has attained the height of eight feet and bears at the present time eleven flowers. Many students have visited this room especially to see this plant. Most of the students ask Mr. Gould how he has been able to raise such a plant. To this he simply replies, "Give it a lot of water and let it grow."

City's Net Squads Meet In Clashes

Irish Overpower North Siders; Central Tigers Defeat Decatur, Bluffton Net Fives.

Central Catholic's powerhouse, for the first time since the 1934-35 season, managed to down a faltering Redskin delegation in the North Side gym last Friday by a score of 29-18. Central's Tigers easily defeated a Decatur five Saturday evening, 45-23, after defeating Bluffton, 26-24, on Friday.

The doubtfulness as to the outcome of the city series clash between the Irish and the Redskins attracted a near capacity crowd. Ed Stanczak proved to be the spark plug of the Central Catholic game leading both sides with a total of ten points.

Stanczak Best Player
Stanczak was the only player that played consistent ball on either side; however, it did cost him three fouls before the game was over.

The game was a ragged affair with both teams missing the hoop continually during the first three periods. The Purple managed to eke out a meager five to four lead at half-time. During the third quarter the Irish managed to remove the lid from the basket periodically and were imitated immediately by North Side.

The Purple came out on top at the end of the third quarter with a total of 15 points, leading their opponents by a margin of five points.

Central Wins Over Bluffton
The Central Tigers were closely pressed at all times during their clash with Bluffton. Hank Kulesza was taken from the game via personal fouls in the third period to pretty well even up things in the fourth period. Central won by virtue of the shooting of Hanley and Richardson during the last half.

Traveling back home the Central five put on a basketball exhibition for the Central rooters, defeating the Decatur Yellow Jackets, 45-23. The Tigers were never in danger, frolicking to a half-time lead of 27-15.

The Centralites hit from anywhere to pile up twelve more points to lead their guests at the end of the third quarter, 39-19.

Still continuing to hit in the fourth period the Tigers won going away at 45-23.

Kulesza was high point man scoring sixteen points.

Intramurally Speaking

In the intramural world this week not much has been going on because of the mid-semester exams in which we are all compelled to indulge. So while we were poring over our books preparing for our numerous tests, the basketballs, handballs, etc., were idly moulding in the dust. And without all our intramural stars playing games and scoring points, there's not much for us to write about.

However, not all was quiet on the western front; for handball continued merrily on its way in order that a winner could be determined before the semester ended. The past few days the court has really been busy determining winners and eliminating losers. So Friday we hope to be able to tell you who the winners are.

Every year about this time intramural activities turn to that sport well-liked by all, volleyball. The teams are formed in three divisions, the light, middle, and heavyweight divisions.

This year all the games will be played at noon, thus not detaining anyone after school. Every captain who submits a team is given fifteen points. Each player on the winning teams is given five points. So, make it a point over the week-end to get up your team and enter into the contest.

About 450 G.A.A.'ers Partake In Activities Of Preceding Term

Nearly four hundred and fifty girls participated in sports during last semester. There were five major sports—tennis, hockey, speedball, volleyball, and basketball. The latter sport is not entirely over, however. The minor sports were hiking and skating. It was necessary to postpone the swimming meet scheduled for this semester, and it will be held sometime in early spring.

Tennis was the first sport of the new term. Jeanne Smith, a sophomore, was crowned champion of the school. The various class champions were as follows: Freshman, Betty Hargan; sophomore, Jeanne Smith; junior, Agnes Seiler, and senior, Jeanne Porter.

The next sports on the G. A. A. calendar were hockey and speedball. The upperclassmen enjoyed hockey, while the freshmen learned the game of speedball. At the end of the speedball season, Rose Stemen's team was crowned grand champion. Members on this winning team were Betty Baker, Betty Bligh, Delores Bodenhorn, Mary Browning, Audrey Calder, Patricia Ehle, Myrtle Earnst, Peggy Greaney, Thompson Hall, Kathleen Keith, Jean Junk, Phyllis Orr, Norma Whitesel, Betty Wolfe, and Helen Krause.

The senior team copped the honors in the hockey tournament. The winners of every game they played. The seniors who donned the knee guards for this sport were Dorothy Bloemker, Wilma Carrier, Velma Connett, Donna Dennis, Phyllis Kaiser, Marjorie Price, Mary Jane Rison, Gwen Roberts, Frieda Schubert, Betty Showalter, Olive Zahn, Marjorie Schelper, Bonnie Taylor, Marjorie Stratton, Margaret Witmer, Mildred Berry, Patty Lyman, Harriet Mann, and Virginia Sprunger.

Hargan's Team Victorious
Then came the volleyball season. Betty Hargan's team came out victorious among the freshmen teams. The girls who tapped the ball around for this team were Constance Bender, Elaine Boerger, Bertha Coudert, Audrey Evans, Jean Junk, Melrose Lyman, Mary Maize, Lenora Moyer, Sylvia Sholtz, Patricia Smith, Dorothy Snavely, Rosemary Spore, Vasilka Stephens, Mae Vanderford, Jeanette Whetsel, Delores Winebrenner, and June Whalen.

The seniors, not content with the hockey honors, then proceeded to carry the victory cup for the volleyball season. Again they went through the season undefeated. They won their last game with a flourish, the final score being 18 to 1.

Basketball Season At Height

And now the basketball season is at its height. The frosh are captained by May Scheele, Betty Hargan, Rose Stemen, and Lenora Moyer. The girls leading the upperclassmen teams are Hazel Perry, Marion Feichter, Marjorie Morrison, Frances Nash, Jeanne Smith, Betty Thiele, Elaine Ferguson, and Maxine Sterling.

Even though the girls may regret that some of these sports are over for another season, they may look forward to loads of fun in the activities yet to come. In a few weeks, tumbling will begin. On April 10 the baseball season will be formally opened. Then on May 15 and May 19, the track meet will be held. On May 26, the G. A. A.'ers will all gather for their annual banquet; and on June 8, they will enjoy their breakfast together at Foster Park, at which time numerals and letters will be awarded.

North Side Wins Alumni Tourney

South Side Graduates Drub Central Tigers 35-22, But Are Defeated By Redskins, 43-29.

For the third time North Side high school's alumni basketball players proved too strong for the South Side and Central graduates.

The former stars of North Side defeated former Archers by a score of 43 to 29. In this first game of the evening South Side played without the services of several former stars who were to carry a large share of the tourney burden. Only five players were on the Archer squad for this tilt, the others having arrived too late for action.

Redskins Take Tigers

In the second game the Redskins took on Central's former Tigers. In this game the score was always close although the Redskins had it all over the Centralites in most departments. The advantage of the first game experience probably had something to do with the win by North Side.

The last game of the evening pitted South Side and Central in an easy win, by a 35-22 score, for the Archers who gained considerable strength with the addition of several prominent alumni. In this tilt Harold "Toothless" Kitzmiller showed the spectators how to play basketball, scoring thirteen points in the first half, and dropping another field goal through the hoop in the second section of the battle. "Wiggles" Hilgeman was retarded in this game by a leg injury he suffered before the game. He played on one foot as much as possible, but still gave a commendable performance.

Used Fourteen Players

Central used a total of fourteen players in this game, letting all of the reserves get a chance to play. If a good squad could have been found the Tigers might have handed the Archers their second defeat of the evening.

South Side might have won the annual tourney if more of their former stars had showed up in time to play the first game.

This tournament is held once a year under the auspices of the Fort Wayne Parent-Teachers' Association and the proceeds of the game are used for the P-T-A milk fund.

Three-Time Winner

North Side has won the tourney three times and has tied the other meet. Both of the other teams are now trying to wrest the control of victory from the Northern teams.

In the absence of Burl Friddle, Bill Moss coached the former Archers. Officials for the games were George Nulf, Shine, George Collyer, Louie Briner, and Bob Biedenweig.

Girl Athletes Extend Vigorous Invitation To Freshman Girls

When you freshman girls hear that South Side is putting a new ceiling in their gym, just remember that G.A.A. has gotten into the full swing of a successful season. Screaming, yelling, and excitement comes from that great center of G. A. A. activities. They are always enthusiastic and ready to meet any other team in any game no matter what it may be. Everyone of you like thrills, so come and join all the other girls in G. A. A.

To receive a numeral a girl must have earned at least 300 points and to receive her letter "S" she must have earned at least 1,500. It probably seems like an impossibility to earn 1,500 points, but don't let that get you down, some are known to have earned as many as 2,800.

Offers Many Sports

G. A. A. offers a variety of sports for one to participate in, and points seem to pile up very fast. Such sports as tennis, speedball, hockey, skating, tumbling, and track are included in a season.

Besides the annual routine of sports, social activities are included, one of the first being the Halloween party. This has become one of the most awaited for activities of the season.

Recognition Services Are Held
The one which makes every one happy is the Recognition services at which time numerals and letters are awarded to the girls who have received the required number of points. The biggest feature to be presented is the exhibition in the spring. In this program is included every member of G. A. A. It is always a very interesting program and a huge

Green Emerge Victors Over Central, 43-36

Blue Stages Fierce Rally In Last Half To Tear Down Fifteen Point Lead, 31-16

Is Third Straight Toward City Title

Glass Leads Archer Scorers With Fourteen Points; Hire Tallies Up Eight

Before a capacity crowd in the South Side gymnasium the South Side Archers beat down a valiant last half rally of the fighting Central Tigers to win by a score of 43-36. The game was the roughest that has been played in the Archer gym all season, Central being guilty of 20 fouls and losing three men by the foul route. The Archers committed nine.

In the first half it was all Archers as the Green turned on the heat to steam away to a 31-16 lead. Bob Bolyard opened scoring activities in the first ten seconds of play with a pivot attempt. Hanley countered with a foul goal, only to have Bolyard sink a pair of foul shots. Talley hit from out and Glass jumped a rebound giving the Green a 6-3 lead. At this point it seemed that the state champs were on the road to another easy win. The Tigers rallied, however, to pull within 4 points of the Green at 12-8 as the quarter ended.

Drop Three In With Hire, Hamilton, and Beery, hitting from every angle the Archer steamroller continued to roll and within five minutes the lead was 21-16. In this second quarter, the Archers outscored Central 19-8 and apparently had the game sewed up. Coming back strong in that typical Central style, the boys from the downtown school opened up to pull within six points of the Green at 35-29 before the Archers could get underway. Richardson made the score 39-31 as the third quarter ended. Jim Glass, who led the Archers with 14 points, kept the Archers in the lead with timely field goals as Bill Hanley got hot to throw a scare into Archer fans. Talley concluded the scoring activities for the evening with a fielder to make the final score 43-36.

Beery, Best Don Beery looked good in holding the potential Tiger scoring ace, Henry Kulesza, to 8 points, meanwhile collecting 7 himself. Bill Hanley led Central scoring with 11 points.

The game was won from the foul line as the Tigers outshot the Archers, making 16 out of 64 attempts while the Green connected on 14 out of 46. The Archers converted on 15 out of 22 foul shots while Central could make good on only 3 of their 10 attempts. The game assured the Archers of at least a tie for the city crown as all the other city teams have now suffered two defeats.

Puppteers Start Plans For Parents' Program

To arrange a program to be presented before the parents of the incoming freshmen last Monday a short business meeting of the members of the Marionette Club was held at 3:30 o'clock Thursday, January 12, in room 142.

Those who participated in the program are Lillian Sherbondy, who spoke on the history of the club; Bill Morgan, making marionettes; Kathryn Beckman, costuming and designing; Lillian Sherbondy, manipulation; and Margery Dyer, choosing and producing a play. After the short speeches, a skit was given by Bill Morgan, Betty Bowman, Jane Klinefelter, and Lillian Sherbondy.

Little Boy Hamilton Challenges Brother Dale's Fine Record

There are very few men and women in this world who would sacrifice a year of their life for a sport which they loved. In South Side there is one of these rare personalities. He is a member of the Hamilton family, as you have probably guessed by now.

Ralph Hamilton was born in the great metropolis of Fort Wayne, and received his primary education at several schools. He first attended Hamilton School and then Louis C. Ward, Justin N. Study, and finally he attended Harrison Hill, from which he graduated.

Plays On Grade Team While at Harrison Hill, he was a member of the basketball team which won the grade school championship. This team was then being coached by Pop Tudor. Other sport activities of his grade school days were indoor baseball and track.

Entering the portals of South Side in September, 1935, he at once went out for basketball. "Shorty" Hamilton, as he was called by his teammates, made a grand showing, but due to lack of height, his style was somewhat hampered.

Stays Out A Year Ralph then decided to stay out of school and sacrifice his junior year to gain the necessary footage to become a regular on the Robin Hood squad. He is now a junior and from every indication he will become one of the mainstays of the Archer team next year.

His ambition at the present time is to join his brother, Dale, who is now a freshman at Franklin College. His ambition for later years is to become either a basketball or baseball star, for now he has his eye on the professional side of the sport.

Known to his teammates as "Little Boy" Hamilton, this blushing, silent boy has no favorites among the girls, for he answered the question with a definite "No." But his teammates, being a little more informative, said that when they get Ham in a pensive mood, he breaks down and tells them that it's blonde. So here you have one grand fellow, basketball player superb, a blushing junior with personality plus, Ralph Hamilton.

Archers Are Again Victors In Basketball

Strong South Side Squad Chalks Up Eighth Win Against Franklin Netters

Before a near capacity crowd in the Archer gymnasium last Saturday night, those potential state champion Archers again took to the paths of victory, this time rolling over a strong Franklin five, supposedly one of the best squads in the state. The relatively close score of 35-28 does by no means tell the story of last Saturday's contest. The Green, displaying an evenly balanced attack, grabbed the lead early in the ball game and were never in danger throughout the entire ball game. The Archers, in stopping a Franklin victory string of eleven games, showed the Fort Wayne fans just what to expect when they were pitted against recognized tough competition.

Hall Leads Teammates Carl Hall leads the rest of his teammates in total points scored this year with 80 tallies. The veteran's nearest rival is Bob Bolyard, who chips in with 73 points. The next highest is Don Hire, who has a total of 61 points. Big Jim Glass came in for 49 points and close on his heels is Ralph Hamilton with 42 points. Don Beery has 34 and Bob Hines 15 points. Leroy Cook has 11, John Chedister 2, and Blackie Braden none. However, Braden has only played a few minutes in the Vincennes game. Cook has seen very little of varsity play, and Chedister has been handicapped with a bad ankle.

In your writer's opinion, Don Hire, has stepped into Jim Roth's shoes and is doing a swell job of filling them. Don's splendid playing has been really wonderful to watch, and his total of 61 points has certainly come in mighty handy in the last ten games. The way Bob Hines played the center position for Jim Glass during the North Side game is also nothing to be sneezed at. He gives promise of becoming a great ball player, perhaps even better than Johnny. Ralph Hamilton has developed into a real understudy for Carl Hall. Ham has proven himself as good a shot as any on the team, and he is undoubtedly one of the quickest pivot men we have seen in a long time. When watching young Ham play, one can't help but remember his older brother Dale.

A large part of the Archer baskets have been scored from out on the floor rather than underneath the basket. The boys generally keep the net swinging with long high shots, which are made possible by set plays and individual blocking for each other. We figured up the average per game for the starting five and find that Hall in the last ten games has an average of 8 points a game. Bob Bolyard averaged 7 points and Hire 6 points. Glass averages a little over 5 points in nine games and Beery in ten games averages a bit over 3 points a game.

On the whole South Side has done very well playing their first ten games. They have been undefeated in their regular schedule and were beaten in the Christmas tournament twice, but both losses were by a margin of only five points.

Archer Net Squad Scores 369 Points During 10 Games

South Side's basketball team has scored a total of 369 points in ten games played. Their opponents have scored a total of 281 points. In other words the Green averaged approximately 37 points a game to their opponents' 28 points. All these figures are taken from the ten games the Archers have played this season, including the Hammond tournament.

These figures might indicate a strong offensive for the champs. However, they also point to the fact that the Archers are not as strong defensively as they were last year. Still South Side hasn't done so badly this season. They now lead the race for the city title with two victories against no defeats. They also lead the N.E.I.C. conference with four wins and no losses.

Archer Reserves Beat C. C. Squad

Green Led By Shimer, Braden, Chedister In Scoring; Beat Irish With Score Of 21-13.

The South Side Archerettes broke into the win column after suffering three straight defeats by beating a strong Central Catholic five by the score of 21 to 13 Saturday night before the Franklin game. The Archerettes showed improvement over their previous encounter with C. C.

Archer Take Lead The Archers captured the lead in the first few minutes of play when Shimer converted a free throw, but the lead was short lived when Heiny made a short shot under the basket and Marthorty converted a free throw to send C. C. in the lead by the score of 3 to 1. Before the quarter was over however, Shimer and Spiker combined to give the Archers a lead of 7 to 5 at the end of the first quarter. The second quarter was close all the way through with both teams tallying three points apiece to make the score 10 to 8 at half-time.

In the last half the Archers tightened their defensive game and let the Irish have only five points while they were getting a total of 11 points. The game was very close until Chedister, member of our last year's State Champions, hit his stride and made two long shots for the Archers which crushed the Irish's hopes for victory.

Shimer Leads Archers Leading South Side was "Chick" Shimer, who made seven points and played a good defensive game; John Chedister, who made a total of five points, and "Blackie" Braden with four points. This was the first game in which Braden has not made at least half of the points for the Archers. Dehner and Heiny led the Irish from Central Catholic with six and five points respectively.

Central's Seconds Win Over Green

Tigers Emerge Victorious From Closely Contested Net Battle; The Final Score Is 27 To 29

The South Side Archers reserve squad was beaten in a very close and roughly played game by the Central Tigers by a score of 27 to 24. The game was close from the opening minutes of the battle and excited both teams so that three men went out on personal fouls, and Talley of Central was put out of the game because of unnecessary roughness.

Braden was best for the Archerettes with five field goals and five free throws for a total of fifteen points. Braden, who seems to be following in the footsteps of his brother Red, has made over half of the points for the reserves in every game except in the previous encounter with Central Catholic. Chedister also looked good for the Archers when he made four points, and played a very good game at defense.

Pete Young looked best for Central with ten points. Also outstanding for Central were Shaw, Talley, and Smith.

The score at half time was 17 to 14 in favor of Central. The Tigers lengthened their lead by the end of the third quarter when they led the Archers by a score of 22 to 16. Soon after the beginning of the fourth quarter, South Side was held scoreless and the Tigers went on to win 27 to 24.

Archers Outsmart Airedales' Quintet

Win Over Hartford City, 45-13; Kellies Rally In Last Half; Hall, Hamilton Lead Scoring.

South Side's powerful Archers won their eighth game of their current season last Friday night at the expense of a bewildered Hartford City Airedale squad. When the timer's gun had terminated the evening's activities, the Archers could be found perched on the long end of a one-sided 45-13 score. By beating Hartford City last Friday the Archers clinched at least a share of the 1939 N.E.I.C. title.

First Half Is Close With half of their first string warming the bench throughout the first half, the Green attack was unable to make even a sizeable dent in the Hartford City hopes of victory. As the half ended the Archers were leading by only 14-10. However, as the second half got underway, Coach Friddle inserted Hines, Bolyard, and Hall into the Archer lineup, and the ball game was practically over.

With this trio supplying the necessary punch, the Archers turned the game into a rout. Hall connected for eleven points in the last half to take individual scoring honors. Hines got eight points, Bolyard, and Hall into the Archer lineup, and the ball game was practically over.

S.P.C. Initiates To Give Plays Tonight, 7:30

To Be At North Side Gym; Serious Initiation To Be This Morning At 10:30

New initiatives into the Student Players Club of this city will present three short dramas during the initiation ceremonies to be held in the North Side High School auditorium tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Yesterday at 2:00 o'clock the serious initiation was held, and tonight the entire membership of the club will get together.

South Side's new members will present an original skit telling about the New York Critic Circle. In this production the players will show how the circle chooses the finest dramatic production of the year. The members of the circle have called Miss Marjorie Suter in to help them decide on the year's outstanding presentation. Several plays, movies, and radio programs are considered worthy of attention by the circle and the members are picking the best production.

The various presentations considered by the circle are "To The Ladies," a movie of the Dionne Quints, "The Hermit's Cave," "You Can't Take It With You," "The Green Menace," and "The Tramp."

The casts of these various presentations are "To The Ladies," the North Side High School senior play, Phil Olofson, Kolman Gross; other players, Virginia Hill and Wilma Lageman; the Dionne Quints movie, Cecile of the show starring the sisters, Cecile, Constance Hirschy; Yvonne, Marjorie Voltz; Emily, Helen Nindie; Marie, Martha Jean Smith; and Annette, Leah Schwartz; "The Hermit's Cave," a radio broadcast heard by many people in America, the hermit, Martin Germand, other players, Charlene McAtee, Delores Daniels, Elaine Hirschy, and Miriam Jackson; "You Can't Take It With You," a play on Broadway, the artist, Everett Truelock, the mother, Phyllis Hayner; other members of cast, Nancy Hess, Margaret Kutsch, and Doris Marlow; "The Green Menace," another play about the invasion of the earth by celestial persons, the men from Mars, Dick Gallmeier and Dick Joyce; "The Tramp," played by Joyce Cleaver.

Miss Suter will be played by Bernice Etzler. The leader of the drama group is Dorothy Rohrback, and the members of the organization are Caroline Lichtenberg and Dixie Lee Hannah.

The skit presented by the initiates is an original one written by Bruce Bradbury.

After the humorous initiation tonight, and the program presented by the new members, all members of S. P. C. who have paid their dues will attend a dance which will last until 10:30 o'clock. Paul Baker's orchestra will provide the music.

Irish Team Will Play Strong Chicago Group

Headlining this week's other city games besides South Side's will be the Central Catholic, Leo of Chicago game on Sunday afternoon.

Central Catholic, again in the limelight by virtue of their win over North Side, will lead a powerful bunch of Chicago teams representing Leo Catholic High School.

Two Hundred "New Yorkers" Attend Senior "Sneak Preview" Of 1939 World's Fair Banquet

Trylons, perispheres, balloons, attractive programs, favors, chatter, laughter, singing, speeches, and delicious food—stir well (not the food; that isn't being well-mannered) and what do you have? The best senior banquet (we think) in the history of South Side which was held last Tuesday, January 17, in the school's cafeteria.

At 6:30 the hall outside of the cafe was filled with well-dressed, dignified, nevertheless hungry, seniors. It would not be fair to say that when the doors were opened the ticket-takers were taken in the stride of these would-be banqueters, it was with the utmost degree of haste that they made their way to the tables nearest the speakers—which is an issue. Instead of the customary long banquet table arrangement, tables were arranged in rows before the speakers' table, a unique arrangement increasing the seating capacity. Two hundred twenty persons were present, including the nine guests, Mr. and Mrs. Merle J. Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. R. Nelson Snider, Mrs. Paul Sidell, Miss Adelaide Fiedler, Miss Martha Pittenger and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Rieke. The senior advisers, Miss Dorothy Magley and Mr. Paul Sidell, were seated with the guests and the speakers at the speakers' table.

Schmidt Is Toastmaster

The program was opened with a greeting by the toastmaster and president of the senior class, Eugene Schmidt, who announced that that spring-swing man, Charles "Chuck" Hall, would direct the singing of the lead-off melody, a parody to the "Umbrella Man." Velma Lehman was the accompanist.

And then came the waitresses!—with some very delectable food, Swiss steak, mashed potatoes and buttered peas. Due to what they perceived to be negligence on the part of the waitresses in serving the second course, several "Tommy Tuckers" began to sing for their supper. Since there was no applause for their performance, that portion of the room was rather quiet for the remainder of the evening. There was one encouraging result, however, they were forthwith served with their apple pie. Also included on the menu was tomato juice cocktail, cole slaw, hot biscuits and milk.

Following the loosening up of the vocal chords of those present, Richard Behnholz, the character, reviewed the history of the senior class. In carrying out the theme of the banquet, "A Glimpse of the World of Tomorrow," Kitty Clinard did some very interesting crystal-gazing. Several songs were then led by "the maestro" and the speeches continued. The speakers and their subjects in the order of their speaking were "New Frontiers of the World of Tomorrow," Mr. R. Nelson Snider; "Tools for the World of Tomorrow," Miss Martha M. Pittenger; "Peace," Henry Velfok; "Prosperity," Phyllis Geller; "Tolerance," Janice Dyer; "Achievements," Ed Reeves, and "The Place of Youth in the World of Tomorrow," Superintendent Merle J. Abbott.

With the singing of the "Alma Mater" the senior banquet of the Class of 1939 was ended. There was a scurry for the decorations, a whole sale desertion; and then the clean-up committee went to work.

Supporter Is Found For Feminine Sports In Another Scheele

And still another Scheele makes her debut in the South Side sporting field. Martha May is entirely as charming and pretty as her older sister—and that is really a T. L. L. Also according to the Scheele tradition, she thinks Bob Bolyard is a pretty nice boy and picks him and Carl (Creto) Hall as her favorite basketball players. Speaking of basketball, she plans to attend all the games, but does not predict the state championship for South Side again this year.

Likes Scheele's Pop

When asked what she likes to eat, she stated emphatically that it was not a matter of favorite food, but rather of drink, and of course she thinks Scheele's pop is the most delicious beverage on the market. Incidentally, she does dislike oysters.

May does not have a nickname. She doesn't need one when she already has the cute little tag of "May." Martha May was born on May 22, 1924, in Fort Wayne, Indiana. She is a freshman B in the college course. Her greatest ambition is to graduate from high school. Oddly, her favorite subject is algebra; and therefore, her favorite teacher, Miss Fiedler.

She thinks G. A. A. is "swell" and has participated in only two sports thus far, picking volleyball as her favorite because it is exciting. She loves to ice skate and swim. That takes care of both seasons, summer and winter. She also devotes a measure of her leisure time to Meterites.

Having come from Hoagland school in September, May has not had time enough to earn either letter or numerals, but is well on her way toward both.

Likes Radio, Movies

May likes also to listen to the radio and go to the movies. Jack Benny and Tommy Dorsey stand high in her estimation as masters of ceremonies of well-known programs. She loves to see Errol Flynn or Margaret Sullivan in the cinema.

People who say "hello, dear," rick May. (She probably refers the slangy expression, "Hiya, kid!") Lastly, although this is not the least, you will hear of this promising young athlete. She prefers the colors light blue and black.

I am more convinced that I want to finish my high school education at South Side. I think that South Side has many advantages that other schools don't have. The clubs that South Side has give one a chance to get acquainted with many new people; through some of these clubs I have made many new friends. I have enjoyed all classes this one semester. When I walk down the halls of South Side and see these prominent students that were elected to the National Honor Society and students that are doing all they can to make South Side a wonderful school, I think that what I want to do is to help keep South Side as fine a school as when I entered it. When someone asks me I think I of South Side, I can truthfully say "I think it is a wonderful school which offers one many advantages."

John Potter: My impression of South Side is about the same as when I came here. I still feel a little out of place. The teachers are not half as bad as I had been told they were. The school still seems rather large. I am glad to be able to go to a school which has many fine awards presented to its students in the field of athletics and in the field of publications. There are many fine clubs in South Side which also make me glad that I attend this school. The building also is very nice.

Tom Shea: The word greenhorn, still echoes in my ears. When I first came to this school I was a greenhorn, just as many other freshmen, but now I have attained a little more assurance and confidence in myself. This has been my first step on the ladder of accomplishment through high school. From now on I feel I can go through the schedule without breaking any of the rules and regulations. The pleasant and fine attitude of the teachers has made it possible for me, a new student, to gain that confidence which is necessary to accomplish the things expected of a student. I hope that in the school years which are ahead of me I may have the same attitude which I have today.

Celeste Freistrotter: When I first came to South Side, I really lived up to the title of "green freshie." I will admit I wasn't as dumbfounded and timid as some, but I did contribute my share of nervousness. But that feeling is gone, and in its place has come a feeling of self-reliance and eagerness to succeed. Gone are the days when I wrapped myself in a shell and refused to emerge into the hubbub of everyday life at South Side. Today, I feel just as free and important as any dignified upperclassman. In fact, I might even quote a famous comedian's words, "Today I yamma man!"

Good luck to all new freshmen!

Sincerely yours, 9A class.

Ten Boy Riflers Win Medals For Shooting

Ten members of the Boys' Rifle Club qualified for government rifle medals. To get one of these medals a member has to shoot ten shots in position, standing, kneeling, sitting and prone; and score 260 points for marksman, 320 points for sharpshooter, 380 for expert.

Is NEEDLESS Eyestrain Sapping YOUR Energy?

Eyestrain can cause headaches, tired, aching eyes and drowsiness. Those are the symptoms. But more than that it causes inefficiency and costly mistakes because it drains your energy and fogs your brain. Certainly money you put into the care of anything as indispensable as your eyes is the soundest investment you can make.

Circulation Cup

South Side has again come out on top over North Side. This time The Times, with the cooperation of the whole school, brought about the victory. The circulation cup, an object of intense rivalry, was won by the Archers with a three per cent margin. Every year a race between the two schools is staged. The one obtaining the largest number of subscriptions, figured on a basis of percentage of the whole school, is declared the winner.

The final results could not be figured until the semester had ended because only fully paid subscriptions count. This year, for the first time in history, under the direction of Virginia Goeglein, fifteen-year-old circulation manager, every cent of money owed The Times by subscribers was paid up.

January 23: John Proise, Donald Proehl, Nancy Valiton, Gloria Art, Jean Berlin, Bob Blue, Marcelle Driftmeyer, George Junk, Hilda Leininger.

January 24: Ned Kelsey, Betty Cowan, Virginia Eaton, Eileen Hower, Barrie Tremper, Juanita Wolford, Julia Pressler.

January 25: June Neith, John Wells.

January 26: Jim Murphy, Dolores Selby, Kieft Coverdale, Janet Holtmeyer, Kenneth Lampton.

January 27: Betty Burns, John Clymer, Marjorie Morrison, Dale Russell.

January 28: Clarence Freeman, Bob Devlin.

January 29: Anna Brockmeyer.

January 30: Richard Robey, Junior Karst, Barbara Arney.

January 31: Betty Mann, Helen Merrit, Eleanor Schelper, Rubylean Blanks, Eileen Byer, Paul Galbreath.

Basketball Laurels Are Most Important As Archer Events

Now that 1939 has had a big start, all that happened in 1938 will be only in our memory. South Side achieved many honors in 1938, and many students who have left have achieved fame and names for themselves, either in college educations or in the business world. Your snoopy inquiring reporter has been snooping around again or yet (which ever the case may be) and has asked several Archers what they thought was the most outstanding event in the past school year. Our winning of the state championship seems to be the most outstanding event in the minds of the great majority of students questioned. The following answers were given. They range from foolishness to real seriousness:

Bob Hawkins—Winning the state tourney and Irma O'Brien.

Hertha Hoffman—The state championship.

Donna Colicho—The various improvements around school.

Betty Jean Pressler—Our state championship.

Jane Merchant—State championship.

Jim Gerig—The championship in basketball.

Bob Byers—Our state championship.

Roy Demetre—More good-looking girls around school and the new improvements.

Paul Fremion—Our great football record.

Edith Summers—State championship.

Kenny Simmers—State championship.

Jim Murphy—State championship.

Dick Goshorn—State championship.

Red Ferguson—State championship.

Jeanne Shinnick—State championship.

Joan Korte—One bad thing, no good-looking boys around school. (Have you seen our team?)

Max Hockman—State championship.

Dick Graue—State championship.

Andy Bremer—Christmas vacation.

Marcia Allen—Championship of the basketball team.

Several Teachers Are Writing Book

To Be Home Room Handbook, Containing Chapters On Organization, Courses Of Study.

The "Home Room Handbook" is being written by the Misses Emma Kiefer, Adelaide Fiedler, Dorothy Magley, Pearl Rehner, and the Messrs. Lloyd Whelan, Clyde Peirce, and three executive officials of the school, Miss Martha M. Pittenger, Mr. R. Nelson Snider, and Mr. A. Verne Flint. The committee, named above, have been meeting once a month since October. Their purpose is to sort and classify all home room material on hand, to add more, and get it all under one cover.

The book contains chapters on the organization of the home rooms extracurricular activities, such as clubs, athletics, music, dramatics, and publications. It also contains chapters on the courses of study, contests, scholarship awards, and school health.

There is a section devoted to special days and weeks. Each member of the committee is writing one chapter with the aid from other teachers and school officials. It is hoped, by the committee, that the book may be in finished form by spring, so that it may be in the hands of the teachers by September.

Junior Mathematicians Invite New Members

Miss Mabel M. Fortney has invited all freshmen and sophomores to join the Junior Math Club. The next meeting will be announced in the bulletin. In the future an arithmetic contest will be held and the winner's name will be put on the cup. Other officers besides the new president, Roger McVay, and secretary, Pauline Schoenherr, will be elected at the second meeting. The first meeting will be devoted to getting acquainted with other members.

New Times Head

Betty Daniels

Betty Daniels, a senior, began her term as General Manager of the Times with this issue. Only a few other changes were made in the staff.

Betty Daniels Is New Head Of Times Staff

Other Important Changes Announced On Business Group, Editorial Staff.

This semester The Times will be issued under the direction of the new general manager, Betty Daniels, who formerly filled the position of business manager. Eleanor Vesey, former general manager, will function in the capacity of student advisor.

Among the various changes on the business staff are the advancement of Lora Lee Montgomery, former advertising manager, to the position of business manager; John Bonsib has been promoted from ad solicitor to advertising manager; Sam Bacon and Kolan Gross are new assistant circulation managers; Betty Bolyard is the mailing manager; and Jessie Freeman, former mailing manager, is now assistant business manager.

Changes made on the editorial staff include the advancement of Betty Neef from copy editor to editor; the promotion of Richard Gering to copy editor; the appointment of two additional star reporters, Dorothy Bloemker and Doris Williams, and the taking on of three new reporters, Rebecca Abbett, Lucy Smith, and Delores Ulrich.

These new staff changes took effect the first day of the new semester.

Meterites Appoint Committee Heads

Marjorie McNabb, Prexy, Lists Helpers; "Plays" Is Chosen As Semester Program Theme.

New heads of committees were appointed by Marjorie McNabb, the president of the Meterite Club on Tuesday. Dorothy Gildea is to be the program chairman for the semester; Carol Whittier, social chairman; Ellen Harry, music chairman; Betty Ann Bohn, Inter-Club Congress representative; Carolyn Schaefer, house chairman; and Mary Ellen Barrett, publicity chairman.

Carol Trenary explained the point system which the Meterite Club uses. Cards were then signed by the girls who wished to join and who had made at least a B grade in English last semester.

Use "Plays" Theme

The theme for the semester was voted upon and "Plays," which was also the theme last semester, was again chosen. Dorothy Gildea appointed Joan Cartwright to take charge of the play for the next meeting. Joan chose the following committee: Janis Tremper, Mary Nell Spiegel, Patty Burns, Phyllis Ann Fager, Carolyn Emrich, Marilyn Emrich, Mary Elizabeth, and Phyllis Strasburg.

After the business meeting was concluded, Ionajan Tracht played Schubert's Impromptu in A flat and The Rosary by Nevin on the piano.

List Retiring Officers

Retiring officers of the club are Wilma Lagemann, president; Marjorie McNabb, vice-president; Joan Cartwright, secretary; and Hilda Schubert, treasurer. Those who are filling their places are Marjorie McNabb, president; Carol Trenary, vice-president; Rosa Lee Hall, secretary; and Joan Cox, treasurer.

All freshman girls having at least a B grade in English are invited to join the Meterite Club in its next meeting to be held in the Greeley room at 3:30 o'clock on Tuesday, February 7.

Election To Be Held By Math-Science Club

Election of officers will be held by Math-Science at the regular meeting tomorrow night, Friday, January 27, at 7:30 o'clock in the Greeley room.

Colored slides on "Mutation and the Origin of Species" will be shown.

Eugene Schmidt, Frieda Schubert, Beth Ellen Chadwick, and Henry Velkoff will give experiments on "Diffusion," "Precipitates," and "Tests with Oxygen." Aleda Randol will play several classical numbers on her accordion.

This year's club faculty advisors, Miss Adelaide Fiedler and Mr. Lloyd Whelan, will start their year with Math-Science Club tomorrow evening.

Receives Gold Pin

Joan Hess, graduating senior, received her gold pin last Monday. Joan has been the assistant business manager, credit manager, bill collector, and advertising solicitor on The Times.

Indiana Extension To Hold Contest

Annual Latin Test Is Given For Sixteen Years; To Make Selections Before February 11

South Side High School will again be represented in the State High School Latin Contest of 1938-39. This contest is being sponsored by the Indiana University Extension Division, Bloomington, Indiana. This year will be the sixteenth year of the annual contest.

The examinations will be of the objective type. They will include first and second year Latin, Cicero, and Virgil.

The local selection has to be held on or before February 11, 1939. The county contest will be February 25. On April 1, the district contest will be held. The state contest will be held on April 21.

Contestants of high ranking will be awarded medals in the state division. Successful contestants will be given in addition, preferred ratings by the scholarship committee of the various state colleges and universities, subject of course, to their meeting of other eligibility requirements.

Opening Day's Campaign Gets 221 New Sales

About 350 Subscriptions Reported At Present Time; 1,500, Goal; List Agents.

Newhard, Daniels Lead Room Agents

Room Agents Hold 2 Meetings; Candy Bars To Be Given To 100% Rooms.

During the first day subscription campaign of The Times, a total of 221 subscriptions was turned in. Although this number fell short of the goal set at 500 subscriptions for the first day it is expected that the circulation department can break any previous circulation records for the entire subscription drive. At the present time, there are about 350 subscriptions.

All staff members of the paper subscribed the first day, but not enough agents worked the first day to get the subscriptions to reach the goal.

Newhard Wins Prize

The winner of the first day prize for the largest number of subscriptions was won by Bill Newhard, a senior, with 49 first day subscriptions. Betty Daniels was the second highest agent with 19 subscriptions the first day. These two agents were awarded a dollar and a half dollar, respectively, for their efforts on the first day of school. These awards were given at the Times room agents meeting held in room 16 last night at 3:30.

Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty advisor for The Times, Betty Daniels, general manager of the paper, Virginia Goeglein, circulation manager, and Lora Lee Montgomery, business manager, spoke at this meeting. The speakers emphasized the fact that The Times was supported mainly by the subscriptions of the school. Candy bars were handed out at this meeting.

Ticket Not Found

The ticket that was hidden in the building the first day of school was not found by any member of the student body; so the offer of a free subscription had to be withdrawn.

Next Tuesday another Times' room agents meeting will be held. This will be the last room agents meeting for probably some time. Only one more free issue of The Times after this issue will be given, so all agents are being urged to special effort for the next few weeks.

Essay Contest Will Be Held For All Pupils

Topics Are Concerned With Law; American Citizenship Group Is Sponsor

The American Citizenship Committee of the Indiana State Bar Association presents a state essay contest in which all the students of South Side are eligible to enter. This contest is called a law essay contest. There is no intention of being technical regarding the time limit, as long as a substantial compliance has been had.

Five percent of the student body must enter the contest. Seniors are especially urged to enter this contest. Students who enter will be given credit for one theme in their English classes.

The topics suggested by the American Citizenship Committee are: The Meaning of United States Citizenship, United States Citizenship and The Constitution, United States Citizenship and the Bill of Rights, The Requirements for United States Citizenship, The Rights and Duties of United States Citizenship, Free Speech and Press—An Important Privilege, The Effect of United States Citizenship on Business, Optional Subject, The Study and Understanding of United States Citizenship, and The Relation Between Crime and Poor Citizenship.

Name Ruth Kaiser New Travel Head

Members Plan "World Cruise" As Theme For Spring Term; List The Individual Chairmen

Ruth Kaiser, president; Andy Bremer, vice-president; Velma Lehman, secretary; Annabelle Heckler, treasurer; Rozella Foutz, Inter-Club Congress representative; Lois Holtmeyer, foreign secretary; Jack Lindsay, sergeant-at-arms; and Emilou Allen-dorph, publicity chairman, were elected as new officers of Travel Club at a special meeting held in the Greeley Room recently. Edmund Bauer and Ivan Truman are continuing as Red Cross representatives as they were elected for one year.

At the executive meeting of Travel Club held Wednesday, January 18, it was decided that World Cruise would be the theme for the semester. The members of the club are going to visit an important seaport at each meeting. The seaport and the person in charge of the program for each meeting follows: February 8, New York, Donna Lou Foutz; February 22, London, Doris Stanets; March 8, Cairo, Laverne Englebrecht; March 22, Bombay, Betty Morgan; April 19, Singapore, Virginia Menz; May 3, Honolulu, Ruth Dauner; May 17, San Francisco, Lilas Patton.

The annual Travel Club picnic will be held May 23. Phyllis Branning is in charge of this assisted by Helen Luepke, in charge of the entertainment; and Irene Briggs who is in charge of food.

Speaks Of Forum

Mr. Wilburn Wilson

Mr. Wilburn Wilson made a speech at North Manchester College Saturday, January 21, about the Indiana Student Forum.

Story Contest Is Sponsored By Psi Iota Xi

Deadline For Entries Is Set For February 1; Mrs. A. J. Carson Is In Charge Here.

All short stories which are to be entered in the short story contest of the Delta Gamma Chapter of the Psi Iota Xi sorority must be turned in to Mrs. Alda Jane Carson in room 36 by February 1.

This sorority has sponsored such a contest as this in South Side for the past six years. Any graduating senior girl, that is, a 12A or a post-graduate is eligible to enter. This contest has three parts, namely a local contest which is open to every graduating senior girl in Fort Wayne, a province contest in which there will be stories that represent the twenty-one chapters of the sorority in the northern division, and the state contest in which there will be just three competitive stories. These three stories will be from the three divisions of the country, the northern, southern and central provinces.

List Prizes

The prizes for the contest are as follows: local, first prize is $5, second prize is $3 and third prize is $2. The province prize is $25 and the state prize is $50. The local prize winners are to be announced February 15.

This year the three judges are to be local chairman, Miss Hazel Plummer of North Side High School; northern province chairman, Mrs. Carson; and state chairman, Mrs. Paul Morton, of Lebanon, Indiana.

Past Winners Named

South Side has had several local winners in this contest in the past. In 1936 Jo Anne Smith won the first prize while in 1937 Elinor White, Peggy Kilpatrick, and Ruth Phipps won the local prizes. Betty Garton won the provincial contest last year.

More information concerning the writing of the short stories can be obtained in room 36 from Mrs. Carson.

Speaker To Talk To Hi-Y Tonight

Mrs. Forest Moore To Be Guest Talker; All Juniors, Seniors Cordially Invited To Attend.

Mrs. Forest Moore will be guest speaker at the Hi-Y Club tonight at 7:30 at the Y. M. C. A. tonight. She will talk on philosophy and also on her collection of autographs. Because of the fact that this is the first meeting of the semester, junior and senior boys are cordially invited to attend.

Newly elected officers of the Hi-Y Club were honored at a potluck which was held Thursday night at the Y. M. C. A. The committee in charge of the potluck was composed of Bill Riethmiller, chairman, Max Mitchell, Dick Garton, and Murray Squires.

Committees Announced

Andy Bremer, the newly elected president, announced three standing committees which are to serve all semester. The committees are a committee on activities, which plans the social events of the club; a committee on program, which lays out a program for the entire semester; a committee on finance, whose duty it is to determine ways of making money. The purveyors of these committees are as follows:

Activities: Morton Nahrwald, chairman; Clayton Jensen, and Frank Devlin; program, Maurie Lehman, chairman; Howard Miller, and Dick Aronhalt; finance: Max Mitchell, chairman, Jack Bostick, and Bill Schultz.

Other Officers Named

Morton Nahrwald was elected vice-president at the potluck because of a vacancy in that position. The other newly elected officers are Aubrey Kellogg, secretary; John Magley, treasurer; Clayton Jensen, Inter-Club Congress representative; and Bill Riethmiller, sergeant-at-arms.

The retiring officers are Dick Buchholz, president; Maurice Lehman, vice-president; Roger Neff, secretary; Jack Bostick, treasurer; Morton Nahrwald, Inter-Club Congress representative; and Herbert Dornier, sergeant-at-arms.

Renew Pencil Campaign

The Hi-Y Club has announced that the basketball schedule pencils are now on sale at a reduced price. Instead of five cents apiece, they now sell at three for ten cents. The pencils may be obtained from any Hi-Y member.

The members who worked in the check room at the South Side-Goshen game were: Bob MacKay, Frank Devlin, Herbert Dornier, and Maurice Lethman.

Totem Picture Drive To End On February 3

Thirty-Five Cents Must Be Paid By Underclassmen; Photos To Be Made Later

Frosh Campaign Is To Be Staged

Will Be This Week; To Urge New Students To Buy Totem, Have Photo Taken

The annual underclassman picture campaign is now under way with the deadline set as February 3. Thirty-five cents must be paid and the receipts accepted from the agents before that date. However, the pictures will be taken later in the year at the Jefferson Studio.

This week, a drive for the incoming freshmen is being conducted. This campaign is directed to urge the new students to purchase The Totem and also to have their pictures appear in its pages.

As a result of the Senior poll, snapshots of pictures will be taken soon of the students selected as the most popular or for some other qualification. An underclass poll will be conducted in the near future. Snapshots of the most-voted-for students will appear in The Totem.

In speaking of the sale of Totem's Nadine Mueller, co-circulation manager, said, "We have sold 940 subscriptions for our Totem. The next deadline for Totem payments will be February 3, when $1.25 must be paid or a fine will be added to the cost of that student's Totem."

The underclassmen picture agents and their home rooms as announced the previous week in The Times are as follows:

Announce Writers For Totem Stories

Club Reporters Must Have All Articles In By February 24; Advisers Must Check Stories

To All Senior Males We Say Unprejudiced, "Why Not Participate?"

A senior year in any man's language is supposed to be possibly the best seasonal grouping of a high school program. It is the time when all good upperclassmen blossom forth, as in previous times seniors did, to shine with unthwarted brilliance in extra-curriculars. A last year of high-school-astics is deemed by many as the one year which is so fondly kept in one's memory, for it is the bridge which helps us across the wide space of reminiscing.

This year, it is a bare fact and one which we admit with shamed faces, that all of the Archer twelfth graders are not enjoying to the fullest the keen recreational attributes which a South Side extra-curriculum has to offer.

The fault lies among the male aspirants of our uppergraders. It is a highly recognized and exceedingly visible fact that many of the South senior boys simply will not offer their time and cooperation in making any senior enterprise successful and worthwhile. What is more disheartening than to have very little coordination in an affair which requires a great deal.

This same group of potential seniors have clamored loudly for post-game dances, declaring the benefits derived by other high school students because of these ball-istic functions. However, when the Archer faculty finally does give their much-sought permission for the dances, the aforementioned group of "stags" do not even make their appearance.

Maybe we're wrong in ascertaining that our sophomore and junior male-men have more distinctly shone forth in the true school spirit than the twelfth grade set ever will, still, at present this conclusion would certainly be drawn.

We have probed this problem carefully and can simply not find any true basic cause why the present group of Archer seniors should react to their social obligations the way they do. It most certainly could not be due to a lack of education, for they have been enabled to delve in the same courses as other recipients.

Perhaps it's more luxurious merely to sit back and watch other up-and-coming South-folk participate in the very worthwhile club and class works; but, toward this same group of shirkers, the more active, less selfish class feel only a deep pity for this pathetic set.

To this provokingly, disinterested group of on-lookers we say, "Why not participate?"

Students' Non-Perfection Needs Helpful Criticism

"Nobody is perfect"! "Everyone makes mistakes"! These and other time-honored proverbs show us throughout the years it has been the opinion of the greatest thinkers that everyone has his faults. Naturally we are not the ones to disagree with the most renowned persons ever to breathe oxygen in this section of the universe, but with your most honorable permission, we should like to advance a theory on the subject. Whether or not we can correct the faults of the world's population remains, perhaps forever, to be seen.

Our theory is: Why not use constructive criticism to help make this life easier to live. We don't necessarily mean that a person should try to make life miserable for a friend by finding his mistakes, but we don't think that we would mind too much if some kind person told us what some of our faults and shortcomings are.

How are we ever to improve our status in this hard-to-live-in world unless we learn to do things with the least effort and mistakes? We can't! Remember when you were learning to write? You took lots of constructive criticisms then, and it didn't kill you.

When you that haven't already learned the various pushings and pullings necessary to drive cars start to absorb this type of learning, you will take a lot more criticizing; but since you really want to learn to drive, you will take it without blinking an eye. But if some one tells you that you talk too much about your doings, your family, and such allied subjects, you may blow away in the air.

If you don't, you are a member of what has been called the modern generation. The new group of people who want to do things in the best way, and the method of learning how to do things in the best way is through constructive criticism.

It seems a pity that our present 9B crop couldn't have been here sooner when we had the best one-story school, so that they could appreciate more fully our deluxe two-story structure.

All Archer lovers of the dance should present their fun-loving selves at Wranglers' gala ball, February 3. Get your tickets early for self assurance of a good time.

Senior Synopsis

By R. U.
Graduating

With most of the upperclassical people settling their Senior selves in the final lap of high school-astics and readjusting themselves to the new study-intricacies, we manage to transcribe some news-scripts to you, kind column-watchers. So, gather up yo' beatin' irons, big-folks, and let's start swinging out with the latest in gossipies, finding out what is in this mighty institutional dwelling of ours.

TABLE OF DISCONTENT, to begin with, we make what we thought was a foretime understood by all previous Senior followers. Anything mentioned, murmured, or written in this column is meant only to bring forth to y'all brimfuls of enjoyable pleasure, and no one is to be heart-wounded or mentally put depressed because of anything published herewith. So, with this, we, the authors, continue.

FALLING HARD FOR SOMEONE was Nadine Mueller. Nickie, (pronounced Neekie) was seen looking non-too-moderately musty around the gills a week ago. Shamefacedly looking through two sorely darkened optics and breathing through a horribly mangled nose was our little skating flash, seeking solace and finding only the unshushed laughter of her friends. (fairweather?) ... Or are we being too precise?

HANGING ON THE LONGEST LINE is Edward (Biggie boy) Reeves, who can all-too-frequently be found Ferdinand-and-The-Bulling-It around all Archer smoothie-gals. Words never fail you, Ed m'boy, so why bother about public speaking. Maybe it's personality dynamics. Who knows!

AND SPEAKING OF SWEETER THINGS, we discuss with wide faced smiles Adelheide Scheele, the girl wonder, gradually being disrupted by her own brainstorms, and walked into a class room the other a. m. with a cementingly hard coiffure. This hair-delver poured some uncler confection, designed to do anything for your hair-line and eventually remove it entirely, was made of sugar and some aquatic liquid which consequently started doing things funny and making her hair take on a freezable texture. That's a hair-raising way of using your head, Scheele, Tsk tsk!

SOME SENIOR FUNNY MEN spread the good word around that horse sense came as a result of stable thinking. Nay, nay, thou art wrong, young lad. Anyhow, s'too colt for such triffin' discussions.

HEAVING THE HONORS, we bestow with grace and good will a shining wreath upon a head of sublime pulchritude. Kitty Clinaird, a Senior lady of intellectual plus, who delves heartily in extra-curriculars and slings fun with her scores of enthusiastic friends. To you, Kitty, we offer with congratulations hearty, a long past-due applause.

WE WONDER why Mark Hall, the wench-shy lad and a very strange fellow, is so distinctly distant with all South-women. A boy with the versatility, grace, and charm of Mistah Hall is found makin' many many hearts of sweet femininity beat the faster, and unnecessarily so, fo' this lad of ESKIMOtal talents simply will not unbend. ... So relax, girls, live and forget!

WITH HEARTFELT REGRETS we of the Senior body felt depressing sadness as we watched those post-gradual people making their departure from our portals into the highly-frenzied ranks of business. However, we say merely au revoir, until June when we will all be reunited, cap and gowning it in processional rhythm.

ADDING NOTEWORTHY AFTERNOTES, we find that we forget to welcome all new Frosh-folk with the true spirit of Senior subtletness, that we neglected to remind all interested readers to offer yo' duly and highly appreciated Times subscriptions, and that we overlooked the extremely obvious factor of fast-fleeting time.

So, once again, ladies, gentlemen, and fellow Archers, we must correspondingly draw to a close our statistics.

Wee Sketches Of Our Big People

By Jeanette Warren

Those of you who know her, know what a grand gal she is; those of you who do not... well, get acquainted.

The person of whom we speak is none other than that charming go-getter, Frieda Schubert. Her personality-plus and her sincerity have won her many friends, and they all think she's tops.

Her super something is responsible for her position as Senior Editor of the Totem. Besides being a successful home room agent for The Times, she finds time to attend So-Si-Y, Three E's, S. P. C., and G. A. A. club meetings.

Ahoy, gennimens, Miss Schubert's pet peeve of pet peeves is having a late date. ... What she does appreciate very much, though, are corsages of red roses. Her favorite foods include potatoes, dumplings and goulash. She declares she has no time for diversion, but she is interested in collecting snapshots of foreign countries. Lux Theater (unpaid adv.) ranks first with her among her radio programs; "My Reverie" current number one song hit is number one with her.

Frieda, who came to Fort Wayne from Germany when she was nine years old, received part of her grade school education at James H. Smart. A 12A at present, she hopes the future holds a career of nursing for her, training for which she plans to receive at the Lutheran Hospital. Her second ambition is "to go to Europe and see everything there," which in our opinion includes a lot of territory.

Students, we give you Frieda Schubert!

Archer Fun-Fests

Former Freshmen Are Now New Full-Fledged Sophomores

At long last, the freshies of '38 are no longer freshies! The freshmen that entered a year ago are full-fledged sophomores. It's quite a bit different now. No longer will the freshie shrink in terror from the great hulking brute of a senior. For now, they have finished what is usually the hardest year for the high school student. Now, when someone asks them what year they are in, they can proudly admit that they are sophomores.

Just the word freshman creates a humble attitude for the beginner, although I venture to say, South Side has a large group of freshies that stick up for themselves and their rights. Green freshies have to stand for much ridicule, and they act as a target for jokes. And in their hearts, they're waiting for the day to "dish it out" as well as they "took it." As freshmen B's, they feel pretty low, small, and meek. But when they become freshmen A's, the feeling begins to disappear. They begin to feel more like they belong, which is as it should be.

Terrible Sensation Returns
But before long the terrible sensation returns again. The days are long, the weeks drag, and the months seem like a life-time. Finally, the time has come! Grades are issued, making the freshies sophomores. Is there any greater glory to be bestowed on the freshmen than to be graduated from the green realm.

From this group of up and coming freshmen will sprout the students that will carry on the good name of South Side High School. Perhaps you will be the one that everyone knows, whose name is mentioned everywhere, and who is prominent in every activity. It's a great thrill and makes you enjoy your school days much more. To enjoy your school days, you must live them! So, keep the pace up and make a good record on the books.

Sophs Express Happiness
A few of the new sophs have reasons of their own for being happy over the fact that they are "greenies" no more.
Ruthie Alldorfer is happy about the whole thing. Especially, because she can't be called a freshman any more.
Joan Dutterer can take a deep

Ho Hum! Here I am again writing the dirt column. Will wonders never cease?

The first thing that I want to get settled is this controversy over bow ties. It is my opinion that they are very cute. Even if a certain fellow Times sufferer thinks otherwise. (And besides what is her measly opinion against mine?) All right, no cracks now. The mere fact that all the boys have instantly taken up the fad should be enough to convince even the most ignorant person. Of course, some people fall far below the average I. Q. (not mentioning any names, but do I need to?)

Sam Bacon, who only recently recovered from an affair certainly does not waste any time. His latest heart-beat is Gloria Spanley. "I'm rumored that he already is going steady. Fast worker, eh?"

Poor Maurine Leas! She is caught between two fires. The fires are Bob Hines and John Marner. Most girls would give their eye teeth to possess even one of these would-be Romeos. However, it is quite a problem, even I must admit this. The fact that makes it so perplexing is that both are equally cute, nice, and romantic. You've got to hand it to Maurine, for she certainly must have what it takes.

Some admiring fan would like to know if it is love or merely friendship between Lum McDowell and Marilyn Dennis. I am of the opinion that it is strictly love.

Lloyd Hanna has his eyes on Joan Gable. However, she seems to be looking the other way, because she won't even give him a wink.

Several couples that have been seen constantly together are Robert Hackmeyer and Jean McArt, Bob Wendell and Marg Kruse, Dale Landis and Mildred Voght, Eugene Bakofem and Jane VanPelt, Roy Demetre and Jewel Diem, Dallas Zuber and Phyllis Orr,

Pro and Con

Now that all the bad news of Wednesday last has been broken as gently as possible, and we have all recovered slightly from the shocking revelations, we are all wondering why so much importance is attached to final exams, in fact, why have final exams? At first that question sounds a bit absurd even to consider it, but that is exactly what we are going to do. Most teachers are so set on them that they probably will not even bother to read the rest because they do not think there are any two ways about it; however, we feel that there are, and will endeavor to present both sides of the controversy.

Pro
In the first place, it might be a good idea to find the objective of final exams. The most logical answer would be so that the teachers can tell whether or not the students know anything more at the end of the semester than when they started out in the course, and whether or not they have retained any of that knowledge or, as one teacher might put it, "whether they have the power to recall." If anything will, a final exam will show a person up nine times out of ten if he is bluffing his way through a course. From past experience, everyone knows that the finals usually cover the term's work in a fairly thorough manner, and there are no two ways about it. ... you either know it or you don't. Take chemistry, for example: if, during the whole semester, you have been copying experiments and happen to have the papers of a person who knows what it's all about, on the face of things you are doing fine work. You get credit, yes, but undeserved credit, and the final exam shows you up. In this test you are supposedly on your own, and it is purely your own efforts that get you a grade. And now, while we still have some effort left, let's look at the other side:

Con
If a student has not been studying his lesson day by day, diligently trying to retain some knowledge of the semester's work, he is hopelessly lost. No amount of cramming on the night before the final exam can help him pass the test. If, however, he thinks he can defy the law of something-or-other, he only comes to grief over his efforts, with the net result the day of the exam of one big headache and one big F.

What we are driving at is that a good teacher knows whether or not a student is doing good daily work. If he is, well; if he isn't, she knows it. So why the final exam? He can't effect a sudden reform; he either knows it or he doesn't. If a student has been doing good daily work, that is all that can be expected of him. No final exam is necessary. It actually causes a good bit of grief and a lot of unnecessary work on the teacher's part. Also, in one big way the final exam is unfair when the teacher counts on it entirely for the final grade, because in many cases it is not an exhibition of a student's best work; e. g., take a student who has been doing A daily work all semester and is an intelligent person. On the day of the exam, he is not feeling well, with the inevitable result that he doesn't do his best work. Should the whole term's work be based on the result of this one off-day? Obviously not!

Well, our substitute for the final exam would be the daily quiz. Of course, students, this is only a suggestion, and we want to know... WHAT DO YOU THINK?

Scribe Lists Rules To Aid Frosh-Folk For Hearty Success

When we upperclassmen see the large number of incoming freshmen, we immediately recall to mind the day when we received our first taste of high school life.

The upperclassmen, hurrying to their classes, and the freshmen, first looking at their cards and then at the numbers above the room doors, are only two of the familiar first day scenes.

The pranks that are played on the freshmen are a part of the first day and must be expected. You see, when the upperclassmen were but greenhorns, they were tricked and now must get their revenge. Tricking incoming freshmen seems to be a swell way to get even, so there you are.

Determine For Success
When you enter the portals of South Side, you should determine to make a name for yourself during your short stay here. You should achieve something that will make South Side proud to say that you were one of its students.

Some freshmen conceive the idea that when they come to high school, they will immediately go to the top and at least put on an air of importance. Often these students find that this isn't so easy. Success is the fruit of hard work, and true success comes only when you have really worked to earn it.

Too many freshmen can be pointed out as greenhorns because of the way they act. Silly giggles and supposedly smart pranks are two of the characteristics of freshmen. If you don't want to be called a greenhorn, don't act like one.

Make Friends
Too many new comers try to gain membership in entirely too many clubs, and in the end they fail to be an active member in any. Join enough clubs so that you can make friends, but limit the number of clubs to an extent where you can be a true, active member.

Your upperclassmen are your friends, and you should regard them as such.
To sum this up, we might say, act yourself, take an active part in your school life, and set a goal for success, and as a result you will be glad to say that you attend South Side; and South Side will be proud to say that you are one of its students.

Boys Should Discard Al Bow Tie Apparel For Popularity's Sake

"Ugh" is what most girls pronounce as their personal opinion of bow ties; but as in any dispute, there is another side to the question, the boys' side. Well, in this case, the boys' point of view is "Why not?" while the girls say, "Why?"

Now, taking up the boys' side of the problem, there are a number of reasons why boys wear bow ties, but the most outstanding reason seems to be to attract attention. Can you boys honestly say that they do not attract attention? Well, it would be no use to do so, because anyone can see that an unusual object worn near the face is going to detract attention from the face to under the chin. So, we get the idea that the boys who are participating in this fad are the ones who, as most boys now do, wish to attract attention. Another reason why boys like these ties is because they are a fad. But, boys, do you really—let's say—"like yourself" in them?

Now, the girls have strongly expressed their opinion on the subject. You know, feminine ideas are usually quickly adjusted to new fads. However, this is one which the feds have ruled out. They strongly and decidedly point out their reasons for the "why?" side of the question. In the first place, they say, bow ties are appropriate on one and only one occasion—with a tux. Then, because they attract attention and are too flashy. Next, because they look "prissy" and too "old fashioned." Last because they are unusual and not at all becoming.

As was stated, the majority of girls dislike this new fad, but as usual there is an obstinate one in the midst. The one taking the negative side is none other than the Dirt-Disher-Outter. But, she is always cooking up things so, we'll let it go at that.

To the boys who think the idea "cute," the following fashionable feds have graciously consented to conceive their conceptions of this fad after they have carefully concentrated on the subject:

Mary Lee Kixmiller—"They're terrible. Too classy!"
Kitty Clinaird—"Oh, I simply hate them!"
Mary Jean Michel—"Not so hot."
Virginia Goegelein—"Lousy."
Anna Lou Kowalski—"They're atrocious monstrosities."

Marg Wallace—"O. K., in their place."
Laura Jane Reed—"Positively awful."
Peg Bacon—"They look 'prissy'."

Martha Jean Smith—"Strictly with tails."
So, boys, if you are considering accepting the fad or have already been induced to adorn your "pan" with a bow tie, please take the hints which the gals have offered and think twice; and the next time you look in the mirror, look twice. Get your real conception of the latest, loudest fad of the season.

Teachers' Wit Voted As Students' Menace

Since the days of Alley Oop and the first of the Mohicans, teachers have been a menace because of their unconquered habit of emitting "wise" sayings. They are all masters of the art, "How to make your pupils laugh—or else."

Even an excellent, well-liked basketball coach will lower himself to questions like "Who in here has never been kissed?" (However, I don't believe a truthful answer would be given, do you?)

Who would believe that a dear lady, a delver into the mysteries of English, would say, "Honesty comes before English."

And it is fitting that a certain well-liked teacher should tell about the pranks of her younger days and say that "We all did the same things when we were in school as you young ones do now." (We like to hear it, and to this teacher and many others included we dedicate this song—"You Are My True Confession.")

Then there is a teacher, (a civics teacher) who tells his classes about "Posey County" (which always produces a hearty laugh) and to them he gives the funny but original saying, "Them's my sentiments, take 'em, or leave 'em in the seat when you go."

Not even a distinguished chemistry teacher may be eliminated from the line-up. This gentleman's favorite saying is "Gosh, I don't know" in answer to various questions.

And so on and on the list rambles with the faculty-punsters dolving in rare witticisms and consequently breaking up the students' hearty patience.

There is the none-too-moderately modified version of the spoiled child taking a tip from Herr Hitler. "That's right, mamma, unless the hall territory around my room is ceded to me outright, I refuse all attempts to negotiate settlement of the carrot-eating problem."

With the new year well under way, it is only typical that our much-discussed, highly-celebrated South Side will once more continue on its way as a champion institutional dwelling as it so capably did in the foregoing year.

Latin Reports Are Delivered By 260 Pupils

Claude Davenport Reports On Eight Books; Other Collateral Reports Listed

Approximately 260 Latin students read books on the Latin outside reading list. The "Standard Bearer," "The Unwilling Vestal," "With Caesar's Legions," and "The Perilous Seat" are the books which seem to be the most frequently read.

Claude Davenport, a student of Mrs. Grace Welty, read eight books; this was the largest number reported on.

South Side Travelers Are First In National High School Relief And Disaster Service, Project Created By Student Members, Adviser

Some nine years ago in April a group of girls of one of Miss Crissie E. Mott's sewing classes were chatting about the pictures, dolls, books, et cetera, that they had received through exchanges with other countries. The discussion became so interesting that they decided to bring the objects of their conversation to school and place them on exhibit so that others might see them. One of the group, Marian Moore, realizing how fascinating such an interest might become, suggested that the group meet and study The National Geographic Magazine. From this beginning someone hit upon the idea of establishing a school-wide travel club.

Shortly after, the same year, thirty-five students with similar interests as the original group became charter members of Travel Club. Miss Mabel Thorne has been adviser of the club since its organization, as was Miss Olive Perkins previous to the organization of the French Club.

Club Is Cosmopolitan
Several concise statements of the club's adviser aptly explain its purpose: "Perhaps every school needs one club that is cosmopolitan, where there are no prerequisites for membership, where membership drives are not held, where working in the club is entirely optional with each member, and where the reward for service is more a personal feeling of satisfaction over work accomplished than public recognition. Such a club we have tried to make Travel Club of South Side High, the purpose of which is (1) to unite the energy, interest, and knowledge of South Side's would-be travelers, (2) to collect and disseminate information about various parts of the world, (3) to future the achievements of its members through world knowledge, (4) to educate its members for intelligent travel, and (5) to further international good will through an understanding of the environment and social life of foreign peoples."

The only rule which the club's one hundred members must conform to, interesting though not unreasonable, is that when a member willingly assumes a responsibility he will be expected to do the task designated in spite of flood and famine, yes, and G.A.A. and Times staff meetings. Each semester the executive committee of the club selects a theme to guide them in their study of foreign places. Several of them have been "Famous Travelers," "Seeing America First," "Mexico." The theme this past semester has been, "Hopping About The Continent," a study of out-of-the-way places.

Have Outside Speakers
It has been the motto of the club not to become too dependent on outsiders and yet many of their best programs have featured guest speakers. Many who have contributed to their programs have been from our own school. Included among them have been Bob Formanek, Miss Mary McClosky, Miss Elizabeth Kelley, and Miss Eleanor Smeltzly. Bob Formanek showed pictures that had been taken by his family during their visit to Czechoslovakia last summer. To add to the interest of the study of

Miss Mabel Thorne

America, Miss McClosky described her visit to New England. In amplifying this year's theme, Miss Kelley told about the trip she took across the Andes which she made during her trip to South America last summer. Miss Smeltzly is the stand-by of the club. Due to her extensive traveling, she can give zest with her first-hand information to any meeting.

One of the recent undertakings of the club was their Disaster Relief and Preparedness Survey throughout the school. It was at the suggestion of the local Red Cross chapter that the executive committee and former Red Cross representatives, Ruth Bade and Phyllis Branning, planned the white card which each student filled out. The cards listed the skills and equipment that it was possible students might possess, and each Archers was asked to check his first and second choice of each. Should any disaster, in which high school students might be of service, occur in Fort Wayne these cards will be used as reference.

To Send Dolls
Travel is not a Red Cross Club, but it assumes the responsibilities regularly taken over by such an organization. The first meeting of each semester is devoted to Red Cross work. Each year in connection with this affiliation the Red Cross representatives together with the foreign secretary make plans to exchange some article with a foreign country. This year they are sending a boy and girl doll to be dressed as South Side students. In carrying this project out to the 9th degree, they are planning to put a knitted sweater (letterman's sweater) on the boy.

There are four social events in the Travel Club year. They are an evening party, a Christmas party, a skate, and a picnic. At the first mentioned meeting, the evening party, there are stunts, music, dancing, ping pong, and of course refreshments. The Christmas party is of a more serious nature and is one of the highlights of the year for the "Travelers".

Then come the skating party and the picnic.

The outstanding feature of these events are that they are financed solely by the Travel Club treasury. At times after he has paid his twenty-five cents, semi-annual club dues, is a member asked to contribute money to the club. The only outside source of income, other than the dues, is the skate. The picnic is not carried out in potluck style but is paid for from the treasury even to the extent of paying the street car fare of those who do not live near the park at which the gathering is to be held.

Officers Named
The present officers are president, Bill Newhard; vice-president, Jeanne Gumpner; secretary, Dorothy Karnap; treasurer, Mary Jane Christie; Inter-Club Congress representative, Dick Hebermehl; foreign secretary, Emilou Allendorph; Red Cross representatives, Ivan Truman, and Edmund Bauer, and sergeant-at-arms, William Morgan.

A complete list of those persons who hold membership in the club is as follows: Emilou Allendorph, Ruth Bade, Edmund Bauer, Betty Baumgartner, Vera Berning, Joan Blum, Betty Ann Boese, Pauline Tracht, Phyllis Branning, Andy Bremer, Mildred Brett, Irene Briggs, Melba Brindel, Wanda Brown, Mary Jane Christie, Marjorie Clapp, Joan Cox, Ruth Dauner, John Dingley, Thelma Draper, Bernita Eggers, Francis Eggers, Kathryn Eipper, LaVerne Englebrecht, Katherine Ernsberger, Calvin Figley, Donna Lou Foutz, Rozella Foutz, Irene Franke, Mildred Frantz, Helen Fry, Marjorie Funk, Faye Gumpner, Jeanne Gumpner, Joan Gunter, Lois Hagaman, Dixie Lee Hanna, Ellen Harry, Margaret Hart, Dick Hebermehl, Annabelle Heckler, Evelyn Hagerfeld, Phyllis Hess, Constance Hersby, Sally Hobbs, Janet Holtmeyer, Joan Hoy, Miriam Jackson, Audrey Jeffries, Phyllis Kaiser, Ruth Kaiser, Dorothy Karnap, Norma Keel, Don Knorr, Betty Woehler, Rosella Koehler, Alma Korte, and Marjory Kruse.

Scheme For Effecting Tournament Sales Is Announced

Plan Includes Strict Schedule In Ticket Sale

Admissions Will Be Sold On Specified Dates; No Privileges Are To Be Granted

Student Body First To Be Considered

Schools of State to Be Given Limited Number of Tickets For Various Tournaments

By R. Nelson Snider

The following scheme for the sale of tickets for the series of basketball tournaments will be used this year. It is being announced in the school and in the city papers so that everyone may become acquainted with it. No deviations will be made from the announced schedule, and no special privileges will be granted.

Sectional tickets, on sale Feb. 27 $1.50
State tickets, on sale Feb. 27 1.25
Provisional semi-final tickets, on sale Feb. 27 1.00
Provisional state tickets, on sale Feb. 27 1.25
Regional tickets, on sale March 6 .75

Each school in the state is entitled to some tickets for the sectional tournament.

Based On Enrollment
Each school in the state is entitled to state tickets equivalent to 6 per cent of its enrollment.

Schools which participate in the Regional tournaments divide the seating capacity of the gymnasium in accordance with enrollment and geographical situation.

Schools which participate in the semi-final divide the seating capacity of the gymnasium in accordance with enrollment and geographical situation. Schools which participate in the semi-finals are entitled to two hundred tickets for the State, above the 1 per cent allotment.

Schools which participate in the State are entitled to three hundred tickets for the State above the 6 per cent and Semi-Final allotment.

Students Come First
In the sale of our State tickets we shall endeavor to give the students of our school the first chance to buy. The tournament is one of high school students, and the students of the schools should have first opportunity to secure the tickets for it. Until the students of the schools have had an opportunity to purchase their tickets, people outside will have to order provisional ones.

Out of the sure tickets our school will put aside enough to enable us to take the members of the basketball squad and the Athletic Department to the tournaments.

G. A. A. Members Get More Points

Hiking, Skating Lead In Events Of Athletic Organization; Sport Participants Are Listed

During the last few weeks, hiking and skating have been the outstanding sports of many G. A. A.ers. Hikes were taken to New Haven, Rome City, and around town. The majority of ice skaters skated at the Reservoir.

Those who have taken hikes are as follows: Gertrude Merkel, Betty Nichols, Maxine Stough, Marguerite Calkins, Marjorie Price, Mary Seibt, Hazel Perry, Betty Littlefield, Mary Menze, Mary Alice Dunten, and Lucile Scheuman.

The members who have earned points either ice skating or roller skating are: Elaine Hirsch, Nancy Hess, Dorothy Allen, Marjorie Price, Dorothy Amstutz, Katharine Neith, Joy Degitz, Marjorie Schelper, Eileen Schelper, Mildred Voigt, Neva Kirk, Delores Bloemker, Florence Dickmeyer, Audrey Mutschlecker, Marjorie Morrison, Eleanor Wittwer, Betty Nichols, Gertrude Merkel, Frances Nash, Kathryn Lahrman, Margaret Brower, Barbara Brower, Miriam Jackson, and Ruth Hoover.

More members who have earned points by skating are as follows: Delores Ulrich, Joan Squires, Jeanne Smith, Elizabeth Kelo, Virginia Goetz, Ruth Alder, Joan Dutterer, Mary Alice Dunten, Peggy Greaney, Delores Bodenborn, Thompson Hall, Audrey Hall, Ruth Doehla, Marge Schelper, Lois Gumpfer, and Faye Gumpfer.

Lead Ice Cream Sale

Betty Clem and Paul Johnson led the selling of ice cream at the two basketball games played during vacation.

Calvin Armstrong and Dick Lockhart are two new boosters for the school; they started their work at the Central-South Side game.

Intramurally Speaking

The first thing which I must take up this week is the cordial invitation which the Boys' Intramural Sports Department extends to all you new freshmen. To be sure we don't only invite freshmen, but also all you upperclassmen who desire to join in the fun. But the freshmen in particular are invited. So let's see all those interested down in Louie Briner's office signing up for your particular sport.

This week I'm going to start something new and something that I hope will prove to be interesting. Instead of reading the same old stuff, I'm going to divide the column into four sections: (1) Intramural Incidents, (2) Hall of Fame, (3) Future Facts, (4) Secrets Revealed.

Now let's go to press on this first one, Intramural Incidents. The first intramural incident of importance last week happens to be the forming of a club, the Intramural Club. The club recently held their first meeting at which there was an election of officers.

Another incident last week was the forming of a new sport, ping pong. Although legally ping pong is not included in the rostrum of intramural, I will mention it in this column. The team was originally formed by only a few boys. And when these few boys were subjected to a challenge meet by Arcola, they were severely beaten through lack of experience. But like every other Archer, they were determined for revenge; so after a week or so the ping pong playing Archers challenged Arcola to a meet here and showed them that South Side is a school of champions by suddenly turning the tide of battle. So let's wish the South Side Ping Pong Club the best of luck in their future conquests.

In the Hall of Fame for the first week it is only fair that the first acclamation of so great an honor as this be Paul Dammier. Every intramural fan is well acquainted with the name of Paul Dammier, for Paul is or has been active in practically every intramural sport in history. Paul has earned his intramural letter and many more points besides. So to be sure there is no person who deserves this honor more than Paul Dammier.

In future facts I intend to tell you the events of the coming week which will be participated in by all you intramuralists. In the coming week the schedule reads that handball, volleyball, and basketball will hold full sway with games being played on the scheduled intramural nights.

It is fitting and proper that the first victim of secrets revealed be of the higher ups, so to fulfill this intention I have gained a bit of inside information on Burl Friddle. As you all know Burl is quite a sports enthusiast or at least so we are told. Well, anyway when Burl was a high school lad he became quite interested in football, so he immediately went out for the team. But to start from the first, let's go back to the source of the story, so I may tell you in what way I happened to get hold of this odd bit of gossip. It all happened last year in a certain gym class one day when two boys happened to get in a fight. One of the lads suddenly got a little rough and decided to end the battle, so he slugged the other chap on the chin, thus cutting his lip. Well, this did end the fight, and as quick as a wink, these two little battlers were in the gym office being questioned by Mr. Friddle. Now, here's where the fun really begins. After questioning the boys and giving them a thorough bawling out, Mr. Friddle told of his experience on the gridiron in a game in which he was contending. Burl was playing a hard game, when suddenly—Wham—he slugged a warlike opponent on the jaw. The enemy fell and Burl glanced down at him waiting for what would happen next. Well, two policemen rushed onto the field and took Burl to the showers. While in the showers, Burl was a very sad lad for he had let his temper get the best of him. And ever since this, Burl has used this strange incident to show other boys what a bad thing it is to let your temper run away with you.

Dance In Huntington

The Hi-Y boys of Huntington will sponsor an after game dance at the Y. M. C. A. at Huntington, January 27. Dancing will begin right after the game and will end at 12 o'clock. A negro band will play for the dance. Tickets are twenty-five cents a person.

Pep Assembly Will Be Held For Freshmen

Given During Home Room Period Friday Morning; South Side Yells Listed

During the home room period tomorrow, a pep session will be held for the freshmen alone. This meeting will take place in the gym before the game Friday night with Huntington and the one with Elwood Saturday evening. In previous years the pep session for the freshmen was not held, but instead the freshmen were present at a general assembly where they learned the various yells.

The pep meeting is being planned by Mr. Albert Heine and the cheer leaders. As this is to be the first pep session that the new freshmen will attend, the new yells will be taught to them.

As it has been discovered during the past year that a part of the student body doesn't know the yells, we are printing them here for their benefit as well as that of the new freshmen.

Two Net Tilts Draw 3,719 To Pack Gym

At the two most recent games, Central and Goshen games, about 3,719 people attended. At the Central game 773 adult tickets were sold at the gate and 129 children tickets were sold. About 525 adults were admitted with full season tickets and 676 students. The total number of tickets taken at the Central game is 2,405. Exactly 201 adult tickets and eighty-six children tickets were sold at the gate. The adult season tickets amounted to 423, and the student was 604. The total tickets taken in at the Goshen game is 1,314.

Redskins Succeed In Breaking Jinx

North Side Defeats Airedales By Score Of 31-29; Young Is Top Scorer; Makes 10 Points

With considerable difficulty North Side broke the jinx which seems to have been bothering them and downed an aggressive Hartford City five, 31-29.

Led by Young who scored a total of 10 points the Redskins pulled the game out of the fire in the final quarter.

Hartford City started out as if they meant business building up a first period score of 8-3 and during the second period held a 12 to 5 advantage.

The Northerners, gradually by the efforts of Gay Turner knotted the score at 16-all at the half.

Coach Nulf sent in an entirely new line-up at the start of the third quarter and the fireworks began. Hartford City scored first with a foul and a felder and Young went to work splashing the net twice to put his team ahead 20-19. Two more fouls and two more field goals put the Airedales ahead 25-20. Young sank another long one, and Ervin and Leakey accounted for two more to send the Red again in front 26-25.

Two more Airedale baskets again changed the lead in their favor but not for long, for Young, standing directly in the center dropped in two in a row. Ervin was awarded a charity toss which he scored to give the Redskins their final margin of two points by which they won the game.

Young was high for the Red with five markers and a total of ten points, while Wagner led the Airedales with 12 points, closely followed by Williams who tied Young with 10.

During the past three years Dr. Seaman has been in Los Angeles, California. While there he qualified for and received an appointment on the staff of the Los Angeles County General Hospital, serving regular duty in the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Department.

During this opportunity for intensive study and treatment of eye, ear infections and deafness, NEW AND EFFECTIVE METHODS FOR IMPROVING THE HEARING WERE DEVELOPED. IN MOST CASES HEARING CAN BE IMPROVED BY THIS NEW METHOD.

It is difficult for a child with impaired hearing to get an education—no one wants to employ a deaf man or woman. Earache and discharging ears mean beginning deafness and treatment of known effectiveness should begin at once.

Net Players Score 12 Wins, 2 Losses, In Season So Far

South Side's high scoring basketball team have a total of twelve wins against two losses for the season thus far. This also includes the Christmas tournament. They are assured of at least a tie in the city title race. The Friddlemen hold wins over Central Catholic, North Side, and Central. However, they must face North Side and Central again. The first of their laurels won for the season was in winning the N. E. I. C. crown, with six straight wins against no defeats. The Archers' games have been attended by capacity crowds throughout the season.

The Greenwave has rolled up a grand total of 540 points. Their opponents have only been able to ring up 379 tallies. Because of the small number of points, the Archers' opponents have compiled it would appear that the South Siders have quite a defense. The Archers' defense has been good, however, the real story behind the points is that South Side has a high scoring offense. The old master himself, Carl Hall, still holds the lead in total points scored with 108. Bob Bolyard is going strong with 93. However, Jim Glass is close on Bob Bolyard's heels with 89 tallies. Don Hire, sensational junior guard, ships in with 78 for his mid-season's work. Ralph Hamilton has 61 points and Don Beery, 60. Bob Hines has 26 points, LeRoy Cook, 12. John Chedister, 4, and Blackie Braden, 2. All of the starting five have averaged at least 5 points per game. This factor also points to a high geared offensive deluxe.

Undoubtedly South Side's toughest game to win was the Froebel game. This was really the only game won, that the Archers had to extend themselves. During the Central game, they didn't get a chance to. Carl Hall gets his points mostly by his sensational out-on-the-floor sniping. Saggy Glass is the extreme opposite, getting his felders from underneath the basket. Bolyard, Hire and Beery do a little of both for their chips.

This week, we give special mention to our all-around athlete, grand sportswoman, and keen personality, Evelyn Kruse. This, her fourth year of participation in the G. A. A., is marked by a letter and numerous other awards in many fields of school activities. For her outstanding likability, capability, and "otherilities" she is the deserving recipient of our much coveted award, (?) the honor of being recognized in this column as one of the true-blue Archers in South Side.

We've noticed Laverne Michelfelder dreamily playing basketball lately with a far-away look in her eyes. It's difficult to get to the bottom of that sort of thing, and your correspondent is no Walter Winchell. However, some newly discovered clues may throw a little light on the matter. Watch this weekly column for further developments.

Incidentally, this column is yours, G. A. A.ers. The green box inside the gym office has been placed there expressly for your convenience and to hold your contributions. It is impossible for one person to keep up on all the current news about our members without becoming something of a nuisance. Do yourself and others a good deed by keeping your eyes open and recording the results in that little box.

Elaine Ferguson, Frances Nash, and Betty Pressler are other familiar names on the gym courts. To all appearances they are among those who will be the stars of tomorrow. Keep up the good work girls!

Flash! Improvements in South Side have extended to the girls' gym office. They are now in possession of a brand new bulletin board. Be sure to watch the daily notices on this splendid new improvement.

Archers To Take On Huntington, Elwood Over Week-End

Friday Marks Viking Battle To Be There

Huntington Is Expected To Provide Toughest Week-End Game To Be Fought

Elwood Is Thought To Be Easy Game

Green, White To Have Advantage Of Playing On Their Own Floor Saturday

South Side Archers, having won their first eleven tilts on their 20-game schedule, will try for numbers 12 and 13 this week-end. On Friday night the Friddlemen will travel to Huntington to meet a mediocre Viking outfit. On Saturday night the Archers will return home to play Elwood in the southern gym.

Huntington, who has not shown a whole lot in the way of powerful basketball this season, is expected to provide the toughest competition for the Green this week-end. The Viking squad is built around Davidson, veteran forward, and has had an on-and-off season to date.

Glass Invaluable To Archers
The Archers, who are expected to receive little trouble at Huntington, should have a still easier time of it with the smaller Elwood quintet, considering the Archers' advantage of playing on their home floor. Most heartening to the championship hopes of Archer fans recently has been the offensive play of lanky Jim Glass who has regained his deadly shooting eye on his one-hand pivot attempts. Jim has led the Archer scorers in the last two games, scoring 14 points against Central and repeating the trick against Goshen last Saturday. Another Archer who has proved himself to be an invaluable cog of the Green and White machine is Don Beery. Beery invariably draws the tough defensive assignment, usually being put on high scorers of the Archer opponents. Against Central he did a commendable job of holding high scoring Hank Kulesza to four fielders and last Saturday held "Doc" Shelton, Goshen scoring ace, to seven points. Beery has also looked good offensively. Don doesn't shoot often, but a good percentage of his shots are destined to fall through the hoop for two points. If Glass and Beery can continue to click, the Archers should not only have little trouble with Huntington and Elwood but should be definitely in there pitching when tournament time rolls around.

Archers Defeated Huntington
Last year the Archers defeated Huntington during the season by a score of 51 to 35 and again in the regional tourney 38 to 19. The 1938 Archer aggregation also hung one on Elwood to the tune of 40 to 24.

Redskins, Tigers To Meet Saturday

Squads Are Tied In City Race With One Win, Two Losses; Central Is Favored To Win

Featuring the basketball schedule for Fort Wayne this week-end will be the North Side-Central brawl Saturday night at the northern gym. The other games scheduled the same night besides the South Side game are the Central Catholic-Garrett game at the latter's gym and Concordia-Culver affair at Culver. Tomorrow night finds Central Catholic invading Concordia high school.

The city series get-together between North Side and Central should be a honey. In view of the fact that the Tigers have improved wonderfully and the Tribe has not, Central is favored to come out on top. Both teams are tied in the city race with one win and two losses apiece. The winner will finish runner-up to South Side's fast-stepping Archers. This game also counts in the N.E.I.C. standings for North Side, but not for Central. However, if North Side regains their old form, the game will undoubtedly develop into a thriller.

Central Catholic appears to be in for two more wins over the week-end. Last year the Irish defeated both Concordia and Garrett; Concordia by a score of 39-25 and Garrett 48-31. The Irish continue to look impressive and last week's win over Leo of Chicago helped the C. C. cause considerably.

Concordia will have to be at their best to turn in wins over C. C. and Culver. The Cadets have looked none too impressive in their games this season. However, if they are hitting they may hand out a surprise.

Many Students Leave South Side's Portals

Withdrawals of the first semester because of ill health included Clarence Jackson, Mary Grogg, Jack Potts, Donald Proehl, Mary Sapp, Alberta Keel, Elizabeth Cousar, Betty Ann Boese, Marcia Steer, and Iola Horn.

Those who went to Central are Erma Eisenhouer, Vincent Mager, Paul Somler, Isabel Moore, and Helen Henrikson. Robert Colby has changed to North Side. Betty Jane Viat, Kenneth Collis, and Kenneth Seymour are going to Central Catholic.

Those who have quit to find work or stay at home are Esther Gratz, William Hamby, Marvin Buhl, Dorothy Tildan, Robert Bopp, Stanley Wolf, Willard Gates, Marcela Racine, Saldonna Neith, Charles Evard, Don Redding, Howard Schrimmer, June Schilling, Goldie Kitchen, Vera Byall, Ray Coughron, Sam Anderson, John Milbourne, Walter Oswald, Delbert Rose, Helen Rose, Richard Angel, Loren Rose, Betty Shedd, Kathryn Lister, Dale Fuhrman, Dorothy Wood, and Lois Munick. School Of Champs? Yessir! South Side Dramatists Take Top Honors In City Schools

It happened at last, folks. Due to the unwavering patience of the former initiates (now full fledged members) of the Student Players Club and the persistence of the members of the committee on initiation during rehearsals last week, Monday, January 23, the South Side division of Student Players Club was recognized for having the best of the evening of the initiates of three high schools. North Side initiates were the recipients of this honor the past several initiations.

Each year besides one production of the three high school organizations being selected as winner, two members, a boy and girl, of the cast of the entertainment are chosen from each school as being outstanding in their particular presentation. This year those who were chosen from the South Side group were Constance Hirschy and Kolman Gross. "Connie" was lauded for her portrayal of a girl from Central who had mistaken the South Side's initiation for Central's and Kolman for so realistically playing the part of a tramp; Phil Olofson in a preview of North Side's senior play, "To the Ladies."

Committee Writes Skit
The plot of the skit which was presented by South Side was the brain-throb of Bruce Bradbury. Additions were made by the other committee members. They were Marjorie Quakenbush, Reva Foster, June McAllister, and Jeanette Warren. The play centered around the New York Critic Circle which had gathered to award a cup to the organization which had produced the best play over a definite period of time. It had been singled down to five plays which were being reviewed by the critic circle for the final decision. These plays were "The Hermit," "Two Sleepy People," "I'd Rather Be Right," "To the Ladies" and "Tobacco Road." Due to the fact that a member of the circle was evidently stuffing the ballot box when it came to casting the final vote for a play, to be acclaimed winner, it became necessary to give the award to Miss "Flatfoot" Suter for her performance in "The Late Christopher Bean-ic." Miss Suter happened to be present for the occasion as she was a guest critic.

North Side production was based on the luxurious life of a sultan; Central's was a mystery, and dealt with the super-sleuthing of a slippery detective whose method of detecting murderers was done entirely by an elimination method.

Original Skits Given
Each of the three skits presented by initiates was originated by a member of the committees in charge. Central's skit was written by Sid Stern, North Side's by Dick Roberts. The judges were Elizabeth Neff, South Side alumna; Raymond Heine and Harry Collins.

A dance, featuring Paul Baker's orchestra, was held after the presentation of the plays.

Names Of Initiates Given
South Siders who were initiated are Lois Likens, Kolman Gross, Virginia Hill, Wilma Lageman, Constance Hirschy, Martha Smith, Martin Gerilyn Halpern went to California, William Cargile has gone to Pennsylvania. Betty Hand moved to Columbus, Ohio, and Billy Franklin moved to Bloomington, Indiana. Harriet Horst has gone to Bluffton, Gaylord Pattern to Coldwater, Michigan, Malcolm Chisney to Davenport, Iowa, and Eli Adams to New Haven.

Ruth Frederick went to Auburn, Joseph Leaming to Indianapolis, and Helen Merritt to Baltimore, Maryland.

Sportlights

By John Magley

Monte Stratton, star right-handed pitcher of the Chicago White Sox, will try to return to the pitching mound despite the fact that he lost his right leg as the result of a hunting accident. He will be given a chance to return using an artificial leg.

Fort Wayne's leading representative in the baseball field, Earl Bolyard, will play with Little Rock of the Southern Association during the coming season. He was traded by Baltimore for Outfielder Art Graham.

Illinois has stepped into the lead in the Big Ten basketball race as a result of their defeat of the Badgers of Wisconsin, Minnesota, the team that had held the lead, was beaten by Northwestern and dropped to second place. The Illini play Minnesota, and if beaten will drop back into a three-way tie with Minnesota and Indiana. Illinois is being led by Pick Dehner who is averaging about 14 points a game, and, if he keeps up at his present pace, he will break Jewell Young's Big Ten record of a little over 15 points per game.

The owner of the three-time World Champion New York Yankees is dead, but his team will go on under the able leadership of the present club secretary who has been taking care of the club for the past few years. Colonel Ruppert's will provides that the Yankees carry on in the manner they have in the past.

Contracts have been sent to 35 Yankee players. Twenty of them were to old players and on a whole provided for bigger salaries. Among the more outstanding whose contracts call for more money are Bill Dickey, Joe Gordon, Joe DiMaggio, Red Ruffing and Lefty Gomez, the players who sparked last year's team to its third consecutive championship.

"Two-Ton" Tony Galento, the New Jersey barkeeper, stepped closer to a battle with Champion Joe Louis by knocking out Jorge Brescia in a little over two minutes in New York last week. While Tony is gunning for a fight with Louis, Louis is preparing to meet John Henry Lewis, at the time of this writing, in Madison Square Garden. All odds are top-heavy for Louis to retain his title, but the challenger is counting on out-boxing the champ who is far superior in punching power. This is the first time two negroes have met for the championship on American soil; the only other time was in Paris 26 years ago when Jack Johnson fought a negro named Jim Johnson (note the last names of all four).

Getting close home, we find that Arcola got the break in the drawing for the Allen County basketball tournament to be held at the New Haven gym Thursday, Friday and Saturday, January 26, 27 and 28. The tourney gets under way at 7:30 Thursday night with New Haven meeting Elmhurst and at 8:30 Hoagland, the de-

Marjorie Price Named Girl Reserve Official

Patty Sparling from North Side was elected president of the Girl Reserve meeting of the three high school clubs. The other officers were taken by Marjorie Price, from South Side, vice-president and Rose Mary Williams from Central, secretary. The meeting was held at the Y. W. C. A. Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock. All of the cabinet members of each of the Girl Reserve clubs were present. Preceding the election of new officers for the new semester a community sing was held. Several talks were given.

The cabinet members from the U. S. A. Club that attended the meeting were: Marilyn Senn, president; Jean Sheets, secretary; Jane Kocs, treasurer; Louisa Haugk, publicity chairman; Marilyn Sappington, service chairman; Elaine Boerger, membership chairman; Margaret Calkins, social chairman; and Betty Lapp, music leader.

Plans For Pep Meet Made For Tomorrow

A pep session for freshmen only will be held tomorrow morning during the home room period. This meeting, to be held in the gymnasium, is to take place before the games with Huntington and Elwood. The Huntington game Friday will be played there, while the Elwood game on Saturday will be played on the home floor. The pep meeting is being planned by Mr. Albert Heine and the cheer leaders. This is to be the first meeting that the new freshmen will attend.

Boys Are Wanted To Operate Movies

Boys interested in learning to be movie operators for the Visual Education department are urged to come to a meeting in room 108 after school tonight. Freshmen and sophomore boys are especially welcome.

This department can use four or five boys who are willing to work for the department and the school.

The cubbyhole used for the office has been done over as George Finkhausen and Bob Alt gave up their vacation time to redecorate the Visual Education office. They painted the walls and varnished the woodwork.

"Both boys deserve a pat on the back," stated Mr. Wilbur Wilson, the faculty adviser. "They made the office brighter and cleaner. It is a much more cheerful place to work in now."

Sophomore Takes Ill
Dick Green, sophomore A, has been absent from school for the past two weeks because of the fact that he has contracted double pneumonia.

Green Wins Over Goshen By 48-21

Beery Opens Archer Attack By Sinking Foul Shot, Bolyard Follows Up With Floor Play.

The state champs rolled on over a spunky but inferior Goshen quintet last Saturday before the South Side rooters in the southern gym 48-21.

The Archers, although they started the first five, got away to a slow start and did not really shake their opponents loose until shortly after the second period got under way.

Don Beery opened things for the Archers by sinking a foul shot shortly after the start of the game. The Goshen five was unable to score and a few minutes later Bolyard let one fly from out on the floor to put the South-erners ahead 3-0.

Biller and Shelton accounted for most of the points scored by Goshen during the first quarter. The first period score found South Side slightly out in front 13-10.

Archers Pile Up Score

The Friddlemen looked much better during the second quarter and really started to pile up the score. Big Jim Glass started the ball rolling with a tip shot underneath. Then Hall broke loose the length of the floor for another two points. Bolyard cut down the center lane to lay in another marker. Hall threw in another at the foul line to make the score 20-14. Glass dropped through another of those twisting pivot shots of his and followed it through with another foul. Hire slipped through the Goshen defense twice for four more points. Wohlford and Shelton of Goshen, were the only scorers for the invaders. The half found the Archers with a comfortable margin of ten points 27-17.

The second half was a large size reproduction of the first with the Green hammering away at the Goshen defense and keeping their opponents to four points, all tallied at the charity stripe. Glass, Beery, Hire, Hall, Bolyard, and Hamilton all contributed to the score.

Final Score Is 48-21

More of a rout than anything else the Archers scored twenty-one points against the Goshen four. With the crowd yelling for fifty, Hamilton connected for the middle of the floor to make it 46. A few minutes later he again connected underneath. The gun went off as his third shot was in the air; however it failed to hit, bouncing off the rim. The final score was 48-21.

Glass was the big gun for the Green, connecting with five fielders and four foul shots for a total of fourteen points. Shelton was the spearhead of the Goshen offense, accounting for seven points.

The Archers presented a tight defense, which hampered the Goshen five continually. Their offensive game came to life during the second half and despite the fact that Friddle put in his reserves during the last quarter the score continued its steady climb.

Upperclass Basketball Games Are Scheduled

Four more games will be played in the upperclassmen basketball tournament tomorrow night. At 8:30 on the north court, the Senior team, captained by Hazel Perry, will clash with Frances Nash's Soph. 1 team. At the same time on the south court, Marion Feichter's Jr. 1 team will meet Marjorie Morrison's Jr. 2 team.

The next set of games will be played at 4:00, with Jeanne Smith's Soph. 2 team fighting it out with Elaine Ferguson's Soph. 4 team, and Betty Thiele's Soph. 3 team taking on Maxine Sterling's Soph. 5 team. The present standing of the teams is as follows: Senior, 2 wins; Jr. 1, no wins; Soph. 2, 2 wins; Soph. 1, 1 win; Soph. 3, one time game; Soph. 3, 2 wins; Soph. 4, no wins; Soph. 5, one tie game.

The freshmen basketball teams will get back into action again next Monday. The two games to be played then are two all-important clashes. At 3:30 on the north court, Mae Scheele's team 1 will meet Lenora Moyer's team 4. Each of these teams has won one game and lost won, so a close game is in store. Another close battle is forecast between Betty Hargan's team 2 and Violet Galbreath's team 3. This game will be played at 3:30 on the south court and will name the leader in the tournament. At present, these two teams are tied for first place with two wins apiece.

Intramural Boys Plan Busy Season

Basketball, Handball Are Most Important Now; Freshmen Invited To Organize Teams.

One of the intramural department's largest programs has been planned for the coming semester. Nearly all of South Side's intramural sports, with the exception of football will be played during the coming season.

Basketball and handball are holding the limelight at the present time with the completion of the basketball tournament looming in view in the near future. However, it is not too late for the incoming freshmen to enter teams as long as no player on the team has already entered the sport with another outfit. About twenty basketball squads are still in the running for the intramural championship, and this number will probably be swelled by the new freshmen. Handball doubles are now being held and will not be finished for some time. The singles tourney was completed last semester.

Volleyball Is Next
The next sport to be brought up with the completion of basketball and handball will be volleyball. This sport will be taken up in the gym classes in a short time and then will be held for the intramural program. Soon after the volleyball season, Mr. Bill Moss may hold a wrestling tourney for all intramural boys interested in the sport. However, if too few boys are interested, this tourney will not be held.

The annual gym carnival will be held sometime this spring. This will be held in conjunction with the gym classes. This carnival is one of the best ways to win intramural points during the spring.

Spring Sports Later

Later in the spring, when it is warm enough to allow the boys to go outside to participate in the sports, softball, horseshoe, golf, tennis, and track will be held. A large number of boys will compete in these sports when the warm weather has arrived for good.

Louis Briner, head of the intramural department and organizer of the present system of intramural sports, will contact all boys interested in these sports during gym class, or after school. He also said that several boys would be ready for intramural letters this spring. Most of these boys intend to compete in some of the spring sports to get enough points to get their letters.

No Club Bulletins On Public Address

Decision Announced At Faculty Meeting To Try New System Of Meeting Announcements.

The elimination of club announcements over the public address system was the most important of several important issues discussed at the last teachers' meeting, held Friday, January 21. A new system by which a club each week, an announcement of the club meeting, is to be tried. After these announcements have been collected, they will be mimeographed on a club calendar and these calendars will be sent to the home rooms where they will be posted on the bulletin boards.

No Club Announcements
This new system will eliminate the repetition of weekly club announcements and will give more time to other business matters. Announcements concerning special club functions, such as skating parties and dances, will be given over the public address system but the regular club announcements will be given by the new system.

An important discussion of the routine for the first day of school was another issue considered at the meeting. Plans to make the first day of school a day of order and system were prepared.

Mr. R. Nelson Snider stressed the need of better care of the school building in connection with the students. Some plan to make the students take better care of school property is to be worked out. Perhaps advice to students will be given through the home rooms.

Less Pink Slips
Another issue is the elimination of the large number of students who are in the halls during periods. Too many pink slips have been issued lately and an excess number of students leave class without proper excuses, Mr. Snider said. Pink slips are to be issued only when it is absolutely necessary. Special permission will have to be secured from the office if students desire to leave class for unimportant reasons.

A system of self-survey is to be initiated here at South Side. Such a system as this will enable the National Cooperative Study of Secondary School Standards to determine the faculty rating of our teachers with the teachers of other high schools on the basis of South Side. This survey is being used in schools all over the United States. Different schools will have different ratings. The schools will be rated according to the training they specialize in.

Wo-Ho-Ma Welcomes Every Freshman Girl

All freshman girls are cordially invited to attend Wo-Ho-Ma Club meeting this afternoon in the Greeley Room at 3:30. The new officers will take over their positions.

There will be community singing. Refreshments will also be served. The retiring and new officers are planning the meeting. They are as follows: Lois Gumpfer, Louisa Haugk, Elizabeth Kelso, Patty Lyman, Eileen Kiesling, Mary Demetre, and Eileen Hornmann.

P.T. A. Will Continue Mothers' Study Group

Last year the study course for mothers sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association was so successful that it has been decided to continue the course again this year. The leader last year was Mrs. David Vesey. A committee of the P.T. A. will meet soon to make plans for a new study course. The leaders of this course will be Mrs. Robert Wylie and Mrs. John Brooks.

Scribe Turns Back The Clock To See What Makes Archer Pupils Tick During Past Year

We have now passed through the glorious year of 1938, as you all well know, and it is with the purpose of calling back some memories you may have that this is written. Undoubtedly you had many interesting experiences in South Side the past year; maybe you can do a bit of reminiscing with me now and try to bring back some of those swell times.

January:

1. South Side takes one of its three defeats in New Year's Day Tournament in the southern gym.
2. Students come back to school after enjoying Christmas vacation.
3. Preliminaries of the South Side Extrem Contest were held.
4. Finals of the Extrem contest were held the third period today. The winners were Dalton McAlister, Ed Wallace, and Ina Claire Chappell.
5. The Archers drop the Red Devils of Froebel of Gary by a score of 25-23. Dalton McAlister, Eleanor Monesmith, and Joan Bonshib won first, second, and third places in a declamation contest held at North Judson, Indiana. Eight members of Wranglers Club were in the finals of the contest.
6. Betty Lee Wilson is appointed General Manager of The Times, succeeding Ruth Henline.
7. Archers win basketball game from Hartford City by a 44-29 score.
8. South Side beats Connersville, 26-24.
9. 177 eighth graders become members of the student body. Dalton McAlister wins city Rotary meet.
10. Central of this city loses close game to Archers, 41-36 in a city-series tilt.
11. Latin Club skating party at Bell's Rink. South Side's basketball team took a tough Elwood quintet, 40-24.
12. Huntington's Vikings lose to Archers, 51-35.

February:

1. South Side won a close net game over Goshen, 34-31.
2. North Side lost a 34-15 decision to the Archers in a city-wide clash.
3. Archers' Roundup attracts 292 persons after North Side game.
4. Dalton McAlister now has three more crowns to his credit. Dalton won the state oratorical contest, and also City and District Rotary contests.
5. Archers lick Decatur in N.I.C. game, 38-20.
6. South Side ties for city basketball crown by defeating Central, 30-28. Herb Kenworthy gives the Kenworthy trophy to school, a cup to be awarded annually to the athlete most outstanding in the three varsity sports.
7. The Bedford Stonecutters beat South Side 34-25 in a net tilt. Dalton McAlister wins state Rotary contest at Indianapolis. Betty Pugh is announced as the next Times head to succeed Betty Lee Wilson.

March:

1. Annual state basketball tournament begins throughout the state of Indiana. South Side is host to fifteen teams from surrounding territory. Play to continue from Thursday night to Saturday.
2. Archers win sectional meet on home floor in final game 23-15. Opponents in final tilt is Central. Archers will next play in regional tournament.
3. Regional tournament held at South Side. Winner of meet is South Side, who defeated Ridgeville by a tremendous 54-25 score and goes to Muncie for super-regional next.
4. The Times wins the highest possible award at the Columbia Scholastic Press Association convention.
5. Archers beat Muncie Bearcats 37-33 to win way to finals of state basketball tournament at Butler Fieldhouse.
6. Archers become first Fort Wayne team to win state tournament. South Side wins meet by defeating Hammond in thrilling game 34-32.
7. Celebration.
8. Celebration.

April:

1. Dalton McAlister and Rodney Stair tie for first place in South Side Extrem contest.
2. Eleanor Monesmith and Rod Stair win speech honors at Logansport speech meet. Jim Murphy wins first place in state essay contest. Archer track team loses to Elkhart.
3. Thirty-two seniors chosen for National Honor Society.
4. New Brooms, senior play, presented to near capacity crowd in gym.
5. Helen Cox and Joan Bonshib lead senior class in scholastic record.
6. Senior Fun Fest held.

May:

1. Dalton McAlister wins second place in National Forensic League meet.

Sam Anderson Wins City Poster Contest Given By Tin Hats

Sam Anderson, Junior A, was recently named the winner of the all city high school poster contest, sponsored by the Tin Hats of America. When this military organization held its convention in Fort Wayne, it was decided that a contest to secure a national emblem for the organization should be started.

All the high schools in the city entered this contest and two posters were entered from Miss Erma Dochtermann's art classes. A few weeks later it was announced that Sam Anderson's poster had won first prize and that his creation would be used as the national emblem of this organization. This honor is made even greater by the fact that such a contest as this comes once in a great while.

Miss Dochtermann said, "Sam is very talented. He has a fine sense of color. His specialty seems to be unusual lettering and poster designing." The winning poster was circular in form. The color scheme was carried out in black, gray, and white. A tin hat done in gradations of gray filled the center. The letters T. H. A. were placed under the hat and the words "Tin Hats of America" were lettered in the outer circle enclosing the hat.

Sam has taken six semesters of art under the supervision of Miss Dochtermann. In his three years at South Side he has taken many first prizes in poster contests but this recent honor is the greatest.

Sam is a member of the Fairfield Merchants' softball team. He is an active softball player and is skilled in athletics as in art.

Reception Is Given To Honor Parents

P.T.A. Hold Affair For Eighth Grade Parents January 17; Demonstrations, Talks Given

The South Side Parent-Teacher Association entertained Monday evening, January 17, with a reception in honor of the parents of the eighth grade students who entered South Side this January.

The program included music directed by Mr. J. W. Wainwright; home economics demonstration directed by Miss Lucy Mellen; dance presentation by the Dance Club of South Side directed by Miss Gretchen Smith accompanied by Miss Velma Lehman; and a presentation by the Marionette Club directed by Miss Dorothy Magley.

Mr. A. V. Flint, director of guidance, spoke on the subject, "School Courses of Study" and Miss Martha Pittenger, dean of girls, talked on "Public Activity." The food on display by the home economics department was given as attendance prizes to the guests.

Refreshments were served to the 300 guests at the close of the meeting. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. J. D. Bostick, Mrs. Harry Cox, Mrs. Charles Kleinfelder, Mrs. A. L. Peterson, and Mrs. Mary Feaser.

Scholarships To Be Given Graduates

Yale University, New Haven, Connecticut—The Jack Merrillat Griffin Scholarship, worth four thousand dollars, one thousand dollars a year, is offered to any senior upon completion of a competitive examination.

One Year Offers

Lake Forest College, Lake Forest, Illinois—Twenty-five one year scholarships, ranging from fifty dollars to $275, are offered to seniors upon completion of a competitive examination, held at the college.

Armour Institute of Technology, Chicago—Five one year scholarships are offered to young men graduating this year. They are worth three hundred dollars. They are offered on the basis of personality, scholastic high school record, extra-curricular activities, the general fitness of the candidates, and rate on a competitive examination.

Goucher College, Baltimore, Maryland—Seven regional one year scholarships, worth $450 for tuition, are offered to seniors on the basis of academic record, score on aptitude test, and competitive examinations.

Yale Scholarship

Yale University, New Haven, Connecticut—Six regional scholarships worth $850 in freshman year and $600 each of the following years, are offered on the basis of scholastic ability, intellectual promise, sound character, qualities of leadership, good health, and evidence of all-around development. Also scholastic aptitude and competitive examinations are given.

Also several scholarships are offered by the University of Chicago. Further information about any of these scholarships may be obtained from the front bulletin board or from Mr. R. Nelson Snider. If any seniors are interested, see about these scholarships immediately; because the time is getting short in which to apply.

Philo Holds Musicales At Lois Rea's Home

Philo's annual musicale was held Sunday, January 22 at 3 o'clock at the home of Lois Rea, 2445 Fairfield Avenue. Entertainment was arranged by Frances VanBuskirk.

Emalyn Remmel, the guest soloist, sang "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" and "Summer Serenade." She was accompanied by Mildred Hanke, Virginia Fleming played two piano solos, one of which was "The Rival Fire Dance" by Manuel de Falla. Philo's own pianist, Elizabeth Rose played "Liebestraume" by Franz Liszt. The Philo trio composed of Margaret Null, Eleanor Vesey, and Frances VanBuskirk sang "The Garden Lullaby" arranged to Offenbach's "Barcarolle" and "The Breeze and the Song" to Dvorak's "Humoresque."

Attractive refreshments ended the affair.

Times Hopes Bee Will Sting Ferdinand

The bee chasing Ferdinand the Bull in the front hall is now at the 350 mark. This bee represents the present number of Times subscriptions and Ferdinand is the goal, 1500 subscriptions. It is the hope and ambition of The Times that the bee may eventually sting Ferdinand. This poster, showing the progress of The Times subscription campaign, will remain in the front hall for some time.

Girl Scouts To Name Officers On February 1

Election of officers will be held by Senior Scout Troop 41 at its next meeting in the Greeley room February 1. Also suggestions for a new program for the semester will be discussed. Since photography is an outstanding hobby of the girls, plans to take an inspection trip to the Masterson Studio will be discussed.

Members are urged to bring their National registration fee of fifty cents to the next meeting.

Mrs. J. M. Purcell, leader, and Betty Marquardt, president, welcome all who wish to join the Girl Scout organization.

Oversees Cafe

Miss Lucy Mellen

Miss Lucy Mellen is the overseer of the South Side Cafeteria.

School Cafeteria Is Close, Inexpensive Place To Eat Lunch

Pupils who are forced to stay at school for their lunch will find the school cafeteria very convenient. The efficient staff affords the pupils an opportunity to eat a home cooked meal of a very high quality.

The cafeteria, under the guidance of Miss Lucy Mellen, is able to give the pupils a good quality of food at a very reasonable price. The cafeteria staff is composed of Mrs. Nettie Mercer, Mrs. Hannah Bitner, and Mrs. Vida Clark.

Miss Mellen Is Head
Miss Mellen, as head of the cafeteria, has a very difficult task in planning meals which will have a variety and that will please every student. Miss Mellen also has an efficient staff of students who aid in waiting on the students at the candy case and at the food counter.

All students who use the cafeteria are expected to display their best manners at all times. Students are to refrain from loud talking, roughness, and combing hair in the cafeteria. There are special tables provided for soiled dishes and all students are expected to place them there. Students who bring their lunches may eat them in the cafeteria.

A new G. E. refrigerator has been added to the equipment in the cafeteria. At present Miss Mellen is contemplating the purchase of a new dish-washer, because the one in use at present leaks.

Clubs Use Cafeteria
Many clubs and organizations around school hold banquets and pot-lucks in the cafeteria. Last year many school dances were held there, but this year this is not necessary because through the improvements, a special room has been provided for school dances.

Miss Mellen welcomes suggestions from students. She advises all students to count their change at the time it is given them and asks students to see her if they leave money on their trays.

Incoming students are welcomed to eat in the cafeteria where the menu is carefully planned and the food is cooked by competent people.

Colonel Cook, Aviation Ace, Speaks Today

Will Address Assembly This Afternoon Under Auspices Of Airplane Model Club

Model Replicas Will Be Displayed

Talk Will Bring Out Interesting Experiences of Airman He Has Known Well

Colonel Harvey Weir Cook, World War Ace, will be the guest and main feature of the aviation assembly to be held in the gymnasium at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. He is to be introduced by Henry Velkoff, who is a Mad Modeler. This program is being sponsored by the Airplane Club here at South Side. Tickets will be sold during home room period this morning at the price of ten cents. These tickets will excuse the holders from seventh period classes.

To Tell Problems

Mr. Cook will devote his time to telling of outstanding events in the history of aviation, early days of the air mail service, history of air corps in the World War, and instruction in fundamentals of aviation. Mr. Cook has entitled his talk, "Problems of Flying and Their Solution."

Mr. Cook is a man who has experienced all the thrills of aerial combat during the World War, and is one of the few pilots who first flew air mail across the country nearly 20 years ago and who still holds the highest military and commercial airplane pilot's ratings awarded by the Army Air Corps and the United States Civil Aeronautics Authority.

Has Several Collections

Colonel Cook has a collection of scale model replicas of historically famous aircraft and has an unusual collection of motion pictures (1,600 feet of film) on flying, dating from 1908 up to the present time. This collection of replicas includes models of airplanes flown from the early days of the Wright Brothers in 1903 to the most modern of the commercial and military airplanes in use at present.

Colonel Cook has displayed these replicas all over the United States at club meetings and at schools. Col. Cook also has many stories of his worth, vice-president, June B. Branning, secretary, Phyllis Branning, sergeant-at-arms, Kathleen Ramer; program chairman, Rebecca Abbott; Inter-Club Congress, Betty Marquardt; pianist, Elizabeth Rose; publicity chairman, Katherine Beckman and Marjorie Dyer; chairman of music, Frances VanBuskirk; and chairman of Theatricals, Virginia Shidler. Formal and rough initiation will be held for the incoming members. Gwen DeWees, vice-president, and Kathleen Ramer, sergeant-at-arms, are in charge of both, with Rebecca Abbott, program chairman, aiding in the rough initiation. To prospective members have sent in their applications to date. All 10A girls with an English grade of B or above, wishing to enter the club, should send in their applications to Miss Elizabeth Demaree, club sponsor, immediately.

Officers Of Philo

Will Be Installed

Installation, Initiation Of New Members Will Be Feature Of Literary Group Meet, Monday

Installation of officers and initiation of new members will feature the Philo meeting to be held Monday, February 6 at 3:45 o'clock in the Greeley Room. New officers to be installed are president, Betty Daniels; vice-president, Gwen DeWees; secretary, June B. Branning; sergeant-at-arms, Phyllis Branning; program chairman, Rebecca Abbott; Inter-Club Congress, Betty Marquardt; pianist, Elizabeth Rose; publicity chairman, Katherine Beckman and Marjorie Dyer; chairman of music, Frances VanBuskirk; and chairman of Theatricals, Virginia Shidler. Formal and rough initiation will be held for the incoming members. Gwen DeWees, vice-president, and Kathleen Ramer, sergeant-at-arms, are in charge of both, with Rebecca Abbott, program chairman, aiding in the rough initiation. To prospective members have sent in their applications to date. All 10A girls with an English grade of B or above, wishing to enter the club, should send in their applications to Miss Elizabeth Demaree, club sponsor, immediately.

The purpose of this club is to stimulate in high school girls an interest in higher literature and to promote friendship and high ideals.

Nadine Mueller Is

Head Of Marionette

Nadine Mueller will continue as president of the Marionette Club according to the election held at the meeting of the club last Thursday in the workshop. Other officers are Bill Morgan, vice-president; Lillian Sherbondy, secretary-treasurer; Wilma Carrier, Inter-Club Congress representative.

Two new members, Mary Lou Feller and Ann Haller, were introduced to the members. A cordial invitation to become members of the club is issued to students, especially freshmen B's, who are interested in puppetry and drama.

Club cards were signed, and all members who did not attend the meeting are asked to sign these cards in Miss Dorothy Magley's room, 140. A discussion of the play to be presented this semester was given. After the business meeting the members worked in couples and were responsible for making arms and legs for one puppet.

New Members Invited

To Join Junior Math

The Junior Math Club had its first meeting of the semester last Tuesday. Anyone who still wishes to join may do so at the next meeting. At this meeting Roger McVay gave a welcome address to the new members.

The nominating committee consists of Carol Liman, Margaret Heine, and Neva Kirk. They will also serve as the program committee. After the meeting refreshments were served.

Supervises Dance

Mrs. Herbert Rieke

Mrs. Herbert Rieke and Ed Reeves, president, have been making plans for Wrangler's Dance, the "Southern Cruise," to be held in Room 170, February 3, after the North Side game.

Mrs. A. J. Carson

Is Travel Feature

Red Cross Is Topic Of Meeting; Installation Of Officers Is Held; Various Groups Meet

Mrs. Alda Jane Carson read from the Junior Red Cross Magazine at the first meeting of the term of Travel Club which was a Red Cross meeting. The stories which she read were "Bill's Little Girl" by Zona Gale and "Barbara of the Banner."

Installation of officers was also held at the meeting. This was carried on in poetry. The various committees for the new term met in groups to plan for the coming meetings. In keeping with the topic of the meeting, red and white stick candy was served as refreshment.

Individual invitations were previously sent to the new freshmen. Ivan Truman and Edmund Bauer, the Red Cross representatives, were in charge of the meeting.

The next meeting of Travel Club will be held next Wednesday and the subject will be New York City. Although the topic is the city in general, the World's Fair will be taken in more than anything else. The chairman for the program is Donna Lou Foutz and her committee is as follows: Mary Jane Christie, Betty Koehler, Dixie Lee Hanna, Ruth Ann Archer, Phyllis Clark, Martha Shimmel, Mary Louise Wilson, Margaret Kievele, and Thelma Roberson.

Four-In-One Cards

To Be Made Out

Thursday, February 2, there will be a long home room period for the issuing of the four-in-one cards to the home rooms. When the cards have been filled out, they are distributed, two to Miss Martha Pittenger, and the remaining two go to the home room teacher. At the beginning of every semester, these cards are issued so that one's record and program can be kept up to date.

Speech Contest Will Be Staged By Wranglers

Is First Meet Of Its Kind; Will Give Opportunity For Gaining Experience

To Be Held Here On February 18

Offers Oratorical, Dramatic, Humorous Declarations; Extemporaneous, Oratory

Wranglers will sponsor an invitational speech meet to be held here at South Side High School, February 18, it has been announced by Mrs. Dorothy Rieke, speech instructor and adviser of Wranglers' Club.

It is the first meet of its kind to come to Fort Wayne and will offer five fields of speech competition. They are (1) oratorical declamation, (2) extemporaneous, (3) original oratory, (4) dramatic declamation, and (5) humorous declamation.

To Train Students

The purpose of the meet is to give South Side students and students of other schools an opportunity to gain experience in the different fields of speech.

Thirty-five high schools have been invited to send representatives of their speech departments. The thirty-five schools represent, including Fort Wayne, twenty-six other Indiana cities. Approximately two hundred students are expected to be in attendance.

It is possible for the interested speech students to enter two of five types of contests offered, but not more. The winners will be selected by Wranglers to represent South Side in the various state meets on a basis of their wins in this meet.

Have Two Rounds

The contests have been so planned that every participant will compete in two rounds of the type of contest he enters. The first round will be the finals, or third round, do so on a basis of low point totals. The same arrangement determines the final round contestants.

The coaches of the various groups will act as judges.

Winter Frolic Will Be Held February 17

Purpose Of Event Is To Encourage Fellowship Between Students' Parents.

The "Winter Frolic," which will be held Friday, February 17, for the parents, is sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association. Those in charge are Mrs. A. C. Remmel, chairman of the ways and means committee, and Mrs. John Brooks, program chairman. Games will be played and dancing will be one of the features of that evening. Members of the Hi-Y club will be in charge of the checking room, and the Booster club will sell refreshments. This will be a new venture for the South Side Parent-Teacher Association, and the purpose of this undertaking is to promote friendly fellowship between the parents of the students.

The study course for the parents will begin Tuesday morning, February 7, at 8:45 o'clock and will continue till 10:45. The theme this year is "The Psychology of the Adolescent." Mrs. Robert Wylie, Mrs. M. E. Murphy, and Mrs. Dorothy Rieke will each take a chapter of the book and discuss it at the first meeting. All parents and other friends of the school interested in this subject are invited to attend these study courses.

Mrs. John Bostick, president of the P-T-A, appointed the following committee to nominate the candidates for the next year's officers: Mrs. H. W. Garton, Mrs. Victor Rea, and Mrs. Wilbur Spencer.

Many Ex-South Siders

Help To Publish '39er

Many ex-Archers work on the staff of the new magazine, called the '39er, published by the Indiana Extension here. Among the members of the staff who have graduated from South Side are Tom Sellers, '38, Allan Tremper, '37, editorial writers; Dwight Frost, '38, Margaret Buckel, '35, and Mary Jane Wagoner, '38, advertising solicitors; Jack Horn, '38, and Virginia McNamara, '38, typists. Some of these write articles for the magazine besides performing their regular jobs.

Articles in this issue of the '39er written by the aforementioned persons are "Dr. Linton—I. U. Extension's Grand Old Man," Allan Tremper, "Next Time Call The Militia," Jack Horn; "Majority and Rule," Dwight Frost; "Public Library," Allan Tremper; "Modern Advertising," Mary Jane Wagoner; "Music Is A Universal Language," Tom Sellers; and "The Seasons and The River," Allan Tremper.

Hold Life Memberships

In Educational Body

Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, holds life membership in the "National Education Association" according to a report received from the national headquarters by State Director L. V. Phillips.

Mr. Snider stated that he took out a life membership in 1927 or 1928. A life membership means that instead of paying two dollars a year, one pays $100, which will last a lifetime.

Mr. Merle J. Abbott, superintendent of the Public Schools, also has a life membership in the "National Education Association."

Corrects Papers

Mr. Earl Sterner

Mr. Earl Sterner will aid in correcting papers for divisions 1 and 2 of the local and district Latin contest.

Latin Contest To Be Given For Students

They are Jennie Bagoche, Lois Bloemker, Robert Givon, Dorothy Jagers, Gloria Kramer, Marilyn Loomis, Richard Markowitz, Carolyn Snook, Thompson Hall, Dale Gierke, Ellen Harry, Lois Hoff, Richard Kilpatrick, Paul Kutsch, Mary Nell Spiegel, Janice Sprunger, Ruthann Stieger, Ruth Hagaman, La Von Byer, Joseph Jordan, Bernadine Bender, Dick Brandt, June Bumke, Betty Clem, Dorothy Heslip, Bruce Klotz, Wilma Hagerman, Romayne Rediger, Ruth Werkmann, Gladys Feelling, and Sally Hobbs.

To Choose Two

Two representatives will be chosen from each of these divisions to compete in the county contest.

Mr. Earl Sterner is question maker and grader of the examinations for divisions one and two.

Popular Numbers

On Music Program

Assembly To Be Held February 14 With Special Requests And Vocal Solos By Two Girls

For the first music assembly of the semester, to be held February 14, a very entertaining program is being arranged. Two or three popular pieces are being arranged by the band. The popular pieces, such as "The Moon Got In My Eyes" together with "The William Tell Overture," for which the band has received many requests to play over, will be on the program. Another piece, "Secuntula," will also be played.

Four special numbers are also being prepared. Albert Verweire, whose solos were enjoyed in past assemblies, will play a piccolo solo. Emalyn Remmel will sing, accompanied by the band. A vocal number will also be presented by Erlene Lee. Gerald Polman will play his trombone in a special number.

The orchestra will play three entertaining pieces.

A plea is being made for new players for the band and orchestra. All who play instruments are requested to come to room 50 at the fourth period any day.

Times Agents Hold Meeting For Circulation

Solicitors Blamed For Lack Of Orders; Brother, Sister Slips Are Handed Out

540 Subscriptions Reported To Date

100 Per Cent Home Rooms To Get Candy Bars; Percentages Of Agents Given

Times room agents were accused of not working and causing the present campaign to slow up through lack of effort at a Times room agents meeting in room 24 last Tuesday night after school. Virginia Goeglein said that the reason the present drive, although fairly successful, was not coming up to all expectations was that the agents were not doing their work in the home rooms.

Nearly 540 subscriptions have been turned in at the present time, and it is expected that this total will be increased if the agents do their work.

Hand Out Slips

Brother and sister slips were also handed out at the room agents meeting. These slips will increase the percentage in many home rooms. These brother and sister slips must be handed in to the assistant circulation managers during the next week so that the percentage can be accurately made out.

Room agents were also reminded that a list of everyone in their home room must be in as soon as possible, so that any mistakes in the books can be corrected.

May Make Changes

Speakers at the room agents meeting were Miss Rowena Harvey, who spoke to the agents, reminding them that they would be released from the circulation staff unless they got some more subscriptions; and Virginia Goeglein, who told the agents that they would be deducted of points if they didn't attend the room agents meeting and if they didn't do the work they are supposed to do.

Agents were told at the meeting that several changes in The Times circulation staff would probably be made. Virginia Goeglein also told the agents that everyone must work to even keep

Tom Gallmeyer Named Entrant In State Meet

Will Participate In Original Oratorical Contest At Wabash College Saturday

Mrs. Dorothy Rieke has announced that Tom Gallmeyer, Jr., has been chosen to represent South Side this coming Saturday, February 4, in the state original oratorical meet.

The contest is sponsored by Wabash College, Crawfordsville, Indiana, and is being held there. It is the official state contest, and the winner will represent Indiana in a similar national meet.

Second semester speech students of Mrs. Dorothy Rieke's gave original orations recently, and from these Gallmeyer's oration was selected as being most suitable for contest work. The oration, titled "The Scorpion," concerns Nazi activities in the United States.

Gallmeyer, the only Fort Wayne participant in the contest, is competing in his first state speech meet. Last year South Side was represented by Dalton McAlister, who carried off state honors.

Senior Scout Troop 41

Elects New Officers

Election of new officers of Senior Scout Troop 41 was scheduled to be held last night in the Greeley Room. The nominees up for officers were as follows: president, Jane Merchant, Dorothy Bloemker, and Audrey Hall; vice-president, Jean Peterson, Carol Whitton, and Joan Suedor; recording secretary, Marcia Allen and Jean Ewing; corresponding secretary, Joan Cartwright and Susie Sweet; treasurer, Kathryn Guild and Marian Feichter; program committee, Martha Jane Krauskopf, Sarah Jane Makey, Mary Ann Dosh, and Rosemary Lantz.

Suggestions for the programs in the future were given and discussed. Plans were made for the trip to the Master-son Studio.

Three girls received merit badges during the Court of Awards which was held after the business meeting. Elaine Hirschy and Jane Merchant earned the Pioneer Merit Badge, and Betty Marquardt received her Junior Life Saver Badge. Girls who wish to continue their badge work may do so until March 21.

Mrs. Walter Flaig, the new assistant, was heartily welcomed by the club.

Eugene Schmidt Heads

Social Science Club

Eugene Schmidt was elected to the presidency of Social Science at a special called meeting, Thursday, January 26. Other members elected to offices include Phyllis Geller, vice-president; Kenneth Warren, sergeant-at-arms; Ruth Bade, secretary-treasurer; and James Murphy, parliamentarian. Nominations for officers were made at a previous meeting.

Plans are in progress to bring about a joint meeting with the Montpelier High School Social Science Club.

Heads Orchestra

"Maestro" Goy Jones

"Maestro" Goy Jones, alias Sid Crosely, will direct his "Commodores" at the Wrangler's dance after the North Side-South Side game Friday night, that is arousing state wide interest in all sports circles.

Senior Casts Are Selected For Dramas

Two One-Act Presentations To Go Into Rehearsal In Near Future; Name Plays

Casts have been selected for two one-act plays to be given by seniors March 6 in the study hall. Every year the seniors present some one-act plays. This year the two plays are "The Medicine Show" and "Culture."

Both are outstanding short plays and will go into rehearsal in the very near future as the casts of one, and nearly all of the players in the other have been selected.

Name Characters

"The Medicine Show" will be given by an all male cast with the characters being played by Joe Bex, William Gerand, and Bill Newhard. They will play, respectively, the following parts: Luther, Giz, and Doctor Steven Vandexter.

The girls will also present their own play. This play is called "Culture" and deals with the many women's clubs throughout the nation. This play makes fun of the gossip which passes from mouth to mouth at the meetings of these organizations. The characters in this production are: hostess, Margaret Gross; district chairman, Dorothy Rohrbach; Miss Melody, Kitty Cline; and Miss Beaubien, Helen Wiehe; Mrs. Knox, Beverly Ann Griffith; Mrs. Hammerwood, Reva Foster; Mrs. Bonnell, Refida Laudadio; Barbara Smith, Lois Red, Sarah Knox, undetermined; Miss Herd, undetermined; and Mrs. Smith, undetermined.

Choose Other Persons

Several minor roles in the girl's production remain to be chosen, but these players will be selected and the play will go into rehearsal very soon.

Election Is Held

By Math-Science

James Craig, Maurine Seibert, Emilou Allendorph, Eugene Tigges Are Officers Elected

James Craig was elected president of Math-Science Club at the regular meeting in the Greeley Room, Friday night, January 27.

The election was held in which James Craig was elected president; Maurine Seibert, vice-president; Emilou Allendorph, secretary; and Eugene Tigges, treasurer.

Colored slides on "Mutation and the Origin of Species" were then shown, accompanied by a lecture by Jane Bowen.

Aleida Randol then gave two selections, "Beautiful Days" and "Washington Postman," on her accordion.

The members went to the chemistry laboratory where Beth Ellen Chadwick illustrated Precipitates; Frieda Schubert, Titration; and Eugene Schmidt, Tests in Oxygen, with Henry Velkoff assisting each.

Then the members returned to the Greeley Room, where several games were played, and refreshments were served.

Miss Mabel Fortney, Miss George Ann Hodgson, Miss Adelaide Fiedler, Mr. Elma S. Gould, and Mr. Lloyd Whelan were in the attendance.

List Of Locker Guards

Is Almost Completed

The list of locker guards is nearly completed since only three more are needed for the fourth and fifth periods and only one girl is needed for the fourth period. A report is made after every period consisting of whether or not there were students in the locker rooms and what their business was there.

The guards who have already signed for positions are: first period, James White, Richard Craighead, Betty Porter, and Helen Roth; second period, Roy Ellenwood, Richard Powers, Mary Alice Dunten, and Jane Rinard; third period, Eugene Backofen, Tommy Hall, Bernadine Pressler, and Verlene Wiedelman; fourth period, Richard Teel and Sophia Kelak; fifth period, Maxine Crags and Wilma Sullivan; sixth period, Eugene Wigneau, Safford McMyler, Alice Lake, Dorothy Marschall; seventh period, Robert Martin, Walter Howard, Crystal Valentine, and Gertrude Merkel.

South Cruise Is Wrangler Dance Theme

Will Be Held After North-South Game Friday Night; Room 170 To Be Decorated

Feature Of Event To Be Goy Jones

S. Crosely Commodores Are Engaged To Play; Prizes Will Be Given Couples

Southern Cruise has been chosen as the theme for Wranglers' annual spring dance. This dance will be held after the prominent North Side-South Side game Friday night, that is arousing state wide interest in all sports circles.

Sid Crosely and his Commodores have been engaged to play for the dance. Goy Jones, a graduate of South Side, will be featured during this dance. Goy Jones and his drums have gained a large reputation around South Side.

Decorate Room 170

Room 170 will be decorated to match the theme of the dance. Most of the decorations will consist of things connected with southern waters, sailboats and sailing toys being particularly featured for the event.

Posters have been placed all over the school on bulletin boards and other prominent places as well as in the home rooms. North Side and Central also have posters on their bulletin boards to attract the students of these schools with the dance. Archer yell leaders will carry the sign to advertise the dance around the playing floor between halves.

Committee Chairmen Named

Six committee chairmen were named to execute plans for the dance. These chairmen are as follows: Orchestra, Tom Gallmeyer; publicity, Bob Robinson; poster, John Bonis; decorations, Jeanne Gumpner; programs, Joyce McAlister; prize, Ed Kettler; check room, Harold Martin; and usher, Margery Rapp.

Several prizes will be given away at the dance for outstanding couples, dancers, best looking persons and other achievements.

Two speakers, Dick Garton, retiring president of the club, and Ed Reeves, recently elected president of the organization, will speak over the public address system concerning the dance. No advance ticket sale will be held; the tickets will be sold only at the door. The price will be 2

Students! Let's Think About Our Teachers Who Are Real Pals

How many times have you heard some of the repulsive phrases very unskillfully applied to our faculty! But did you ever consider that when one really counts up the work the teachers do, they are a rather efficient lot; and most of the time they are a pleasant bunch to mix with. We must, of course, agree with you that several of our teachers have made mistakes that caused us trouble and inconvenience; but on the other hand, we have to think of the many times our papers were properly corrected, the times our papers, some without our name or other identifying marks, have been returned. Or we think of the afternoons when school was through, and a teacher helped us to make up work we had missed while absent, and the thousand and more than one other circumstances where those teachers were pretty handy and necessary.

If you had some 221 papers to grade for a test, we are doubtful if you would get them back the following day, or even get them back at all; especially when you consider that each paper might have 100 answers. That runs up to a staggering number of problem grades. For us, we'd give it up as a bad job and probably join the W.P.A. where we would have little work to do. But our teachers get our papers back in a short time and with only a couple of small mistakes.

Outside of the fact that if we had no teachers, no one would fill us full of stuff that we will be glad to have learned some day; we should be glad for the present instructors in South Side, and for something else, as these people are doing their selected life work when they tell us to do proposition 1.

And when it comes to extra-curricular activities. Who, besides our teachers, directs these organizations? No one! Nearly every teacher is engaged in helping at least one organization struggle through the school year.

The teachers are, in reality the powers that are shoving South Side to the front in every field. We are proud of the Archers' showing in basketball tournaments, speech meets, Latin and math contests, and other confabs; but too few of us appreciate those people who make these accomplishments possible—the teachers.

My advice to every student, particularly the new freshmen, is to see and talk to some of your instructors after class and really get acquainted. Let's try and find out what teachers are like inside. YOU MAY GET A BIG SURPRISE!!

Dear Freshmen, For Fun Join Archer Organizations

Dear Freshmen,

Do you want to meet new people, add more friends to your present list of intimates, and really become an important cog in South Side's great student body? Of course you do, and the best way to attain this greatly desired goal is to join clubs.

When you entered the portals of South Side last week, you became full-fledged Archers; and as such, it is now your privilege to look over the countless clubs of your Alma Mater and to join those which seem most suited to you. Surely, there is something here for any type of person.

If you have a flair for writing, the school publications will truly give you a warm welcome. Artists, musicians, stamp collectors, athletes, actors, and language, math, or science students can all find a special niche to fit their personality. Even archery and rifle clubs have been provided for potential target-hitters.

But first, a word of warning! After all, your main purpose in coming to high school was to acquire an education. So, unless you know your mental capabilities and are positive that you can keep your grades on a high level, we would not advise you to join too many clubs. And remember, when you do join a club, try to make yourself an asset not a liability.

From all aspects, it looks as though our last year champ squad is well on the road to new victories for a successful net season.

We guess that, after all, the fellows that have the most fun in high school, plus no studying, are the teachers. Faculty funsters?

Fortune footnote to Archers: For precious hours take more precautions, especially as the icicles continue to form.

With the senior banquet out of the way, the upperclass group is already planning their forthcoming Functional events.

Freshmen! It's not too late to get a game-pass for the remainder of the seasonal net tilts. So—buy now!

Wee Sketches Of Our Big People

By Jeannette Warren

Meet a lady, gentry.—Yes, we have one in the senior class. (that isn't intimating that there aren't more), but you'll have to admit that if the word lady ever fit anyone that it does fit that charming, quiet (but not too reserved) lady, Margery Rapp.

If we didn't know better, we'd think Margery was on her way out—she's the ex-secretary of Philo and the ex-president of Social Science (she's still a member of these clubs, of course); she also maintains a membership in Student Players, Wranglers, Three E's, Service, and Library clubs. She capably holds down the position of co-managing editor of the paper you are now reading (plug—ask your friends to subscribe), and that of copy reader and reporter on the Totem staff.

Let us dismiss the worst first (poetry?)—her pet peeve is sloppy people (she wouldn't cite an example, but if it's you,—well, take a hint. Losing or misplacing her little black coin purse doesn't make her particularly happy either (neither is Betty Daniels happy that inevitably she finds it and must see that it is returned to its owner). Miss Rapp had no trouble in deciding on her favorite fruit—it's definitely popcorn. Here's a salmagundistic list of top-rankers in her opinion: wool sport clothes, tennis and swimming, Gary Cooper and Jimmy Stewart (partial to the gentlemen evidently, as there were no actresses on her list of favorites), the screen version of "Magnificent Obsession", and the song "Begin the Beguine."

If there are any male eaves-droppers about, here's some confidential dope (if you don't already know it)—Margery is a smoothie on the dance floor. Continuing in the confidential strain—whenever said that the ideal man was "tall, dark, and handsome" made but one error (or such is her opinion) all he must do is add a few curls and make his entrance.

"Pookies!" hails from Harrison Hill (a good example of alliteration, freshmen) and has hopes of continuing her education at Olivet. She is interested in the special course that prepares one for the occupation of buyer in a department store.

Having given you the privilege of being introduced to a lady, we shall see what we can do about digging up (it may be necessary to do just that) a gentleman for next week's column.

Senior Synopsis

By R. U. Graduating

Suppressing a wide-spread yawn and putting forth as much exuberance as one might deem possible on this unexciting, very weatherable P. M., we, of the Senior scribes, bring to you Times-takers another time-filler crammed with upperclass exploits. If this minute-spender proves worthwhile or interesting to all of you deserving, yet gentle readers, then none of our scribbling attempts have been in vain. So, out with the introductory scriptures and on with the 12th grade news issues.

In A Lighter Vein we find the annual Philo-anthralpic musical turning out to be a regal jam-session event of skin-beatin' plus all the hot licks! necessary for a true jitterbug fun-fest. Senior swinger, Mary Kixmiller, started out the fun-rally with a Benny Goodman recording of "Lost In A Shuffle."—An' we are ever!

The Play's The Thing especially come senior acting time, fo' it is then that all upperclassmen Thespian reekin' with the true Shakespearean air do dare to step forth amidst the cheers of Archer onlookers to offer what they best and goodly might. From all angles it looks as though it is going to be a tough race for leads. And then again, Miss Suter, why have leaders? Do you follow me?

It Looks As Though our little hint to the wise proved to be more than sufficient, for it is a highly appreciated factorable fact that our own Mr. Garton, sir, is at last found to be squirable, especially with our own senior smoothie-gal, Kitty Clineard, the blonde dynamo, who walks, talks, and incidentally has a sense of subtle humor. With a necessary bit of ad libbing, we think that this ought to be possibly the most desirous, as well as lovely-to-look-at pair of delectability the season will have to offer.

On Our Weekly Honor Roll comes a senior young lady with the choicest Venous charms, Lois Rea possessing an ambitious yet engaging personality, this upperclass biggie is extra-active in extra-curriculars, besides being a scholastic genius rare. A brilliant student deluxer and an exceedingly good scout is this lovely bit of 12A femininity. An' she's an I. U. fan, by George!

Between Courses at a recent Senior affair was laughable, lovable, (we pass you the hat) "Bubbles" Griffith. "Bubbles" (We call her Gypsy) was dining with her best unique eatin' habits. Suddenly and unfortunately so, she found she was in need of a napkin. Thusly, she groped in her lap bringing forth the desired tissue which incidentally turned out to be the new World's Fair table cloth. Ripping, wot?

And We Wonder if anyone in the past-gone seasons has yet ventured unto you the tall tale of the English lumberman who had a "pine" in his neck? We hope you like it.

Among Our Regal Notices we post the issuance of Kenny Warren and Dottie Rohrbach, co-rulers of funny-osties, who share the motto, "We've gone to the dogs."—Remember the classical prophecy! Once again, we near the end of the page, and our worldly writin's must come to their long-due pause. So we, with a trifling leave of absence, enter forth a sad goodly bye.

Students! Just For Fun

Students, Twelve Year Cycle Depicts Cherubic Evolution

Off to school for the first time goes the cherubic angel that is mother's pride and joy. To school for the first grade is practically the first attempt at education everyone of you receives. Perhaps you weather through the beginning of your education successfully, or maybe you do not. Maybe "mama's boy or girl" isn't pattered as much as he or she should be. Or possibly, they aren't treated as a "teacher's pet" and given special attention. Nevertheless, from all appearances, the child is advanced to the second grade. He learns to read and to write, (at least, some of them do) and the childish chatter goes on and on; and mother is the patient listener. Never does she tire of what interest you talk of most.

So pass the second, third, and fourth grades. It is about in the fifth grade that homework is really necessary to the pupil. Also, he begins to notice his general appearance, his fingernails, his hair, and his shoes. The girl wears her daintiest dress and her prettiest smile. The latter is very necessary to make the boys perk up a little.

Kiddies Grow Up
Along about this time, the kiddies (we can still call them that) begin to enter the seventh and eighth graders. How grown up they seem! The boys so tall and so self assured; the girls so graceful in their curls and a touch of rouge. And the time seems so far away before the fifth graders will be "way up there!" The sixth grade is an eternity that makes the pupil wonder if he will live through it. The young ladies and gentlemen soon begin to pass from room to room when a bell rings. This creates much joy and gives the child more satisfaction that he is really and truly growing up.

Finally, when he reaches the peak of his grade school career, he finds that being in the eighth grade isn't so exciting after all. Just one more wall to get over! Just another year before he can be entered into a great big high school—South Side, of course! He anticipates four years of fun and laughter. He'll get it if he works and can be joyous with a clear conscience. He thinks it to be such fun to have an irregular program and to come home at odd hours—or so the hours seem to a grade school pupil. It will be such a fun to stay for lunch and eat hamburgers and drink cokes with all the high school friends. Just to be a part of such a great society makes his

Oh for some dirt! Well, I'm not going into that again. I've thought and thought so long for a clever beginning that I'm all worn out. Sooo...I'll just start right in with the dirt.

John Magley, the innocent boy of the senior class, has at last fallen off the deep end over cute Mary Ida Straley; and I don't blame him a bit. I'm mighty glad to hear about this romance, 'cause I was afraid that John might turn into a honest-to-goodness bachelor.

A cute fresbie by the name of Helen Anderson is in a dither over that prominent junior, Tom Gallmeyer. And not by mistake either! What I want to know is, how does Tom feel on this little matter?

I've got to make a slight retraction about the dirt I printed last week concerning Sam Bacon. He has not yet the girl he burns for. Therefore, he naturally isn't going steady. (I'd like to meet the person that gave me that dirt in a dark alley). But the point remains that he would like to meet the girl. In fact, he has expressed this desire to many of his so-called pals, but nobody has introduced them as yet. So, if any of you happen to see the two lovebirds close together, please introduce them for Pete's sake! (Or should I say Sam's sake?) Oh, by the way, this is the second installment of Mr. Bacon's love life. I've decided to run a serial about him and his numerous affairs of the heart. (Some idea, eh?)

Marge Craig, our cute little senior, has really gone over the deep end about our ex-grad, Fritz Eakin. Evidently, Paul McConnell has dropped completely out of the picture where Marge is concerned.

That swell dance that Wranglers Club is sponsoring on February 3 is really gonna be the place for new roheart go-a-flutter.

Hopes Are Destroyed
But lo, the high hopes and illusions are dashed to bits when the incoming freshman is just a first grader again compared to the other occupants of this great big institution. He carries all his books with him thinking his locker can't be trusted. He looks frightened and timid. But they all live through this era, some with honors and some not so good.

The sophomore year is a push over more or less. It doesn't seem to be just the time when incidents occur to live again in their memories. It's just another year to see through. And then comes the junior year which brings more educational and social activity. The junior banquet is always a great center of interest. It is so interesting to develop an original theme and provide entertaining programs in which the student may take part. The junior banquet is succeeded by a well-attended event, the junior prom. The girls are worried for fear their best boy friend will be too bashful to invite her; the boy is worried for fear the girl will refuse his invitation. (Can you imagine that!)

Proud Junior Changes
Eventually, the proud junior changes into a so-called dignified senior. Some can hardly wait until they are out of school! The majority feel unhappy, because their school days are coming to a close. Too late it is realized how much school means to one until the school days are over for many who are not so fortunate as to go on to college or a university. Nevertheless, no one has any regret; and many would say that if they could live their school days over again, they would live them exactly the same way.

Anyways, school days are wonderful days and are never to be forgotten. They become a part of you as you live them every day. The time passes; you reminisce, and you wonder why you never kept diaries of those happy days. Never mind! A school boy and girl never forget the days they love the most.

mances to blossom...A few of the couples that will attend the Southern Cruise are...Bob Young and Maurine Leas (Another new romance?)...Karl Eberly plus Katherine Kuntz...Don Parkinson and Jean Weil...Bill Riethmiller and Pearl Wallen...Dick Garton and Kitty Clineard...Dick Gallmeyer and Alice Hall...Chuck Bollman and Mary Lee Kixmiller...And BIG NEWS, girls, John Magley and Max Magner are going stag. So, all of you can see what an outstanding event of the season this dance is going to be.

Mary Reincke and Ray Furman decided to take a chance at going steady and found it so convenient they are now going on a full-time schedule.

Norman Bushottie, an ex-Centralite, is the object of blushing Janet Hoover's affections.

Could Dave Roth's bashfulness be the cause of him not getting acquainted with Rose Stemen? When he sees her, his heart's in his mouth and when he doesn't, his heart is in his shoes. The only thing that matters is that Bob Englehart seems to have an option on her. How do you feel on the matter, Rose?

Two cute kids, Maxine Sterling and Richard Stery, can't seem to get together. We can't understand this. It is so apparent that they are that way about one another.

What's this we hear about Melba Stuart and Eugene Lichtson going steady. Why don't people tell us these things?

Speaking of puzzles, I had to make something out of nothing this week! After looking at the dirt returns, I was ready to go out personally and campaign for my good cause. (You know, the dirt column.)

Pro and Con

Most students are not completely over the hustle and bustle of the mid-semester. Confused freshmen, upperclassmen hurrying from room to room, and perhaps empty pocketbooks after purchasing all the required books are still filling the minds of the students.

In some states such a thing as promotion in January is unheard of. Students in these states return to school in September after the summer vacation and remain a year in the same classification without changing rooms or teachers in January. What do you, as students of South Side, think of such a plan as this? Do you think that Indiana should adopt such a method as that used in many other states? To show you the supporting factors for both sides of the question, we can find from the beliefs of both Mr. Pro and Mr. Con that the walls of defense for both sides are strong.

PRO

Mr. Pro starts his argument for such a proposed method by saying that many times a student moves from one state of the country to another and is forced to start the term over. In other words, perhaps he was a junior A in a high school in Indiana, but because he moved to Ohio, he is forced to start his studying as a junior B; because the high schools of Ohio do not promote at mid-term. This example could be very different if all the high schools of the country had one standard system of promotion with preference over the proposed method.

As it stands today, we of Indiana are forced to buy text books twice a year, and thus our cost of education is greater than that of pupils in states where promotion is held only once a year.

CON

Mr. Con has several factors to put up as a defense in his argument against the proposed system. He says that our system affords the students a change in teachers and gives them a better variety of subjects. If a pupil chooses an elective and after one term it decides that he does not wish to continue his study of this subject, it is possible that he can change his choice. If he had the system of the high schools in Ohio, this change would not be possible. A change of teachers not only does the pupils a lot of good, but it does the teachers a lot of good also. Many teachers are much easier to work for than others, and because of this, many times a student falls down in his earnest work. If a pupil were to be assigned to an easy teacher for a whole year and then the next year be assigned to a more difficult teacher, his power and willingness to do earnest work would have been lessened because of the former teacher. Having an easy teacher for one term only would not tend to do this.

These are but a few of the arguments supporting both sides of the question, but it is every man to his own opinion.

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

Along The Clothes Line

With the change in our seasonal status comes the quad-annual changes in wearing apparel. Keeping in tone with the times is the best recipe for the development of popularity—And so it is, thusly herewith that a new fashion flick tips are brought to you by your own apparel-specialist.

The monk type dress that hangs from the shoulders a la raglan is smart for daytime and also formal wear. This dress gives you clever girls a chance to express yourselves. If you like, make the front panel of a contrasting color. For the neck use heavy costume jewelry (big, chunky stuff). Girdle the fullness with an ever-so-wide belt to suit your taste and figure requirements.

Do you recall pictures of mother all dressed up in her Gibson Girl costume? The very same idea only with skirts shorter and fuller, waists combining short sleeves and fullness, collar more comfortable, and belts wider, is again taking the limelight. For this spring we shall all want to look as much like the Gay Nineties as possible. We must have that Sixties and Nineties flavor.

Announcing the 1939 version of the dressing sacque! Wear them over skirts or dresses. The smart ones are made of lightweight plaid flannel or gingham with little white collars, or silk, taffeta, and polka dots. They are shorter than smocks and are flared.

Maybe you don't like to wear collars, and maybe you think they went out with something or other, but there you are wrong. Collars and jabots are back with velvet bows. They are flattering and are worn with all types of dresses. Remember every style collar is fashionable as long as it is finished off with a velvet bow.

Stripes have an important part in fashionable circles. They come in every width and color and in every type of fabric. Make a simple dress with the stripes running crosswise in the yoke and lengthwise in the dress proper. Stripes give the costume a new and intriguing interest value.

The beer jacket has a rival—a man's shirt made into a woman's fashion. Here's a chance for you to go wild in fabrics. Get the gayest, loudest, most gaudy plaid that is possible to find. These shirts are usually made of sturdy flannel or gingham. It has the shirtwaist shoulder, tail like a man's shirt, and big bias patch-pockets. Wear it and wear it, and this summer use it as a coat for the beach.

And so, enough with this week's fashion flashes. We will be back a little later with more teen tips for timely clothes-observers.

Are You Bewildered About Gift Suggestions? Then Use Helpful Aid

Holidays come and holidays go, and as each comes, the opportunity to improve yourself in his or her estimation presents itself. Then is when the question, "What to get them?" arises. Although this problem does not seem important, quite a lot is depended upon the gift you get him or her. Now, there are various occasions on which gifts are usually given. Some of these include Christmas, birthdays, Valentine's Day, graduation, and many other such holidays and important events.

In many cases girls and boys are bewildered by the very thought of what presents might please their beaux and girl friends. Knowing that popularity is somewhat influenced by this fact, the younger set is increasingly understanding the importance of this. So here goes telling you just what WOULD please them and just what etiquette DOES permit.

And to you boys who are faced with this distressing problem, here's a few hints. In the first place, what about hankies? Well, I suppose you think that suggestion is a little stale, but let me tell you this! An expensive hankie, I mean a little more expensive than she usually carries, is welcomed warmly. And whether you know it or not, hankies can be bought for as high as twenty-five dollars. There is no need to go to this extreme but...see what I mean? And don't think a girl doesn't know a good one from a ten-cent one! She surely does.

Or if she is the least bit intellectually inclined, get her a good book. The one most important factor is not to purchase anything which might be the least bit personal. Such as? Well, perfumes and lipsticks, or for that matter any cosmetics. In the first place, girls have their own personal tastes concerning such articles. Take lipstick, for instance. There are a hundred different brands and shades, one of which she probably prefers to all the other. Also, in cosmetics, different colors, brands, and textures are purchasable. So, boys, unless you know what kind and color she prefers, don't get any gifts of which she might have a preference.

Well, you say, what shall we get if these are eliminated? The one answer which is suitable to the modern fads and also permitted by etiquette...costume Jewelry. An article which the well dressed few wears with almost every ensemble and never has too many of.

And now, girls, before you have nervous prostration, let me give you a few hints about which gifts to select for him. Here's the answer to all your problems. The same goes for you as for the boys: Don't get anything personal! No matter how CUTE you think "Bob", "Bill", or "John" would look in those Japanese P J's, DON'T get them. They are DEFINITELY too personal. And take heed, girls! Have you heard what the stronger sex thinks about the women's choice of ties? They absolutely DISLIKE our choice. Why not try a good mystery book? If he doesn't like that type of book, find out what kind he prefers. A glowingly colored scarf would be a bright idea too. Or...what about some fine, white, monogrammed hankies? They never have too many, you know.

To Save Purse Pressure, Why Not Rent Our Books?

Criticism has been voiced by the student body over the high prices of the new books. One enterprising student started a petition among the student body over this same condition. However, new books will always continue to come out to replace obsolete ones, a fact which is recognized by the students and faculty.

The prices of the new books, while high in some cases, are fair prices. A plan has been worked out that will do away with practically all criticism. This plan is a rental of books. It was first tried out at grade schools and proved to be very successful. The new plan of renting books to the students will help parents financially in regard to the cost of new books. However, this new plan will not go into effect until next semester. The rental prices will be a small fraction of the actual cost of the books. Fines, of course, will be levied on any student damaging books.

It isn't such a far off period before we start planning for those regally gala events, the Senior Dance, Junior Prom, and Sophomore Party.

And again the story-telling fiend tells us that the reason the Indian reservations are putting in telephones is because "Indian Love Call."

Who was the misinformed student-quickie that declared that the only cost for a new semester was the enjoyment of learning?

And egotistical Totemites say with unthoughted vehemence, "Do NOT forget to pay on that seasonal publication."

Senior Group Receives Test As Health Aid

Three Hundred Forty - Six Pupils Are Given Test As Check For Tuberculosis

Doctors, Nurses Conduct Testing

Final Check Will Be Made Friday With X-ray Urged For Those With Reaction

Three hundred forty-six senior students and teachers were given the Mantoux test for tuberculosis Monday, January 30, after the students' parents had approved the test the previous week. The test was carried on in room 170 under the direction of four Fort Wayne physicians, Dr. Werner W. Duemling, Dr. Allan R. Chambers, Dr. A. E. Moravec, and Dr. H. V. Scott. Miss Maxine Biebersheimer, executive secretary of the Fort Wayne Anti-Tuberculosis League, also, as well as a number of trained nurses, aided with the testing.

The material for the tests was furnished by the local Anti-Tuberculosis League. Due to lack of funds the rest of the students will not be tested. Should it be possible, however, the first to be tested would be the freshmen.

Wednesday, February 1, nurses read the tests to discover any positive reactions in the field of tuberculosis. Tomorrow the first period, doctors will read the final tests. Should any positive reactions be discovered, students or teachers will be required to have x-rays made.

Times Agents Hold Circulation Meeting up with North Side's paper, The Northern, which already has more than 600 subscribers.

Miss Harvey announced that the next room agents meeting will be held February 8, so that all agents may get instructions for Times day, which will be held February 9, the first day on which only paid subscribers get the paper. On February 9, the home room period will be lengthened, so that agents may get back to The Times room to get additional papers for any new subscribers. Agents are also to contact on Times Day all persons in their home room who have not subscribed.

Near Perfect Scores

About five agents are nearing a hundred per cent room. If a room is hundred per cent subscribed, the people of the room will get candy bars. Also, if enough rooms get a hundred per cent, a special celebration will be held.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

Mr. Gould's Botany 1 classes are studying the process of osmosis. Osmosis shows how water and solutes are taken into the plant.

The Business Economics classes of Mr. Mills are learning the forces and customs which affect business relations.

Mr. Yoder has two new students in his home room class, Wilma Kellogg and Jean Karns.

In Mr. Yoder's physics class, the students are studying the mechanics of liquids.

The girls in Miss Mott's advanced sewing class will make suits from their fathers' old coats.

Mr. Wilson's civics 2 classes are studying social security, and his economics classes are studying consumption.

In Miss Pocock's English classes the following have made book reports: Ralph Herb, Bob Hines, Karl Eberly, and Lois Gumper.

The sixty-four people in Miss Edith Crowe's health classes who earned the Red Cross certificate for the standard first aid course received their certificates this week.

In Mr. Moss' general history class, period 4, Harry Claggett made a report on Charles II, and Bob Young gave a report on the Petition of Rights.

Barbara Noble made the first book report in journalism 2. Mary Melching has read two books on journalism since the close of last term.

The highest possible score in the Purdue test for Algebra I was 62. Three students in Miss Fiedler's Algebra 1 classes made a score of 61. They are Harold Baberstroff, Lee Harter, and Alice Loitte.

In his business organization and management classes, Mr. Walker gave a test covering the work that they will do during the semester. Mr. Walker is trying to see how much the students will learn during the semester. The grades and the tests will be filed away until the end of the semester when he will again give the same test.

In Mrs. Reike's public speaking classes, the students are giving speeches of introduction. Each student introduces one of his classmates.

Mr. Whelan's physical geography 1 class is studying topographic maps. Next week they will study glaciers.

A comparison of the grades of the students in room S is being made. Of the 180 students' grades, there are 4 A+'s, 52 A's, 53 A-'s, 81 B+'s, 90B's, 71 B-'s, 72 C+'s, 32 C-'s, 2 D's, and 21 F's. Mr. A. Verne Flint, the home room teacher, commended the students for this fine record. More than one-third of the students received grades of B+ or above.

Joan Cartwright, a student in home room S, gave the students hints on "How To Act At A Party."

In one of Miss Kiefer's English 8 classes, Mary Treen made a book report the first day of this semester.

The students who qualified for awards in Miss Covall's typing class are Sophia Kalak, who wrote a ten minute test at 46 words per minute with 90 per cent accuracy; and Maurice Evers, who wrote 43 words per minute with 93 per cent accuracy.

Pupils in Miss Lucy Mellen's food classes who are beginning home nursing.

Playlet To Be Given At Meterites Tuesday

"Grandma Pulls the Strings," a playlet, will be given at the Meterite Club next Tuesday. It includes the following characters: Grandma Blessington, Janis Tremper; Mrs. Commings, Mary Nell Spiegel; Nona Commings, Mary Elizabeth Turner; Julia Commings, Marilyn Emrich; Hildegard Commings, Phyllis Ann Fager; and William Thornton, Phyllis Strinsburg. Patty Burns will act as the narrator. Costumes will be got by Joan Cartwright, director of the play, and Carolyn Emrich.

Meterite Club cordially invites freshmen and sophomore B girls with at least a B grade in English to be guests at the next meeting on Tuesday, February 7, in the Greeley Room at 3:30.

All members should bring their dues as soon as possible, for only paid members will receive points after the fourth meeting.

Dick Dyke Conducts News Cast Over Air

Dick Dyke was in charge of the News Cast in the South Side High School's division of The Fort Wayne School of The Air during the recent broadcast on Tuesday. He took care of South Side's part of the program, which was shared with North Side. Miss Gretchen Smith is the faculty adviser for the School of The Air.

Kitty Clinard Is Second With 43 Sales; Campaign Is Now Being Conducted For Frosh

Richard Buchholz was the winner of the free 1939 Totem as he sold the most subscriptions. Dick sold 45 subscriptions while Kitty Clinard came second with 43.

A drive for the 9B's is being conducted. This campaign is directed to urge the new students to purchase the Totem and also to have their pictures appear in its pages. Nadine Mueller and Phyllis Geller, co-circulation managers, are in charge of this movement. Agents who helped in the sales of Totems to upperclassmen last semester will assist in this new campaign.

Other senior agents that achieved an unusually high number of Totems, and the number they sold are as follows:

Central's Art Club Has Dance Friday

Central's Art Club will entertain Friday, February 10, with their annual tea dance to be held from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock. Theodora Collias and Julia Ann Cowan are chairman and vice-chairman of arrangements for the tea dance.

Ronald McVay, a student in Miss Kiefer's English 7 class, reported on an old Celtic Legend called "Amadan of the Dough".

In Mr. Mills' bookkeeping 1 classes, the pupils are learning to record business transactions and accounts.

Incoming Freshmen Like Archer School In Spite Of Pranks

At last the fateful day for incoming freshmen has come and gone with some 155 odd freshmen having stumbled to a fairly disgusted finish as far as holding any respect for upperclassmen is concerned. Yes, when your reporter saw some of the new freshmen in the throes of agony and embarrassment in having their shoes and stockings taken off forcibly, they did not look as if they were exactly enjoying themselves. However, despite these hardships, most of the freshmen gave good inspiring reports when asked what they thought of the school. Among them were the following:

Berdine Lochner: It's hard to get around, but it's a nice place to be in. Everybody is willing to help you.

Nick Roloff: Pretty nice school.

Suzanne Roebel: Swell, but awfully confusing.

Bob Doty: You take off too many shoes.

Mary Carlo: Grand, but a little mixed up.

Bill Bone: More opportunities, better sports, and better teachers. My only objection is that the shoe system isn't any good.

Margaret Meyer: It's a nice school...everyone is friendly.

Richard Schafer: The teachers are better, but there are not enough clocks.

Martha Greider: The students are very kind to the freshmen. (Oh, well, she's a girl).

John Logue: Pretty friendly on the whole, except for the sophomores. (Spoken like a freshman.)

Betty June Kohr: I'm impressed by everyone.

Phyllis Hines: It's awfully big but I like it.

Alice Fisher: It's kind of busy and the rooms are hard to find. (That's what they all say.)

Bill Riethmiller: I wish they could tell the difference between a junior and a freshman, at least they didn't have to take off my shoes. (How did he get in here?)

Phyllis Strausburg: It's all right if you don't get lost.

Alida Eidner: I get sort of mixed up, but otherwise it's swell.

James Carpenter: Best school in the city.

Flora Saurer: It's a swell school but there are plenty of crowds. I was disappointed because I wasn't hazed. From the looks of things, it looks like a swell crop of freshmen, a gang we are all hoping will do big things. We are looking forward to seeing them among the rank of hecklers rather than the heckled next semester.

Hi-Y To Stage Pool, Billiard Tournament

A billiard and pool tournament will be staged tonight by the Hi-Y Club at 7:30 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. All members and any senior or junior boy who wants to join the club may participate in the tourney.

A short business meeting will precede the tournament. The father and son banquet will be discussed and final arrangements will be made.

At the last meeting Mrs. Forest Moore spoke to the club on "Famous Personalities and Their Philosophies."

Extemp Club To Meet

The next meeting of the Extemp Club is scheduled to be held next Thursday.

At the last meeting of January 26, Mr. Maurice Cook and Mr. Herbert Riecke acted as "Guest Critics." Food was brought by John Bonsib, Sam Bacon, Jeanne Gumper and Joyce McAllister. At present the members are making preparations for the invitational meet to be held February 18.

Home Room Outlines Issued For Semester

An outline for the second semester home room programs has been released through the office. In this outline it is suggested that the teacher or those pupils in charge of home room programs should have a vocational program on Monday, Tuesday have an educational program, Wednesday a social program, Thursday should be Times Day, and on Friday have a safety program.

On February 13, a special Lincoln program should be planned, and on February 22, a special Washington program. U and S cards will be issued on February 28 and May 9. Grades will be issued April 11 and June 7.

Pink Slips No Longer Required During Fifth

Because there are only five classes during the fifth period this year, there will be no fifth period restrictions as in the past, it was announced recently by Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal. No students in the halls during the fifth period will need a pink slip, but these slips will be required for all the other periods of the day.

If the students do not appreciate the privilege now granted them and act rowdy and make a great deal of noise, the fifth period restrictions will once more go into effect.

Zealous Girls Enter Classes For Tumbling

Miss Gretchen Smith To Instruct Advanced Tumblers, Miss Alice Dean Beginners

The annual tumbling classes held their first meetings last Tuesday and Wednesday. Due to the fact that basketball games are still being played in G. A. A., the beginners met on Tuesday in room 170 and the advanced on Wednesday. When the basketball season is over, the beginners will meet on Monday and Tuesday and the advanced on Wednesday and Friday when announced. Those who signed for the beginners' tumbling class are Marguerite Calkins, Bernadine Bender, Gertrude Merkle, Elaine Hirschy, Nancy Hess, Jeanne Smith, Bettie Stein, Joan Squires, Marilyn Sappington, Alice Witte, Violet Galbreath, Ruth Galbreath, Doris Feichter, Rose Stemen, Mary Griffith, Miriam, Parick, Delaine Rose, Marion Feichter, Frances Nash, Lois Holzwarth, Betty Bligh, Bernadine Pressler, Marjorie Voltz, Mary Alice Dunten, Julia Preece, Martha Cash, Phyllis Renkenberger, Sylvia Sholty.

Other Beginners Named

Marjorie Boese, Nadine Woehr, Kathryn Zaegel, Betty Kammeyer, Helen Anderson, Jean Junk, Betty Hargan, Leonore Kensler, Norma Russell, Betty Harvey, Betty Hayden, Etheldrea Behling, Mary Murchland, Eva Jean Wylie, May Schelle, Dorothy Herrmann, June Neith, Delores Ulrich, Ruth Hoover, Dorothy Allen, Martha Jane Krauskopf, Mae Vanderford, Catherine Dinkel, Maxine Voltz, Peggy Faux, Helen Marschland, Helen Kraus, Elma Shearer, Ilo Hirschman, Rosanna Weston, Frances Gross, Betty Mann, Myalene Lidde, Betty Goshert, Betty Jungham, Joan Virts, Pauline Werling, Lucile Scherrman, Tomsie Hall, Audrey Hall, Helen Beery, Marjorie Klotz, Geneva Marlene Patricia Ehle, Peggy Greaney, Delores Bodenhorn, Janet Michel, Virginia Grey, Vasilka Stephens, Joan Blum, Sarah Jane Makey.

Advance Tumblers Named

List of advanced tumblers are Adelheid Scheele, Gwen Roberts, Velma Connett, Marjorie Schepeler, Orinda Braun, Marjorie Williams, Mary Jane Derck, Marilyn Wolf, Kathryn Browning, Pauline Gregory, Betty Burns, Jan Hahn, Evelyn Strunk, Beverly Smith, Marian Owens, and Betty Schoenherr. Miss Gretchen Smith will advise the advanced tumblers and Miss Alice Dean the beginners.

Intramurally Speaking

By this time I suppose all of you freshmen are used to the high school grind. However, I think there is one more thing which you must learn and that is that we have an intramural department at South Side. There have been very few freshmen that have actually visited our intramural department after school. Well, don't let Mr. Louis Briner scare you; he's really a swell fellow worth knowing. Then too the gym is used for all the intramural games, so don't you think it would be much more fun to play basketball in the gym than to go home and play on the street? You can't all play games every night, but almost every night. So during the next week think about all the advantages of our intramural department and organize your team and submit it to Mr. Briner.

The outstanding intramural incident of the past week was the opening of the volleyball season. Every year toward the completion of the basketball season, volleyball steps in to hold the limelight. Well, this year volleyball is expected to be more important than ever. Volleyball will first be taken up in the gym classes and then at a later date will be included on the intramural program. Another outstanding intramural incident of last week was the announcement by Mr. Bill Moss of the intramural wrestling tournament which will be held after volleyball closes for this year.

In the Intramural Hall of Fame this week I feel that it is all together fitting that I include the name of Frank DuWaldt, one of our all around intramural athletes. Frank has won his high rank in the intramural world only since the beginning of school this fall. Frank's name was included in every one of the fall intramural sports. Frank received top honors in every sport, and he acquired the distinguished honor of receiving first place in his cross country group. However, don't get me wrong that Frank is a man of physical qualities alone, for Frank can be included in the upper third of the sophomore class. He works hard at his studies and gets high grades. Last year Frank received an award for his outstanding work in freshman English. So now I know personally that Frank's a swell guy and a boy worth knowing.

During the following week's program will be basketball and handball. The playoffs of the intramural basketball squads will no doubt be played, so it ought to prove to be an eventful week. Next week everybody will want to get their volleyball teams in the gym office so Mr. Briner can make out his program early.

As G. A. A. gains new members, it also loses its old members. Frieda Schubert, one of the most active and popular seniors, has stepped out into the world and has become a working girl. We sincerely hope that she will not forsake her friends in G. A. A. and that she will visit us as often as possible.

Another member who has left our athletic group is Justine Coudret. Although she has not been with us as long as Frieda Schubert, she has made many friends. Her future success in North Side athletics is already a sure thing.

Discoverer Maxine Sterling has made another important discovery in the shower room. This one pertains to another use of the shower curtain.

Betty Littlefield (freshman) says that she will never go tobogganing with Hazel Perry again. Her reason: Hazel can't guide a toboggan.

Joke on Frances Nash: error of Miss Dean; and a laugh for members of the fourth period gym class. Here it is: Frances Nash was asked to demonstrate some tumbling; Miss Dean who requested this, did not know that Frances tumbles only on ice skates.

Thanks to all the girls who so kindly filled our little gym box this week, but we would like to state the dirt belongs in the other box.

G. A. A. still holds attraction for the freshmen; the beginners tumbling sheet is covered with their names. Some of this new group of enthusiasts are Martha Cash, Alice Fisher, Helen Anderson, Peggy Faux, and Julia Preece. These girls are in for a number of good times and also in for meeting a bunch of swell girls. They now have earned the right to contribute to our group box. (This is really the correct thing to do, freshmen. All the upperclassmen do it, so take advantage of this opportunity and stick in some facts and gags about your classmates.)

Pat Beery Destined To Be Robin Hood Of Basketball World

Destined to become a great "Robin Hood" of the basketball world, Pat Beery was born on February 23, 1921, in the city of Fort Wayne, Ind. Pat Beery, as he is known to many of his friends, received his elementary education in a number of schools, having attended the Hamilton, L. C. Ward, and Harrison Hill grade schools.

Likes To Travel

Definitely liking to travel, Don has moved about a great deal. For two years of his life he lived in Berne, migrating from Berne he went to Huntington, where he lived a short while before returning to Fort Wayne, his home town.

While in grade school Don was an active participant in basketball, baseball, and track. Under the coaching and leadership of Pop Tudor, Don was trained in the fundamental principles of these sports.

After graduating from Harrison Hill, the last grade school which he attended, Don followed the footsteps of his brother Bob and came to South Side.

In Many Sports

While at South Side Don has participated in many sports. He was a member of the football team for several years, having played end on the first string; and only because of an ankle injury, he was forced to abandon the idea of playing football again this year. For the past few years, Don has also been an active member of the track team. Last year he was a member of the State Champion Archers and did much to help win that coveted title.

Truly Don is a great athlete, for he participates in many sports throughout the year. In the summer time he spends most of his time playing softball, but in his spare moments he likes to swim. In the winter he is an ardent skiing enthusiast, perhaps through which he has developed his great sense of balance.

To Continue Athletics

Don hasn't definitely decided on any specific college, but he hopes to attend either Notre Dame or Alabama after graduating from South Side. Then, to continue with an athletic career, his ambition is to become either a college coach or a professional football player.

"The Baron," a suitable nickname, isn't as enthusiastic about girls as he is about sports, for he said that he didn't like them so well. (But confidentially, he's weakening.)

The next time you see Don on the floor, remember that he is not only a great all-around athlete, but a really swell fellow as well and a post-graduate student whom you'll all want to know.

Marion Feichter To Head Riflers

Mildred Trout, Ruth Hoover, Will Act As Her Assistants; Tie Is Cast For Treasurer

At the last meeting of the Girls' Rifle Club Marion Feichter was chosen the new president, and Mildred Trout, vice-president, to assist her. Ruth Hoover is the newly chosen secretary.

Votes will be recast for Delores Ulrich and Marilyn Sondles at the next meeting as they tied for the position of treasurer when the ballots were cast. Doris Williams, Interclub Congress representative last semester, will continue in that capacity this semester.

Any girl wishing to join the Rifle Club is invited to come to the next meeting, only if she is a junior or senior as no underclass students are allowed to join. Two new members, Teddy Confer and Vivian Bushroe, shot at the last meeting.

Two matches were shot; one being the regular National Rifle Association bi-weekly and the other being a postal match with the Girls' Rifle Club of Concordia High School.

The girls participating in the Concordia match and their scores are as follows: Marge Price, 89; Jane Merchant, 88; Ruth Hoover, 86; Marion Feichter, 83; Mildred Trout, 81; Marcia Allen, 81; Audrey Hall, 81; Imogene Fabian, 75; Dorothy Bloemker, 66; and Laverne Michelfelder, 57. These scores were unusually low for most of the girls.

The team score for the N.R.A. bi-weekly match was 442. The ten girls that shot and the scores they made follow: Margery Price, 93; Jane Merchant, 90; Marion Feichter, 89; Imogene Fabian, 87; Mildred Trout, 83; Marcia Allen, 83; Audrey Hall, 79; Delores Ulrich, 62; Ruth Hoover, 58; and Dorothy Bloemker, 54.

Grandstand Glimpses

Well, if anyone feels lucky he might ask Coach Mendenhall how he felt the morning after the evening he decided to show some of his stars how to play "Horse." He did find out one thing, though. As a star he is still a good coach. Somebody reported he was kind of stiff.

Speaking of coaches feeling young every once in a while reminds us of the time about a month ago that the North Side pilot decided to play in a practice game with his charges just to show them how it was done in the good old days. The only trouble was that there were nine players playing today's style while he was the only one playing "ye old-fashioned style."

Now, if you don't mind let's move out to New Haven for the recent Allen County basketball tournament. As most of you know that gym has its bleachers running right down to the floor level and this is accountable for many humorous happenings. In the closing minutes of the Woodburn vs. Huntington game, Huntington lost the ball out of bounds because of a wild pass. One of the spectators, a very blonde lass, picked up the ball, gave it to one of her team's mainstays and proceeded to tell the referee he was slightly mistaken when he overruled her decision. Ah well, that's real faith in your team.

For the prize laugh of the tournament, I nominate the stall pulled late in the second quarter against Elmhurst. It went something like this: Elmhurst made a basket. New Haven brought the ball in and down past their ten-second line and stopped. Elmhurst wouldn't come in after the ball and New Haven wouldn't pass. Elmhurst wouldn't charge; the New Haven player got tired. He crossed his legs and took the ball under his arm. Thirty seconds of this and everybody's happy. Finally, the referee comes to everybody's aid and calls it "jump ball." Believe it or not, that's not holding the ball, that's monopolizing it.

Most likely you have all heard the story about the blonde at the football game and her questions. Well, we had a brunette in the row back of us that took the cake. Some of her questions were just a bit "odd."

And then there was the sports-clothing who discussed the crowd and cheerleaders to lead a number of cheers between halves. To make a long story short, from the time the teams entered the floor before the game until after the game the cheerleaders led yells every chance they got. There wasn't even a chance for him to get a word in edgewise. The cheerleaders were cute, anyway.

After some of the teams in the tournament were defeated the cheerleaders sat down and cried. It's the truth, so help me. Maybe we don't take our games seriously enough around here. Truthfully, though, that tournament meant just as much to those schools as the state tournament means to us.

The parting question: Why don't the Fort Wayne teams take part in the Allen County Tournament?

Dorothy Bloemker Uses Sports To Use Up Red-Headed Pep

Have you ever wondered what happened to the "saucy little redhead" of a few months back? She's throwing off a powerful glow right here in South Side High. The hidden identity is Dorothy Helen Bloemker. (Helen for the face that launched a thousand ships.)

Knowing fiery-headed Dorothy, you would perhaps wonder at her lack of explosiveness, that characteristic attributed to those with the flaming hair. Her quiet strength, which is only occasionally broken by a spirited glow, is a mystery to many interested persons, but we think we have solved that deep red scientific misunderstanding.

If you will follow us while we follow the shadow following Dorothy every Friday night, you will discover that at that evening the explosiveness which has been bottled up all during the week is suddenly given a terrific outlet. Yes, indeed, on that night, she breaks all records on the G. A. A. gym floor. She really gets a kick out of this. Says Dorothy, "It's good to get into gym clothes on Friday after all week of 'slaving at studies,'" this being the real reason she "loves to participate in G. A. A."

Having cleared up another baffling mystery, Dr. Watson and ourselves will get down to statistics and brass facts. Dorothy was born on September 14, a native of Fort Wayne. Her education was begun at South Wayne, continued at Harrison Hill, and is now being polished at South Side.

Besides her strictly educational endeavors, So-Si-Y recording, Girls' Rifle presiding, Times star reporting, Girl Scouts, 1500, Service, and of course G. A. A. claims her time. Dorothy is a basketball, speedball, hockey, volleyball, tumbling, baseball, swimming, tennis and badminton are all given a share of the aforementioned time, with baseball just a trifle favored over the others. The reason for this is Dorothy would explain it is, "because I learned to lift a bat, and the love for it has just stuck." By virtue of participation in these sports, Dorothy has to date her numerals, letter, and 2,100 points, which incidentally is very high for a senior girl.

Likes Journalism
She is specializing in the commercial course here at South Side, but her favorite subject is journalism. Her reason for picking Miss Elizabeth Demaree as her favorite teacher is, "Because you really know something when you leave her class."

Her ambition, which is typically athletic, is to fly with Jacqueline Cochran and be taught by her some of the fundamentals of flying in races. Her favorite hobby is loafing. (We don't believe it!) Others are building solid fuselage airplane models and photography. (Just a reminder to the readers that this is still an interview of a young lady.) Horace Heidt and Paul Sullivan rate as her best-liked radio programs; Chinese red and gray as attractive color combinations; Nelson Eddy, Jeanette MacDonald, and Paul Muni are well-liked movie stars.

Has Pet Peeve

Her pet peeve—people leaving paper in the typewriters in The Times room just so they will be sure of having something to write on when they return from a club meeting. (The rib being in the fact that no one else can use the typewriter during this period of elapsing time.)

Dorothy becomes embarrassed when she must stand in front of a group of people and address them. But the most embarrassing moment came when she swept into room 32 with a pink slip and gave it to the wrong person.

Dorothy is a light eater, preferring twelve or fourteen pancakes for breakfast to a heavier meal. According to Dietician Bloemker, peanut butter on a loaf of raw cabbage is delicious as are cashew nuts. In spite of these

Big Week End—

It isn't often that a North Side game takes a back seat on a South Side week end schedule. But such is the case this week end. At least from the standpoint of significance and state-wide interest. The team in question is none other than the powerful Kokomo Kats, rated as one of the toughest squads in the state. The game, we are sorry to say, will be played Saturday night at Kokomo, immediately following the North Side clash. The Archers will really have to be "on" to take both the Redskins and the Kats in the same week-end.

Another interesting item on the Kokomo game is that for the first time this season, Jim Glass will meet his match at least as far as height is concerned. Chet Gabriel, Kokomo pivot man, also towers high over the two-yard mark being a mere 6 foot, 8 1/2 inches off the ground. It will be worth noticing how the two tallest centers in the state will fare when pitted against each other. More or less on a hunch we'll stick to "Saggy" and consequently the Archers, picking them to nose out an eight-point win.

Now let's take a look at the North Side game, which also promises to be a thriller. The Redskins, you remember, took eight in a row before falling before the Green in their last meeting 34-21. Since that time, the Nuffmen have played a lot of "off" and "on" basketball but recently have started to click. However, it stands to reason that, if the Archers can do it without Glass, they should have little trouble with Jim in the lineup. However, don't be too surprised if a Redskin warrior should hit the war path and possibly upset the old dope bucket.

Week End Rehash—

Coming back after a narrow escape at Huntington Friday night, the Archers hit a new high in their assigned task of pouring leather through the hoop against Elwood the following night. The Green rolled up a massive total of 60 markers while holding the Panthers to a meager total of 18. It is doubtful that any team in the state could have withstood the heat applied by the Green wave. The boys more or less took turns hitting the hoop. Carl Hall led the first quarter attack only to have his sub, Ralph Hamilton, take over the burden throughout the second period. Hall returned to pace the Green in their third quarter spree with four fielders. Jim Glass led the final quarter attack as the Archers total soared to 60. Beery and Hire were the most consistent scorers, hitting from the field in every period.

The game played at Huntington will remain a mystery to Archer fans who didn't witness the clash for quite some time. The Archers seem to have developed a bad habit of turning on the steam in early moments to pile up an early lead, then try to slow things down, the result being that their lead is quickly diminished. Archer fans are hoping that Coach Friddle will turn the boys loose for the full 32 minutes in future contests.

State-Wide Notes—
Probably one of the most peculiar

Bars Lead Game Sales

Ice cream bars and popcorn led the sale of refreshments at the Elwood game over the week-end.

The sellers who went through the crowd selling refreshments were Paul Johnson, Cloyd Davis, Calvin Armstrong, and Betty Clem.

Among the new freshmen, four pupils volunteered to sell at the coming games. They are Richard Hirschy, Oren Harter, Phyllis Baldwin, and Laura Sauer.

basketball games to be played in Indiana came off last Friday night, and between two of the toughest teams in the state at that. Frankfort "drubbed" a strong Anderson quintet 11 to 6. Halftime score was 5 to 5 and it was a last quarter rally consisting of a six point "scoring rampage." Both coaches, Everett Case of Frankfort, and Archie Chadd of Anderson, are recognized authorities on the use of stall strategy in winning ball games. It would seem that this time they overdid it.

South Side is now ranked second in the state by the Littlehouse rating system. The Archers are headed by only Central of South Bend, who, up until last Saturday night, boasted a perfect record for the current season. It will be interesting to observe the effect of their 24-22 defeat, at the hands of Emerson of Gary, will have on their standing.

Bouquets—

This week we wish to recognize an Archer warrior as the most consistent shot on the powerful Green and White squad. This recognition goes to none other than Don Beery. Beery has long been recognized as one of the best guards in the state, but his offensive ability has been more or less slighted. An example of Don's shooting is the five fielders hit out of ten shots taken against Elwood. No one, and certainly not Coach Friddle, can complain about that.

Frosh Boys Urged To Lose Greenness Via Intramurals

After flitting through the corridors of our fair Alma Mater, your humble scribe has discovered that the meek and green freshmen of our school are in a daze about our intramural department. Because of this startling fact, an invitation has been extended to these up and coming freshmen to participate in this department. This department offers an opportunity to the boys of our school who are unable to take part in inter-scholastic sports.

Some of the members of our green-horn tribe have expressed their views on the intramural department as follows:

Bob Colby: I think it's swell.
Clifford Springer: Very efficient.
Jack Miller: All right if they keep it up.
Duane Shidler: Very good; prepares you for varsity sports.
Lee Smith: I don't know.
Keith Coverdale: Guess it's O. K.
Evelyn Forbes: It's all right.
Mildred Voigt: It's O. K. (I think).
Lavon Byer: I don't know anything about it.
Philip Schwartz: It's O. K.
Bill Kesterson: Very good.
Bill Mann: I guess it's all right.
Jack Waldschmidt, (believe it or not he's not a freshe): Pretty good.
Jack MacMillan: Not so good.

Northerners, Kokomo Promise South Side Big Week-End

City Crown Is Coveted Title To Be Settled

Will Meet North Side Redskins Tomorrow Night; To Attract Capacity Crowd

Game Promises To Be Big Fight

Bolyard, Hall, Glass, Beery, Hire Will Probably See Play In Anticipated Tilt

Freshman Pep Fest To Be Held Friday

Mr. Albert Heine announced that the pep session for new freshmen only, which was to have been presented last Friday, will be held tomorrow instead. This meeting is to be held in the gymnasium before the North Side vs. South Side game. Freshmen will learn the yells which were printed in The Times last week. The pep session is being planned by Mr. Albert Heine and the cheer leaders.

South Side's ever-powerful Archers will once again take up their battle for complete city series domination when they meet the North Side Redskins tomorrow night in the southern gym. The Archers, who have assured themselves of at least a share of the city crown, need only a win over the Redskins to be named city champs. The Redskins, providing both they and the Central Tigers can drub the Green, stand to obtain a half share of the city title. From the standpoint of continued rivalry now existing between the two schools, the game should be a heatedly played affair and will, in all probability, attract a capacity crowd.

Redskins Drub Central

The Redskins, who, after running up a string of eight straight victories at the start of the season, went into a tailspin, have apparently recovered some of their ability. Last Saturday they turned in a mild surprise by beating Central 38-25. The game was close throughout and the Redskins had to come from behind in the last three minutes to down the Tigers.

Coach Nulf has instigated a shake-up in the Redskin line-up which may or may not have been responsible for their success last Saturday night.

The Archers were both hot and cold in last week-end engagements. Against Huntington, the Green had a narrow escape, Bob Bolyard saving the game with his last-minute fielder. But against Elwood, the following night, the Archers were unbeatable. Carl Hall, who couldn't hit a barn door at Huntington, connected with seven fielders and a free throw to pace the Redskins to a 60-18 victory. If the Green could keep up that pace, the Redskins would prove to be only a small hurdle.

Green Beats Red Once

In their previous meeting this season, the Archers, playing without the services of Jim Glass, handed the Nulfmen their first defeat of the current season in a stinging 34-21 drubbing. Viewing the fact that Glass will no doubt see action in tomorrow night's contest, it is highly probable that the Archers will repeat and maybe better their previous 34-21 margin over the Redskins.

Coach Bob Nulf is expected to count on Cowan and Heiber as forwards, Ervin as center, and Leakey and Young as guards to bring home the bacon for North Side. Coach Friddle will no doubt use his regular starting five, comprised of Bolyard and Hall as forwards, Glass as center, and Beery and Hire as guards.

G.A.A. Net Season Closes Tomorrow

Junior 2, Senior 1, Sophomore 3, Sophomore 2 Teams Are Victors In Friday's Games

Members of G. A. A. played their next to the last game of basketball last Friday night. Four games were played with the winners being Junior 2, Senior 1, Soph 3 and Soph 2 teams; the last four games will be played tomorrow. The first two contests being at 3:30 between Senior 1 and Soph 3 at the North end and Junior 2 and Soph 1 at the South. At 4:00 at the North end will be Junior 1 and Soph 2 and at the South end will be Soph 4 and Soph 5.

The first game was won by Marjorie Morrison's Junior 2 team. They won over the Junior 1 team, captained by Marian Feichter, by the score of 10 to 3. Doing the scoring for the winners were Delores Menefer, Ruth Doehla, Betty Beyrau, and Pauline Werling. For the losers were Audrey Muchleener, Marcia Allen and Lois Jarvis.

Perry Wins Second

The second game was won by the score of 8 to 1. This game was won by the seniors, headed by Hazel Perry, over the sophomore 1, headed by Frances Nash. Leading the winners, Hazel Perry, Margaret Price, Mildred Franz, and Dorothy Bloemker. The opponents were led by Frances Nash, Hilda Schubert, Bernadine Bender, Martha Jane Krauskoff, Gertrude Merkel, and Mary Alice Duntan.

Sophomore 3 team captained by Betty Thiele won the third game by a close score of 4 to 3. Doing the scoring for the winners were Irene Meyer and Gloria Wiebke. The scores for the losers was done by Marguerite Calkins and Martha Hart.

The final game was won by Sophomore 2 headed by Jeanne Smith over the Sophomore 4, captained by Elaine Ferguson, by the score of 32 to 6. Geneva Martin led for the winners with 12 baskets; helping her were Jeanne Smith, Helen Squires, Constance Deel and Marilyn Wolfe. Doing the scoring for the losers were Betty Mann and Ruth Fuhrman.

Archers Conquer Huntington 31-29

Green Wins Thirteenth Time In Close Battle With Vikings; Bolyard Scores Final Point.

South Side's fast-stepping basketball team had all it could do in winning its thirteenth game last Friday night against an inspired Huntington team. The final score was 31-29. The champions blew a nine point lead the second half and finally let the Vikings tie the score at 29 to 29. If it hadn't been for Bob Bolyard's fielder in the closing seconds of play, the game would have undoubtedly gone into an overtime.

Vikings Score First Point

The Archers held the lead all the way throughout the game except in the first three minutes of the first quarter. The Vikings scored the first and their only point of the initial quarter. The champs kept right on playing a good brand of ball and at the end of the half led Huntington by a 16 to 7 score.

Careless passing and poor shooting on the Green's part enabled Huntington to outscore the Archers 11 points to 6 in the third quarter. However, South Side still led 24-18 at the beginning of the fourth quarter. The Green continued to play sloppy ball and allowed the Vikings to knot the score at 29 all. With only a very few moments left in the ball game, Bob Bolyard arched a long shot from the center of the floor that was perfect and the Archers were again ahead 31 to 29. The gun ended Huntington's hopes for a victory and it also gave South Side its second narrow squeak during the regular scheduled games.

Archers Outscored From Field

Huntington outscored the Friddlemen from the field 12 to 11. But they lost the game at the foul line, hitting only five out of fifteen attempts, while South Side tallied nine out of eighteen. Davidson was high for Huntington with 13 points. Glass led the champs with seven points.

February 9 Is Date Of Intramural Potluck

The date for the intramural potluck has been changed to Thursday, February 9. The potluck will begin at 6:30 o'clock and will probably end at 8:30. The committee that is to arrange for the potluck will be decided at the meeting today at the boys' gym office. As all boys will not be eligible to come, the list of those who are eligible will be posted on the bulletin board near the gym office. To be eligible to come to the potluck, a boy doesn't necessarily need to be a letterman. Only a few intramural lettermen are in South Side at this time. It would be impossible to have the attendance if some of those boys who have a large number of points, but not a letter, were not permitted to come.

Archers Give Performance

Two South Side Archers distinguished themselves when they gave an acrobatic performance at the President Roosevelt's Birthday Celebration at the Valencia Gardens last Monday night. These two people are Marjorie Williams and Orleado Braun.

Redskins, Catholics Record Victories

North Side Barely Noses Central 38-35 And Irish Takes Garrett With Ease By 41-33.

North Side and Central Catholic are the two teams which came out on top in the local games played this week.

North Side barely registered a win over the Central Tigers, who had led most of the way. Coming from behind in the closing minutes of the last quarter, the Redskins scored their win in a typical city series battle. A foul shot by Keller and a fielder from the capable hands of Young supplied the margin by which the Redskins won their second victory of the season over the Tigers. The score was 38-35 and there is still some doubt in the minds of the Centralites as to whether they would have had the slim margin had Kulesza not been removed from the game during the last hectic fourth quarter by the personal foul path. In spite of the fact that he was taken from the game he got his share of the points, scoring more than 13 points to share scoring honors with Leakey of North Side, who also marked up 13.

Although North Side scored first Central built up a 9-4 first period lead and when the gun sounded at the end of the half they had added another point to their margin and led 17-11. Through the efforts of Cowan and Leakey the Red managed to keep within reach of the Tigers who seemed to be bound to lose their opponents. During the third quarter the Northerners caught the Tigers for the first time at 24-24 and tied up the score again at 26-26 all the third period ended. As the game progressed into the final period the score was tied and retied and tied again before the Tigers pulled out a 34-32 score. Keller pulled the Red within one point of the Tigers with a foul and Werling followed it with two points to send the Northerners into the lead 35-34. Keller made a charity shot to make it 36-34 but Talley also sunk a foul shot for Central. At this point Young came through in the role of the hero to cinch the game with a tip shot at 38-35.

The Irish had little trouble in dropping a Garrett five by a score of 41-33. Ed Stanzak again used his height to advantage in dumping in sixteen points. Central Catholic was never in danger but were unable to shake the Redroaders completely at any time during the game. Taking an early lead the Irish were out in front throughout the game. Parks lead the Garrett offense, breaking through the Irish defense to accumulate 20 points.

South Side Drubs Elwood Panthers

Maroon And White Team Is Out-Played 60-18; Hall Gives The Green Lead In First Period

The South Side Archers kept on their winning ways when they hit the hoop from almost every conceivable angle to crush the Elwood Panthers 60 to 18. The Maroon and White team was outplayed in every department; and although they played their hearts out, they could not stop the champs who displayed a powerful attack, scoring 27 field goals and six free throws.

The Green was led by Carl Hall, who made seven field goals and one free throw for a total of 15 points. Hall scored from well out in the first few seconds of play to give the Archers a lead which they held throughout the whole game. South Side scored from all over the floor in the first quarter, dropping in a total of nine fielders which were evenly divided between the starting five. Hartzler was the only player from Elwood who could break through the Archer defense in the first quarter, scoring all of their four points, making a score of 18 to 4 at the end of the first quarter.

Ralph Hamilton, speedy Archer forward, hit the hoop from well out three times to lead the winners' second period attack, when they made five more baskets and three fouls. The Panthers could not break through the Archers' defense with consistency and made only five points when Muff Davis hit on an angle shot and a free throw and Brown made a hook shot to make the score 31 to 9 at half-time. Muff Davis, who is rated as one of the leading scorers and outstanding player in the state, was held in check by Jim Glass and Bob Hines, who allowed him only one field goal and two fouls throughout the whole evening.

File Up Big Lead

Carl Hall, after resting the second quarter, came back in the third quarter and proceeded to score eight more points to lead his team mates in the third quarter spurge in which they scored seven more field goals and

Tough Test Will Be Met Saturday Night

Two Of Most Highly Rated Teams In Hoosier Net Circles To Be Featured.

Glass Will Meet Equal At Center

Gabriel, Kats' Pivot Man, Is 6 Feet, 9 Inches; Hosts Have Lost Few Matches.

The vaunted South Side Archers will meet their toughest test in their attempt to retain their title as state champs next Saturday night when they travel to Kokomo to meet the vaunted Kats.

Of State-Wide Interest

The game will be of state-wide interest, as it brings about the meeting of two of the highest rated teams in the state. The Kats have made quite a reputation for themselves by downing some of the strongest teams of the powerful North Central Conference. Late, however, the Wildcats have suffered a couple of timely defeats at the hands of Frankfort and Morton of Richmond. What effect these will have on the strength of the Blue and White outfit will be seen Saturday night.

Game To Be Tough

The game will undoubtedly be the toughest on the Archer twenty-game schedule and Coach Friddle's lads will have to play a lot of basketball to bring home a win. The Archers saw an up and down week-end last week against Huntington and Elwood. If they play as they did at Huntington, as the Green are a better all-around ball club than the Kats. However, if they apply the heat as they did against Elwood, the game should be all Green and White. At any rate, the game should prove to be a thriller and will indicate the possibilities of both squads in their respective quests for the state title.

Kokomo's offensive sparkplug this year has been 6-foot 9-inch Chet Gabriel, who Archer fans saw last winter in the holiday invitational tourney held at South Side. If Jim Glass can prove a match for the Kat skyscraper, the Archers have a definite advantage, as the Green are a better all-around ball club than the Kats.

Coach Friddle is expected to use his customary starting five, comprised of Bolyard and Hall as forwards, Glass at center, Hire and Beery as guards. Hamilton and Hines will probably see some action.

held their foes to three points to go into the final period leading 45 to 12. The Archers continued their rapid pace to swamp the Elwood five by a final score of 60 to 18.

Others who were outstanding besides Carl Hall were Don Beery with 11 points and Ralph Hamilton who, although playing only half the contest, scored 11 points.

City Quintets Face Busy Net Schedule

Fort Wayne Squads To Play Six Games This Week-End; Green, Redskins To Battle Tomorrow

Besides South Side's games with North Side and Kokomo this week-end, Fort Wayne's scholastic fives will engage in four other games. Friday, Decatur Catholic will play Central Catholic at the new C. C. gym. Saturday evening will find Central traveling to Vincennes, North Side entertaining Auburn, and Spencerville at Concordia.

North Side will face more trouble Saturday night against Auburn. The Red Devils have been an in-and-out ball club this year. If they are all right Saturday, North Side will have all they can handle. Last year the Tribe was barely able to nose Auburn 37 to 35.

Decatur Catholic and Central Catholic will square off in a grudge battle Friday evening. The Irish are anxious for revenge against Decatur. This will be their second meeting of the year. In the first game Decatur Catholic with a great rally managed to finish ahead of C. C., 40 to 39.

Central will really have to play ball if they expect to turn in a win against Vincennes Saturday night. The Alices on their home floor will be a tough ball club, and a team that could give any other team in the state a battle.

Concordia is also in for an interesting evening when they meet Spencerville. Spencerville scored a 20 to 13 victory over the Cadets earlier in the season and the future generals are anxious to avenge that setback.

Intramural Group Begins New Club

Purpose Is To Promote Sports For Boys Not Out For Varsity Athletics; Staigt President.

The Intramural Club of South Side has been recently reorganized and has adopted for its dominant purpose the promotion of intramural sports among such boys who cannot participate in the interscholastic sports of the school.

After the last business meeting, an election of new officers was held. Walter Staigt was elected president, and Bob Byers was elected the new Inter-Club Congress representative. These were the only officers who were elected at that time.

At the business meeting the club planned to hold a potluck on February 9. The potluck will begin at 6:30 o'clock and end at 8:30. All boys who are eligible to attend this potluck will have their names posted on the bulletin board.

The Intramural Club under the sponsorship of Mr. Louis Briner is an organization which runs parallel to the G.A.A. Membership in the club is limited to those boys who have earned their intramural letter. Sponsoring athletic contests and social events are some of the activities of the club.

Again Prepare Social Disease Lectures Here

Graduating Seniors Only Ones Eligible To Attend Physicians' Health Talks.

Series Will Begin Near February 14

Drs. Werner Duenmeling, Allen Chambers To Head Staff In Preparing Talks.

Through the cooperation of the Department of School Health and Hygiene of the Public Schools, a second series of lectures covering "Reproduction", "Hereditary", and the "Social Diseases" will be presented to graduating seniors who have obtained their parents permission to attend the meetings, about February 14, it was announced yesterday by Mr. R. Nelson Snider, school principal.

Dr. Werner Duenmeling, chief school physician, and Dr. Allen Chambers, assistant school physician, will give the addresses to seniors directly in two groups, boys and girls.

In Second Year Being tried for the second year in South Side, the lectures have been deemed subjects with which every senior high school student should be familiar for his own guidance and future welfare, stated Mr. Snider.

Being in its first stage last year, the lectures were scientifically prepared by Dr. Duenmeling and his assistants for South Side students only. But because of the success in presenting the lectures to South Side students, the service may be extended to other public high schools of this city in the near future.

Advance Health Program

The health lectures are only one step in the stride taken by South Side in presenting an adequate health program for its students. Since last fall, health examinations have been given all persons going out for varsity football, basketball, track, health cards were given to students that complete examinations could be given them by their family physician, instead of the short ones given here at school; and only this week, the tuberculosis tests were given to seniors to ascertain negative or positive results.

Stamp Club Plans To "Honor" Group

Alumni Member Will Conduct Third Semi-Annual Service For Members; To Award Pins

Stamp Club promoted plans for their third semi-annual honor services to be held next Wednesday night in the Greeley Room. Carlton Clem, retiring president, is in full charge of the program, and will be assisted by the award committee.

Planning since last fall for the occasion, special awards of points will be granted to the students, who in the opinion of the award committee, have performed the most outstanding service for the club during the past semester, and to the person accumulating the most points during the previous semester.

Pins will be awarded to students obtaining set amounts of points, as established by the club's constitution.

Nine Enthusiastic Archer Speakers Of 1929 Organize One Of South Side's Most Popular Clubs; Mrs. Dorothy Benner Rieke Is Adviser

In the year 1929 one of the most popular clubs of South Side was organized. Nine enthusiastic speech students of that era banded together and demanded a speech club. Mrs. Dorothy Benner Rieke in collaboration with Mr. R. Nelson Snider fulfilled their request with Wranglers' Club. Those nine charter members who must be commended for starting a movement which is so beneficial to us today were Alida Leininger, Louise Effinger, Robert Eckmeyer, Helen Schaefer, Marian Morre, Richard Irick, Paul Brunner, Bob Sutterlin, and Verna Schuelke.

The purpose of the club, as pointed out by its originator, Mrs. Dorothy Rieke, is to encourage and promote public speaking and its activities. This purpose is realized through the many contests that Wranglers sponsor. These include all the declamation contests held at South Side, among which are the dramatic and humorous, and the oratorical declamation meets, held annually or semi-annually. One of the more prominent of the speech events is the extemporaneous speech contest (and it's truly extemp, too, contestants being given only approximately forty-five minutes in which to read on the subject upon which they must speak). Any Wrangler is eligible to participate in any or all of these contests.

Honor Debate Team

As South Side speech students do not have the opportunity to enter inter-scholastic competition in debate, the highest award to be won in South Side is to be named to the Wrangler honor debate team. This team debates on a current subject before Wranglers' Club.

Wranglers' medals are given to the persons who have won individual Wranglers' contests. Gold letter S pins are presented to those who represent South Side in inter-scholastic competition. The latter are jeweled in accordance with the number of contests participated in and won.

The above-listed awards having been won throughout the year are formally presented to the winners at Wranglers' honor banquet held annually in the spring. One of the main events of the Wranglers' year, this banquet is held for the sole purpose of honoring those persons who have been outstanding in extra-curricular speech activities the preceding year.

Raise All Money

Significant is the fact that Wranglers' raise all the money used by the speech department for the buying of books, readings, etc. They also sponsor the trips taken by the speech students who participate in out-of-town speech meets.

The main source of this revenue is the annual dance that the club stages after the North Side game. Among the most successful, the dances are always gay and decorative. Some of the more interesting themes of past dances have been "College Inn" and "Midnight on Manhattan." The latter theme was carried out by decorating the walls with miniature skyscrapers with lights blinking through the windows. Another very clever, very beautifully decorated one was the "Winter Wonderland" dance. The entire ceiling was covered with pine and fir boughs dripping with artificial icicles. Last year's dance theme, "Ranglers' Ranch" saw bucking bronchos and cowboys ride the range.

Has Two Other Events

Besides the dance and banquet Wranglers' may still chalk up two other big events on their calendar. They are the annual wiener bake and the semi-annual initiation. The first, held in the fall, has a "get-together, get-acquainted" purpose. The initiation, part of which is serious and part of which is humorous, is based on the idea of promoting better public speaking.

In addition to these four regular programs, this year, February 18, Wranglers' is sponsoring an invitational meet to which schools throughout the state will be invited to attend. The purpose of it is to give South Side students a chance to compete with talented speakers of other schools.

In order to be eligible to join Wranglers' a student must enter a school speech contest or enroll in a public speaking class. Because the eligibility requirements do not discriminate between the upper and lower classesmen, Wranglers' is one of the few clubs in school in which freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors, work and play together.

Club Has Many Members

The club has one of the biggest memberships this year that it has ever had, approximately one hundred-fifty Wranglers'. Members for this term are listed below:

Shirley Rubin, Anna Anderson, Max Atkins, Alex Azar, Sam Bacon, Helen Banks, Mary Barnett, Marcela Brack-

man, Newell Beaty, Elaine Bernstein, Lois Bloemker, Charles Bollman, Betty Bolyard, John Bonsib, Jack Bostick, Jane Bowen, Richard Buchholz, James Bumke, Maxine Case, Barbara Catlett, Arthur Chevalier, John Chedister, Joyce Cleaver, Kitty Clinard, Reba Coppock, Janice Cron, Marile Posse, Betty Daniels, James Brooks, Bob Brooks, Helen Detamore, Doris Dickmeyer, Janice Dyer, Dick Dyke, Kathryn Elpper, June Enoch, Evelyn Erickson, Dorothy Foellinger, Jack Forbing, Donna Foutz, Dick Fisher, Jessie Freeman, Tom Gallmeyer, Doretha Gardener, Dick Garton, William Gernand, Dorothy Gore, Kathryn Guild, Jeanne Gumper, Harriet Greer, Bob Guion, Bob Gunzenhauser, Audrey Hall, Dick Hamilton, Bud Hayner, Phyllis Hayner, Alfred Hertal, Bob Hodel, Eileen Hoffman, Carl Hofstetter, Bob Holloway, June Holzworth, Mary Grace Holthaus, Erna Jackson, Paul Johnson, Dorothy Karpnap, Paul Keil, Edgar Kettler, Anna Lou Kowalski, Jayne Knoche, Bruce Klotz, Martha Krauskopf, Wilma Lageman, Mary Lampton, Caroline Lichtenberg, Fritz Lohman, John Magley, Dick Markowitz, Betty Marquardt, Clifford Matson, Joyce McAlister, June McAlister, Charlene McAttee, Phil McKay, Safford McMyler, Donald Meyer, Edward Meyer, Sally Moorehead, Alan Muller, James M. Totem Makes Offer For Those Archers With Posing Talent

Seniors, it's too late—the senior pictures have been clicked, put in order, and sent to the engravers. It was some job too. If you don't believe it, just ask the Totem bosses who had to take some 407 pictures. But now that all of the senior pictures are disposed of, the next big job is that of the underclassmen picture campaign which will start on February 3. Underclassmen are urged to read the January 31 issue of The Times in order to find out to whom money should be paid. In this issue names of underclassmen picture agents will be published. Simple, isn't it?

Now for the problem of club pictures. These will be taken in room 114, starting February 14. It is planned that two or three pictures will be taken a day. A platform will be erected in the new study hall for this purpose.

To date, there have been 920 Totem subscriptions. After the incoming freshmen have subscribed (and they are all urged to do so), the total is expected to exceed 1,000.

Is NEEDLESS Eyestrain
Sapping YOUR Energy?

Eyestrain can cause headaches, tired, aching eyes and drowsiness. Those are the symptoms. But more than that it causes inefficiency and costly mistakes because it drains your energy and fogs your brain. Certainly money you put into the care of anything as indispensable as your eyes is the soundest investment you can make.

Each representative was asked to remind his club that the second installment of twenty-five cents for club room decorations is due.

Archer Students Enter Short Story Competition

Several short stories were handed into Mrs. Alda Jane Carson to be entered from South Side in the contest sponsored by the Delta Gamma Chapter of the Psi Iota Xi sorority. The deadline for the stories was February 1. The judges' decision will be given February 15.

The sorority has sponsored a contest such as this is South Side for the past six years. The contest was open to any graduating senior girl that is a 12A or post-graduate student. This contest has three parts, namely, a local contest, a provincial contest, and the state contest.

This year the three judges are as follows: local chairman, Miss Hazel Plummer, of North Side High School; northern province chairman, Mrs. Carson, and state chairman, Mrs. Paul Morton, of Lebanon, Indiana.

Campaign On Safety Will Begin Monday

Monday, February 13, the police department will start a campaign on safety which will continue through several weeks. Motion pictures based on safety and other forms of educational entertainment will be provided in the public and parochial schools. Two films will be shown to pupils on the special program.

Teacher Returns

Miss Elizabeth Kelley

Miss Elizabeth Kelley returned to South Side this week after several weeks illness. Miss Kelley will again assume her duties of English teacher.

Lecture Series To Be Started Next Tuesday

Doctor Allen Chambers To Give Talks On Human Relations Twice Each Week

Dr. Allen Chambers, assistant of staff of school physicians, will give a series of lectures in human biology and human relations to the seniors of South Side, beginning February 14. These lectures, including social hygiene, venereal diseases, and human reproduction, will be given twice a week for twelve periods. This year there will be two separate groups of boys and girls.

These groups will be considerably smaller than those last year. Because these groups are to be smaller, the lectures will be more beneficial. They are to be more complete and Dr. Duemling, assisted by Dr. Allan Chambers, a member of the staff of school physicians, will illustrate important points by showing lantern slides and motion pictures.

It is not compulsory to attend these lectures but seniors who desire to attend and whose parents are willing, may do so. Permits, signed by the parents, must be given before attending the lectures.

This year the students who attend the lectures will take notes on the subject matter given to them and will take an examination when all of the lectures are completed. Some outside reading will be required in order for the students to gain further knowledge than that given through the lectures. This is the second year these lectures will be given here at South Side.

The parents of those students who attended the lectures last year were so enthusiastic over the opportunity for their boys and girls to gain this valuable knowledge that these lectures are to continue this year.

Latin To Discuss "Roman Houses"

Committee Will Describe Various Rooms Of Model Constructed Few Years Ago.

Roman houses will be discussed at the Latin Club meeting to be held today at 3:30 o'clock in Room 26. The committee for this program, consisting of Bruce Bradbury, chairman; Ione Jean Tracht, Jim Barrett, Betty Daniels, Kathleen Ramer, Velda Oppenlander, Dorothy Gore, and Janet Holtmeyer, plan to conduct the meeting in the style of an open house.

Maurine Seibert, vice-president and general program chairman, will explain a model of a Roman house which was constructed by the Latin department a few years ago. Bruce Bradbury will draw a floor plan of a Roman house, and the other members of the committee will describe the various rooms in detail.

Kathleen Ramer will discuss the entrance or ostium and vestibulum. Velda Oppenlander will discuss the master's den or tablinum. The dining room or tablinum, the bed rooms or cubacula, and the garden or peristylum will be discussed by Betty Daniels, Ione Jean Tracht, and Dorothy Gore.

An "Information Please" contest will be conducted by Bruce Bradbury and Velda Oppenlander will report on the skating party.

All Latin students wishing to join, who are at least 9A's and made not lower than B—last semester, are invited to attend the meeting.

Wo-Ho-Ma To Organize For Semester Today

An organization meeting will be the main feature at Wo-Ho-Ma meeting this afternoon in the Greeley Room at 3:30 o'clock. The chairmen and their committees will be elected at the meeting. The chairmen will be as follows: February 23, Play, Louisa Haugk, chairman; March 8, entertainment, Mary Tell, chairman; March 23, entertainment, Margaret Geroff, chairman; April 20, amateur hour, Eileen Hormann, chairman; May 4, talk by Miss Pittenger, Mildred Korte, chairman; May 18, Mother and Daughter Tea, Audrey Jefferies, chairman; May 19, picnic, Lois Gumpfer, chairman; June 1, skate, Eileen Goddard, chairman.

After the organization meeting games will be played. The committee in charge is Margaret Wittner, chairman, Audrey Cooper, and Doris Douglas.

Music Event Will Be Held Next Tuesday

Orchestra Will Play Two Selections; Band Will Play Several Popular Pieces.

Specialty Numbers Will Be Presented

Three Baton Twirlers Will Entertain South Siders; Other Special Acts Named

Next Tuesday is the date for the first music assembly of this semester. The band and the orchestra, under the leadership of Jack Wainwright, have planned a program, and special numbers will be given.

The orchestra will play two pieces, "Lost," by Durand and the "Indian Summer Suite" by Lake.

Play Popular Numbers

The band has received many requests to play popular numbers from the students, and three are being prepared. Jack Cargile will sing "The Moon Got In My Eyes" while accompanied by the band. A special arrangement of "Star Dust" and "The March of The Jitterbugs" will be played.

Requests have been made for the band to repeat the "William Tell Overture," and it will be presented. Another overture "Sakuntala" is being prepared. Two other pieces will be played by the band, the "Bells" and "Entrance of the Gladiators."

Archers To Entertain

Al Stoddon, a drum major demon from Chicago, and three of his pupils, Albert Verweire, and Gloria Gumpfer, will entertain the assembly with their baton twirling.

Four more special numbers will be presented. Albert Verweire, whose solos have been enjoyed in past assemblies, will play a piccolo solo, "Piccolo Pic." Vocal numbers will be presented by Emaly Remmel and Erlene Lee. Gerald Polman will entertain the assembly with a trombone solo.

Bill Newhard Is New Prexy Of S. P. C.'ers

Lois Rea Is Vice-President; Eleanor Vesey Will Serve As Secretary-Treasurer.

Bill Newhard was elected president of Student Players Club at the last regular meeting of the club. Other officers elected at this meeting were Lois Rea, vice-president, and Eleanor Vesey, secretary-treasurer. These officers will serve until next fall at which time new officers will be elected.

Plans were also made at this meeting for the various meetings and functions to be held this semester by the organization. A potluck supper originally planned for the club was postponed until the spring when it may be possible to hold a picnic.

Bruce Bradbury was appointed chairman of the committee for the April meeting. Other members of the committee: Lilas Patton, Donna Lou Foutz, Margery Quackenbush, Kenny Warren, Bill Newhard, Jeanette Warren, and Elaine Bernstein. Betty Daniels was appointed chairman of the committee for the May 26 meeting. Members of the committee are Reva Bennett, Paul Keil, Kolman Gross, Joe Rex, Nancy Hess, Eleanor Vesey, and Margaret Knoll.

Miss Suter also introduced all of the new members who were initiated at the last meeting held at North Side High School. At this meeting all of the Student Players Clubs in the city initiated their new members.

Girls' Rifle Club Officers Installed

Marion Feichter Assumes Presidency; Second Vote Cast To Break Tie For Treasurer

New officers for the Girls' Rifle Club assumed their positions at the meeting last night which was held at the range.

The new officers are Marion Feichter, president, and Ruth Hoover, secretary. The votes were recast for Marilyn Spondies and Delores Ulrich for the position of treasurer as there was a tie between the two girls. Doris Williams is to continue in her capacity of Interclub Council representative. These new officers were elected at the January 25 meeting. The new range officer will be appointed by the new president.

The retiring officers are Dorothy Bloemker, president; Marge Price, secretary; Imogene Fabian, treasurer, and Marcia Allen, range officer.

A National Rifle Association bi-weekly match was shot with the following girls participating. The scores: they previously shot which entitled them to a position on this week's N.R.A. team follow their names. They are Marge Price, 93; Jane Merchant, 90; Marion Feichter, 89; Imogene Fabian, 87; Mildred Trout, 83; Marcia Allen, 83; Audrey Hall, 79; Doris Williams, 77; Delores Ulrich, 62, and Ruth Hoover, 68.

Ex-Manager Returns

Vivian Crates Logan, general manager of The Times in 1926, is returning to Fort Wayne because of the illness of her brother. She went to Indiana University and then worked for the News-Sentinel for approximately six years. She then went to Massachusetts to edit a weekly paper, which was awarded highest honors in a national editorial contest.

P-T. A. Group Is Arranging Winter Frolic

Parents, Teachers To Hold Affair Friday, Feb. 17, At 8 p.m.; Name Committees

The South Side Parent-Teacher Association has been making plans for a Winter Frolic to be held in the school on Friday evening, February 17, at 8 o'clock.

Those in charge are Mrs. A. K. Remmel, chairman of the ways and means committee, and Mrs. John Brooks, program chairman. Others assisting on the committee are the Mesdames John D. Bostick, the president of the P-T-A.; Harry W. Cook, Frank Bollman, E. G. Stock, Harold Tracht, C. H. Watson, Kay Eberly, M. E. Murphy, Paul Iba, C. E. Hudson, and Miss Pauline Van Gorder.

The booster club will be in charge of the decorations and will sell refreshments. The Hi-Y Club will take charge of the checking room. The grand march of the dance will be led by Mr. Earl Sterner. Bob Answer's orchestra will furnish the music for dancing that evening. The admission charge will be twenty-five cents per person.

The study group of the P-T. A. will meet next Tuesday morning immediately after the music assembly. Miss Martha Pittenger will discuss "Social Development" and Mrs. A. K. Remmel will discuss "Intellectual Development."

Jane Merchant Is New Scout Head

Members Plan Chinese Dinner, Exploration Trip; Girls Who Wish To Attend To Pay 25c

Jane Merchant was elected president of Senior Scout Troop 41 at the meeting Wednesday, February 1. The other results of the election were as follows: Vice-president, Carol Whittemore; recording secretary, Marcia Allen; corresponding secretary, Joan Cartwright; treasurer, Kathryn Guild; Foutz, Margery Quackenbush, Sarah Jane Makey and Marvonn Dorsch. The vice-president is to act as chairman of the program committee. Jane Merchant took over the duties of president after an informal installation of the new officers.

Friday, February 17, at 6:30 a Chinese dinner will be served at the home of Mrs. J. M. Purcell, 1137 West Packard Avenue. Following the dinner, at 7:15 there will be an exploration trip of the Masterson Studio. The girls who wish to attend the dinner are asked to pay 25 cents and to bring their own service. An appetizing menu has been planned which the girls are sure to enjoy.

As yet, it is not entirely decided as to what the program for the semester will be. Slips of paper with suggestions were distributed; and when tabulated, the majority selected dramatics. Others that were outstanding are aviation and clothing. Probably the club will be divided into three groups to accommodate these interests.

Pennies for the Juliette Low Memorial Fund will be collected at the next regular meeting. Juliette Low, founder of Girl Scouts in the United States, was a promoter of international friendship. This memorial fund is used to send Girl Scouts from all over the world to Switzerland.

Bruce Klotz Is Named Head Of German Club

At the last meeting of the German Club, which was held on Wednesday, February 1, the members elected officers. Elfrida Hanke, president of the club last semester, was elected vice-president. The officers for this semester are Bruce Klotz, president; Elfrida Hanke, vice-president; Phyllis Branning, secretary; Eugene Tiglis, treasurer; and Inter-Club Congress representative, Helen Savage.

Tickets For Central Game Are For Sale

Tickets for the South Side-Central game next Saturday night are on sale in the athletic office. They may be purchased only on presentation of a season ticket book or a half-season ticket book. As the tickets are sold the number of the season ticket is checked so that only one ticket may be purchased for each season ticket. Student tickets are 25 cents and adult tickets are 50 cents.

Archer Orator Takes Highest Speech Award

Tom Gallmeyer Junior Wins First Place In State Original Oratorical Meeting

"The Scorpion" Is Topic Of Speech

Is Qualified To Enter National Finals At Beverly Hills This Coming June

Tom Gallmeyer, junior A and one of South Side's veteran public speakers, placed first in the state original oratorical speech meet held at Wabash College February 1. Tom, who was coached by Mrs. Dorothy Rieke, was presented with a gold trophy as a result of his victory. In the presentation speech, the chairman of the affair specified that it was an individual award, not to be given to the school. The trophy will be on exhibition in the trophy case for only a short time consequently.

Concerns Nazi Men

The oration, entitled "The Scorpion," concerns Nazi activities in the United States. Mrs. Rieke stated, "Since his oration was based on a live subject, I think the audience found it exceedingly interesting. His voice and gesture variations tended to a much better general effect than any other of the seven contestants. I was most proud of him though when through his knowledge of extemporaneous speaking, he covered up beautifully the fact that he had forgotten a portion of his speech. That, to me, is indicative of much better speaking ability, than someone who gives a perfectly memorized speech."

May Enter Nationals

Having won the state contest, Gallmeyer is now entitled to enter the national finals, which are to be held in Beverly Hills, California, this coming June after school is dismissed. Should he enter this contest, he will be privileged to enter next year's also.

Gallmeyer's oration was selected as being most suitable for contest work from the original orations given by Mrs. Rieke's second semester speech students recently. Should he enter the national contest, he would use the same speech.

The only Fort Wayne participant in the contest, Gallmeyer was competing in his first state speech meet. Last year South Side was represented by Dalton McAlister who also carried off state honors.

Tom Makes Statement

Of the contest Gallmeyer says, "It was through Mrs. Rieke's able help that I won. It was a great experience with plenty of tough competition." He was accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Rieke, Dorothy Foellinger, Sam Bacon, and Bill Riethmiller.

Gallmeyer is a member of Wranglers, S. P. C., Extemp, and Radio Players Clubs. He is also a cheer leader.

Hi-Y Will Induct Officers Tonight

Club Decides To Hold Best Girl Banquet In Place Of Father-Son Fete Set For February.

An initiation of new members will be held by the Hi-Y Club tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Y.M.C.A. The induction ceremonies will be given by the officers of the club. They are Andy Bremer, president; Morton Nahrwald, vice-president; Aubrey Kellogg, secretary; John Magley, treasurer; Clayton Jensen, Inter-Club Congress representative; and Bill Riethmiller, sergeant-at-arms.

The new members who have joined the club this semester are Bob Shroff, Bob Jones, Kenny Erne, and Don Osgood. All junior and senior boys who are interested in joining the club are invited to be present at the meeting tonight.

At the last meeting the club decided to postpone the father and son banquet, which was to be held sometime this month. In its place the club agreed to hold a best girl banquet. Dick Buchholz was made chairman of a committee, appointed to arrange a program for the banquet.

After the meeting, Morton Nahrwald, chairman of the activities committee, obtained the pool tables in the lobby and a pool and billiard tournament was held.

Andy Bremer, president of the club, announced some changes in the finance and program committees, which were appointed two weeks ago. The committees are as follows: finance, John Magley, chairman, Bill Schultz, and Bob McKay; program, Dick Aronhalt, chairman, Maurice Lehman, and Howard Miller.

The Hi-Y members who worked in the check-room at the North Side-South Side game were Aubrey Kellogg, Jr., Bob Jones, Herbert Domer, and Clayton Jensen.

James Brooks Leads Advertising Solicitors

Jim Brooks led The Times ad solicitors last week by obtaining fourteen inches. Bud Lampton was next with six inches. Four inches were secured by Kenneth Wollman, three by Martha Jane Krauskopf, and one inch by Betty Haney.

In answer to the request for new solicitors, five new members have joined the advertising staff. They are Phyllis Roif, Betty Cowan, Wanda Eller, Janet Michel, and Mary Alice Duntun.

Broadcast Is Scheduled

Another news broadcast is scheduled for March 7. It is not known who will be in it, but all the schools in Fort Wayne except Central Catholic will participate.

Ace High In State

Tom Gallmeyer

Tom Gallmeyer, vice-president of the junior class, won first place in the Indiana high school students' original oratory meet held at Wabash College last Saturday. Gallmeyer's subject, "The Scorpion," concerned Nazi policies in the United States.

Archer Group To Participate In Speech Meet

Wranglers Is Sponsor; Contest To Be Staged Here On Saturday, February 18

Forty-nine speech enthusiasts of South Side have entered the five fields of speech competition offered in Wranglers' invitational speech meet to be held here Saturday, February 18. These entrants have been given their choice of participating in any two of the five fields of competition, which are oratorical declamation, extemporaneous, original oratory, dramatic declamation, and humorous declamation. The meet is the only one of its kind ever to be held in Fort Wayne.

Purpose Given

The purpose of the series of contests which will comprise the meet, as explained by Mrs. Dorothy Rieke, Wranglers' adviser and speech instructor, is to give South Side students and students of other schools an opportunity to gain experience in the different fields of speech.

Approximately two hundred students, representing thirty-five Indiana high schools, are expected to attend.

The winners will be selected by Wranglers to represent South Side in various state meets on a basis of their wins in this meet. The coaches and speech instructors of the various groups will act as judges.

"Southern Cruise" Attended By 385

Sid Crosely's Commodores Supply Music; Decorations Described; Give Various Prizes

Approximately three hundred eighty-five were in attendance at Wranglers' Southern Cruise dance February 3, after the North Side game, the greatest number in the history of all Wrangler dances. One hundred fifty of those who attended signed the ship's log. South Side Wranglers' portion of the decorations designed to further carry out the cruise theme.

Sid Crosely and his Commodores were featured at the dance, which was held in room 170, decorated in accordance with the southern waters theme. The programs consisted of blue sailboats with white sails on which the lettered "Wranglers" in gold. The letters of Southern Cruise were the first letters in the names of the dances, which were listed on the inside.

The decorations of sailboats, palm trees, large patent leather trunks with stickers of the various southern ports, and a huge gold moon created the desired atmosphere of a southern cruise. The effect of ship's lanterns hanging overhead was unique. The background of the orchestra was a wide expanse of blue with ships' wheels and anchors painted on it, serving to carry out Wranglers' colors of gold and blue.

Prizes were given to Dorothy Beecher of North Side, prettiest blonde; best dancers, Audrey Hall and Jack Lindsey; Dick Didier and Alice Sweet, shortest couple; prettiest brunette, Ann Tucker; and best looking South Side-North Side combination, Billie Lou Beaver and Pete Meyer.

Efforts Taken To Get More Time's Orders

Paper May Be Withheld If Goal Of 1,000 Is Not Reached; New Agents Aid

709 Subscriptions Reported To Date

Room Solicitors Hold Meet Wednesday For Times Day; Gross High Agent

As The South Side Times circulation campaign moved into its third week, all the Times room agents were urged to greater efforts in the hope of reaching a goal of 1,000 subscriptions. Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser for the publication, announced that unless the one thousand mark was reached, the publication of the paper would be suspended until such a time when a thousand subscriptions had been obtained. During this time of no publication, the energies of the entire Times staff would be devoted to getting additional subscriptions.

May Hold Assembly

However, before this extreme is reached, the agents will be given a chance to get the remaining three hundred subscriptions and reach the mark set by Miss Harvey. An assembly also might be held to stimulate more interest in the final moments of the drive.

At the present time a total of 709 subscriptions has been reached. Book number five under the direction of Kolman Gross, new circulation assistant, has the highest number of subscriptions with 130. The other books, six, one, four, two, and three, respectively, have the remaining subscriptions divided almost equally among them.

Day For Times

A room agents' meeting was held yesterday afternoon to give all of the agents instructions for Times Day which will be held today. For this purpose the home room period will be lengthened five minutes to give the agents a chance to contact every member of the home room. Agents and teachers have been asked to turn as much of the home room period as possible over to the agents. The agents re-

Tiger Victory Hop To Be After Game Saturday; Chaperones, Various Committees Listed

After the South Side-Central game Saturday night, Central High School's Junior Class will sponsor the Victory Dance in Central's girls' gym.

Take Care Students! Watch Your Behavior Or Accept Medicine

As the new semester rolls along and the latest crop of freshies gradually become initiated into the mysteries of high school life, the eighth period once again rears its ugly head on the heretofore peaceful horizon. Whether you belong to this crop of greenies, are just one of the common herd (sophomores and juniors), or are an exalted senior, you will in all probability fall prey at some time to this menace.

Of course there are ways to escape it; and since we have as yet done no good deeds for the day, we will let you in on the secret. First, do not take your daily constitutional in the halls during class periods. For some strange reason, this is deeply resented by the faculty. And anyway, if you should happen to be seen in the halls at about the time lockers were being rifled,—well, draw your own conclusions.

Secondly, when it's time to go to your study period, take your books with you and prepare actually to study.

Thirdly, get your lessons when they are assigned. Don't expect to stroll into class with nothing above the neck but a wad of gum. This is also a source of irritation to the normally-patient teacher, and small wonder.

We could spend the rest of the day listing to do's and don'ts for the fugitive-from-the-eighth-period. However, you have probably heard them hundreds of times before in home room, assemblies, or various class rooms; and if you haven't heeded them before this, our repetition probably won't do much good. Only if you should be assigned to an "eighth", just remember we warned you.

Press Freedom Assures America Against Dictators

Among the cardinal privileges granted by the Constitution of these United States, is the freedom of the press. The press plays a very important role in maintaining the rights of the people against would-be dictators, Communism, Fascism, and the like. In each of the unfortunate countries which are under the thumb of semi-manical dictators freedom of the press is a thing unheard of.

Imagine, if you can, that all the newspapers of this country were suddenly placed under a strict and rigid censorship. Every article in them would have to be approved by one prejudiced person. Any article with even the vaguest hint of opposition would be quickly discarded.

The welfare of the citizens of the United States, of all nations for that matter, depends to a great extent upon the ability of the press to print the truth. Numerous rackets, swindles, and the like have been exposed and discredited in the newspapers.

Your daily newspaper is one of the strongest bulwarks of defense that exists against dictatorships. It is indeed a happy and fortunate item that freedom of the press exists in the United States. If, for even a short time, freedom of the press was abolished, all personal liberties would end quicker than a summer romance. If the American people ever permit this priceless privilege to be taken from them, they will richly deserve all the misery and oppression that will be certain to follow.

Pay Your Dime Today!

Some two weeks ago many of your parents were dancing at the President's Birthday Ball so that some unfortunate victim of infantile paralysis might one day walk.

All of us should have done our small part in fighting this terrible, long-lingering life-spender. The campaign was successful all over the United States, a discouraging bit of information to infantile paralysis but a happy note to its victims.

However, unless the annual march of dimes continues to make its winding way into Washington to help these pathetically deficient members, a real check will never be placed upon this dreaded disease.

Enthusiastic readers, give us your publication reserves now and further your reading pleasure. A Times subscription is worth a million but costs only seventy-five cents.

Tips to students: Don't forget to take in yell-participation in our pep-sessions, for that is your one chance to cut loose in an assembly.

Another noteworthy item to new Greenies: It's never too late to get a season basketball ticket, for you're in a school of champs now.

Everybody's laughing. They finally found a Scarlet O'Hara. Now, we can all delve with Morpheus more peacefully.

Wee Sketches Of Our Big People

By Jeanette Warren

Who has a perpetual smile? Who often makes the remark, "Isn't it wonderful?" Who is often seen dancing the shag with "Squeeb"? Need?—Answers on page two.

You're right. That's correct; the answer is Eleanor "Vee" Vesey, and we don't stutter. One of the school's most active extra-curricular partakers-in, she holds membership in 1500, Wranglers, Math-Science, Student Players, and Philo Clubs. She is also a member and former president of the Social Science Club, ex-general manager and present student adviser of The Times, for which work she has received her gold-jeweled pin. She is also copy editor on the Totem staff. Eleanor has been honored by being appointed a member to the National Honor Society and Quill and Scroll, honorary journalistic organization. Last year she won second place in the state Latin contest, and this year she tied for third in Wranglers' oratorical declamation.

"Vee" is allergic to exactly four things (if you can include people in that class), (1) uninteresting people, (2) two-faced people (them's harsh words), (3) catty-people (?), and (4) skirts that are too short. She adheres to liver and onions and abhors ripe olives (comprehend?—she likes the first and dislikes the second). Naturally her favorite orchestra is Ozzie Nelson (try reading, omitting the fourth and last words). The song, "Two Sleepy People," and the movie, "Marie Antoinette," are also tops with her. She likes playing tennis ("at which I ain't very good") and ice-skating. She likes The Times, brown eyes, suede vests, chemistry, and Dyer's cartoons.

Miss Vesey's ambitions are the mood-of-the-moment type. Several of them are (1) to be permitted to lead our band, (2) to become a laboratory technician, and (3) to become a teacher (a grade school pedagogue—can you possibly "conjure up" such a vision?). The topic of our conversation, emigrated to South Side from Hoagland. She plans to continue her education at Indiana Extension and consequently Indiana University.

We're still promising to find that gentleman and bring him to hearing next week.

Senior Synopsis

By R. U.

Graduating

With the issuance of King Winter's somewhat decisive blows, we of the Senior extracts find the scribing surroundings a trifle bit of frigidity. Nevertheless, all upperclass gay-folk continue to extend their happenings to our worthwhile space-filling. And so, to you Southern relatives we continue to expound...explicitly, efficiently, and ever-truthfully.

Dropping the stitches, we find a domesticated bit of figurativeness nominally issued as Mary Melching. This 12A dynamo, who slapped an all-too-charming garment together all-too-hurriedly, was found traversing her finished product to a local dress-maker for added trimmings. Say it isn't sew! Ah me—the unhappy craftsman.

Speaking strictly senioristically, we give this week's honors to Totem boss, Max Spencer. Scholastically speaking, he's the tops. Extra-curriculars are his meat, and he has digested them capably and efficiently. With the sincere approval of his many friends, we pass the buck of sincere congratulations.

We hear tell that many of our male inclinations have found it fitting and able to offer some refute to the opposition which senior women have de-nouncingly given out in regard to those clothing atrocities, those remnants of apparel discredits, bow-ties.

Among basketball enthusiasts, we find delectable Jeanne Porter, who has bi-annually changed her far-sought-for admirations. Until recently we thought the beat of heart thumped with alumni champ, Jimmie Roth. But now she's shooting for Hire things. Fickle woman!

And now, gentle South-folk, the eventful passing of time has taken place; and consequently we must soon follow. So, with your kindly and respective permissions, we shall pack up our trappings and travel on. Au revoir.

What Would You Do?

If you are really up on your date-quette, you will be able to answer the following questions.

What Would You Do:

- If your date falls down on the dance floor, you should:
 - Fall down, too, so as to make things less conspicuous.
 - Ask the orchestra to play, "Where Are You?"
 - Pick her up.
- If your date wants to hold hands:
 - Slap her fingers.
 - Call the usher.
 - Assume it's a game and hold the hand of the person next to you.
- If your date steps on your feet at a dance:
 - Retaliates with a right to the shins.
 - Say to her, "Walk on your own feet, bud, mine ain't no parking lot."
 - Smile at her with an undertone of "Ouch, that was my corn."

Incidentally, whether people know it or not, and apparently they don't, the study hall is not a place to compose love letters to one's sweetheart, but a place to study. A certain K. R. disagrees with me on this point, however, and every second period she writes a big fat love note to Junior Griffin.

Here is a little bit of nonsense that I shall pass on to you. 'Tis a prayer of some lonely girl. I'm giving it to you just as I received it.

Now I lay me down to sleep,
Please place this dream man at my feet;
He must be tall like Braden or Glass,
With lots of "Umph", personality, and class.
My dream man calls for a dead-eye-dick,
Don Beery or Hall might do the trick.
And speaking of eyes, what about Hire,
Or Hamilton, a forward, who's sure fire?

Archer Regal Outings

Belated Flurries Are Herald Of Forceful King Of Winter

And then came the dawn! On that Monday morning when it was discovered that snow had fallen in the night. Practically all night, I would say! I happened to overhear an interesting remark that described the wintry situation perfectly. The person said, "I first discovered snow had fallen when I woke up in the morning with snow blowing all over my face from an open window fifteen feet away!" End of joke!

In the early morning pedestrians were seen using the streets for side-walks. It was perfectly safe, though, because the cars were few that could be started and those that could be started weren't able to get underway, unless the car was shoveled out of the snow. Even the best were doing it! The street cars were packed. That is, when one could be found! South Side was what you might call forsaken. Home rooms were almost empty, and the people late almost out-numbered the people present. The best thing about those present was the fact that all who arrived were here safe and sound. And that, dear readers, is something to be proud of. Accidents happen thick and fast, and it is better to be late to school or not come at all than to break a leg or arm getting here.

Sports Are Enjoyed

In spite of these disadvantages, winter sports can be enjoyed more actively. Even the biggest boys and girls have real fun throwing snowballs, sledding, and skiing. Yes, I even saw a boy going to school on skis! Now that's the way to travel. Kiddies would line up on each side of the street and battle back and forth. I mean the South Side Kiddies! Snowballing is swell fun, but—not across the street. The cars have a hard enough time getting down the street without the added hindrance of dodging snowballs. Also, there is always the chance of breaking window glasses of street cars. This, as you know, is dangerous to the passengers. Even though you wish to have fun—be careful!

It's the end of your lesson for today. Now to relate some humorous forenoon sight. Big Bill Moss was seen trying to get a sputter out of his car, but it sputtered in vain. He finally borrowed a shovel out of nowhere and prepared to work up a lot of heat. He pulled out the snow so fast it looked like the wind was sweeping under the car. Finally, after hours and hours, (ten minutes actual time) he got underway. It was a tough struggle, but he took it like a trooper.

Others Are Victims

And why shouldn't he? He was not the only victim of that unruly snow. Another car was caught in a pile of snow beside that little island at the north end of South Side. Apparently he was trying to turn around, but the car came to a standstill. Four or five Boy Scout South Siders came to the rescue with their picks and shovels and began the task of undoing the snow from beneath the auto. (Where did all these shovels come from?) Finally the man was able to go on his way. Thanks to those kind-hearted, husky boys.

While all this was going on, the South Side Grill was finding it difficult to seat all the unexpected guests. Hardly anyone attempted to go home for lunch but stayed on to eat where he could if it was possible to get across the street in one piece. The snow was wet and icy and the stickiest ever. By the way, have you learned how many points a snow-flake has? In case you have forgotten or never knew, why don't you ever find out? For you indolent ones, I will tell you. It has six points as a general thing. Now, isn't that right clever? I think so.

Boys Earn Money

Anyway, these tiny snow-flakes accumulated together make a great deal of snow! Remember, a great oak from a little acorn grows. I can see by the look on your face that you are not with me. For instance, can you picture the look on the face of the boy who shoveled and shoveled only to find that he had shoveled a strip out of the lawn. Nevertheless, it was a path; and that was the most important thing. Paths were few and far between last Monday morning. Money was easy to make for those industrious boys who shoveled walks endlessly until it was impossible to see any longer. Thanks to those boys who make the going easier for a large number of people—end of results from a full day of snow.

Kelly Koed Kut Ups

Now that all of the students at good old South Side have settled down once more to routine work, and the little freshies aren't looking quite so bewildered, everybody is looking around for new heart interests!

Joan Dutterer sincerely wishes that Wanda Bowman hadn't already staked her claim on Russell Crumrine, because Joan is really quite gone about the boy. But take heart, Joan, maybe Wanda's heart will stray to someone else, and then (oh happy day) you will be first in line. Now ain't that somethin' to look forward to?

Incidentally, whether people know it or not, and apparently they don't, the study hall is not a place to compose love letters to one's sweetheart, but a place to study. A certain K. R. disagrees with me on this point, however, and every second period she writes a big fat love note to Junior Griffin.

Here is a little bit of nonsense that I shall pass on to you. 'Tis a prayer of some lonely girl. I'm giving it to you just as I received it.

Now I lay me down to sleep,
Please place this dream man at my feet;
He must be tall like Braden or Glass,
With lots of "Umph", personality, and class.
My dream man calls for a dead-eye-dick,
Don Beery or Hall might do the trick.
And speaking of eyes, what about Hire,
Or Hamilton, a forward, who's sure fire?

Pro and Con

If you will recall, you have not heard club announcements read over the public address system for several days. A new plan by which a club calendar for one week is printed and posted in all the rooms is being tried. Special club announcements such as skates and dances are to be given over the public address system. A question arises, "Is this system, which is being tried, for the best interests of the school?" Mr. Pro and Mr. Con seem to have a little to say concerning each side of the question. To examine the question further we can see what defense each side gives.

Pro

Mr. Pro starts his argument by saying that since the club announcements over the public address system are to be eliminated more time can be devoted to special safety programs and skits dealing with school life. Mr. Snider must give his valuable time to reading these announcements, if they are given over the public address system, and this takes his time which could easily be devoted to his business.

During the home room periods, the students usually study or do other things; and many times they do not hear the announcements. If the club announcements are posted, the club member can read instead of hear them and will be sure to know when the club meeting is to be held.

Con

Mr. Con says that it makes a lot of extra work for someone to type and mimeograph these club calendars. It is also a great responsibility for the clubs to get their announcements in on the correct day; and if the club should be a little late in getting the announcement in the office, the club would have no announcement for that week, as additions could not be made to the calendar after it is already printed. Since the students have formed the habit of relying on Mr. Snider to read the club announcements or, as it was last year, the home room teacher read the daily bulletins, many club members will fail to notice the bulletin boards and thus miss the club meeting.

It seems that even though the club announcements have been eliminated over the public address system, there are still a number of news items to be read every morning. It seemed evident that the purpose of the club calendars was to eliminate the number of announcements daily over the public address system; but it now seems evident even though the announcements are eliminated, there are still a great number of items to be read.

Since there are two sides to this question, it is hard to determine what would be the best thing to do. The club calendar will most likely continue, but it is for the best interests of the school?

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

Along The Clothes Line

Now that we are swinging right along into spring (or don't you think so?), it's time to get in step and see what's what, so to speak.

First, in interest and importance, is the matter of color. More and more is the predominant use of grey in all tones: grey with yellows, greens, and soft blues. Thin black and white stripes for daytime and bold stripes in all spring flowers for evening take their place right near the top.

Pleats will continue to swing on to spring. The new high-low waistline will be popular, as now. The one costume for spring wear will be a suit, dressmaker or mannish-tailored. The tailored jackets will be definitely longer.

Ensembles are being carried over into evening wear. Slim three-quarter-length capes will be styled of the gown fabric and lined with contrasting color.

Hats will be gay and colorful. Very few straws will make their appearance except in combination with felt or fabric. Brims again will shine.

Getting back to the present— I saw a clever suit the other day suitable for wearing apparel right now. It consists of a double-breasted officer's mess-jacket of red woolen fabric—with brass buttons, a high collar, and a black pleated skirt. The clever note that caught my eye was a copy of the officer's hat with a high plume and a chin strap which holds this creation on.

That new line color has taken most of us by storm. It is a luscious shade, a combination of green and yellow (mostly yellow). Take some lime silk jersey and fashion a turban, and a floating scarf to drape around your neck. A pleated shirtwaist in lime chiffon is just the thing to live up your winter suit. It just sort of floats around and makes you feel really feminine. For the wide, wide girldle look, knot a Roman-striped around your midriff.

Another gorgeous shade that is tops with us is magenta. Tie a magenta suede tie-in-back sash around your middle.

Some of the motion picture stars are responsible for a lot of our fashion fads. Some include broad shoulders, sports clothes, page boy bob, and now comes suede jewelry, tricky and really clever.

These timely tips of fashion for femmes must now be brought to a finish for the present. So until then, your style reporter says, "So long."

Are You Feeling Low? Then Correct Faults For Popularity Gains

Are you feeling as low as a snake's stomach? Have you that run-down feeling? (No, I'm not selling Tums; it's poise.) Perhaps you feel that low and perhaps not, but for you whose mothers have not told you yet, here goes!

How can you expect to look well (in smart clothing), act well (lively and full of pep), feel well (any place), and actually BE well, in that disreputable position of a "hunch-back", a crane with a long neck, and a drunk that can't walk straight and isn't quite up to it? This sort of posture not only ruins your appearance by making all your clothes hang longer in the back, but also introduces new and plentiful irritations. Such as? Well, for instance, improper digestion, a result of which is a "nervous wreck" with a touchy disposition and that "no-pep" feeling that life is just a bowl of sour grapes. Your attitude becomes snobbish and unbearable. Along with good-naturedness comes popularity.

Stand up straight, stomach in, chest out. Straighten those shoulders! Walk with your chin up, as if you ARE somebody (even if you're not). Make people sit up and take notice. Even though people do sit up and take notice of you because you are a careful listener or a "remarkable" speaker, if you have poor posture people's attention will be immediately turned to your faults.

So, as you read this, look into a nearby mirror and get an instant impression of what the "to-be hunch-back" looks like. No, don't jump or be alarmed. You already know that you are becoming round-shouldered from poor posture and that you have a protruding "triple" chin. Now, sit erect and see what a difference it makes in your appearance, mental attitude, and self-confidence.

All these results have harmful influences on you, so take heed; and before your bones are permanently curved and before you have lost even your last friend, correct your outstanding faults early in life and regain (or gain) popularity quickly.

Indignant Bow-Tie Group Denounces Femme Fads

Upon reading one of my colleagues' editorials, I was aroused to action by indignation. If your memory is half good, you will recall the insults that were thrown at us men by these lowly femmes when they ridiculed our bow-ties in the heretofore mentioned editorial. It is our purpose in writing this column to show the women of this world what we think of their fads. Take, for instance, the hair styles, finger nails, the dress, and other vanities of our primping sex.

Now to get down to the business of the day. One of the newer fads to be taken up in our portals is that of wearing Dutch-sandals. Your reporter won't express his personal belief here, but soliciting for the opinions of others has been a fairly easy job; because the fellows evidently don't agree with one of the many fads of the South Side lassies.

...But here's what they think:

Kenny Warren—"They're all right in Holland but NOT in the United States.

Dick Bucholz—"Terrible! Much worse than bow-ties.

Max Spencer—"I don't think much of them. It looks like the girls had to go back to nature for their shoes.

Bob Young—"It's according to who wears them and where. Not to dances!

And so, girls, if you take a tip from the men, you'll not wear the latest of the unlikely and unwanted fads.

Greenies, We Salute You!

Freshmen, we salute you! May your four years here at South Side be as bright and prosperous as you are hoping. You have come a long way over the roads of advancement, and now you have reached your desired goal. However, your work is only half over, and don't think that you can slip through your four years without some effort.

Now that you are fairly well acquainted with the school, you can begin looking around for some clubs to join. You may think that you would get along better without joining a club, but to gain the friends that you all desire, a club will be found a very excellent way to do this. Your social activities, as you will find, mean as much to you as your daily studies.

So, frosh-folk, you can make yourself acknowledged by the upperclassmen, and it's also nice to have a few seniors as friends. Show your abilities now and place some steam in your work.

And still the feudin' tactics are being exchanged by all Southern men and women.—And to think that bow-neck adornments started it all. Are we ever tied down!

Many Archers Help Teachers In Office Work

Any Student Doing Some Form Of Service Becomes Member Of Service Club.

Group Volunteers For Party Heads

Pupils Who Work For Miss Pittenger, Mr. A. Verne Flint, Others Are Listed.

Most of the service workers have been chosen by various teachers to assist them. Any student doing some form of service work for certain teachers automatically become members of the Service Club.

This club is not parliamentarily organized but it does have voluntary leaders. These leaders take charge of picnics, parties and potlucks which the club sponsors.

Name Dean's Helpers
The girls that assist Miss Martha Pittenger are as follows: Lois Holtmeyer, period 1; Helen Faux and Lavern Reed, period 2; Ruth Bade, period 3; Violet Calverly and Dorothy Bloomer, period 4; Mary Emily Seibt, period 5; Doris Stamets, period 6; and Margaret Heine, period 7.

Helping Mr. A. Verne Flint are period 1, Betty Showalter and Kathryn Boerger; period 2, Leona Kessler; period 3, Beverly Griffith; period 5, Phyllis Kayser; period 6, Joan Hoy and Annette Snook; and period 7, Alma Korte. The girls that work in his office after school and the periods they work are as follows: Monday and Friday, Edna Volz; Tuesday, Edith Summers; Wednesday and Thursday, Marjorie Jackson.

List Music Workers
Many students work for Mr. Jack Wainwright, among them being Vera Berning, LaVone Spore, Bernita Gregory, Robert Shimel, Dorothy Amstutz, Carroll Barker, Herbert Jasch, Ruth Bade, Richard Strausberg, and Dorothy Koornjohn.

The movie operators in the Visual Education Department are Winfield Buchan, Clarence Freeman, Bob Ault, Wayne Hambrook, and the co-managers, Mark Hall and George Finkenhausen.

The office staff includes Phyllis Frisinger, president; Helen Faux, typist, and Phyllis Branning.

Miss Dorothy Aldridge has five girls assisting her and Miss Viola Yanney. They are Kathryn Lahrman, Dorothy Pifer, Louise Buesking, Hilda Schubert and Marjorie Hopkins, periods 1, 2, 3, 6, and 7, respectively.

Aid In Davis Office
Assisting Mr. Ora Davis in the athletic office are Mrs. Siebold, Eleanor Kneier, Bob Hageman who work after school and Evelyn Kruse who works the sixth and Jean Rarick who works the seventh period.

The girls and the periods they work in the study hall under Mr. Lillian Scott's direction are as follows: first, June Neith, Dixie Lee Hanna, Phyllis Branning; second, Grace Hardesty, Thelma Pifer; third, Helen Luepke, Margaret Niblick; sixth, Agnes Swiler, Eleanor Schelper, Martha Nolan; seventh, Eileen Schelper, Betty Harlan, Elfrida Hanke, and Joy Degitz. In the girls gym Miss Dean and Miss Gretchen Smith. The girls and the periods they work are as follows: period 1, Margaret Kienzie and Mary Fry; period 2, Ruth Kaiser and Janie Weir; period 3, Hazel Garling and Ruth Fuhrman; period 4, Hazel Perry; period six, Betty Lee and Delores Ulrich; period 7, Velma Connert and Betty Thiele.

Five Are Pianists
The pianists for the dancing classes are as follows: first, Ruth Dauner; second, Mildred Hanke; third, Ruth Smith; sixth, Lois Gumpner, and seventh, Betty Koecher. Guards for the girls' locker room are as follows: period 1, Betty Porter and Helen Roth; period 2, Mary Alice Duntan and Jean Rinard; period 3, Bernadine Pressler and Verlene Weideman; period 4, Sophia Kelak; period 5, Maxine Crago and Wilma Jean Sullivan; period 6, Alice Lake and Dorothy Marschand; and period 7, Crystal Valentine and Gertrude Merkel.

Boys' locker room guards are James White and Richard Craighead, first period; Roy Ellingwood and Richard Powers, second period; Eugene Bachofen and Tommy Hall, third; Richard Tell and William Bick, fourth; Max Stobaugh, fifth; Eugene Wigneau and Safford McMyler, sixth; and Robert Martin and Walter Howard, seventh. Audrey Jeffries assists Miss Adelaide Feidler, sixth period, and Miss Mary Crowe is helped by Joan Reese the third period.

Wranglers' Meeting Devoted To Business

Wranglers' meeting of Monday, February 13, will be devoted almost entirely to the outlining of the duties of the various Wrangler members in the coming invitational meet to be sponsored by the club. There will be a short program of several entertaining features also.

The meeting of January 30 was spent working on decorations for the dance. The new officers were in charge.

Receives Bronze Pin
Donna Dennis, a senior A, was awarded her bronze pin and membership in the 1500 Club February 3, for having received 1500 points for her work on The Times. She has been a staff member since her sophomore year. She accumulated her points by being a news reporter, classroom news reporter, and sports writer.

Book Rental System To Be Started Here

Economy Method To Be Introduced Beginning With 9B Pupils In September.

"The rental book system, a means by which books will be rented at low cost, will be introduced here next fall to the 9B's," Mr. Merle J. Abbott, superintendent of schools, announced to a South Side Times reporter this week.

The system has been in the elementary grades for the last five years and has been very successful, results have shown. A book costing $1.05 is rented for 16 cents. The total cost for books in the seventh grade is eight dollars, but with this system the cost to the pupil is only two dollars.

This is the finest system ever used in Fort Wayne, according to the oldest teachers. Not a cent of public tax money is used in buying books. The board of education owns all the books, with no indebtedness outstanding. "The children take excellent care of the books," Mr. Abbott said.

Mr. Abbott stated, "Multiple lists in rental books is the solution of the high cost of texts." This system saves parents much expense and makes books available immediately at the term's opening. Fort Wayne is one of the few cities having this system of low-priced book rental.

Roger McVay Heads Junior Math Program

Roger McVay, Neva Kirk, and Carol Lyman comprise the program committee for Junior Math's Valentine Party to be held February 14. The essays are being planned by Carol and Neva and Roger McVay will be in charge of the rest of the program.

The nominating committee, which is the same as the program committee, has nominated members of the club for the offices of vice-president, treasurer, and sergeant-at-arms; the nominations will be announced at the next meeting of the club and voted on then. At the February 28 meeting characters will be chosen for a playlet to be presented before the club. The skit will concern mathematics and will be in the form of a radio program.

Two English Classes Enter Essay Contest

Miss Elizabeth Kiefer's and Mr. Benjamin Null's English 8 classes entered the Indiana Bar Association essay contest this month. The deadline for this month is February 20. There will be a winner each month, and his or her essay will be published in The Times or read at an assembly. The English 8 classes are required to enter, English 7 classes may enter if they wish. Miss Kiefer announced that the essays may be used in place of a regular theme, and they must be 500 words in length.

Miss Dixie Dunbar, Singing, Dancing Star, Grants Interview

By Bob Martin

Amid the hustle and bustle of life backstage, your reporter set forth to interview the very young and talented singing and dancing star, Miss Dixie Dunbar.

Getting backstage just before the stage show was over, I had a short wait after which Miss Dunbar introduced me to her mother, who is traveling with her, and Jimmy Byrne, her dancing partner, who is a star in his own right. Then I started my long list of questions.

Miss Dunbar is four feet, eleven and one-half inches tall. She has brown hair and hazel eyes. Her home town is Atlanta, Georgia, where she attended Washington Seminary, a school for girls. While she was in school, her favorite subjects were French, history, and domestic science. In school she studied but one year of drama. Her hobbies are collecting dolls, perfumes, and penguins.

Appears In Many Pictures
She has appeared in motion pictures for three and one-half years, being in "Sing, Baby, Sing," "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," "Sing and Be Happy," "Back to Nature," "Alexander's Ragtime Band," "Life Begins in College," "One in a Million," and many other musical hits.

Miss Dunbar has been on tour for three and a half months now and hopes to end up in New York in time for the World's Fair.

Answers Poll Questions
It was after these questions that I asked Miss Dunbar to answer the questions on our January Poll of the Month. Here are her answers:

Favorite orchestra leader: Larry Clinton.

Movie king and queen: Spencer Tracy and Alice Faye.

Biggest news event of 1938: Howard Hughes' flight.

Biggest sports event of 1938: World Series.

Best motion picture of 1938: Boy's Town.

Best radio program of 1938: Kay Kayser's Lucky Strike Program.

The song of 1938 she nominated for stardom was "Get Out of Town."

The news event which affected the United States the most was "Hitler's War Scare."

Has Cold Experience

The week before opening in Fort Wayne, Miss Dunbar was in Chicago. While she was there, she had a very amusing thing happen to her. Growing up in the south, she had acquired the habit of opening her windows wide. So in Chicago she continued her habit. She opened her window about two feet one night only to wake up the next morning, very cold, to find about two inches of snow blanket-

So-Si-Y To Hold Valentine Party

Virginia Menze To Lead Games, Scrapbooks Will Be Made And Dues Must Be Paid To Attend

At the next meeting of So-Si-Y, which will be in the form of a Valentine party, games will be played lead by Virginia Menze, scrapbooks will also be made to send to some institution. Refreshments will be served. Members must have their dues paid to attend this party.

At the last meeting it was decided to divide the members into six groups to plan the program for the semester. On February 14, there will be a membership Valentine party. February 28, friends of the members of So-Si-Y are invited to attend, and a recognition service will be held for the older members. Other meetings are March 14, the church; March 28, Easter worship service; April 11, spring styles; April 25, hobbies, especially outdoor things. A recognition service for new girls and election; May 9, adventures with mother and a ceremonial farewell to the seniors; May 23, life in the open and installation of new officers.

452 Non-Graduates Pay For Pictures

Sophs Must Have Totem Photos Taken By Tonight; Freshmen Deadline Is Tomorrow, 5:30

"Exactly four hundred fifty-two underclassmen pictures have been paid for. This is the amount that tabulation showed Monday evening," disclosed Nadine Mueller, co-circulation manager of The Totem.

The following schedule is for all underclassmen who have not as yet had their pictures taken.

All juniors must have had their pictures taken by 5:30 o'clock last night. Tonight is the deadline for sophomore pictures. Tomorrow, February 10, freshmen who still have their receipts must be photographed by 5:30 o'clock.

These pictures are all to be taken at the Jefferson Studio on the designated days.

Phyllis Mueller leads the underclassmen agents with 27 pictures sold. Audrey Hall and Kathryn Beckman both tie for second place with 21 pictures to their credit.

U. S. A. Selects Heads For Future Meetings

Chairmen for the coming meetings were chosen at the last meeting of the U. S. A. Club. Numbers were given and chairmen were elected from the respective numbers. Betty Nichols, Peggy Lou Berning, Lois Bremer, Betty Mann, Rosanna Weston, Eileen Franke, Wanda Rohlfing, and Helene Lewis were named chairmen. Cards were also filled out for Miss Harriet Bowe of the Y. W. C. A. and for the club.

The meeting was in the form of a Valentine Party. Marilyn Sappington was in charge of the social affair. The members repaired and made new valentines; these valentines will be sent to the children's home here in Fort Wayne. During the repairing of the valentines Elinor Muntzinger and Betty Lapp sang two songs.

The committee assisting Marilyn Sappington was composed of Marilyn Sondles, Eileen Hormann, Jane Cocks, Jean Sheets, Marguerite Calkins, Elaine Boerger, Louisa Haugk, Helene Lisius, and Betty Lapp. Candy and hot drinks were served as refreshments.

Team Forming In Intramural To Be Changed

Louis Briner To Hold Meeting This Afternoon To Give All Chance To Play.

(By Bob Young)

Frosh 'Mural Boys' Should Mark Points

There is a special notice for the new freshmen boys who are competing in intramural sports for the first time. At the conclusion of each activity there are two set aside for the recording of points in Mr. Louis A. Briner's office. If the points are not recorded on these nights, the points are lost forever. If you have any aspiration to earn your letter, you must record your points.

In a recent column appearing in The Times, several freshmen were asked their opinion of intramural sports. While a majority said that they liked the intramural sports program here, a few gave dissenting answers. We took it upon ourselves to find out just what was wrong with the mural system according to these boys.

Most of the boys gave petty reasons for their dislikes, but one lad gave us a little food for thought. This lad stated that he thought the intramural sports were unfair because they did not give every boy his rightful chance at participating. He stated that some boys, like himself, want to participate but cannot form teams. This is very unfortunate for the individuals concerned; however, Mr. Briner has a new idea which he hopes will solve the problem.

This afternoon at 3:30 a meeting will be held in the gym office. All boys who have not been able to form intramural volleyball teams, or have not had a chance at participating, are invited to attend this meeting. If enough boys turn out for the meeting, Mr. Briner will select several teams to play the fifth period. Every boy who comes to the meeting will be given a chance to play.

If this experiment is successful in volleyball, perhaps Mr. Briner will continue it over to the other mural sports.

F.O.P.'s Continue Winning Strack

Fifth Period Champs Enter Afternoon School League; Ten Intramural Games Completed.

Ten games have been played in the intramural loop since the beginning of the new semester. The F.O.P., winners of the fifth period lightweight championship, entered the middleweight after-school league. They started off in this division with a real bang, winning from the Tigers 34-5. Tom Brower led the Five Old Pals with 18 points, while his teammate, Dallas Zuber, connected for 11 points.

Other interesting contests were played in all divisions. In the Thugs 15-11. The Black Hawks won a pair, the S.O.M.A.C.'s trounced the Thugs 16-5. The Black Hawks won a pair, the S.O.M.A.C.'s trounced the Thugs 16-5. The Black Hawks won a pair, the S.O.M.A.C.'s trounced the Thugs 16-5.

The Lances, a newly-entered team, lost two games by the same score. The first they lost to the Russians, 18-2; the second they lost to the Slugs. In the middleweight division, the All Pops lost one game and won one. They bowed to the Zippers, 14-3, but trounced the Lettermen 14-9. In the heavy division the Skunks beat the Sissies 10-8. The Pineapples swamped the Kelly Klads, 19-2. The box scores of the games played follow:

Week End Refresh

The fans who were fortunate enough to witness the North Side and Kokomo games of last week end or even one of the two games will gladly testify that they saw a lot of basketball. Both the Redskins and the vaunted Kokomo Kats fell before a high-geared Archer quintet by scores of 42-33 and 36-29 respectively. Their win over the Redskins gave the Archers the city crown in addition to their newly won N. E. I. C. title. However, the game with Kokomo did a lot more toward showing the real strength of the state champs.

In both games the Archers turned the trick by piling up an early lead, then being content to protect it. The Green put forth a fine defense to hold the Redskin snipers to a scant 49 shots at the hoop. However, the Nulmen hit a good percentage from well out on the court to roll up a total of eleven fielders.

Of the two games, however, the Kokomo clash was the best played, matching two teams which are both still among the toughest in Indiana. The Kats knew a lot of basketball. This fact was proved conclusively by the way they held Jim Glass in check throughout the game. Campbell, Kokomo forward, held the big Archer center to a mere five shots none of which were good for two points. Frazier, the Kats' colored center, also played a lot of ball. While he only scored three points, he used his tremendous speed to good advantage in holding the Archers in check. The colored lad possessed an amazing amount of spring in his legs which helped a lot in taking off their bounds.

Don Hire was definitely warm Saturday night, earning six of his twelve attempted field goals. However, the Archer whose floor play was the most noticeable was Bob Bolyard. Bob was on that ball from the opening whistle to the final gun, causing the Kats all sorts of trouble. The game was not rough, although a total of twenty-two personals were called. Most of the fouls came as a result of hard, rather than rough play and were not intentional.

Joe Glass made quite a hit with Kokomo fans as a result of his hard but clean play. The crowd gave "Saggy" a great hand when he left the ball game in the final period. The feminine element was especially attracted to Jim and several "fems" made his acquaintance while the Archers were eating after the game. That's the way to go, Jim. Play it hard, but play it clean!

On Sportsmanship

We want to report that on the whole, the sportsmanship displayed by the capacity crowd filling the Kokomo gym toward the Archer squad was very good. It should also be mentioned that, on the part of the students, the sportsmanship displayed was excellent. However, among the large number of townspeople attending, there was a tendency to hastily display disapproval of officials' decisions and otherwise ride the visiting players. An example of this was the opposite attitudes displayed by the students and local "fans" when Bob Bolyard left the ball game on fouls late in the final period. The Kokomo student section gave Bob a swell hand

G. A. A. Freshmen Champions Named

Basketball Team Winner Led By Rose Stemen; Betty Hargan's Squad Takes Second Place.

Rose Stemen led her team 3 to the championship of the freshmen basketball tournament finals held Monday night at 8:30. This team was closely contested, however, by Betty Hargan's team 2 who had three wins to Rose's four.

In the first round on the north court, the champions defeated Martha May Scheele's 1 team by a nine-point margin, 27 to 18. The high point scorers on the winning team were Betty Littlefield, Kathleen Neith, as well as the captain. On the losing team, those to make the highest points were Joan Blum and Martha May Scheele.

At the same time on the south court, Betty Hargan's team 2 made a decisive victory of 23 to 8 over team 4, captained by Lenora Moyer. Elaine Boerger and Dorothy Hoelle made the greatest number of points for the winning team; on the losing five, Sylvia Sholty and Lenora Moyer were the high-point scorers. After these were finished the final game played between the two winning squads.

Hazel Perry served as referee on the north court, while Betty Lapp acted as scorer. The referee for the south court was Frances Nash, and Miss Alice Dean kept the score.

The champions of the freshmen team are as follows: Ruth Aldader, Betty Baker, Betty Bligh, Delores Bodenborn, Orilla Braun, Patricia Elie, Violet Ehrman, Myrtle Ernst, Peggy Greany, Helen Kraus, Marjorie Williams, Rose Stemen, Norma Whitesel, Kathleen Neith, Betty Littlefield, Neva Kirk, and Thompson Hall.

It looks like either Miss Dean, Miss Smith, or some of the office girls have provided themselves with a way to keep from getting too hungry during the day. At least we wonder if the pop corn popper is just there for decoration or if they really find good use for it.

Intramurally Speaking

The golden hour of the intramural sports of South Side has reached its all-time high, for this year has started out in that old spirit that every normal American boy should have toward sports. Every boy has some urge deep down in his heart somewhere to be a man of biceps and to be a star in some game. He sees the real thing in such men as Chuck Chuckovits, the basketball wizard of the Toledo U., and Sling Shot Davy O'Brien, that muscle man of football at T. C. U.

Yes, every lad would give his right hand to be a crack shot like Chuck Chuckovits and a ball passer like Davy O'Brien. Well, ask any one of these heroes in sports and you will find that they gained all their fame through experience and constant practice at their shining sports activity. Since it takes all this training to be an athlete there is no time like the present to get in form. Here in South Side there are excellent facilities for you to do this thing, so take advantage of the situation and enter in all the fun offered in our various intramural activities. You are not compelled to pay one penny for using all our excellent equipment and you have a first-class chance of gaining an attractive intramural letter.

Whew! Now that I've finished that little bit of oratory which bursts from my fingers every now and then when I start pecking at the "S" typewriter, let's get down to earth and I'll rattle off to you a little bit of dope about the intramural world during the past week. The past week was well occupied with basketball, and it looks as though there will be no finals for another week and that last game of the week will be worth seeing. Another feature of the past week was the formation of the intramural volleyball league. So far only eleven teams have entered; however, those eleven are sure to be added to by other intramural volleyball aspirants. The teams I start pecking at are the Bulls, Baldies, Six Skunks, Giants, Tippy Trunkers, Panthers, Red Devils, Lone Rangers, and Incognitas. Although some of these names don't appear any to pleasant, from the looks of the teams they're going to be pretty tough.

In the Intramural Hall of Fame this week the acclaimed honor of this rare distinction is to be dubbed upon the fair form of Mr. Tom Brower. Mr. Brower is but a sophomore B in our midst and he has acquired a high rank in the intramural department and has shown up well in the final results. Tom is a handsome lad who is at present off women but he's only a dinky little sophomore and time will soon tell, for as far as the girls go he's the whole thing.

Outstanding facts for next week—Mr. Briner has announced that a meeting will be held in the boys' gym office tonight at 3:30 o'clock for all those boys who for some reason or other have not been able to participate in the past in intramural activities. This meeting will be open especially to all the new freshmen who are interested; however, it is open to upperclassmen also. So if you have any idea at all of entering the intramural sports offered, by all means attend this MOST IMPORTANT MEETING!

Archers Lead The Field—South Side's Archer basketball quintet moved into first place in the Litchenhous state-wide ratings of basketball teams. The Friddlemen game boosted to first place as a result of their victories over Huntington and Elwood. Central of South Bend, the previous pacesetter fell to fourth as a result of its loss to Emerson of Gary.

Now that tournament time is fast rolling around, it is interesting to observe the ten leaders as to how they will be matched in the coming tournaments. South Side is fortunate in this respect as the Archers cannot possibly meet one of the big ten until they enter the semi-finals at Muncie, providing of course they are successful in their sectional and regional campaigns. The winner of the Muncie sectional faces the toughest road to the state title. The sectional draw will throw together Central and Burris of Muncie. The winner must meet the winners of the Richmond and Newcastle meets before entering the semi-finals which includes sections having tough teams such as South Side and Kokomo.

A Tisket, A Tasket was Miss Smith's theme song last week. But she hadn't lost a little basket. As the story goes, she lost the keys to her automobile. It seems that she had to leave her automobile down town, because she had forgotten which pocket she put her precious keys in.

Betty Eisenacher ably displayed to the girls playing basketball the other night the one and only way of sinking the ball from way out there. Some of her shots were really spectacular and we are proud to know that much of her ability came from active participation in G. A. A. But she also gave another exhibition for the girls. She gave her impersonation of Joan Davis (or something). She really looked unique sliding around on her heels.

It looks like either Miss Dean, Miss Smith, or some of the office girls have provided themselves with a way to keep from getting too hungry during the day. At least we wonder if the pop corn popper is just there for decoration or if they really find good use for it.

Wanted!! A locker, a locker, and gym clothes. Will the finder please return these articles to Frances "Poodles" Nash. (How do you like the new name?) We cannot understand why she must blush every time someone mentions the episode to her about these lost articles. We do think that "Poodles" looks quite cute when her hair and face match.

Attention! All G.A.A.'ers! Don't forget to turn in your order for your G.A.A. pin. This year they may be green and gold as they formerly have been. Give your order right away for this great value. Wear something to show that you are a G.A.A.'er from the school of the champions!

It seems that Mary Emily Seibt has fallen hook, line, and sinker—for that popular song, "Grandstand Glimpses". We cannot understand why she must blush every time someone mentions the episode to her about these lost articles. We do think that "Poodles" looks quite cute when her hair and face match.

Noticed at the recent New Haven tournament: A school whose cheering section carried out the card idea. When one of the players left the game, they gave three cheers the same as we do but as the name is called out, the letters appear in the second row. The second letter of the name starting up when the first reaches half way up. Why is it we, a much bigger school, can't develop something like this? Is it because we have a bigger school? school too big to be cooperative? We have a championship team—How about a championship cheering section?

Student Leaders Chief G.A.A. Aides

Officiate At All Games And Keep Track Of Equipment; To Have Charge Of Gym Exhibition

Student leaders are more valuable to Miss Alice Dean and Miss Gretchen Smith than any other single factor in the girls' athletic department. The classes could not be handled without their help. They check attendance and train the squads. They are the leaders in tumbling and will conduct the tumbling tests. They see that all equipment is out and put away for the classes. They officiate at all games and will be track officials.

They will direct the beach games for the G. A. A. exhibition which will be "The Visit to the Riviera." They will take the main responsibility in directing the show, by being in charge of ticket distribution and stage mechanics.

Grandstand Glimpses

The most amusing and distressing sight at the North Side-South Side game was the girl who was caught taking a Coca Cola bath between halves. Watch your step, kids, the stains are hard to get out.

Well, I was all ready to ask what happened to our "Over Hill, Over Dale" victory march when the band got it out, dusted it off, and offered it for our approval last Friday. I guess they decided fourteen victories proved we were really victorious after all, and not just lucky.

Noticed at the recent New Haven tournament: A school whose cheering section carried out the card idea. When one of the players left the game, they gave three cheers the same as we do but as the name is called out, the letters

Archers Will Meet Bull Dogs Friday, Central Saturday

Green Netters Are Favorites In Coming Tilt

Already Have String Of Fifteen Wins, N. E. I. C. Title, City Series Crown.

Fray To Be Held In Northern Gym

South Side Friddlemen Defeat Blue And White Earlier In Season 43 To 36.

South Side, after meeting New Albany Friday, will again take to the hardwood Saturday at North Side's gymnasium to battle the Tigers for the second time this season. Having already drubbed the Tigers once this year 43-36, the Archers will again be the top-heavy favorite to defeat their opponents.

However, even if fortune should turn against the Green, who have already run up a string of fifteen wins, the Archers need not worry about the N.E.I.C. title nor the city series crown, for they are already in the Archers' possession.

Archers Picked To Win
Viewing the performance of the Southern squad at Kokomo there is little room for doubt as to the capability of the Champs to win. The only threat to the Green's chances lies in the possibility that the New Albany five might prove tough enough to run the Archers ragged on Friday.

However, too many upsets have occurred for one to draw the conclusion that Central has no chance at all.

Should the Tigers hit one of their much-too-frequent sloppy spells, or should South Side hit a slump, things would prove to be plenty warm for the Southern quintet.

Central Defeats Vincennes
Last week Central showed great possibilities in defeating Vincennes, a team that proved to be one point too tough for the Archers in a recent tournament held at Hammond.

After Central hit its stride, it ran the Vincennes five to death, overcoming a fourteen-point lead and steadily increasing their margin of winning points as they crossed the finish line. Should Kulesza be in stride anything can happen, for although he was held practically pointless during the last South Side-Central clash, it wasn't because he didn't get the shot.

The pressure, what there is of it, will be upon the Green, for they have everything to lose and little to win, while the Tigers will be keyed for the clash and out to break the Southern winning streak.

Such a win would decidedly raise the rating of the Central five and compensate them for all their previous losses of the season.

It seems that the six finest teams that Coach Mendenhall has ever turned out have been race horse ball clubs. There are many teams which have a game but few play the brand of ball that took Central to the state finals. This year the Tigers have shown either little tendency or little ability to break very fast. However, at Vincennes they displayed a brand of ball that only the steadiest teams can handle. If they turn it out on South Side, they have more than just a good chance to do more than keep on even terms with the Archers. No great worry will be entertained by the fans, however, if the Archers are rolling, for they have shown that once they start they can't be stopped. The game will be played at 8 o'clock Friday night.

One At Home And One On Road Is Game Play; North Side Will Play Kendallville Here Friday.

Outside of the South Side's games this week-end, six others will be played. Friday night Columbia City will appear at North Side, Central Catholic at Butler, and Concordia at Monmouth. Saturday night finds North Side journeying to Kendallville, Auburn at Central Catholic, and St. Joseph Catholic at Concordia High.

North Side will have to play a heads-up brand of ball if they expect to defeat Columbia City Friday night and Kendallville the following evening. The Tribe will no doubt depend on their underclassmen to do the heavy work. Last year North Side nosed Columbia City 41-39, but they are not expected to have as much trouble with the Eagles this year. Kendallville also fell before the Red aggregation last year by a score of 49-30. However, the Greens are favored to come out on top this year.

Central Catholic will go on the road to meet an in-and-out Butler quintet Friday night. If the Irish happen to be hitting they should walk all over Butler. Against Auburn however, the Irish will really have to extend themselves to get into the money. Auburn has given several fine performances this year and the game between them and the Irish should be a real battle. An interesting sidelight of the game will be Auburn's attempt to hold big Ed Stanzak down. Last year C. C. beat Butler by a 37 to 29 score, but lost a thrilling game to Auburn in the season's opener 26 to 23.

Concordia high school will attempt to get back in the win column when they display their wares at Monmouth Friday night. The Cadets are heavy favorites to come out on top with their encounter with Monmouth. In Concordia's first game of the season they outplayed Monmouth by a score of 45-22. Against St. Joseph, however, the Cadets will really have to play ball to come out on top. Earlier in the season they fell before the Catholic lads by a score of 32-14.

Freshmen Learn Yells At First Pep Session

A pep session was held last Friday afternoon at which the new freshmen learned the South Side yells in preparation for the North Side-South Side game. Mr. Ora Davis told the freshmen about season tickets and asked the fans to display a little more sportsmanship at the games.

Strong Archer Squad Defeats Redskin Team

Southern Netters Take City Basketball Championship For Second Time In Row.

Before a capacity crowd in the southern gym the mighty South Side Archers scalped the North Side Redskins for the second time this season by a score of 43 to 34 and won the city scholastic basketball championship for the second consecutive year. The Redskins' hope, to at least share the city crown was blown to bits when the champs had an eleven-point lead with the score standing 29 to 18 at the halftime. This lead carried the Archers to victory as the Redskins outscored them two points in the last half.

Archers Hold Lead
The Archers led throughout the whole contest after they grabbed the lead at the start of the game. South Side was never in danger because all evening the Green kept the Redskins shooting from well out on the floor. The Archers' tight defense and the fine rebound work of Jim Glass kept North Side bottled up under the basket.

The state champs used set plays and played a good brand of ball all of the way and was ahead at least six points after the first quarter. The outcome of the battle was never doubtful. At the end of the first quarter the Archers were out in front by 15 to 7; at the half they led 29 to 18; and at the three-quarter mark they held a 37 to 22 advantage.

Play Deliberate Game
The Archers played a slow, deliberate type of game, and as usual, handled the ball well and made few mistakes. They shot when they pleased and on most of the shots they had plenty of time to get set, putting blocks on the Redskins so as to leave the sharpshooters in the open. North Side made a brave effort to shorten the Archer lead, but with "Skylight" Glass handling the pivot position well and controlling the ball under the basket, North Side never had a chance.

All of the seven players used by Coach Friddle broke into the scoring column with Hire and Glass setting the pace with 9 points apiece, while Hiner led the Redskins with 12 points. The Archers lost Hire on personals in the fourth period, while North Side lost Keller and Leakey. A total of 28 fouls was called, 15 on South Side and 13 on North Side.

Archer Bob Hines Is Powerful Center For Green Quintet

An A-plus student as well as a great basketball player can be found in a six-foot frame traipsing around the portals of South Side High School. It is none other than Robert Hines, enjoying his second year in high school.

Bob was born on March 22, 1923, in that great city of over 100,000 inhabitants, Fort Wayne. Living in this city all his life, Bob attended the Harrison Hill grade school.

While in grade school, Bob was an active member of the basketball team. He was a member of a Harrison Hill squad that won the grade school championship. Track also took up some of his time. Under the coaching ability of George Colver and George Nulf, Bob was trained in the fundamental principles of basketball which have proven an asset to him while at South Side.

Since the graduation of his brother John, Bob has inherited the family nickname "Pickles."

Although not definitely decided upon any certain vocation, Bob is not without an ambition for life. He hopes to follow his brother's footsteps and enter Alabama, after he is graduated from South Side.

Maurine Leas has captured his eye and from all indications she will stay as the center of his attractions for a long time to come.

Here you have another Henry Busse fan, a wrangler superb, an outstanding student and a great center on that Archer squad.

Southern Indiana Team Snapped Jeffersonville's 15-Game Winning Streak.

Green Out To Keep Undeclared Record

If Victorious This Week End Kelleys Have Only Two More Barriers To Breast.

South Side's championship-bound Archers will attempt to drive another spike into their pennant-pole when they face a strong New Albany team Friday night at the southern gymnasium.

The New Albany quintet is the same team that snapped Jeffersonville's winning streak at fifteen straight games a week ago Wednesday night with a 35 to 28 victory. New Albany enjoys the reputation of being one of the strongest teams in the state. The Bulldogs, not satisfied with knocking down one undefeated team, will be gunning for the state champs for all they are worth. Should New Albany be hitting the basket in great style, the Kelly Klads will be in for a tough evening.

However, those Archers have a bad habit of thoroughly drubbing teams that are supposed to be tough. Franklin, Kokomo, Vincennes have all been battered down by the Archers. All three of those teams were supposed to offer the Champs a stiff game or perhaps even beat the Green, but South Side would grab off an early lead and coast in to victory. Because of this fact the Friddlemen are favored to stop New Albany tomorrow night.

Should the Archers get by New Albany and Central, they have a regular undefeated season practically in their grasp. Salem and Horace Mann are the only games left on the Archer schedule. Both of these games will be played on the Archer's own floor. All the Archers are in fine shape and their offensive, along with their defensive, should be working in tip-top shape.

Coach Burl Friddle will probably start Hall and Bolyard at the forward posts, Glass at center, and Berry and Hire as guards. Hamilton and Hines are also slated to see action.

South Side's state champion Archers met their severest test of strength last Saturday night at Kokomo and came through with a 36-29 victory.

Kokomo proved to be one of the toughest teams to meet the Archers this season, and a real basketball game transpired with the Green turning on the heat in the second quarter to build up a lead which Coach Campbell's boys just couldn't overcome. Their decisive win over the Kats definitely established the Archers as a Butler fieldhouse possibility.

As the game got under way, it appeared as if it would be a nip and tuck affair, but after the Archers finally barged into the lead at 9-7 the Green were never in serious danger, holding at least a six-point lead throughout the rest of the ball game. Hire Gives Archers Lead

Don Hire gave the Archers the lead when he hit his first of six field goals. Hercules then tied it up at 2-2 when he hit from the side. Carl Hall hit on a foul attempt but Dunn gave Kokomo the lead with another field. Hall tied it up with another foul only to have Ricketts hit from the floor. Glass then converted a foul attempt which was duplicated an instant later by Dunn giving the locals a 7-5 advantage. Bob Bolyard tied things up and Don Hire put the Green ahead 9-7 as the period ended.

From this point on it was all South Side as the Friddlemen ran the score up to 19-12 at half-time. Picking up where they left off the Archers, led by Don Hire, continued to outscore the Kats, and, as the final stanza got underway, were out in front 28-19. Kokomo got a rally going in the final period, but could only come within six points of the Archers at 31-25. The Green then outscored the locals 5-4 for the remainder of the ball game to make the final count read 36-29.

Friddle Uses Reserves
Coach Friddle used a number of reserves against the Kats. However, the majority of these were inserted in the fading moments of the game when the Archers had victory won. Ralph Hamilton and Bob Hines saw the most action, Hamilton going in for Hall in the first quarter and Hines replacing Glass as the final period got underway. Chedister, Braden, and Shimer also saw action in the Archer lineup.

The Archers were led by Don Hire, who canned six out of twelve attempts from the field along with a charity

Tigers, Redskins Are Conquerors

Central Wins By Score Of 35-28; Kulesza Is High Scorer; Red Is Victorious By 14 Points.

Central, following the example set by the Archers, in their first game with the Alices literally burned up the floor to halt the second attempt of Vincennes to conquer a Summit City five. The Tigers handed their foes a 35-28 defeat.

Incidentally South Side's second clash with the Alices left the Archers one point short of a victory.

While the Tigers were busy polishing off the Vincennes five, North Side, after losing Friday to South Side by nine points, easily disposed of Auburn in a N.E.I.C. clash on Saturday by a score of 28-14.

Revert To Standby
Reverting to their old standby, the fast break, which any team coached by Mendenhall knows so well how to use, the Tigers showed their opponents a sample of what took Central to Indianapolis in 1934. Kulesza and Talley kept the Tigers in the game during the second quarter; however, the invaders looked outclassed and found themselves ten points behind at the half, 22-12.

The Tiger began to lash his tail during the third as Central came out completely rejuvenated. Running and shooting at every opportunity they scored seventeen points to come within one point of Vincennes.

Hanley got the honor of putting his team into the lead for the first time, connecting on a beautiful pivot shot at the start of the fourth.

Central Slows Down
The Centralites slowed down a bit, scoring only six points in the last frame; however, the Alices hit exactly nothing. The final gun found Central on the long end of a 35-28 score.

Kulesza was high point man for the Blue, with ten points; Vincennes having their points evenly distributed.

Three fielders and five charity tosses was the extent of the scoring done by Auburn against North Side. Percentage beat the Imps as both squads took 62 shots from the field.

The period scores were 4-1; 11-5; 19-7; 28-14. Although neither team was hitting consistently, the Red was never in danger, leading throughout the game.

Sophomore Bob Cowan was high for North Side with eight points, while Mavis led the opposition with six.

Archer Stars Witness Big Ten Net Contest

Following the Kokomo game last Saturday, Jim Glass, Don Hire, Don Beery, and Ralph Hamilton accompanied Coach Friddle to Franklin. The boys and Mr. Friddle stayed in Franklin over Sunday and on Monday went to Bloomington, where they were joined by Bob Bolyard, Bob Hines, and Carl Hall. On Monday night they all attended the Indiana-Ohio State basketball game, which had much to do in determining the Big Ten champion.

Philo Initiates New Members, Installs Heads

Thirty-five Are Given Membership In Society; Officers Take Over Positions

Installation of officers and initiation of new members were held at the last meeting of Philo last Monday at 3:45 in the Greeley Room. The president, Betty Daniels, first installed the sergeant-at-arms, Kathleen Ramer. Who in turn installed the other officers. Each officer announced her duties for the semester as she was installed. Other officers installed were: vice-president, Gwen DeWees; secretary, June Holzworth; treasurer, Phyllis Branning; program chairman, Rebecca Abbott; Inter-Club Congress, Betty Marquardt; pianist, Elizabeth Rose. Publicity chairman, Katherine Beckman and Marjorie Dyer; chairman of music, Frances Van Buskirk; and chairman of Thespians, Virginia Shidler.

The customary formal initiation of new members was directed by Gwen DeWees and Kathleen Ramer. This was followed by the rough initiation, with Rebecca Abbott aiding the aforesaid officers. The thirty-five initiates were: Caroline Lichtenberg, Mary Bowlby, Mildred Hanke, Dolores Daniels, Martha Jean Smith, Elaine Sweet, Charlene McAtee, Elaine Bernstein, Bettie Stein, Betty Koehler, Ruth Dauner, Wilma Lageman, Lois Gumpfer, Faye Gumpfer, Elaine Kunz, Virginia Hill, Rosella Poutz, Marian Feichter, Gloria Staley, Alice Jean Light, Harriet Greer, Elaine Hirschy, Mary Jane Kelly, Donna Colichio, Jean Korte, Shirley Rubin, Martha Jane Krauskoff, Helen Savage, Betty Horstmeier, Miriam Roebels, Marjorie Roberts, Betty Lapp, Mary Fry, Wilma Sullivan, Marjorie Geringer, and Romyne Rediger.

Betty Daniels also announced the following committees for the next three club meetings, February 20, Joyce Harwood, chairman, Betty Neeb, Phyllis Geller, Annette Snoko, and Ruth Hoover; March 6, Wilma Lageman, chairman, with all 10A's helping. Then on March 13, the annual Saint Patrick's Day banquet will be held. Committees for this are as follows: program, Margaret Null, Velda Oppenlander, Virginia Shidler, Rebecca Abbott, Miriam Jackson, Donna Lou Foutz, and Pearl Wallen; place, Ella Jo Reed and June McAlister; decorations, Janice Dyer, chairman, no definite committee; music, Frances VanBuskirk; and reception, the officers. It was decided by vote at the meeting to hold the banquet at the Wayne hotel.

It was also announced at the meeting that the club's Totem picture would be taken promptly at 3:30 at the next meeting.

Explain Point System At Meterite Meeting

Explanations of the point system and the meaning of the Meterite Club were made by Carol Trenary, Marjorie McNabb, and Miss Susan Peck at the regular meeting held Tuesday, February 8. Meterite Club was founded two years before Miss Peck came to South Side in 1927, making it one of the oldest clubs in the school.

The best play given in Meterite Club is to be presented with an all-star cast before a women's club in April. The play that was to have been given at the last meeting had to be postponed until the next meeting. Marilyn Loomis was appointed the director of the play which will be presented on March 1. Members of the cast are Ruth Henry, Doris Miller, Gloria Kramer, Ruth Hageman, Arlene Perry, Theda Tyndall, Harriet Will, and Kathryn Kayser.

Bernadine Lackner played "Images on the Water" on the piano. Following the music Carol Whitner explained the "net-acquainted" game which the girls played. May Scheele and Patty Burns received prizes.

Carolyn Snoko, house chairman, appointed Carolyn McNabb and Mary Dunbar as her assistants.

Two Scholarships Are Available For Seniors

Seniors will be interested to know that there are several scholarships awaiting them if they would see Mr. R. Nelson Snider. One is the Western Swarthmore scholarship of $500 per year for 4 years. The scholarship is being given by the Western Swarthmore Club. The second is to be given to the person who can write the best essay on the subject, "What Oil and Gas Have Done for My Community." The Independent Petroleum Association will give a scholarship of $1,000 to the person writing the best essay.

Archer Teacher Gets College Club Position

Miss Lucy Osborne has filled a vacancy for the College Club. The position is co-chairman for ways and means in which to raise money. The money is used for the day nursery, scholarship loans, worthy girls who want to go to college, and literary men and women who come to Fort Wayne to speak. Carl Sandburg was brought to Fort Wayne by the College Club.

Debate On Movie

The vocational committee has been debating upon vocational movies to be shown for the purpose of buying a new portable screen, it has been stated by Mr. Wilburn Wilson. Mark Hall, George Finkhauser and George Winfield made the portable screen used last semester.

gram chairman, Alice Meyers.

Mr. Murphy's sociology class is studying "Man's Life Without Society," and his U. S. history class is studying the struggle between the North and the South for political control of the United States.

Mr. Wilson's government 2 class is studying health as a social problem, and his economics class is studying production.

Mr. Whelan's P. G. 1 class had a test and the best grades in period 2 were made by Charles Underwood, Kathryn Anderson and Vivian Cassidy. In period 6, Ilene and Irene Blombach and Russell Kabinch.

The business economics classes of Mr. Mills are studying the effect of specialization, private property, personal liberty, and competition in business.

In Miss Demaree's English 8 classes, Kathleen Ramer gave the first report on a book on the home reading list.

Mr. Gould's beginning botany classes are studying roots.

The last seven days in Miss Fiedler's algebra 2 classes, a test was given over the work of that day. The highest grade to be had was 48. Rosa Lee Hall, in period 7 class, got 47 points. Jean Karns, Jack Rogers, Raymond Harter and Richard Kilpatrick got 46.

All dance classes are doing intensive work for the spring exhibition.

In the advanced classes of Mr. Furst in retail selling, the pupils each brought an article to school and presented its selling points.

Louise Lovelless and Margaret Niblick in Miss Covatt's typing 2 class qualified for awards. Louise wrote 41 words per minute, 93 per cent accuracy; Margaret, 40 words per minute with 95 per cent accuracy.

All boys in Mr. Chappell's mechanical drawing classes are required to make a letter sheet at the beginning of each semester's work. Good lettering is necessary in order for a person to do good work in mechanical drawing. Most of the boys have finished this sheet and are working on their first mechanical drawing problem.

Over a test in outside reading, Lorraine Dicke, an English 6 student of Miss Osborne, was the only one to make a 100.

The students in Miss Kiefer's and Mr. Null's English 8 classes are going to be February entrants in the essay contest sponsored by the Indiana State Bar Association.

On a recent test on U. S. History given by Mr. Clyde Pierce to his following students made the highest grades: Paul Dammer, Lillian Meeker, Eugene Nahrowld, Ilene Briggs, Richard Dyer, Genevieve Dygert, Mr. Holthouse, Helen Karner, Ellen McKay, Margaret Niblick, Robert Simmon and Elmer Stauffer.

The students in Mr. Flint's geometry I classes have taken an unusual interest in the historical sketches given in the class text. They have taken time in class to discuss several of the characters and seem to enjoy the discussions.

Miss Smith's dance classes are working on two dances: one Chinese dance, "Chinese Jade," and the other an English dance, "Liverpool Shumnies."

Several of Miss Osborne's English students have given book reports already this semester. The English 4 students are Margaret Heine, Art Howard and Morris Sprinkle; the English 2 students are Floyd Steffens and David Bundy.

Audrey Smith in Miss Oppelt's Cicero class was the first person in all of Miss Oppelt's classes to make a book report. She reported on "Slave of Catiline."

On a recent idiom test in Miss Perkins' 7th period French 4 class, Margaret Null and Margery Price made 100; Jeanne Smith, Gloria Staley and Jeanette Warren made 90.

All prominent persons in the school and all Times staff members have been asked to subscribe so that enough subscriptions might be held.

Three New Agents

Three new room agents have been added. The Times staff. These new agents are Robert Jamieson, Richard Doerner, and Joel Salon. Each of these new agents is helping the present agent in the rooms.

Several agents are nearing hundred per cent rooms although none have reached this goal as yet. The nearest to it is Kolman Gross. If any room has a hundred per cent, the persons in the room will receive candy bars.

Miss Elizabeth Kelley, after an absence of twelve weeks, returned to South Side last Monday, February 6.

Miss Kelley who has been very ill for some time left South Side last November 14. On December 7 she underwent a major operation at the Saint Joseph Hospital.

One of her chief regrets was that she couldn't be home for Christmas. It so happened that she has been in the hospital for Christmas twice. However, she was home at New Year's even if she could not stay up to see the New Year come in.

Miss Kelley came to this school in 1925, three years after South Side was opened. Before she came to South Side, she taught at Elkhart, Indiana.

In her leisure time Miss Kelley prefers writing or reading to any other hobby. Besides her work Miss Kelley is the sponsor of U. S. A., but during her absence Mrs. Grace Welty has taken her place.

Last summer Miss Kelley took an extensive tour of South America. Among the places she visited were Bermuda and Havana. From Havana she went through the locks of Panama, down the west coast of South America where she visited ten cities including Valparaiso and Lima. She went to Buenos Aires by plane and while crossing the Andes the plane was in a heavy snowstorm. This, Miss Kelley remarked, was her most thrilling experience while on her trip. Both Lima and San Diego are still under the influence of the Spaniards in architecture, dress, customs, and speech, Miss Kelley observed.

"I am extremely glad to be back," Miss Kelley remarked and she also thanked those who were so kind to her. Miss Marjorie Michaelis, graduate of Indiana University, took Miss Kelley's place as an English teacher while Miss Kelley was absent. Miss Michaelis was very much impressed by the good behavior of pupils here.

Mr. Maurice Cook Excels In Capacity Of Naming Canines

Friends, enemies, and all, lend me your ear. I would like to tell that the Archers not only excel in basketball and speeches, but also in that wonderful art of naming dogs. I won't keep you guessing, because I see question marks all over your faces.

The expert of naming the dogs is none other than Mr. Maurice Cook in room 24. He really believes in being a jack of all trades. He is a teacher of English, and an expert in shooting. His pet name for the dog was "Regal Pat O' Pard." So don't be surprised if you hear any one calling Regal Pat O' Pard. For his intelligence he won a ten dollar bill which he proudly handed to this snoop reporter with the letter.

The contest was sponsored by Swift and Company. The prizes were from $5,000 to $5. The third division was 25 prizes of $10. Perhaps our friend Mr. Cook placed third in the contest. Never mind, Mr. Cook, we all take our hats off to you.

First With Payment

The Hi-Y Club was the first club in South Side to pay for its picture in the 1939 Totem. John Magley, treasurer of the Hi-Y, paid the ten dollars for a full page picture to the Totem last Friday.

King, Queen Of Movies In '38 Are Chosen In Poll-Of-Month

1938's King and Queen of the Movies!

Well, at any rate, in two thousand South Siders' opinion. For in the January Times' Poll-of-the-Month, conducted by the Poll-of-the-Month Editor, each South Side student voiced his choice in the matter along with a number of other questions. But the result in the Kings and Queens poll will be announced in next week's Times (which, incidentally, only paid subscribers will receive).

The entire poll, which was answered by approximately two thousand students of South Side, included questions on local and national accomplishments of interest to everyone.

Questions Asked Listed

To become more specific, the questions asked the students were, Who, in 1938, would you nominate as your favorite orchestra leader? Name your favorite movie King and Queen for last year. In your opinion, what was the biggest news event of 1938? Which motion picture produced during the past year do you regard as best? Which 1938 radio program was your favorite? What sports event, in your estimation, was outstanding during the past year? Which popular song of the past year would you nominate for stardom? Which news event of 1938 in your opinion affected the United States the most?

So one can see what the results are published that we will have a fairly good idea of the likes and opinions of South Side students. Speaking of results—you won't know whom South Side nominates King and Queen of the movies or the answers to any of the other questions right away. It has been decided by the powers-that-be to hold you in suspense for a while and bring out the ultimate results gradually. This will be done by special features published weekly, each being about one of the questions listed on the poll.

Covers Whole Student Body

In former polls, just a certain portion of people were allowed to answer them; i. e. all the seniors, all the teachers, all sophomores, etc. However, the January poll covered the Everett Arnett: Yes, I think so because the boys and girls can go to their lockers of their own free will.

Mary Catherine Menze: Absolutely, because pupils have been walking through the halls breaking rules, and with this free period they won't have to break any rules to get to their lockers. It should be continued as long as students are not too rowdy.

Keith Kilpatrick: I don't think so. It interrupts the classes too much.

Zola Prill: I guess so. I don't have to rush to and from my locker.

Robert Crankshaw: As long as the students stay out of the halls and are quiet as possible I think it is all right.

Miss Clara Schmidt: I don't know much about it, but the east incline is pretty quiet.

Elmer Schmoer: I say yes under the conditions that the students conduct themselves in as orderly manner as possible.

The Study Course for parents sponsored by the P-T-A. will meet Tuesday, February 21, at 8:45 a. m. Mrs. Glen Bowen will review the chapter "Adolescents in the Home" and Mr. A. V. Flint, "The Adolescent and His School" from the book, "Psychology of the Adolescent."

Library Helpers To Receive Pins

Eighteen Aides To Be Presented Awards By Miss Shoup; Meeting To Be Held On Tuesday

Bronze pins will be presented to the eighteen library club members who earned the pins in September and have attained sixty points by working at the meeting next Tuesday, February 21.

Miss Emma Shoup, librarian, will make this presentation to Erma Jackson, Betty Ellingwood, Bill Riethmiller, Doris Williams, Marcia Allen, Max Mitchell, Joyce Harwood, Helen Karnap, Phyllis Tyndal, Dick Dyke, Richard Strasburg, Emilou Allendorph, Laura Ellen Augspurger, Elizabeth Rose, Dick Garton, Bill Newhard, Audrey Hall, and Margaret Null. Doris Williams and Richard Dyke were elected to give the response for the seniors and juniors.

In keeping with the occasion, Betty Ellingwood will give a brief sketch of the unusual life of George Washington's life. Following this, a special skit will be given by those two dramatists and stage actors, Bill Riethmiller and Max Magner. What they are going to do has been kept a secret as has been the menu. The only thing the committee will announce is that it is to be a Wimpy dinner.

Hi-Y Extends Invitation

All senior and junior boys who are interested in joining the Hi-Y Club are invited to attend the next meeting which will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. Andy Bremer is president of the club and Mr. Ward O. Gilbert is faculty advisor.

Clinard Joins 1500

Kitty Clinard, senior, received her 1500 pin Monday, February 13. She earned her pin through points obtained by proof reading, typing, pin class room news reporting. This pin entitles her to membership in the 1500 Club. Kitty has earned all her points since September of this year.

(By the Poll-of-the-Month Editor)

Tyrone Power, wonder-star of such smash hits as "Suez," "Alexander's Ragtime Band" and "Marie Antoinette," and Jeanette MacDonald, whose "Sweethearts" was released nationally only a few weeks ago, won first place as South Side's King and Queen of the Movies for 1939 in January's Times' Poll-of-the-Month, distributed among South Side's two thousand students last week.

Power and MacDonald, leading their nearest competitors, Richard Greene and Loretta Young with scores of 512 and 388, as compared to 222 and 210, outclassed all other rivals during the entire period of tabulation. Differing from the national poll conducted by a number of associated newspapers last month, Jeanette MacDonald ranked four places above Sonja Henie, who captured fourth place in South Side's contest, but won first place nationally.

The poll, one of several, was issued to students, through their home room teachers during home room periods last week, and requested students to state their opinions in connection with a number of questions. The results of the individual questions will be published weekly in The Times, and in no way will take the place of the monthly polls instigated last September. In order to make the January poll a complete one with regard to participation, it was held back until new 9Bs had entered South Side and were given a chance to vote. Consequently, the results did not appear in a January issue of The Times.

Results of the balloting among the men for top ten positions ranked Nelson Eddy third, over Clark Gable, fourth, by only four points—190 votes to 186. In fifth ranking is Errol Flynn; Spencer Tracy, sixth; Mickey Rooney, seventh; Robert Taylor, eighth; Don Ameche, ninth; and, tied with forty votes each, in tenth place are Ronald Colman and Wayne Morris.

Among filmland's "queens," South Siders placed Myrna Loy, last year's national winner, third; Sonja Henie, fourth; Priscilla Lane, fifth; Bette Davis, sixth; Ginger Rogers, seventh; Hedy "Woo Woo" La Marr,

Dr. Werner Duemling Shows Positive In Vollmer Patch Test

Those students whose Vollmer patch tests showed a positive reaction will be comforted by the news that Dr. Werner W. Duemling's test also showed positive. He said that he was going to continue to lead his happy normal life and that these students should do likewise. For more comfort, you students might like to know that several other members of the medical staff who were examined have positive tests. Mr. E. Nelson Snider also has a positive test.

No Great Danger
"A very large percentage of people have a mild tuberculous infection. This type of infection is not dangerous to them or to others with whom they come in contact and may have no bearing on their length of life. Those whose tests show positive indicate that they have come in contact with tuberculosis at some time in their lives. The only evidence that determines whether or not the infection is active is the X-ray examination of the chest. There is no cause for alarm because of a positive test," Dr. Duemling said. "These points have been stressed so many times, but they cannot be stressed too much, because they are very important and must be put across to those who test positive."

There were approximately 345 persons tested in South Side. The percentage of positive tests in South Side is probably no higher than in any other similar group of individuals. Dr. Duemling said, "The results of our tests tally very nicely with other schools."

Others Try Tests
These Vollmer patch tests are being given to pupils in schools in other parts of the country. The underclassmen here at South Side are to be given these tests soon. Such tests are given to students as time and funds will permit.

Dr. Duemling will begin a series of lectures in human biology and human relations for the seniors beginning February 14 and continuing for 12 periods. There will be two periods a week for boys and for girls. The subject matter of the lectures will be illustrated by lantern slides and motion pictures.

Senior Receives Pin
Max Mitchell, senior, recently received his bronze pin. This entitles him to membership in 1500 Club.

Vollmer Test Will Be Given For Freshmen

Anti-Tuberculosis League Is Again Donor Of Supplies Necessary To Make Exam

To Begin Process Monday Morning

To Place Patches On Pupils' Arms For Period Of Two Days; Take Two Readings

Vollmer tuberculosis patch tests are to be given to the freshmen and sophomore 20s, beginning Monday, February 20. Students are not forced to take these tests but those who desire to do so, may. Such tests, supplies being donated by the Anti-Tuberculosis League, benefit the students and have been found very helpful.

The Vollmer patch test involves merely the placing of a piece of tape which has on it two tuberculin test squares and a control square. This patch is placed with the student's arm and is left there for forty-eight hours, and then is removed. The reading of the results is done by doctors and nurses. If the skin under the patch is red in color, the result is positive. Negative tests leave no redness. The arm is examined in forty-eight hours to check on the previous results. Positive tests do not necessarily mean that the student has tuberculosis. It simply means that the tested person has an allergy toward the disease. Those persons who have a positive reaction should have a chest x-ray. This x-ray test is the only sure method of determining whether or not the infection is active. Arrangements have been made so that students can have the x-ray examination made for a reasonable price. Those students who cannot afford to pay for these x-ray examinations will be examined through the cooperation of the various agencies of the city.

Students who want the patch tests made must have permission cards signed by their parents. These cards must be returned to the home room by tomorrow morning.

Seniors who did not receive the tests when the other seniors were examined, may be tested at this time. Teachers who wish to be tested may also go at this time.

There were approximately 345 persons examined in South Side a few weeks ago. The other students of South Side are to be given the test soon. Such tests as these cost money and take time and therefore the extensiveness of them depends upon the funds which have been set aside for this purpose. This testing is made possible by the Anti-Tuberculosis League and the School Health Department.

Trail All Others
Reaching a new low, the three Marx Brothers each tallied two-thirds of one vote—since only two students ranked them first on their ballots. Buffalo Bill, Tom Mix and Bill Boyd each had their own followings—so-called patrons of the "horse opera!" It might be interesting to note that the only Hollywood stars in line for academy awards next week that were ranked among South Side's big ten are Spencer Tracy and Bette Davis, who both occupy sixth places.

But even with the galaxy of Hollywood stars from which to choose, two bright-witted students named Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, of our fair domains, and Mrs. Herbert Riecke, public-speaking teacher, as their favorite stars!

Music Department Presents Program

Orchestra Plays Three Numbers, Erlene Lee Offers Solo, Band Gives Several Popular Pieces

At the first music assembly of the semester last Tuesday the program began with the orchestra playing the "Indian Summer Suite." Gerald Polman then played the first chorus of "The Bells of the Sea" on his trombone, and sang the second. The orchestra then played another piece, "The Great Waltz."

Erlene Lee gave a vocal solo while accompanied by the piano. Al Stoddon from Chicago and three of his pupils, Gloria Gumpfer, Albert Verweire, and Roy McKee twirled batons while accompanied by the band.

The band then presented its program. It played the "William Tell Overture" for which it had received many requests. There were three solo parts in this number. The oboe part was played by Bill Cargyle, the flute by Albert Verweire, and the bassoon by Jack Cargyle.

Of three popular numbers the first was a special arrangement of "Star-dust." "The Moon Got in My Eyes" was sung by Jack Cargyle and the students joined in on the second chorus. The last popular piece was a special arrangement of "The Jitterbug March."

For their last number the band played the long and difficult "Sankuntala."

Hi-Y Club Initiates All New Members

Five Boys Are Inducted; Plans Are Being Made For Best Girl Banquet; Committees Named

Five new members were initiated into the Hi-Y Club last Thursday at the Y. M. C. A. The newly initiated members are Bob Devlin, Kenneth Erne, Don Osgood, Bob Jones, and Eugene Tigges. The officers of the club were in charge of the induction ceremony. The officers are Andy Bremer, president; Clayton Jensen, secretary pro-tem; Max Magner, vice-president pro-tem; and John Magley, treasurer. Frank Devlin acted as guide and Dick Buchholz operated the electric Hi-Y sign.

At the business meeting, which preceded the initiation, the Best Girls' Banquet was discussed and committees were appointed.

Dick Buchholz was made chairman of the program committee, which is to arrange the theme and select the speakers for the banquet. On his committee are Max Magner and Dick Aronhalt. Max Magner was made chairman of a committee to look after the printing of programs and tickets.

A committee was appointed to make arrangements for a suitable banquet room at the Y. M. C. A., and to decide on a menu. This committee consists of Andy Bremer, chairman, Murray Squires, Clayton Jensen, and Howard Miller. John Magley was made chairman of a committee to select suitable songs for the program of the banquet. Assisting him on his committee is Frank Devlin. Since the club couldn't definitely decide upon a date, the officers of the club were appointed to select a date for this event.

A swim has been planned for the members of the Hi-Y tonight from 7:30 to 8 o'clock, at the Y. M. C. A. The Hi-Y members who worked in the check room at the New Albany-South Side game were Bill Schultz, Don Osgood, Howard Miller, and Eugene Tigges.

Latin Club Group To Study Dress

Roman Clothes To Be Subject Of Next Meeting; Committee Is Named, Bill Newhard Is Head

Roman dress will be discussed at the next meeting of Latin Club Thursday, March 9, at 3:30 o'clock in room 26. The program committee, appointed by Maurice Seibert, consists of Bill Newhard, chairman; Jeanne McCarty, Marjorie Wigbel, Roger McVay, Arlene Snyder, Delores Daniels, Dorothy Perry, and Lois Holtmeyer.

Roman houses was the topic discussed at the meeting held last Thursday. The meeting carried out in the style of an open house, was conducted by the program committee which was composed of Bruce Bradbury, chairman; Carolyn Cartwright, Betty Daniels, Kathleen Ramer, Velda Oppenlander, Dorothy Gore, and Janet Holtmeyer.

A model of a Roman house constructed by the Latin department a few years ago was explained by Maurice Seibert, vice-president and general chairman. The various rooms of a floor plan of a Roman house drawn by Bruce Bradbury was described in detail by members of the committee. Kathleen Ramer discussed the entrance or ostium and vestibulum; Velda Oppenlander explained the master's den or tablinum. The dining room or tablinum, the bed rooms or cubacula, and the garden or peristylum were described by Betty Daniels, Carolyn Cartwright, and Dorothy Gore.

A quiz was conducted by Bruce Bradbury, after which refreshments were served.

Velda Oppenlander reported on the skating party and announced that Roger McVay had sold the most tickets—a total of thirty-two.

Marionette Club Plans For Research Work

Special assignments for research work on the puppet play which the Marionette Club will present this semester were given out at the meeting of the club last Thursday in the workshop. The assignments include arranging stories in play form, reading and rewriting plays already written, and writing to radio companies for permission to use scripts. Those given assignments are Ralph Ransome, Jane Klinefelter, Ralph Dyer, Bill Morgan, and Lillian Sherbondy. Bodies of three marionettes were completed at this meeting. Members worked on legs and arms of the puppets.

150 Students Plan To Be Contestants In Speech Contest

Doctors' Start Lecture Series To Senior A's

To Continue For Twelve Periods With Two Periods Weekly In Greeley Room

Dr. Werner W. Duemling and Dr. Allen Chambers started the series of lectures in human biology and human relations to the seniors last Tuesday. These lectures will include social hygiene, venereal diseases, and human reproduction. They are to continue for twelve periods with two periods each week. This year there are two separate groups of boys and girls. The seniors are divided into four groups, two groups of boys and two of girls.

Alternate Classes

A class that meets at 9:25 o'clock one week will meet the next week at 10:05 o'clock. By this alternation a class will listen to a lecture given by Dr. Duemling one week and by Dr. Chambers the next. The first lectures were held in the Greeley Room. The two lectures were scheduled for 9:25 o'clock for the first group of boys and 10:25 for the first group of girls. Dr. Chambers lectured to the boys and Dr. Duemling met with the first group of girls. On Wednesday the second group of boys and girls met.

The seniors must keep their permit cards to be used as admit slips. Posted on the office bulletin board is a complete list of seniors giving the number of the group in which they are to be and a complete schedule for classes. Seniors are asked to consult the schedule chart of classes which is also posted in each senior home room.

Is Second Year

The lectures this year are to be conducted in a manner different from that of last year. Students will be required to do some outside reading so as to have further knowledge than that gained through the lectures. Notes are to be taken on the subject matter. Important points are to be illustrated by lantern slide and motion pictures. This is the second year for these lectures. They were continued this year because the parents of those students who attended last year, appreciated this opportunity for graduation seniors to gain this helpful knowledge.

Girl Scouts Plan Chinese Meeting

Dinner Is Feature For Affair; Various Committees Listed; Discuss Semester's Program

One of the most outstanding social events of Senior Scout Troop 41 will be held Friday, February 17, at 5:30 o'clock, in the form of a Chinese Dinner which will be served at the home of Mrs. J. M. Purcell, 1137 West Packard Avenue. The committee, composed of Carol Whittier, chairman, Sarah Jane Makey, Maryon Doseh, and Jane Merchant, has planned an appetizing menu. For entertainment, Chinese checkers will be played.

At 7:15 o'clock those who are interested will visit the Masterson studio for an exploration tour. Girls who do not attend the dinner are invited to go to the studio with the others. The cost of the dinner is twenty-five cents. The girls are asked to bring their own service.

Invitations have been sent out by the corresponding secretary, Joan Cartwright, to the troop committee who will be guests. The committee, consisting of Mrs. Harry E. Cox, Miss Katherine Bechtel, Mrs. Grant Michels, and Mrs. T. H. Hall.

During the meeting on Wednesday, February 15, the Totem picture was taken. Also the program for the semester was discussed and organized. The club will work in three divisions on the three main themes, namely, dramatics, aviation, and clothing.

Members contributed pennies for the Juliette Low Memorial Fund. Juliette Low, founder of Girl Scouts in the United States, was greatly interested in world friendships and did much in bringing them about. This memorial fund is used to pay the expenses of certain Girl Scouts from all over the world who are fortunate enough to be chosen to journey from their native country to Switzerland.

Underclassman Boys Invited By Riflers

All underclassman boys can earn a letter in a year if they are willing to work hard by joining the Boys' Rifle Club. In the Boys' Rifle Club there is a chance to earn medals and get school recognition. Mr. Stanley Post is the advisor for the Freshman Club, while Mr. Maurice Cook is advisor for the Varsity Club.

Juniors who have had experiences in shooting are welcome to come to the varsity practice every Monday. Meetings for the underclassmen are on the same night as those meetings for the varsity practice. The county match and school championship will be fired soon.

The next meeting will be held on the twenty-first and twenty-second of this month. Rifles are furnished by the club. Twenty-two caliber long rifle ammunition is sold at the meeting at a special price for those who cannot procure ammunition elsewhere.

The president of the club is Robert Hageman, Max Kimble, secretary and Carl Goebel, executive officer.

Wranglers' Are Sponsors; South Side To Be Represented By 55 Entrants

Meet To Be Held Here On Saturday

Terre Haute, Elmhurst, Central, North Side Are Other Schools To Participate

Approximately 150 speech students, representing five Indiana high schools, have planned to attend the invitational speech meet sponsored by the Wranglers' this coming Saturday, February 18, at these 50, fifty-five have entered from South Side. The four schools which are represented besides South Side are Wiley of Terre Haute, Elmhurst, North Side and Central.

Entrants have been given their choice of participating in any two of the five fields of speech competition, which are oratorical declamation, extemporaneous, original oratory, dramatic declamation and humorous declamation. The purpose of the series of contests which will comprise the meet, as explained by Mrs. Dorothy Riecke, Wranglers' adviser and speech instructor, is to give South Side students and students of other schools an opportunity to gain experience in the different fields of speech.

The winners of the contests will be selected by Wranglers' to represent South Side in the various state meets on a basis of their wins in this meet. The contests have been so planned that every participant will compete in two rounds of the type of contest he enters. The people who enter the semi-finals, or third round, do so on a basis of low point totals. The same arrangement determines the final round contestants.

The coaches of the various groups will act as judges. South Side entrants listed according to the field of competition they are entering are:

Oratorical declamation: Wilma Lageman, Marion Owens, Elaine Berstein, Margaret Niblick, Fritz Lohman, Charles Bollman, Imogene Wright, Dick Fishering, Harold Martin, Bob Robinson, Helen Winick, Leonard Weinraub, Bill Siebold, Charles Will, Eleanor Vesey, Janice Dyer, Richard Buchholz, William Germand, Jeanne Gumpfer, Dick Shorter, James Murphy, Jeannette Warren, Ed Reeves, Dorothy Gore, Tom Gallmeyer, June McAlister, Joyce McAlister, Bill Newhard, Ed Meyer, Mary Harvill and Joe Bex.

Extemporaneous: Ed Reeves, Bob Byers, John Bonish, Tom Gallmeyer, Bob Safer, Joyce McAlister, June McAlister, Morton Nahrwold, Alison Arnold, Carl Goebel, Phyllis Geller, Henry Velloff, Jeanne Gumpfer, Dorothy Rohrbach, Bill Riethmiller, James Murphy, Bruce Bradbury, Bob Robinson, Sam Bacon, Max Kimble, Richard Garton, Dick Dyke, Verell Springer and Audrey Jeffries.

Original oratory: Betty Daniels, Doris Williams, Carl Goebel, Henry Velloff, Dorothy Rohrbach, Dorothy Gore, Bob Byers and Kenneth Warren.

Dramatic declamation: Robert Safer, Bill Riethmiller, Sally Moorhead, Helen Wiebe, Bruce Bradbury, Caroline Lichtenberg and Margaret Gross.

Home Room Book Is Being Written

To Be Guide For Teachers; Miss Emma Kiefer Is Head Of Committee In Charge Of Project

A home room committee made up of Miss Emma Kiefer, chairman; Miss Adelaide Fiedler, secretary; Miss Magley, Mr. Whelan, Mr. Peirce, Miss Rehorst, Mr. Snider, Miss Pittenger and Mr. Flint has been working since September to get out a home room handbook.

This handbook, which is to serve as a guide to home room teachers, contains information on educational guidance, making out programs, attendance, and extra-curricular activities. There are chapters devoted to safety, special events such as Lincoln's birthday, and a chapter on health written by Dr. Werner Duemling.

From time to time, other committees have been working on special phases of this work, and the present committee is merely furthering work done by those committees.

The committee meets at least once a month to discuss plans and to criticize and improve the work already done on the book. They hope to publish the book some time this spring and intend making the contents general enough so that it will serve its purpose over a period of several years.

Language Club Plays German Games, Sing

The last meeting of the German Club was held yesterday, February 15, in the Voorhees Room. Bruce Klotz, newly elected president of the club, took charge of the business meeting. A German game was played, and the members of the club learned a German song.

Is Back In School

Eldon Swartz, sophomore, is back following an appendicitis attack. He was taken to the Lutheran Hospital last week.

In Backing Our Team, We Can At Least Do Justice To Emily Post

Well here we are again, freshies! All ready to deliver another of our familiar and we hope anticipated lectures. The subject today, little friends, is none other than "How To Act At A Basketball Game."

You should know, by this time, that our team is a world champ or at least another state champ; therefore, they deserve the best support. Of course, you can't support the team unless you yell, and naturally you can't yell unless you know the regular school yells. Probably most of them are known to you by this time, but there are a few that are rather tricky; so we'll endeavor to elucidate.

First, when we do the silent yell and come to the end, we count to FOUR; then stand and shout "South Side." But, when we do the South Side, Rah Rah number with the band, we count to FIVE at the end; then stand and shout. In case you are puzzled, counting to five in the song helps the rhythm along.

Another mix-up has resulted from the similarity between two other yells. Of course you all know good old Yea Green, Yea White, but this year has seen the addition of a new yell which buzzes along like this:

Yea team, yea team.
T-E-A-M
Team!

Baffling? It could be; but if you will just pay more attention to the yell cards and leaders, we think you'll be able to distinguish between the two. None of the other yells are very difficult; so we'll just skip this phase of the matter and keep our fingers crossed.

It really shouldn't be necessary to dwell for long on actual conduct at the games, because you have been taught good sportsmanship and courtesy all through the grades and in your homes. If at any game you are in doubt about your conduct, just watch some of our well-behaved students and profit by their example. But please remember, we said well-behaved; sad as it sounds, a few of our game-goers act like hoodlums. Don't be a member of this latter obviously denounced group.

How About Treating Your School With Royal Care?

Nearly every student in this school has, at some time or another, had to take off his or her shoes at the door of their home. The reason for this, which was advanced by a commanding parent, was that the shoes had an ample supply of mud and other collected bits of dirt and grime that wouldn't look very good in the front room of the house. Several other rules are often imposed upon students in their own home. Some of these rules prevent the students from cutting initials in the dining room table, placing feet on the chairs, writing on the walls with a lead pencil, and from engaging in many other similar actions which would have an effect on the furniture of the house.

Of course, South Side's faculty placed no such restrictions upon the student body, but it surely would be a good thing if we used a bit of common sense in our period of stay in this place. Some of this common sense, if used, would save a lot of wear and tear on the various bits of furniture that are in this building and would keep the place looking a lot better. If you aren't one of the persons who has at some time or other engaged in a bit of destructive work, then let me congratulate you for you are one of many who do not damage the school building at every opportunity.

And, now that the building has been nearly completely over-hauled and fixed up in the best possible manner there is a double duty for the student. Now that we have been provided with such a swell building, and I think you'll pardon the poor word, speaking in terms of an English teacher; it is our own personal duty to keep the place in the very best first-class condition.

If someone asked you what school in the United States was the best you would probably answer, South Side. But still you are unwilling to keep the school in condition worthy for the title of the best in the nation. If you are really proud of this great institution, then show the powers that are your appreciation of this place by refraining in any action that is damaging to the school in the least little way, for South Side is the first school and deserves such care.

It almost looked for a while that old man winter finally was going to take his much-prolonged toll. Now it appears that spring is nipping at it in the bud.

What's the matter, fellows? Isn't our nation's best paper worthy of your should-be-gracious subscription.

Wee Sketches Of Our Big People

By Jeanette Warren

Whew! What a wrestle. We got one though, a gentleman, I mean. Yes sir, Bob Shimmel saved the day by offering his great big masterful self (or so his big moment, Mary Treen, thinks; for when he smiles—"those blue eyes and dimples"—) for a hearing at Ye Old Court of Personal Interviews and Snappy Crack-backs.

So may I introduce the leader of our band, having the distinction of having been first clarinetist in said organization during the past three years. An appointee to or of the National Honor Society, he is a member of the music department and of Latin Club and Inter-Club Congress which are decided aids in keeping him fairly well occupied.

This post-grad chooses as his favorite subject, "math-trig," being his endeavor along this line at present. Apple dumplings, home-made style, hit him in the right spot too. He can conceive of nothing better in the way of music than Henry Busse swinging out "Sophisticated Swing." As for sports, a basketball game, a swim, or a game of tennis go well with him too. His hobby is collecting stamps and sleeping. It would seem he has a grudge against the fairer sex in that women's "tall hats" in the movies and women drivers consistently get in his hair. An ace pole vaulter and star member of the C. P. C. (Chemistry Procrastinators Club—better look into Mr. Gilbert), our hero likes 'em brunette and full of pep (not Kellogg's either).

Having, from kindergarten on up, assimilated a little knowledge of this and that at Harrison Hill, he plans to continue this assimilation at Wharton School of Finance of the University of Pennsylvania, studying brokerage. Leaving him in that very critical attitude of study, we say adieu.

Senior Synopsis

By R. U.

Graduating

Slinging slam-bang scribbles to you in the ranks of studenters, we bring you the modified fiftieth in a series of Senior happenings, which should add to any optic feast-fest you might deem pleasurable. So, off with the old and on with the new.

Tossing Ball With Morpheus, we find Corky Bostick, the inimitable, delving in some first class dozing in a third period economics class. He resumed his open-optical mode of living, however, with one Mr. W. Wilson giving the tony declaration of, "Just between us girls." Wench-shy, Bostick?

While Boys' Town Burns, and Archer women evenously sigh, Kitty Clinard and Lois Rea continue to beat it out (literally) in their somewhat exclusive feet adornments. Current comment asks us, "Why Holland?"—All wooden we like to know!

We Dust Off the welcome home sign to our versatile class officers, Jeep Schmidt and Phyl Geller, who recently had a bang-up if not goodly time some days ago. That's one way of crashing into the news, but the trembling majority of us were too pulse-quickened to read about it.

We Give You Comedy. "Well, I guess I'll go on a bender," said the fly as he was found making the well-known rounds on a pretzel. Jus' another in the grouping of Senior to-be-laughed-at oddities.

Honors Of The Week are found wending their untiring way toward Frieda Schubert, upperclass deluxer. To you of the personality flashes, the energetic ability, and the scholastic leadership, we extend the heartiest best wishes as one of our meritable class big-people. Yours for a life-long success, Frieda!

An' Wasn't It

3. Bev Griffith who drove to the end of Harrison only to find out that it was Wayne street?

4. Max Wagner who said, "Let's bring back the stag line?"

And wasn't it a reporter who said, "time staggereth on and we must part." Till that later week then, gentle readers.

What Would You Do?

After teasing your brain with our super-special quiz of Thursday last, let's take a vacation from dates and see how you are on ordinary questions. The following set requires no special information; just straight logical thinking (that sounds like a fugitive from the one and only, the original Professor Quiz). Anyway, here goes. See what you can do with them:

What would you do if:

1. You heard a mouse squeaking in the classroom?

a. Oil it.

b. Beat it (and we don't mean the rat).

c. Be nonchalant; sit back in your chair. Light up and be alert, and above all, don't faint!

2. Your date wanted to go someplace that was impossible because your financial status ain't what it was once?

a. Follow the advice that "confession is good for the soul" (or would it be "heel"?)

b. Tell her you always go slumming on Thursdays. (She wonders why every day is Thursday.)

c. Swear off girls; then you'll never get into such a predicament and have to answer such a silly question.

Tests Are Given To Students For Better Archer Populace

"What's all this 'hocus-pocus' going on?" asked the many members of the senior class who were going to receive the tuberculosis test on that exciting Monday morning. It really was one of the most helpful events ever to take place in South Side High School.

Now, if South Side was composed of goats, the test would be unnecessary. But, the fact remains that we are all not immune to that dreaded disease as are goats. So, as a guard against this evil, tests were given by the several nurses who applied the patch to the left arm. This new action created quite a hub-bub in the new study hall. Dignified seniors tried to act unconcerned about the whole affair, but to hear them trying to jabber intelligently, one could easily tell that they were quite awed by the whole situation.

All Are Grateful

Even the boys who tried to act nonchalant were doing their level best to investigate the proceedings that were going on at the desks where, incidentally, the nurses were. Mighty nice nurses, too! All were wondering just what they would do and how they would feel, if the test would prove something which was to be of definite value to us; and no matter what the outcome, we should be grateful that the younger generation was so well thought of as to go to the high expense to complete such a charitable examination. Parents also are grateful to the school for supporting such a worthwhile project. Although the parents' consent had to be given, you can believe that they were all-too-eager to comply with the issues and sign that pink card which would permit the student to be tested for tuberculosis.

Students Imagine Pains

I wish more people could have seen the anxious glances passed over the class rooms. Many were seen rubbing their arms and looking a little pitiful. Some said that terrible pains were shooting up and down their arms, and how hot their arms did seem! Why, they were just regular heat waves! Now that just goes to show you what the imagination can do for you! There is absolutely no sensation received as the result of the test. It was positively painless, and all aches were purely imaginary.

The teachers were very brave. They marched right up to the tables and made no fuss about it—the perfect examples for the young ones. But, the young ones were eagerly waiting for Wednesday morning to approach. Finally, the day came, and again the seniors assembled in the study room to have the patch taken off. Everyone wondered whether or not the patch would hurt when it was pulled off. The nurse would tell you it would not hurt one little bit as she calmly, but oh-so-swiftly pulled it off before one could make any reply. Boys and girls were comparing their left arms trying to conceive some sort of an inflammation. Some arms looked just the same and others appeared to be a little "touched."

None Need Worry

There was, we were told, no cause for worry if the test was positive. Nevertheless, several boys and girls were more than a little down-hearted because of a positive result which took the form of little blisters. When the final check-up was made Friday, the excitement of the test was more or less quieting down. I am in hopes that every South Side fully realized the importance and necessity for this test. In the first place, the students are given the opportunity to prevent the occurrence of tuberculosis in their homes. Naturally, all the students would not be afflicted, but it was necessary to check all to be able to discover those who have no tuberculosis signs and those who do have, which was the real point of the test. There was just the chance that perhaps one or two of four hundred might have contracted a trace of tuberculosis. There were other reasons for a slight change in the texture of the skin other than having the disease. Maybe some little thing was a little below par in your constitution, or maybe you had been unfortunate enough to have had pneumonia at some time in your life. If so, you would have tested positive. But anyway, we are more sure of many more things than we were before the tests. We should be thankful that they were given free of charge and not compulsory. South Side was mighty lucky to have such a truly wonderful opportunity to better the populace of the school. So long, and good health to you!

I'm going to start right in dishin' the dirt this week without any preliminaries.

Carl Hall has a silent admirer by the name of Carol Lou Jones in case he doesn't know it. But unfortunately, Carl is taken by the very lucky girl, Lila Patton.

A little girl by the name of Mary Brandbury seems to be doing all right with Howard Stilwell these days. In fact they are going so strong that you needn't be surprised if they start going steady before long.

Another couple that are picking up where they left off in grade school is Sam Johnson and that cute freshie Ida Mae Hege.

Why is it that some of our goody-goody seniors desert our fair portals to find their one and only? Try as I might I simply can't figure it out. In my estimation we have one of the cutest crops of gals to greet the eye in many a year. Sooooo you can easily see there is absolutely no reason for this action, and it had better stop before some of our feds rebel.

That romance between Maxine Fisher and Edward Schouwieler is really getting serious. Maxine is so crazy about him in fact that she would gladly knit his socks for him. Must be love, eh?

That lovesick sophomore Betty Cowan is still pining away for her one and only Dave Roth. Why don't you give the gal a break, Dave? She deserves it.

The freshmen seem to have a thumb on the dirt column this week. Betty Hoffman, in some person's opinion, is starting her career at South Side in the wrong way by not going with her admirer, Bob Burkenbuel.

There must be something about a

Pro and Con

Students! Hasn't it been swell these last few weeks, having the fifth period a free period in which you are permitted to have the same privileges you have before school in the morning? Have you stopped to think that the continuance of such freedom is wholly up to you as students of South Side? It is shameful when the minority abuses a privilege and as a result the majority of innocent students must suffer for the wrongs of these few. Public privileges have often been so abused that everyone must do without them just because of a handful of selfish citizens. Such a thing as this is going to happen right here in our own school if students who take too much freedom don't watch their step. An important question which will affect the lives of everyone in South Side is now before us for thorough consideration. Should the freedom which is extended during the fifth period continue?

Mr. Pro is going to make an appeal to you and show you how you will benefit by having this freedom, and Mr. Con is going to show you how this privilege will be taken away if something isn't done about the conduct of the students.

PRO

Let us first look at the old method. Those who had the fifth period free were forced to go directly to the study hall or the gym as soon as they entered the building. On raining days we had to keep on our damp clothes and sit and wish that the bell would hurry and ring. But now the situation is much different. A student is privileged to first go to his locker and take off his wraps and then do as he pleases so long as he keeps orderly. He may get his books for his next period class and be prepared to go promptly when the bell rings.

CON

Did you ever stop to think how awful it would be to go back to the old method? Just consider what we can do to keep our new privilege. There are a very few classes in session during the fifth period, but if the students who have this period free continue to make as much confusion and commotion as they are making at present, every pupil in South Side will have this freedom taken away and will be sitting in the study hall or gym instead of being where they so desire to be.

Since the school is a part of your home, why not act here as you would at home? Many students make others form wrong opinions, just because of the manner in which they act while at school.

Such advice as this is well worth heeding, and it's all up to you, students. Which shall it be, better conduct during the fifth period or go back to the old method?

Along The Clothes Line

When the weather forecast says, "Continued rain, turning to sleet" your heart sinks with the question, "What will I wear?" (if you're like me.) You want to look and feel cheerful, so you should dress with this in mind. Experts say that this country averages 120 days of rain a year. That means a third of the time most of us are gambling on the chance of being caught in a sudden downpour.

Be a color spot on a rainy day, with a bright suit or a colorful wool frock under your raincoat. You can see any number of different styles of raincoats. Polka dots, stripes, plain or plaids, are several patterns to choose from. The fabrics include: rubberized material, gaberdine, or other fabrics. A shiny patent leather bag is the thing for rainy weather because it will never become spotted by rain.

The reversible man-tailored raincoat, that is really rainproof, is tops. The top part may be a rough tweed, bright plaid or any of the new rich, plain colors.

To keep your feet dry and warm, a new idea in rubber rain boots. They look like suede and make you feel smart because everyone is fooled by this special treatment. If you want to be a really rainproof number wear stockings specially treated in manufacture so they won't show ugly spots. When it comes to what to wear on your head in order to cover your coiffure, it makes no difference. A gay kerchief knotted anyway you wish or a classic sports felt hat will do the trick.

Do you remember last year everyone was accenting their mouth a la Crawford. They have now changed their technique. Instead of accenting lips, they play up their eyes. If you're wondering what to do about your hands, the style for them is long, very long nails coated with a dark red polish. Having the tips this dark color makes your hands look whiter. Slip a large, plain ring on your middle finger—the shinier the better.

Although colors and color combinations are seen everywhere, still the old standby navy with a touch of crisp white is smart. The latter can be used in many striking ways. Such as unusual or clever collars and cuffs, or white buttons massed together as a yoke with long white gloves. For a topper your dark blue hat swathed with a filmy layer of a white veil, tied over the hat and under the chin in a coy fashion.

These tips have come to you through the courtesy of S-T-Y-L-E and will be given out again at this same time next week. I hope you will watch for them and read the latest hints to well-dressed folk.

Hey Fellows! If You Have Date Trouble, Then Read This One

"I had a swell time. Thanks a lot. Good night, Tom." Are you the lucky boy that hears these words as you take your date to the door after showing her what you hope was a good time? Or when you escort your date, does she meekly and with a voice that makes you feel doubtful of the truth of her statement say, "I had a good time, good night!"; and as you stick your foot in the doorway, does she quickly shut the door and hurry in? If these are your problems and if this is the way your dates send you away after you have spent next week's allowance on them; then there must be something wrong with you or your technique (or both).

Well, the first thing that COULD be wrong (and about the only thing that would make your departure so cool) is the way you treat the girl. Some boys think that getting a date is the mere process of calling a cute little trick up on the phone and asking her what she's doing tonight. Then if she's not busy, would she like to go somewhere? It's all set, then, and you'll be around about eight. And when she departs... Well, you go home, disappointed and bewildered as to the cause of that cool departure. Here's what's wrong:

One thing that she probably dislikes, if you treat her so, is disrespect. Girls always want to be respected and treated as if they really are somebody. They all like to be looked up to. Another thing to take note of is your, shall we say, "line"? No matter who the girl is or of what type she is, never does a girl like to hear a boy give the same song of love to a number of different girls. If you do this, no girl will ever believe anything you say.

Another thing to think about... do you use the same slang expressions in your conversation? If this is one of your faults, take pity on the poor girl, who has to hear this repetition and correct it. Still another fault you might have acquired is letting the girl do all of the talking. This is awfully hard on the girl as she does not usually know your hobbies and preferences. (This is especially true if it is her first date with you.) Calling attention to a girl's fault not only embarrasses her, but you also, because from the time you do this on, she will be very quiet, thinking that you might find more of her defects if she keeps up a conversation. Do not talk too much and monopolize the conversation. Let her get a word or two in, once in a while. Another important issue in gaining her favor is to take her home at the time she prefers. Perhaps she has a very good reason why she must be home at some certain time. Do not do anything conspicuous so that you bring the public's attention to her as well as to you. Make pleasing compliments on her clothes and appearance. A girl always is appreciative of this.

So, boys, if girls refuse dates with you or treat you coolly, ten to one if you correct the above faults, you will gain their favor and restore popularity to yourself. Start right now before you hear your name being thrown around carelessly.

Seniors! Solve Big Riddle Of Submarine Sandwiches

With all the contributions from the outgoing seniors, there's one that would merit some plucky upperclassman. Here's a chance for some of you who would like to scare your friends with your picture when they open the Times. Certainly one of you geni can answer the problem of "How to eat a submarine sandwich and still be a lady." You all know what submarine sandwiches are. They received their name from their inventor who went swimming after sampling the original masterpieces and went under water just like a submarine. If you haven't tried one, we suggest that you occupy yourself with something in the shape of a well-known bromo.

And now for the contents of the sandwich: You receive (1) a loaf of Vienna bread cut lengthwise and spread with olive oil; (2) a layer of cheese (any kind); (3) a layer of raw tomatoes; (4) a layer of raw onions spread along the bottom half; (5) a layer of bologna to cover the cheese; (6) three hot peppers; (7) two slices of ham; (8) a layer of salami; and (9) two leaves of lettuce.

With quite a bit of effort the clerk wraps up your little package, and you toddle homeward and pull all of the shades down fearing that your neighbors will feel that you are slightly wacky. Next, provide yourself with plenty of drinks, because eventually you are bound to need them. Always be careful to see whether the insides begin to slide out.

And now comes the part that requires some knowledge as to courtesy. Always be sure to wait until your companion is distracted (if you have a companion through all this), then you may tuck the contents of the sandwich back between the slabs of breadal nourishment. Almost any way that you look at it, it is an impossibility to be an Emily Post during such a trying situation.

So, seniors, we challenge you. Here is something to occupy your minds with between now and graduation time—Good luck!

Mark; New Members Aid

Moving into the fourth week of the present circulation campaign, The South Side Times has a total of almost 1,000 subscriptions. This number, however, does not herald the completion of this campaign, which will last for at least one more week.

The Times went into publication this week because enough subscriptions came in on Thurs day and the day following it. Every agent made a special effort to obtain subscriptions last Thursday and Friday, in order that enough subscriptions would be obtained to warrant regular publication of the paper.

Room 25 Perfect

One agent, Beverly Ann Griffith, has obtained a hundred percent room. Her home room is room 25. The people in this room will now receive candy bars, as well as any other home room that gets a one hundred percent rating. Some of the other agents who are near the perfect percent are Kolman Gross, Nadine Mueller, Sam Bacon, and Lois Rea. Each of these agents is working to get a hundred percent room. Most of them are trying to get enough outside subscriptions to make up for the difference in the home room caused by non-subscribers.

Announce New Positions

One new assistant circulation manager, Dick Aronhalt, and a new home room agent, Alex Azar, have been added to the circulation department of the publication.

Each agent has been especially instructed to work during the final moments of the present campaign. A list of room agents and their percentages follow:

Marilyn Sondles

Is Rifle Treasurer

Members Shoot For N.R.A. Contest; Also Fire For Match With C. V. S. High School.

Marilyn Sondles was elected as the Girls' Rifle Club treasurer at the last meeting which was held at the range. Girls shot for the National Rifle Association bi-weekly contest and also for a postal match in competition with Central Valley Stream High School. The scores of the girls shot for the N. R. A. contest follow:

Marion Feichter, 92; Marge Price, 89; Marcia Allen, 87; Jane Merchant, 86; Imogene Fabian, 86; Doris Williams, 86; Audrey Hall, 80; Ruth Hoover, 76; Delores Ulrich, 74.

One target was misplaced at the meeting so Mildred Trout shot last night. The results will be a probable increase in the team score.

The Central Valley Stream scores were as follows:

Marge Price, 92; Jane Merchant, 89; Imogene Fabian, 88; Marion Feichter, 86; Delores Ulrich, 81; Doris Williams, 80; Ruth Hoover, 80; Marcia Allen, 72; Audrey Hall, 60; Dorothy Bloomer, 58.

In a recent postal match with the Concordia High School girls' team, the South Side team won by one point.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

In Mr. Whelan's physical geography 1 class, a very interesting film was shown on "Exploring the Universe." It showed movements of the stars chiefly, and also how the stars and constellations will change their shapes in the future.

Miss Shop announces that 200 new books have been already prepared for pupils' use.

Miss DeLancey gave her English 7 class a test on a short story and the highest grades were made by Herman Ankenbruck, 100; Richard Graue, 98; and Betty Crum, 90.

Miss Fiedler's algebra 2 classes took tests covering products and factoring. Those having very good grades are Dorothy Heslip, Jean Kains, and Carol Trenary.

In the next three weeks the student leaders in all girls gym classes will be teaching games to their squads. There will be about 36 circle games and relay games.

An election of officers for the coming semester was held in Miss Emma Kiefer's home room 58. Those elected to office were Bill Steup, president, and Virginia Sites, program chairman.

The following 9A boys of Mr. Rex's manual training class, have received the highest grades on an exercise in wood-turning: Duane Shidler, Donald King, Warren Cook, and Don Reitorf.

Betty Jane Bisch, a new student in Miss Mary Crowe's 11B home room, entered South Side this semester from Woodrow Wilson High School in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Whelan used the picture projector to show glaciation to his physical geography 2 class. They are making maps showing glacial features of this region.

In Miss Emma Kiefer's English 8 classes, especially accurate and attractive charts to show balanced structure of Milton's "Allegro" and "Il Penseroso" were made by Margaret Wiles, June Enoch, Rosella Koehler, Anna Lou Kowalski, Kitty Clinard, and Ruth Ellison.

In Mr. Sterner's Latin classes, Kathryn Guild, Arthur Howard, Claude Davenport, Karl Eberly, and Erleen Lee have reported on books from the collateral Latin book list.

Office Aide Thanks Commercial Course Here For Training

Viola Yanney, a graduate of '38, has a good start on her road to fame and fortune. She was a student of the commercial course while attending South Side and is now a clerk in the main office here at school.

Miss Yanney seems very thrilled about the idea of working in the office. She said, "I like working here very much. It seems like coming back to school again." While a student here Viola said that she did not have the slightest intention of ever working in the office.

Through her work here she has received a glimpse of office procedure and revealed that she did not think it so complicated when she was just a student. The routine which is required for different papers is very complicated.

Wins Honors

Miss Yanney carried away several honors in the commercial subjects. She was a student under the supervision of Mr. Earl March, for all of her two years of shorthand and for three semesters of typing. She is the possessor of two pins for her outstanding work in shorthand. One pin is for her ability to take down 120 words per minute in shorthand and the other is for taking down 140 words. This is one of the most outstanding records in the history of commercial students here at school. In typing she was awarded a ribbon for typing 60 words per minute with 90 per cent accuracy.

The method in which shorthand is taught appeals to Miss Yanney very much. The method of "theory first" is the one taught in the classes here. Miss Yanney says, "It is difficult to rely upon notes written by someone else because they always seem to make their characters different from the way a student does. The method of sight reading would be entirely based upon some professional's notes, not the student's own notes."

Was Active Student

Miss Yanney took second place in the city division of the Latin contest several years ago. While a student here, she was an active member of So-Si-Y, Travel, Service, in which she worked in Mr. A. Verne Flint's office, G. A. A., and a club reporter for the Totem. She was elected to the National Honor Society and graduated with high honors.

She, like many other students, took the commercial course and now in the business world is making a good name for herself.

"New York City" Is Travel Theme

Donna Lou Foutz Is In Charge
Of Program; Talks Are Given
By Members On World's Fair

"New York City" was the theme of the last Travel Club meeting. Several talks were given the first of which was "Fifth Avenue," given by Donna Lou Foutz, who was in charge of the program. The other talks were on the New York World's Fair which is to be held next summer. Donna Lou told about the theme of the fair which is "World of Tomorrow" and explained that since the children of today will be the citizens of tomorrow, there are to be many amusements for the children at the fair. Mary Jane Christie told how an ash heap was changed to a park. Betty Koehler talked on what other countries will bring to the fair, and Marjorie Clapp talked a drama and music in connection with the fair.

Previously in the meeting, pamphlets which gave facts concerning the fair were given members of the club. Pictures of some of the buildings at the fair were posted on the bulletin board.

Those who were on Donna Lou Foutz's committee are Dixie Lee Hanna, Mary Jane Christie, Betty Koehler, Marjorie Clapp, Ruth Ann Archer, Thelma Roberson, Martha Shimele, Phyllis Clark, Mary Louise Wilson, and Margaret Kiezele.

"London" will be the theme of the next Travel Club meeting which will be held next Wednesday. Doris Stamets is in charge of the program. Her committee is as follows: Janet Holtmeyer, Bernadine Pressler, Bettie Stein, Elaine Hirsch, Reva Foster, and Jean Stewart.

Mrs. Rieke's first semester public speaking students are delivering short stories.

In a recent Latin 2 test Marcelle Kimmel, Billy Jean Stover, Margaret Heine, Catherine Smead, Grace Smith, and Florence Stauffer scored 95 or more.

Mrs. Rieke's second semester speaking students are preparing model speeches.

Mr. Cook announced that the following students in his English 3 classes have their home reading points for the first grading period: period one, Wanda Eller, Doris Miller, Jean Peterson, and Gertrude Irmscher; fourth period, Betty Baker, Bernice O'Brien, Vivian Ruch, and Betty Leis.

Mr. Rex announces that Robert Stillwell, Paul Madden, and Wayne Basis have been working during their spare time, building a partition between rooms 41 and 43.

In Miss DeLancey's English 1 class, Keith Lakey made an interesting model of a raft of Odysseus.

In a recent test in Miss Mott's foods 1 classes, the following girls made 100: Betty Chandler, Holly Repert, Patricia Smith, Janet Whetzel, Helen Beery, Betty Hayden, Melrose Lyons, Betty Wyss, and Kathryn Zaegel.

In Miss Ben's home management class the girls have made their plans for meals for the semester. Breakfast will be their next meal, then luncheon, dinners, and then they will fix special meals.

In Miss Peck's English 8 class Byron Sommons has made A on all quizzes but one.

The students in Mr. McClure's American history 2 class are completing the study of the Civil War.

In vocabulary tests in Miss Schmidt's German 2 classes, the following students made 100: Robert Bushman, Richard Craig, Betty Jesse, Margaret Kienzie, Elinor Muntzing, Lester Oppenlanker, John Schotter, Gene Senessey, Phyllis Stein, Janet Whetzel, James Bunner, Arthur Cigax, Robert Hageman, Annabelle Harrod, Annabelle Masterson, Juan Rodriguez, and Eugene Tigges.

Mr. Gould's beginning botany classes, who are studying roots, are now working in the laboratory studying the structure of roots.

Plans Winter Frolic

Mrs. Arthur K. Rimmel

Mrs. Arthur K. Rimmel, chairman of the ways and means committee of the P.T.A., with the aid of Mrs. John F. Brooks, chairman of the program committee, helped to execute the plans for the Winter Frolic which will be held for the parents Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in room 170.

Classical Section Of Concert Best, Interviews Show

The pupils and teachers of this school were asked what part of the music assembly which was held last Tuesday morning, that they liked best. The answers were as follows:

Eleanor Muntzing: I liked everything, but I liked the classical music best.

Paul Hench: I liked the popular music, but the classical section was better.

Miss Alice Dean: I liked the overture of Sakuntala.

Miss Gretchen Smith: The William Tell Overture because it is going to be on one of the School of the Air programs.

Delaine Rose: I liked the popular music, but I liked the classical music best.

Gloria Orr: Popular music and the William Tell Overture.

Phyllis Orr: Popular music and the William Tell Overture.

Peggy Greany: The baton twirling. Oh! I like it all.

Norma Whitsel: I liked it all, but I liked the William Tell Overture and popular music the best.

Myralene Liddy: Jitterbug March.

Anna Burns: Stardust.

Ruth Werkman: Stardust.

Miss Crissie Mott: Orchestra.

Wanda Rohlfing: Popular songs.

Carolyn Skole: William Tell Overture.

Marcia Allen: Star Dust.

Jean Rarick: Likewise.

Miss Lucy Osborne: Classical part, because it showed work on the part of the people who played. Of course, I liked the modern part of jazz music, but I would rather be on the dance floor when it was played instead of sitting down.

Mary Ellen Barrett: I like the idea of having the student body sing.

Komyne Rediger: The twirling of the batons.

Laverne Holloway: Popular numbers.

Valetta Favory: Likewise.

Ellen Harry: The band and the William Tell Overture.

Janice Sprung: The William Tell Overture, especially the oboe and the bassoon.

Mary Fry: Stardust.

Thelma Roberson: Stardust and The Moon Gets in My Eyes.

Mary Lou Sanders: Same.

Joan Hoy: Stardust.

Martha Nolan: Stardust.

Alyce Lake: William Tell Overture.

June Whalen: Stardust.

Jeanne Junk: Stardust.

Mrs. Scott: William Tell Overture and Erleen Lee's solo were both lovely.

Joseph Jordan: Overture of William Tell.

Robert Guion: Overture of Sakuntala.

Dorothy Jagers: Stardust.

Philo To Feature Patriotic Program

Piano Solo, Readings, Community Singing To Be Given; Joyce Harwood Head Of Committee

Patriotic program will be the main feature at Philo next Monday at 3:45 o'clock in the Greeley Room. Virginia Fleming will play some patriotic melodies on the piano. Phyllis Branning and Charlene McAtee will give some patriotic readings. Frances VanBuskirk is in charge of the patriotic community singing.

The committee in charge is as follows: Joyce Harwood, chairman; Betty Neeb, Rebecca Abbott, Annette Snoke, Phyllis Geller, and Ruth Hoover.

Betty Daniels will be the toastmistress at the sixteenth annual banquet of Philo; Margaret Null is chairman of the committee for the banquet. The banquet will be held at the Wayne Hotel. Janice Dyer and her committee are working on the favors. Miss Elizabeth Demaree is assisting the committee for the banquet. The committee for the banquet is as follows: Margaret Null, chairman; Pearl Wallen, Virginia Shields, and Miriam Jackson.

Playlet To Be Given Before Junior Math

New officers for the positions of vice-president, treasurer, and sergeant-at-arms were elected at the latest Junior Math meeting. Those elected were Carol Lyman, vice-president; Margaret Heine, treasurer; and Tom, sergeant-at-arms. These new officers together with Roger McVay, president, and Pauline Schoenher, secretary, comprise the program committee for the next meeting when a playlet will be presented. The skit, entitled, "If," is in the form of a radio program, and those on the committee are the performers. Anyone who wishes to come to the meeting is invited.

At the last meeting the program was in the form of a Valentine party. Margaret Heine was in charge of the refreshments, and both Neva Kirk and Carol Lyman directed the games. At the party, together with other games, the members of the club made up original Valentine jingles.

Bulletin Board Changed

Miss Dorothy Alderdice has announced that the bulletin board, which appears in the office, will be used for the special bulletins. It probably will take the place of the bulletin board formerly between Miss Pittenger's office and the main office.

Instructions Given

Wranglers' meeting of Monday, February 13, was devoted to the outlining of the duties of the Wrangler members in the coming invitational meet sponsored by the club by Mrs. Dorothy Rieke, Wranglers' adviser.

Is NEEDLESS Eyestrain
Sapping YOUR Energy?

Eyestrain can cause headaches, tired, aching eyes and drowsiness. Those are the symptoms. But more than that it causes inefficiency and costly mistakes because it drains your energy and fogs your brain. Certainly money you put into the care of anything as indispensable as your eyes is the soundest investment you can make.

Intramuralmen Play Together In Nine Games

Slugs Meet In Three Games; Russians, Black Hawks, Thugs, Duke Also Play.

Nine games were played in the intramural loop last week. The Slugs appeared in three contests, winning two and losing one. They walloped the Russians, 11-2, and won a similar victory over the Thugs, 20-9. However, they were beaten in a tough fight by the Black Hawks, 15-12. The Dukes won two games, whipping the Black Hawks and the S.O.M.A.C.'s.

The above mentioned games were all played in the heavy division, while the middleweight division also saw action. The up and coming Flashers won three games from topnotch teams. They outplayed the Panthers 8-4, and took the wind out of the sails of the F.O.P.'s. They also took the measure of the Musketeers, 1-2. The box scores of the games this week follow:

Friddlemen Visit Franklin College

Burl Friddle and the Archer team visited Franklin College last week and were week-end guests of Will B. Nelp, assistant to the president of Franklin. Reading from left to right are: Jim Glass, Don Hire, Kelly Welch, junior at Franklin, Burl Friddle, Ralph Hamilton, Dale Hamilton, '38, Mr. Nelp, Don Beery, and Frank Belot, '38.

Senior Girls Are Champs Of Basketball

Sophomores Are Defeated By Five Points; Upper-class Ball Season Closed.

Friday, February 10, marked the end of the upperclassmen basketball season, and another champion was crowned. The solitary senior team, by virtue of their win over a remarkable sophomore team, now reigns as the unbeatable combination. They are the champions of the 1938-39 season.

The battle between the senior set-up and the sophomores was a championship game in fact as well as name. Up to that time, neither team had been defeated. One or the other had to relinquish the title, and the sophomores may be proud of the great fight they put up against a great team. The final score, 12-7, is a genuine indication of the exciting battle which raged between these two teams. They should both be commended for their outstanding playing ability and sportsmanship.

Champs Listed

Members of the team which defeated Captain Thiele's sophomores are: Bernice Bender, Dorothy Bloemer, Marcella Brackman, Dorothy Lou Braun, Wilma Carrier, Beth Ellen Chadwick, Velma Connert, Ethelna Koch, Patty Lyman, Margery Price, Gwen Roberts, Adelhaide Scheele, Marjorie Schelper, Frieda Schubert, Betty Shewalter, Virginia Sprungue, and the spark which set off the dynamite, Captain Hazel Perry.

Another game of the evening was between Frances Nash's sophomore 1's and Marjorie Morrison's junior 2's at 3:30 on the south court. The sophomores displayed plenty of power in this tilt, upsetting the juniors 12 to 4.

The concluding scramble of the evening took place on the south court at 4:00 and involved Elaine Ferguson's sophomore 4's and Maxine Sterling's sophomore 5's. The 5's came out on top, 18-8.

There are several girls, not on the winning team, who deserve mention for their outstanding playing during the season. Among them are Frances Nash, a fine captain as well as a fine player; Marion Feichter, Betty Thiele, and Elaine Ferguson, who also proved their skill as leaders and players. Others who deserve mention for playing ability are Delores Menefer, Marguerite Calkins, and Geneva Martin.

Intramural Schedule For Tonight Given

The schedule for the intramural games to be played tonight is as follows:
Game 1—F. O. vs. Flashers.
Game 2—Musketeers vs. Panthers.
Game 3—S.O.M.A.C. vs. Spikers.
Game 4—Pineapples vs. Winner of game 1.
Game 5—Black Hawks vs. winner of game 3.

Intramurally Speaking

Spring has come! They say when spring comes a young man's fancy turns to love. That word love can include a large variety of things. Practically everything you see, do, or hear you can either love or otherwise.

Since this word covers such a large territory, there is no reason why we can't connect it up with intramural sports. Every red-blooded American boy (assuming that you all have red blood) takes a particular liking to some sport which is offered on the program of the intramural department at South Side. So, since spring turns a man's fancy to the love of something or other, let's make that something or other intramural sports.

In spring the weather is suitable for outdoor sports, and every person should take advantage of the season. It's not too hot nor is it too cold, but the weather is just perfect for getting some of that needed exercise and for earning a few of those needed points toward your intramural title.

The intramural incident of the week is the intramural Lettermen's potluck which was held yesterday, February 14. All those boys who had earned 50 points or more were present. There were about thirty boys present and the potluck turned out to be a big success (so they say at least).

This week the lad to receive the distinctive honor of being included in the roster of South Side's intramural hall of fame is Dallas Zuber, one of our up-and-coming freshmen. Mr. Zuber has been a participant in the lightweight division of many of our intramural contests and he has

G. A. A. Gazette

G. A. A. star of the basketball courts has been named unanimously as Marguerite Calkins, six foot two sophomore. At the last basketball session, she scored eighteen points. We secretly think that this splurge was due to her newly acquired method which she copied after the taller member of "the State Champs."

Two of our more prominent sophomores recently lost some very valuable articles. It seems that they both found them but were unable to use them the rest of the evening. The lost probably spent that night hanging over the fire. Eva Jean Wylie and Maxine Sterling were the victims.

Goodluck to all those better basketball players in the coming Honor Basketball games. It has been predicted by the sophomores that the soph team is headed for this year's basketball championship. Since we have heard nothing to the contrary, yours truly has accepted this fact and so says: "The sophomores will be the basketball champs of this year."

It is time for all badminton fans to get out the racquets and shuttlecocks and start frequenting the handball court. The badminton tournament is scheduled to be held as soon as the boys' handball tournament is over.

Although the tumbling season started with a bang for Marjorie Kruse, it ended with a sprained ankle. This unfortunate accident occurred when she was performing a forward roll (otherwise known as somersault).

Pupils' Poll Shows Frankfort Chances For State Net Title

This is the first column of our new sports poll. Each week your scribe intends to quiz the sporting public of our good alma mater pertaining to some pertinent sports question of the week. This week we decided to really get down to business on this basketball question. We asked this question in this week's poll, "Besides our state champs which team looks like the team that has a chance for the state title."

After quizzing about two hundred students, an equal number of boys and girls; we found that the Hot Dogs from Frankfort have won a notch of admiration in the hearts of Archers, as the Frankfortites were picked by over forty per cent of those quizzed. Frankfort has beaten our Archers once this year, that was the Hammond holiday meet. Last Friday night the Hot Dogs defeated the Jeffersonville Red Devils by some twelve points and appears to be plenty tough.

The second choice team was Johnny Wooden's Central of South Bend five. The South Benders are small in size but their real offensive weapon is their speed. The South Bend boys beat Elkhart on last Friday night by a score of 35-28, establishing themselves as a real threat. Jeffersonville Red Devils, despite their 40-28 loss to Frankfort, are still tops in southern basketball.

Hammond Is Fourth

Hammond's Wildcats are rated at fourth and justly deserve this rating, as Chet Kessler has developed a strong five around big Wally Ziemba this year. The Happy Hunters (?), from Huntingburg, until last Friday night possessors of nineteen straight wins are the fifth choice. Mitchell, a small country team which has won about five games, tripped up the Hunters by about fifteen points. The majority of the selections were made for ten teams, which we will call the top ten in the state, that is, not forgetting for a moment our Archers. The teams in the order of their ranking according to the poll are as follows:

Archer Squad Beats Central Tigers, 31-27

Green In Good Lead At Half; Blue Netters Break Away In Last Quarter Of Game

The Green forces again came off victoriously in a battle with the Central Tigers last week at the Northern gym, with a score of 31 to 27. Four thin points stood between the Archers and defeat as the final gun sounded. Leaving South Side without a doubt Fort Wayne's number one team.

Fourteen points made during the second quarter put the Archers ahead at the half 17-6. Central having gotten away to a slow start came out for blood at the half.

Use Fast Break
Using a fast break, the Tigers kept even with the Archers during the third frame, each team scoring eight points. Hanley shouldered the burden for Central, contributing six of these points, Kulesza breaking loose once for two.

The eleven point lead began to dwindle in the fourth period as the Centralites began to dump them in. First Rice and then Kulesza broke away, going the length of the floor for two points each, before Hamilton and Bolyard got one each to even things up again. H. Talley and Hamilton each netted a foul; Kulesza hit again. Glass pushed up another foul, and Talley drove under with two points for Central. Kulesza let go of another one handed shot which splashed the net just as the gun banged.

The leading scorers of the clash were Kulesza, who got five fielders for ten points, and Bolyard who got nine. Bob Bolyard was on that ball all evening taking rebounds including his own. Hanley played a fine game, scoring a total of seven points for the Tigers.

The Archers were playing deliberate ball, trying to slow down that fast break not altogether successfully. They played good ball until late in the game when they showed a tendency to run with the Tigers. The Tigers were making the most of this opportunity when the game ended.

Archers Will Be Host To Salem Five Tomorrow Night

Green Eyeing Clean Record For This Year

With Only Horace Mann, Gary, On Schedule, Kellys Hope For Clean Sweep.

Opponent Friday In Slump Lately

Downstaters Started Year Strong But Haven't Done Much In Recent Matches.

The South Side Archers' basketball team will attempt to continue merrily on its way toward an undefeated schedule when they tackle Salem at the Southern gym Saturday night. This game will be the Archers' next to last of the season; they still must meet Horace Mann of Gary.

Salem Is In Slump
Salem High School's quintet started out like a house-a-fire this season but faded as the season grew older. Lately the down-state lads have been in a bad slump; and, if they fail to snap out of it by the time they meet the Archers, the game will be turned into a riot.

South Side, fresh from victorious number 17 and 18, will be vying to go against the out-of-town team. The Archers now are relieved of the strain of the city games and will no doubt more or less coast into a victory. About the only thing that might defeat South Side in their attempt to equal Central's record of winning all regular schedule tilts, is themselves.

Overconfidence is always likely to rear its ugly head and spoil an ambition like the Friddlemen have. The Archers are ripe to get picked off by some small unimportant team, and they will have to guard against a let-down. But anything of this sort is hardly expected and the Green Wave should breeze in to a victory.

Reserves To Play
Undoubtedly several of Coach Friddle's reserves will see action against Salem Saturday night in an endeavor to give them as much experience before tournament time as possible. Coupled with the Kelly Klads fine record and blessed with the advantage of playing on their own floor, South Side is a very heavy favorite to come out on top in the contest.

Captain Bob Bolyard found his scoring eye against Central last Saturday to lead the Archer attack with nine points. With his fine floor work and scoring ability, Salem will have all they can do in holding him down. Just as hard a job will be trying to hold Jim Glass, Carl Hall, Don Beery, and Don Hire under control. One of these boys is bound to be hitting the hoop in style and the South Side score is expected to be well over the 30 mark.

Burl Friddle will probably start his first five with Ralph Hamilton sure to see action a big part of the game.

Frosh Net Participants Receive Activity Points

Freshman basketball being over, many freshmen have piled up additional points toward their letters. Those girls receiving 100 markers are: Ruth Allidaffer, Betty Baker, Peggy Berning, Betty Bligh, Delores Boden, Elaine Boerner, Joan Blum, Orilla Braun, Lois Bremer, Bertha Coudret, Thelma Draper, Joan Druhot, Patricia Ehle, Violet Ehrman, Myrtle Ernst, Peggy Greaney, Thompson Hall, Betty Hargan, Dorothy Hoelle, Betty Kammeier, Neva Kirk, Helen Kraus, Marjorie Kruse, Eleanor Lambert, Betty Littlefield, Marilyn Loomis, Clara Mahey, Kathryn Marshall, Annabelle Masterson, Mary Menze, Le-nora Moyer, Elinor Muntzinger, Delores Murphy, Kathleen Neith, Gloria Orr, Mary Parker, Delaine Rose, Martha May Scheele, Sylvia Sholtz, Patricia Smith, Dorothy Snively, Rosemary Spore, Carolyn Stalter, Rose Stemen, Clara Stephens, Martha Stenler, June Whalen, Norma Whitesel, Jeanet Whetsel, Marjorie Williams, Alice Witte, Betty Wolfe, and Kathryn Zae-gel.

Seventy-five points were earned by: Joan Dutterer, Jean Funk, and Mel-rose Lyons. Those freshmen receiving fifty points are: Catherine Dinkel, Ed-na Grossman, Dorothy Jackson, Dor-othy Lankenau, Wilma Pierce, and June VanPelt.

Archer Newcomers, Withdrawals Listed

Newcomers of late are Delorus Le Favour from Charleston, Illinois, and Gordon Nelson from Champagne, Il-linois. Corine Smith came from Cin-cinnati, Ohio. Joan Thomas has come from North Side, Homer Summers from Lakewood, Ohio, Lavera Bogal from Bremen, Indiana, and Joan Bar-rows from Elwood, Indiana.

Withdrawals are Evelyn Talbot, who went to Baltimore, Maryland, Doris and Oran Marlow went to De-roit. Jean Brandstrator is staying at home. Richard Wass went to Colum-bia City, and Joe Reichert went to Florida. Richard Burhenbuel joined the navy.

Fighting Hard For Victory

Taming the Central Tigers was the difficult task of the South Side Archers last Saturday. Finally accomplished by a score of 31 to 27. Hall (15) and Hines (4) of South Side and Talley (22) are fighting desperately for the possession of the ball.

Grandstand Glimpses

By Bob Martin

Well, they say lightning never strikes twice in the same place. Central disagrees.

Speaking of lightning, the fans in this southern gym of ours had about as much luck following number 21 on the New Albany team as they would have trying to follow the afore-mentioned white streak.

There has been a lot of talk pro and con on the question of having a fieldhouse in Fort Wayne. Some of the reasons for a fieldhouse are that it would seat more people and we could hold bigger contests and draw larger and better nationally known teams. Some reasons against it are that each school has a gym and that such a gym could not pay for itself. What do you think?

How many of you fans can tell exactly what happened on that play in the first half of the New Albany-South Side game when the referee said, "No soup, my lads. It doesn't count. She was out of bounds." For any of you who missed the game, the fans really got up-in-arms about the decision, but the catch of the whole thing came after the game. About 99 per cent of the spec-tators agreed that the referee was right.

Our weekly award to those referees who were forced to call a good, fast game and who called it right.

Speaking of the fans getting in a fighting mood reminds us of the fact that several of our students must be real fight fans, because after our game last Friday night they grouped themselves around the radio sports mike and gave the victors' usual remarks which ran something like this: "Hi, Mom, Hi, Dad be home soon." Their names? Well, we might fur-nish them on request. Maybe.

Ha. This writer noticed something at the game Friday night, and he is very much honored about the whole thing. It seems the cheer-leaders have taken last week's note to heart about sitting on the floor during the game. Thank you, boys; it shows I have one reader at least.

Well, since last week, I've been talking to a band member. He promises faithfully that if you fans will be patient for about two weeks, the band will try to have their arrangement of "Over Hill, Over Dale" down pat. All right, boys, we will wait and see.

This columnist owes an apology. Yes, he must retract a statement in which he stated he saw someone toss paper hats in the bass horn. It seems that after the bass horn was dissected there was no paper to be found. All right, I'm sorry. All I know is that I saw paper disappearing into one of the instruments and I never did profess to know anything about the musical profession.

Are you going to any of the tour-naments? If so you had better buy your tickets in advance. Don't rely on the gate sale.

Fans are funny people. They think they want to leave before a game is over. Then when they get about half way out they stop to see the finish of the game. And you have guessed it—they stop right in front of the spectators.

What do girls come to basketball games for anyway? At any point of the game you can find a group of them down at the coca-cola stand dis-cussing things and stuff that we will keep still about.

Well there goes the final gun and we are through for another week.

Strong Archer Squad Defeats Bulldog Team

Friddlemen Win Over New Albany By Score Of 45-32; Glass Leads The Scoring

The South Side Archers defeated a small but scrappy New Albany team by the final score of 45 to 32. The Champs, sadly off form in the first three quarters, started slowly, trailing the Bulldogs by 7 to 6 at the end of the first period. At the beginning of the second period, big Jim Glass tapped in a rebound to give South Side a lead which they never relin-quished. The score at half time was 18 to 12, and at the three-quarter mark it was 25 to 20.

During the fourth period the Friddlemen broke through the tight New Albany defense to put the game on ice when they scored nine field goals and two foul shots for a total of 20 points.

Halt Green March
Doc Wolfe, a small but speedy guard, and Chet Linderman, sizeable forward, were the big guns in New Albany's bid to halt the Green. These two scored a total of 18 out of their team's 32 points and broke up many Archer plays to keep their team in the ball game for the first three quar-ters. Tiring in the fourth quarter, Linderman and Wolfe showed their value to their team when the Archers started to score freely in this period.

The Archers took 62 shots to get their 19 fielders, but hit nine of their 20 shots in the big last quarter to raise their record early percentage. New Albany got 55 shots to connect 14 times. The Archers flipped seven out of thirteen free throws, with the Bulldogs converting four out of seven charity shots. Only six fouls were called on the Green, against 12 on the invaders, who lost Saylor in the third quarter on personal fouls.

Reserves Play
All of the six Archers used, scored at least one field goal, with Glass set-ting the pace with six baskets. Two Archer reserve teams played in the preliminary game. Outstanding in this game was Byron Gingham, who was playing in his first game, and Keith Spiker, captain of the winning Archer reserve squad.

Farmer Boy Makes Good, Can Be Said Of This Champion

Romeo was a lucky fellow to live at the time he did; for if he would have lived today, he wouldn't have a chance in competing against that very famous Archer, that "Casanova" of the basketball team, perhaps of the whole senior class, John Ched-ester.

Seventeen years ago on a small farm overrun with chickens, this curly-headed bundle of joy was born to the Chedester family. Living near Logansport, John was forced to at-tend a grade school in that city. Feel-ing the strong magnetic pull, John's family migrated to that great dy-namic city, Fort Wayne.

Is In Sports In Grades
Feeling that an elementary edu-cation was necessary in order to en-ter a high school, John attended the South Wayne and Hoagland grade schools here in Fort Wayne. While in grade school, John was an active participant in basketball, track, and softball. Coach Louis Craney was the man who started John on his basketball activities.

After graduating from Hoagland, John entered the portals of South Side. Here John has actively partici-pated in basketball. Curly, as he is known to his teammates, was a mem-ber of the state champion team.

Indiana is the college which he would like to attend, and after grad-uating he does not want to become a coach, but he would like to follow a career in music, singing being his favorite hobby. John today is a member of a choir, doing solo work some of the time.

Likes To Swim
Besides all the sports Chet par-ticipates in, he always enjoys swim-ming and devotes much of his spare time to this sport.

This Kay Kyser fan is also a woman fan, for to quote him, "I like dark-haired, dark-complexioned girls, who are good dancers."

This [woman-killer] (that's what Beesy calls him) enjoys road trips, for every time the team comes home from a game, Chedester has a new girl friend. To date he has a girl in every port: Bluffton, Connersville, Decatur, and Kendallville being only a few of the towns.

Now we present this popular sen-ior A, this boy beside whom Romeo wouldn't have had a running chance, a heart-throb to all the girls, John Chedester.

City Teams Face Concluding Games

Irish Wind Up Season With New Haven; Central To Meet Rich-mond; Redskins To Have Pair

All of the city schools will about wind up their regular 1938-39 basket-ball schedules this coming week-end. The clubs are anxious to finish the schedules and begin serious practice for the tournaments to be held in March. North Side will meet Bluffton and Washington of South Bend over the week-end. Central will journey to Richmond to meet the vaunted Red Devils of Morton High, Friday night. Central Catholic winds up their sched-ule with New Haven tonight.

Central will face lots of trouble when they meet the Red Devils. Rich-mond has developed into one of the best teams in the state and will be heavy favorites to win.

North Side is also in for a battle when the Tribe takes on Bluffton at the Northern court. The Tigers have turned in several good games this season, and if they are hitting, they will cause the Redskins no end of trouble. Saturday will find the Red-skins in South Bend for a game with Washington High. Last year the Nuffmen trimmed Washington by a 47-24 count, but they will not have as easy a time of it this year.

Central Catholic and New Haven will square off in a game tonight that should be a thriller. The game will be played in the new Central Catholic gymnasium. The battle between these two schools has all the earmarks of a humdinger. This game will con-clude Central Catholic's regular sea-son schedule, and they will then pre-pare for the State Catholic Tourna-ment.

The "Ghost" in the Ancient Crucible is Today's most Modern Fuel!

● In 1609 John van Helmont, an alchemist, was bending over his crucible when something strange happened. He described it thus . . . "then the heated crucible did belch forth a wild spirit . . . I call it by the name of Geest." He had discovered gas and had named it because of its intangible quality—ghost or spirit. The test tube has given place to the gas pipe, the crucible to the gigantic gas holder and the alchemist's haphazard experi-ment to the rigorous research of the gas industry. Gas is no longer elusive. Today it is subjected to the most exact control and has become the cleanest, most dependable and convenient of heating fuels.

See And Hear The Dean Of Modern Music, Paul Whiteman

Dictator Of Modern Rhythm, Paul Whiteman,
To Give Fort Wayne Thrill During 3-Days
Stay At Paramount Beginning Saturday

From the time when he was called "Jazz King," to his most modern title, "The Dictator of Modern Rhythm," has come a small boy, who in his youth smashed a half-size violin during a session of hectic practice, who in later years after starting his musical career out with such a bang (and we do mean BANG), has come the superfluous abundance of Paul Whiteman.

Coming to the Paramount Theater this Saturday for a four-day engagement, the United States' only dictator comes straight from a cross-country tour, to bring his thirty-two piece band to Fort Wayne.

Let Himself Go

But in truth, for all his hatred for the violin, Paul literally let himself go, and headed for the nationally known music career that is his today. And coming with him, his entire troupe which appeared on the Chesterfield hour, Whiteman is bringing Joan Edwards, his singing pianist, the Four Modernaires, Charlie Teagarden, Clark Dennis, Roy Bargy and Swinging Strings, Al Gallodoro, "Goldie" and the "Sax-Soc-Tette."

In order to accommodate the avalanche of crowds that are expected at the Paramount, several extra shows are being added to the regular schedule that all Fort Wayne may have the chance of seeing the "Dictator of Modern Rhythm," and hear his band play George Gershwin's now famous classic, "Rhapsody in Blue."

But Whiteman's musical career hasn't always been prominent in his life, so the violin incident proves. For Whiteman, who wanted to play on the sandlot baseball team, but was locked in his room with only his violin for (dis)comfort, turned and smashed the instrument.

Paul Had To Pay

But as for retribution—well, his father forced Paul to mow and cut lawns until the entire sixty dollars meted out and the fiddle had been paid for.

Then again, as Whiteman, was playing in an orchestra conducted by Alfred Hertz, the entire band began playing the "Valse Triste," but Whiteman, with his own individual style soon found himself out of a job. But not to be downed, he organized his own band, scrapping, saving, starving to hold the little group together.

Finally, his nine musicians began rehearsing at the old Potter Hotel in Santa Barbara. And just a few months later his band began playing at the old Alexandria Hotel in Los Angeles. Six months later Whiteman lit from his obscure hotel-catering position to crash motion pictures and radio.

Held Several Positions

Chasing across the continent, he held positions at the Ambassador

Paul Whiteman

Hotel in New York, and then dashed across the Atlantic to London and Paris.

All this happened twenty years ago, but today, through his league of friendship with the late George Gershwin, the "Rhapsody in Blue" remains his favorite composition, as well as the favorite of all audiences that have ever heard the Whiteman band.

Gershwin's and Whiteman's names will probably be linked inevitably together for all the years to come, since so many of Gershwin's smash hits have been featured by the Whiteman troupe. For with Whiteman's first performance in Carnegie Hall, where he played the Rhapsody to a capacity crowd, international critics heralded the combination.

Whiteman's efforts may probably be said to have contained one great medium—that of giving modern music a place in the modern world, and of setting up contemporary music in the hearts of all the world, for there is hardly a port in the world today that does not feature American swing.

Alliance Only Natural

Their alliance should be regarded only natural, for with the dean of modern music combining with the master of modern musical composition a unique combination is attained.

The Whiteman Museum of Modern Music is the greatest of Whiteman's hobbies and occupies a large position in the maestro's schedule. The foundation, established at Williams College in Williamstown, Mass., contains such rare instruments as an 1814 melodeon, an eighteenth century orthocleide, a 1750 bassoon, a monochord dated 1526—fore-runner of the cello, a fifteenth century oliphant, a seventeenth century Tibetan horn and a drum used in the War of 1812.

Included in the collection are old manuscripts and musical scores coming from all type of American composition from colonial days on. Coming from all parts of the country, old organs, and other specimens of instruments have come from various places throughout the country.

Future Of Swing

As for the future of swing, there is only one definite answer in Mr. Whiteman's heart. Coming from an exponent of jazz during the last 20 years, Whiteman believes, that the Blues will currently hit the market after all talk of jitterbugs and hep-cats has died away. "For with the blues," Mr. Whiteman continued, "the individual performer has an excellent opportunity to compose and control his thoughts so that they co-ordinate far ahead of the time the music comes out. With jazz and sweet swing as it is played today, one hasn't a chance or the opportunity to think as fast nor as clearly, since notes are jumbled so much, and are heaped upon one another so fast, that only a harmonious blur comes from the instrument."

"Blues offer the best framework for improvisations. For probably even more important for the permanence of the blues, is the real sincerity and emotion that went into the original lyrics and melodies. In the long run, it will be the most sincere form of American music that will endure."

"Blues offer the best framework for improvisations. For probably even more important for the permanence of the blues, is the real sincerity and emotion that went into the original lyrics and melodies. In the long run, it will be the most sincere form of American music that will endure."

So-Si-Y Holds Party On Valentine's Day

The So-Si-Y membership party was held Valentine's Day. The party was started by singing an appropriate song, "When Love Is Kind." Margery Price, the president, announced that So-Si-Y with U. S. A., is in charge of the decorations for the Tournament Dance, which will be held at North Side. She also announced that there is stationery to be sold. All new girls are to go to room 66 next Tuesday to start their records and to have the purpose of So-Si-Y explained to them.

Alecia Randall gave a dance to the tune of "A Pocket Full of Dreams." She was dressed in "tails" and a top hat. The members were given one fourth of a valentine and had to match it with the other parts of it. The girls then divided in groups and hunted for candy hearts. They then made scrapbooks to be sent to some institution. Refreshments of cookies and punch were served.

Tom Berry Music Offers Full Service To Archer Students

Fort Wayne's largest music store, the Tom Berry Music Company, Incorporated, has been serving the students in their musical needs for the past six years. Mr. Berry and his competent staff of clerks and musicians during this time have been concerned with carrying forward their rhythmic cause in sixteen counties in Indiana and Ohio. Mr. Berry has been responsible for the organization of many high school bands and orchestras in his territory and his results have proved that he is fast becoming one of the leading music merchants in Indiana.

At the store Mr. Berry has a completely organized and able teaching staff for the use of his buyers and students. Mr. Berry stated that his store might be termed as a meeting place for high school and professional music makers. He also said that students of South Side might use his studio for rehearsing at any time.

The company is composed of a band department, a record department (which is complete in every detail even going as far as to furnish one with sound proof booth in which one can hear the recordings of his choice), a piano department, which is run separately by Mr. H. O. Ware, featuring Kimball pianos, and a complete repair service. Mr. Berry carries in his band instrument department Conn, Pan American, and Cavalier instruments.

The latest addition to the already modern equipment in the store is a complete set for recording songs, programs, and other entertainments.

For establishing and furthering the musical interest of Northern Indiana and Ohio we owe a debt of gratitude to the Tom Berry Music Company.

Junior Shooters Hold First Meeting Tuesday

Junior Rifle Club held its first meeting of the semester last Tuesday on the rifle range with approximately twenty boys present. Bi-weekly targets were given and the scores of the first five are as follows: Arthur Longworth, 94; John Craig, 91; Calvin Rose, 90; William Bond, 90; and Fred Pugh, 89.

Other boys who shot and their scores are: Arthur Puff, 87; John Heffelfinger, 87; Don Knorr, 85; Bob Jamieson, 84; and Bill Selby, 82.

Officers for the coming semester will be elected in Room 186 on Wednesday, February 15.

Inter-Club Organization Plans Courtesy Week

At the next session of the Inter-Club Congress, plans will be discussed for Courtesy Week, the first major project being undertaken this semester. Courtesy Week has been an annual project of the Congress to promote courtesy and to make South Side students especially courtesy-conscious during this week in hope that they will retain it throughout the rest of the year.

The other two major projects that will be undertaken later on in this semester are Clean-up Week and Ivy planting. These events are semi-annual and annual activities.

Members are asked to bring the twenty-five cents that is due for decorating the clubrooms in holiday seasons.

O. M. Leonard To Talk At Math-Science Club

Mr. O. M. Leonard of the Charles W. Cole Engineering Company will speak at the Math-Science meeting tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room. He will explain the scientific basis of the new sewage pipe at Hoagland and Rudisill.

Installation of the new officers will be held. The new officers are James Craig, president; Maurine Seibert, vice-president; Emilou Allendorph, secretary; and Eugene Tigges, treasurer.

Richard Buchholz and Bruce Bradbury are in charge of the games to be played. Richard Gerig will be in charge of the musical part of the program.

The club song will be sung to the tune of "The Quilting Party." Refreshments will be served.

Tuesday Is Date Set For Engineering Talk

All junior and senior boys or girls who are interested in engineering are welcome to come to the vocational conference to be held next Tuesday at 3:20. This is the first of a series of conferences to be held this semester. There will be a general talk which will have engineering as its basis. This conference should be both interesting and helpful to any boy or girl who wishes to train for engineering in the future.

Mr. Claude M. Summers of the General Electric Company will speak at the conference. The place will be announced later. Also at the meeting, plans will be discussed for field trips through the factories and for individual conferences to be held later this semester.

Genial Jan Garber, Radio Idol; Is Interviewed By Reporter; Has Very Interesting History

By Bob Martin

Once again your reporter heads back stage at the Paramount, this time to interview the "Idol of the Airlanes," genial Jan Garber, who returned to Fort Wayne for a four-day engagement by popular demand. However, this time he brought an entire new show with him to preview for the Fort Wayne audiences.

Upon finding out the nature of our call he invited us into his dressing room and the interview began. Mr. Garber is five feet six and one-half inches tall, has dark brown hair and grey eyes. His home town is Shreveport, La. However, by the time he was high school age he was living in Louisville, Ky., where he attended high school. From high school he went to the University of North Carolina.

Not His Ambition

Mr. Garber started out to be a lawyer but changed to the general course. His favorite sports are football, baseball, basketball, golf and tennis.

Jan Garber has been in the entertainment business for some twenty years. He plays the violin, but can putter around on about any of the musical instruments. No one is certain just what he will do next. At an interview Friday, he suddenly reached over and took Lee Bennett's pocket handkerchief. This he tore in pieces and passed out as souvenirs. Of course Mr. Bennett was paid in full a few minutes later.

He has had his present band six and one-half years. Their theme song was composed by his first saxophonist, Fred Large, and is entitled "My Dear."

Mr. Garber's singers are Lee Bennett, Rudy Rudisill and Fritz Heilbrann. When we asked Mr. Garber if he had any outstanding musicians in his band, he reflected, "Each man has a part, like a spoke in a wheel, and when one is missing it is very noticeable."

Helen Wiehe, Senior, Takes Speech Honor

Event Includes Declamation, Extemporaneous Talks; All Winners Are Listed

Five Schools Are Included In Meet

Affair Is First Contest Of Its Kind Ever To Be Presented By Speech Group.

Of the five divisions of speech competition offered in the invitational meet sponsored by Wranglers' Club last Saturday, February 18, one, dramatic declamation, was won by a South Side senior, Helen Wiehe. Her selection was "Eyes." Robert Safer, a sophomore, placed second in the same contest with "Beyond the Last Mile."

Both Central and North Side had winners among the final five. Thomas O'Rourke, Central, placed first in the oratorical declamation division. First place in extemporaneous speech was won by William Swager of North Side. Wiley High School students of Terre Haute won ten honors in the divisions of original declamation and humorous declamation.

Announce Winners

Other winners were: oratorical declamation, Margaret Ann Fellows, North Side, second; Jeanne Gumpfer, South Side, third.

Humorous declamation: second place by Wiley High student; third by DeLore Putt, Central.

Dramatic declamation: Robert Safer, South Side, second; Rivah Hassan, Central, third.

Original oratory: Margaret Ann Fellows, North Side, second; Doris Williams, South Side, third.

Extemporaneous: Morrison Miller, North Side, second; Robert Johnson, North Side, and Joyce McAllister, South Side, tie for third.

The two hundred high school students who participated in the meet represented besides South Side, North Side, Central, Elmhurst, and Wiley of Terre Haute. The meet, the first of its kind to be held in Fort Wayne, was devised by Mrs. Dorothy Rieck, speech instructor and Wranglers' adviser, to give South Side students and students of other schools an opportunity to gain experience in the different fields of speech. Fifty South Siders entered the contest.

Act As Judges

Coaches, speech instructors, and judges, speech enthusiasts acted as follows: James Savage, David Heaton, Abe Latker, Richard Teeple, Mrs. Howard Carson, Mrs. Lex Combs, Clarence McNabb, Roy Welty, Frank Corbett, Mrs. Charles Houser, Miss Virginia Kincade, Mrs. Harlan Ford, Miss Doris Magley, Miss Mary, Mrs. D. P. McDonald, Mrs. Paul Stonesipher, Mrs. Lora Spahr, Mrs. Gumpfer, Miss Mary Pocock, Miss Schlegelmich, Sol Rothberg, Carl Cook, Mrs. Benner, Lawrence Warner, and Miss Hall.

Philo Group Holds Patriotic Meeting

Charlene McAtee Gives Speech; Plans For Saint Patrick's Day Banquet Are Continued

"Patriotism" was the theme of the last Philo meeting held February 20. Charlene McAtee gave a talk on the contrast between the lives of Washington and Lincoln. Their education, and public life. Phyllis Branning presented an interesting poem on Washington. The group sang patriotic songs such as "America the Beautiful," "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean," and "America."

Joyce Harwood conducted a guessing contest concerning history events. Lois Roe won the contest and received the prize of a box of cherry flips. Candy was served for refreshments.

The committee for this meeting was Joyce Harwood, chairman, Betty Neeb, Phyllis Geller, Annette Snoko, and Ruth Hoover. For the next meeting Wilma Lagerman is chairman and all the 10A's will assist.

Plans for the Saint Patrick's Day banquet to be held March 6, are continuing. The banquet will be held at the Wayne Hotel. The committees are as follows: program, Margaret Null, Velda Oppenlander, Virginia Shidler, Rebecca Abbott, Miriam Jackson, Donna Lou Foutz, and Pearl Wallen; place, Ella Jo Reed and Joyce McAllister; decorations, Janice Dyer; music, Frances VanBuskirk; reception, the officers of the club.

Wins National Award

Bruce Bradbury

Bruce Bradbury, junior news editor of The Times won first in the nation in the news judgement contests sponsored by Quill and Scroll. He received a bronze creative key for writing. In the advertising division, John Bonisb, advertising manager, received honorable mention from the east central states.

Two Students Win National Prize Contest

Bruce Bradbury, John Bonisb Win Quill And Scroll News, Ad Copy Contest

"Bruce Bradbury, junior news editor, and John Bonisb, sophomore advertising manager of The Times, swept major honors in Quill and Scroll's national news judgment and ad writing contests held recently," it was announced Tuesday afternoon by Miss Rowena Harvey, publications adviser. Bruce was proclaimed one of the contestants ten national winners while John received honorable mention in the East Central States division in the ad-writing group.

Both students won over South Side contestants in the preliminaries staged here several weeks ago, and their entries were selected as Archer winners by Miss Harvey and sent to contest judges at Northwestern University. Results, although announced in "Quill and Scroll, journalistic magazine, were relayed quickly by letter from Mr. Edward Nell, executive secretary of the organization.

Bradbury Awarded Key

A bronze creative writing key was awarded Bruce as a result of his winning. The face of the key depicts a four-column newspaper with a quill slanted across its front, and will remain in permanent possession of Bruce. Being a national winner, he is also eligible to receive the five hundred dollar Quill and Scroll President's scholarship.

Both students were conducted with set time limits of forty-five minutes in which all work was required to be completed. All details of the work were kept secret by Miss Harvey until contestants had entered. Bruce answered several questions regarding news values and listed stories or "angles" which could be covered by the school paper on certain events, while John wrote copy for an ad selling "Whiz-Skiddie" skis.

Is Sixth Win

This is the sixth time Bradbury has won in Quill and Scroll contests, but is the first time he has won a national award or has won in a news judgment contest, while John merited his first award with his entry.

Both students are active in club work, and both are gold-jeweled pin holders on The Times. Bruce was elected chairman of the social council by the junior class, is vice-president of 1500, point recorder for S. P. C., publicity chairman for Philatelic of Fort Wayne, and holds a gold pin with a green bar, co-social chairman for Math-Science, and belongs to Wranglers, Latin, Social Science, Radio Players, and Extemp of which he is an honorary member. John is a member of the sophomore class, is sergeant-at-arms of Wranglers, belongs to S. P. C., is an underclassman picture agent for The Totem, and plays on the Archers' football squad.

Classes Are Told Of Housing Plan

Mr. J. B. Essig, Mr. William Hall Talk To Classes About Fort Wayne House Authority

Mr. J. B. Essig, executive secretary of Fort Wayne housing authorities, gave a talk on work of Fort Wayne housing to the sixth and seventh period classes of government and sociology February 22. Moving pictures of housing projects were also shown to the social study classes during these periods. Mr. Essig and Mr. William Hall, chairman of Fort Wayne housing authority, are familiar with low cost housing of the types that are being carried on in Fort Wayne. The Fort Wayne housing authority is conducting an experiment in the low cost of housing which is attracting attention all over the United States. The Fort Wayne Housing Authority has just completed the construction of fifty houses and is hoping to receive permission to build one hundred more houses built on the same plan. These houses cost approximately nine hundred dollars, and rent for two and one-half dollars per week. At the present time they are rented only to families whose incomes are sixty dollars per month or less. Mr. Essig and Mr. Hall have been working tirelessly to bring the possibilities of this type of housing to the attention of the public and to make it a success.

Ticket Selling For Tournaments Starts Monday

Cash Orders Will Be Taken In Home Room Period; Tickets To Come Tuesday

Students Offered First Opportunity

Give Season Ticket Holders Second Choice; Turn Sale Over To General Public.

By Mr. R. Nelson Snider
On Monday, February 27, the tickets for the Sectional, Semi-Finals and Finals will be placed on sale in South Side according to the schedule announced last month. The tickets for the sectional will be here and will be issued as sold.

Orders for the semi-finals tickets will all be provisional. There is a very small group of sure tickets for the finals, and other orders will have to be provisional. Orders for regional tickets will not be taken until the following Monday, March 6, and these we shall have only in case South Side wins the sectional. Money must accompany all orders.

All students must go to their home rooms Monday morning as usual. The orders for sectional tickets will be placed in the home rooms, and the money paid there. The tickets will be delivered there Tuesday morning. Students who wish to place orders for the semi-finals and final tournaments will be sent at a specified time to the place where the orders for these are being taken, and will be given an opportunity to place their orders before outsiders.

Parents and other supporters of our athletic teams will be given numbers when they come to place orders, and will be sent to the gymnasium by student assistants. They will be sent to the office in small groups to place their orders, so that there will not be a "jam" in the halls and at the ordering place.

Every effort will be made to treat all prospective orderers fairly, with students of South Side having first chance, holders of season athletic tickets next, and the general public next. It will be impossible of course, to satisfy all the requests for tickets. The largest number of state tickets which we could secure is six hundred fifteen, and there probably will be three thousand requests for this number.

Sport Club Drubs South Side Riflers

Fort Wayne Club Beats Archer Squad 487-484; Wayne Bastian High Point Man For Kelly

Last week the South Side Rifle Club held a match with the Fort Wayne Sport Club at the range. This match was a return match, the other match having been held in December of last year, which match the Archer riflers captured.

Wayne Bastian led the school team with a score of 99, while K. Hartz fired an equal number for the visitors. The Sport Club defeated the Archers in this match, 487-484. The team scores were:

South Side	Sport Club
Bastian 99	K. Hartz 99
Haugk 97	N. Miller 98
Hageman 96	N. Irmischer 97
Giebel 96	J. Deck 97
Kimble 96	E. Hartz 96

Totals 484 Total 487

At a recent meeting of the Archer Rifle Club, the riflers decided to retain their present officers for the remaining of the year. Robert Hageman is the president of the club. The South Side Rifle Club has had a poor season thus far. They have won four matches, tied one, and lost six. The Archers have won from the following: Arcolia 2, Sport Club, and Sewanhaka, New York. The Archers have bowed to Arcolia twice, Three Rivers once, Fort Wayne Rifle Club twice, Fort Wayne Sport Club, once; the Archers shot a tie match with Elmhurst.

Social Science Makes Plans For Joint Meet

At the Social Science meeting held last night, plans were discussed concerning the joint meeting to be held with the Social Studies Club of Montpelier, Indiana. Plans concerning the state convention to be held in the near future also were discussed.

After the business meeting, Marilyn Wolf, accompanied by Velma Lehman, gave a tap dance. Ruth Bade offered several classical selections on the piano and Velma Lehman gave forth with several popular numbers. After playing a game requiring knowledge of famous people, fudge and ice cream were served.

Wo-Ho-Ma To Have Meet This Afternoon

Wo-Ho-Ma Club will meet this afternoon in the Greeley Room at 3:30. The members are asked to pay their dues as soon as possible.

Mary Teel will give an interesting talk on "Entertainment Yesterday And Today." Peggy Zerkel will sing several numbers. A game called "At A Gesture" will be played. The committee in charge is as follows: Mary Teel, chairman; Helen Wyss and Louise Buesking, assistant chairman; Norma Haley, Clara Long, Mary Vandorfer, Dorothy Snavely, and Clara Belle Squires.

Guard Broken

The guard on the fountain near room 114 was broken last Thursday. The co-operation of all students is necessary to prevent this sort of thing from happening again.

Philatelic Has "Officers Day", Honor Service

Guest Speaker Is Mr. Ralph O. Virts Whose Topic Is Specialized Collections

Installation of officers, the third semi-annual honor service, and "Officers' Day," featured Stamp Club's first meeting of the new semester, held in the form of an evening meeting last week in the Greeley Room. Mr. Ralph O. Virts, a member of the Anthony Wayne Stamp Society, addressed club members using "Specialized Collections" as a topic.

Dave Slattery, president; Jack Virginia Russ, vice-president; Jack Feller, secretary; Norman Fortness, treasurer; Bob Wylie, sergeant-at-arms; William Cartwright, Inter-Club Congress representative; Wilmer Bengs, point recorder, were installed by Bruce Bradbury, a past president who served as an alumni member for the evening.

Boys Receive Pins

David Slattery and Bruce Bradbury became the first members of the club to receive gold pins with green bars for active club work, as granted by the award committee. Both members reached a total of over 1,900 points, the required number for that pin.

Bob Wylie, Melvin Schwartz, Ralph Hurb, and Maxine Hudson received bronze pins for totaling at least 400 points, the minimum for obtaining such a pin.

Turner Leads Game

Edward Turner led a philatelic game in which scenes on stamps, when arranged in proper order, told of George and Martha Washington's second honeymoon. Dave Slattery led community singing.

A skit written, acted, and directed by Carlton Clem and Peggy Zerkel, depicted a brother and sister who were interested in stamp collecting. Miss Martha Pittenger, dean of girls, was present for the meeting as a special guest.

Meterite Initiation To Be March 7

9B's, Others Will Be Admitted Into Literary Society; Committee For Fete Is Named

Meterites will initiate all new members on March 7 at their next meeting. At the regular meeting held Tuesday, February 21 in the Greeley Room, Carol Whittier, chairman, appointed Thompiss Hall, Ionejean Tracht, Lois Bloemker, and May Scheele to act on the initiation committee. Also on March 7 a play will be presented by the following group: Marilyn Loomis, director, Doris Miller, Gloria Kramer, Ruth Hageman, Arlene Perry, Theda Terry, Harriet Will, and Kathryn Kayser.

At the beginning of the meeting last Tuesday, the Totem picture was taken. Meterite songs were passed out later by Ellen Harry, music chairman; several girls of the club led the singing of these songs.

Dorothy Gildea named Alida Eidner the director of the play to be given at the regular meeting on March 21. Her committee are Carolyn McNabb, Marjorie Meyers, Katherine Kixmiller, Lois Bloemker, Coleen Glentzer, Peggy Greaney, Margaret Heine, and Ionejean Tracht.

Tuesday a play entitled "Grandma Pulls the Strings" was presented by the following cast: Grandma Blessington, Betty Ann Bohn; Mrs. Commings, Mary Nell Spiegel; Nona Commings, Mary Elizabeth Turner; Julia Commings, Marilyn Enrich; Hildegard Commings, Phyllis Ann Fager; and William Thornton, Phyllis Strasburg. Others who aided Joan Cartwright, director, were Patty Burns, narrator; and Carolyn Enrich, who obtained the costumes.

Whiteman To Stage Jitterbug Contest At The Paramount

Jitterbugs of Fort Wayne will have their chance to show off their talents when Paul Whiteman returns to the Paramount stage for an additional day Thursday.

Whiteman will conduct jitterbug contests during each performance Thursday. Local "bugs" are invited to enter the contest, which has proved a popular feature of Whiteman's shows during his recent southern tour.

A trophy will be awarded the winning couple. Persons wishing to enter the contest are asked to leave their names at the Paramount box office.

100% Averages Are Received In Four Rooms

Report 1,054 Subscriptions; Other Agents Near Mark Of Perfect Percentage.

Subscription Drive Is Not Completed

Other Groups Near Perfect Mark; Money Collection Is Begun By Agents.

Four home room agents, Beverly Ann Griffith, Dick Aronhalt, Martha Jane Krauskopf, and Kolman Gross, have now attained a perfect percentage in their home rooms. Each of these Times room agents have one hundred percent rooms, and several agents are within striking distance of this goal.

Virginia Goegelein, Nadine Mueller, and Sam Bacon have only a few more subscriptions to get before they too will have one hundred percent rooms. The present circulation campaign has now netted a total of 1,054 subscriptions, and it is expected that some more will be gotten before the present subscription drive closes in a couple weeks.

Gross Is High

All agents have been asked to turn in their book number five, now has as high as possible. Circulation assistants are also trying to get a list of every person in the various home rooms and the reason they haven't subscribed.

Kolman Gross, circulation assistant for book number five, now has the highest book. His book has a total of more than two hundred subscriptions.

Only one other change has been made in The Times circulation staff since a new agent, Bob Jamison, and a new assistant, Dick Aronhalt, of book number two, were appointed. This change was a new agent, Anna Anderson, in room 190. It is possible that several more changes may be made.

Collections Start Soon

In a short time, when the present campaign closes, the energies of the entire subscription staff will be turned to the work of collecting the money due on promissory notes.

At the present time all agents who are anywhere near a hundred percent home rooms are trying to get outside subscriptions to take the place of home room subscriptions. These outside subscriptions have raised the percentages of the various agents considerably.

Candy bars have already been given to the people in the rooms with one hundred percent. Candy bars will also be given to all the students in any other rooms to get one hundred percent.

Math-Science Club Has Guest Talker

Mr. O. M. Leonard, Engineer, Gives Talk About New Sewage System In Fort Wayne.

Mr. O. M. Leonard of the Charles W. Cole Engineering Company was the guest speaker at the first meeting of Math-Science Club for this semester last Friday night, February 17, at 7:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room.

Mr. Lloyd Whelan gave an explanatory talk on the ritual of the installation of officers. A brief skit, "The Installation of Officers," was then given by Kenneth Warren as "The Spirit of Mathematics," Mr. Lloyd Whelan as "The Spirit of Science," and Miss Adelaide Fiedler as "The Spirit of Mathematics."

Maurine Seibert then took charge of the program. Mr. Leonard gave an interesting talk on the sewage system under way in Fort Wayne.

The club song was then sung with John Magley leading and Richard Gerig playing the piano to the tune of "The Quilting Party."

Dick Buchholz had charge of the games that were played. Then the members were split up in four groups, and each group gave a play.

Refreshments were served, and the meeting was dismissed.

Those teachers who were present were Miss Mabel Thorne, Miss Hazel Miller, Miss Adelaide Fiedler, Mr. Maurice Murphy, and Mr. Lloyd Whelan.

So-Si-Y Members To Entertain Hi-Y

Group To Have Contest Of "Information Please"; Miss M. M. Pittenger To Be Speaker.

Hi-Y will be the guests of So-Si-Y at their next meeting, Tuesday, February 28, in the Greeley Room at 3:30. A form of "Information Please" will be held with six boys from Hi-Y and six girls from So-Si-Y participating. The topic will be "Friends." The girl participants in this contest will be Velma Connert, Ruth Ellison, Dixie Lee Hanna, Audrey Jefferies, Dorothy Karnap, and Helen Wiehe. As a conclusion to this panel, Miss Martha Pittenger will sum up what had been said. Songs will be sung under the direction of Rosella Koehler and refreshments will be served. A stunt will be given by the members of the committee, and they will also be the hostesses. The committee consists of Beth Ellen Chadwick, chairman, Mildred Brett, Carolyn Schueler, Bernita Gregory, Mildred Franz, Marjorie Nolt, Helen Fry, and Helen Leupke.

Plans are being continued for the Tournament Twirl, the annual tournament dance. It will be held after the last game on March 4, in the North Side cafeteria. The price will be 25 cents. U. S. A. and So-Si-Y are in charge of decorations.

Committee Chairman

Max Magner

Max Magner is general chairman of the Inter-Club Congress committee that is executing plans for Courtesy Week which will start February 27, and last through March 2. Each day next week three pupils will be recognized for some feat of courtesy which he or she has performed.

Club Pictures For Yearbook Are Continued

Totem Room Agents Will Be Selected; Assistant Circulation Managers Listed

Club pictures will continue to be taken tomorrow night and also next week after school in room 170 as they have been scheduled. To date 22 clubs have had their pictures taken for the 1939 Totem.

Today, during the fifth period at 12:50 the English teachers will be photographed in the library.

The Totem is starting a new campaign for an additional 300 subscriptions which will make the 1939 goal 1,200. The agents will be chosen from the home rooms rather than just from the senior class.

Choose Circulation Assistants

Six assistant circulation managers have been chosen from among the seniors. Each will be in charge of agents from home rooms. The agents are Dick Buchholz, Kitty Clinard, Phyllis Dayner, Helen Wiehe, Ruth Bade, and Lilias Patton. They were selected because they sold the most subscriptions in the Totem's original campaign.

This campaign is to be an individual one rather than a mass drive. No home room speeches will be made; but each student will be personally contacted.

Name Club Writers

Tomorrow, February 24, all club stories are due in the Totem office. The first story that was handed in was written by Max Mitchell about football activities. Other agents and the clubs they will write up are as follows:

Archery, Irene Kirk; Booster, Lois Rea; French, Jeanette Warren; 1500, Janie Weir; Extemp, Ed Reeves; Forum, Mildred Thayer; Inter-Club Congress, Aftac Roach; Girl Scouts, Woody Bloemker; Hi-Y, Dick Buchholz; German, Mary Melching; Lettermen, John Chedester; Latin, Gwen DeWees; Library, Helen Banks; Marionette, Lillian Sherbondy; Meterite, Margaret Wittmer; Math Science, Betty Kinley; Music, Ruth Bade; Philatelic, Jack Feller; Philo, Betty Neeb; Public Speaking, Joan Reese; S. P. C., Helen Wiehe; Social Science, Betty Daniels; So-Si-Y, Dorothy Gerdom; Service, Velma Lehman; Times, Margery Rapp; Travel, Elaine Bernstein; Totem, Esther Selzer; Three E's, Ruth Bade; U. S. A., June Enoch; Wranglers, Virginia Shidler; Wo-Ho-Ma, Marjorie Funk.

P-T-A.'ers Frolic At Winter Affair

Large Group Attends Annual Event; Attendance Prizes Are Awarded To Twelve Present

A large group of parents and teachers attended the annual P-T-A Winter Frolic. It would seem from all reports that our elders conducted themselves quite well, with only a few exceptions. The occasional outbursts of misconduct were very well handled by the ever-watchful bouncers, the P-T-A. G-Men, whose duty it was to preserve dignity and prevent rowdiness among our parents and teachers.

The parents and teachers were served coffee and doughnuts in the cafeteria by the hospitality committee headed by Mrs. G. B. Bollman. Those who were awarded attendance prizes were Clyde Pierce, Ida Arick, Mrs. E. Bradley, Mrs. Donald Pens, Mrs. Dorothy Gardner, Mrs. Ward O. Gilbert, Mr. C. W. MacKay, Ray Swinehart, Mr. W. S. Koenig, Mrs. E. Auer, and Mr. and Mrs. S. Parkinson.

Mr. John Bostick, president of the P-T-A., Mrs. John Brooks, program chairman, and Mrs. Arthur Rimmel, chairman of the ways and means, wish to thank Miss Blanche Hutto and her decoration committee, the orchestra, comprised of boys attending South Side, Miss Pauline VanGorder, Mr. Fred Bloemker, director of the singing, and Mr. Herbert Siebold, his accompanist.

660 Bars Sold

Ice cream bars led the sale of refreshments at the game last Saturday. A total of 660 bars were sold. This amounts to $33.00. About twenty basketball pins were sold. These were the first time the basketball pins have been sold at the games.

Club Congress To Hold Week For Courtesy

Purpose Of Date Is To Emphasize Courtesy Through Basketball Tournament

Max Magner Is General Chairman

Dick Buchholz Will Give Address Friday; To Explain Method Of Judging Pupils

Courtesy Week will again be sponsored by the Inter-Club Congress, from February 27 through March 2. This week was chosen because of the fact that it's the week which precedes the sectional tournament. The Congress wishes to emphasize courtesy to the referees, and to the opposing teams throughout the tournament, as well as the courtesy which should be practiced in school.

Max Magner was made general chairman of the committee which is in charge of Courtesy Week. Assisting him are Emilou Allendorph, Carl Goebel and Evelyn Kruse. Each night during the week, this committee will meet with the advisers of the Inter-Club Congress, Miss Emma Kiefer, Mr. C. A. Bex, and Mr. A. Verne Flint, to select the most courteous people throughout the week.

To Address Students

Richard Buchholz, president of Inter-Club Congress, will address the students on Friday morning, February 24, concerning the following week of courtesy. He will give the purpose of the week and also tell what will be looked for in the judging of the most courteous people each day.

Max Magner will announce three courteous Archers each day of Courtesy Week. He will also tell exactly what they did to deserve such an honor. The names of these courteous students will not be posted on the bulletin board as has been done in former years. This will avoid the congestion at the bulletin boards.

To Report Courtesy

The members of Inter-Club Congress will be on the lookout for the acts of courtesy throughout the week. Each night they will report to the committee the names and acts of those people who were courteous throughout the day. From this list the committee will pick the most deserving students.

The acts of discourtesy which the Congress hopes that the students will avoid are running and loud talking in the halls and the attitude of the students to the older people who are in authority. The Congress hopes that all students in South Side become courtesy conscious.

Hi-Yers To Attend Y. M. C. A. Meet

Date Is Monday Night, February 27; Before Conference Begins, Banquet Will Be Held.

The South Side Hi-Y Club will attend a conference of the district officers next Monday night. The conference will be held at the Y. M. C. A. and will begin at 7 o'clock. Before the conference begins, a banquet will be held in the Y. M. C. A. cafeteria at 6:30 o'clock.

An interesting program has been planned for this event. Two outstanding speakers will address the conference. Captain Cornish, head of the Municipal Airport, will speak to the boys about "Aviation for High School and College Youths." Mr. Merle E. Carver, state Y. M. C. A. secretary, will also address the group.

Because of the interesting program which has been planned, an invitation instead of just to officers.

An election of officers for the district will be held in the business part of the program. These officers will serve the district for an entire year. Last Thursday at the Hi-Y meeting, Kenneth Erne was elected sergeant-at-arms. He will succeed Bill Riethmiller in office.

The members of the Hi-Y Club who worked in the checkroom at the Salem-South Side game were Bob McKay, Dick Buchholz, Jack Bostick, and Dick Aronhalt. Those who checked at the Winter Frolic were Clayton Jensen, Murray Squires, Bob Jones, Andy Bremer, John Magley, and Dick Aronhalt.

Large Student Number Appear Unconscious Of America's Emblem!

How many of you students of South Side have ever taken a really good look at the American flag which is flying on the flag-pole at the north end of the school building? This flag is on that pole every day during the school week and is always present as a reminder of what all American schools symbolize. The Stars and Stripes have always meant freedom from oppression, and it means the same thing here at our school. Over in Europe and certain parts of Asia the school-children are not allowed to take all of the courses which are offered at this institution and most of the instructors are hired for the purpose of "educating" the students because of their faith to the present regime.

These so-called teachers fill the students full of propaganda instead of solid facts regarding this world of ours. Almost all of these instructors have a warped view of the present international situation, and they impart this same feeling and view-point to their pupils.

We should appreciate the fact that we are able to take a course that enables us to get a wide perspective of present conditions. Our courses and subjects are for our own good and are designed so that we can think and act for ourselves and will not have to have high government officials to tell us what we should or should not believe. Naturally we cannot at the present realize just how lucky we are to attend school during such a period of free-thinking. Most of us would rebel at the type of government and school administration in use in many foreign nations, and rightly so, for no correctly thinking individual would sanction or even allow such a government to gain control of a nation.

It surely is our duty to appreciate and promote the present system of education. In years to come it will become the duty of every true American to think back on these days of unprejudiced schooling and resolve to keep his children going to get their education under the same flag, symbolizing, as always, freedom of thought and press.

Archers! Let's Be Friendly In Spite Of Championship!

In one of our daily papers there recently appeared an article concerning our chances of winning the state championship this year. Such an article as this makes one wonder what the writer had in mind. Could the writer really mean that our winning would change us?

We carried away the state crown last year, and what is to prevent us from taking it again this year? As an undefeated team we've got everything to gain and nothing to lose. The article also inferred that if we were to come out on top again this year we would be even more snobbish which would consequently take away our present friendly attitude.

Perhaps our attitude of proudness seemed to some like an air of snobbishness, but to us it was our way of showing how proud we were to say that we went to the school of champs. If we were to retain this same title this year, let's show the people of Fort Wayne that we are still the same Archers with the same good reputation we have always had.

The best of luck to such a brave and enduring team! Let's again come out on top and show our supremacy in such a manner that others will take pride in saying that the South Side Archers are one team which has something to talk about, but don't seem to change their good reputation just because of their victory. Come on, Archers, it's up to you. Let's show the writer of that article that we can be the same friendly, high-spirited students that we have always been, even though we are the State Champs!

And wasn't it fun, students, the way we delved wholeheartedly not to mention whole-throatedly in the somewhat modified community sing-along which was staged at our regal music assembly?

With the valentine greetings securely posted, Archer fun-lovers watch with anticipatory anxiety the forthcoming student events. Soaring spirits!

And there was the story of the non-Indiana lad who was so dumb he thought South Bend was an exercise.

Swing fans are exuberant! They've found the little girlie's yellow basket. We're lost in the shuffle!

This week's interrogation: "Hmm, wonder what this year's Totem will look like?"

A novel idea has broken out among the students at Sault High. The fad is that everyone is wearing buttons on his clothes. Everyone tries to get the most unusual. Among the cleverest are miniature Mexican sombreros, anchor clips, tiny playing card buttons, dogs, horses, fruit, and such. Clever?—Sault St. Marie, Michigan.

The Sphinx reports that the English classes of Centralia Township High School will see the moving picture version of the "Lady of the Lake." It will be presented free of charge to the student body at an assembly in the near future. The movie is an authentic pictorial version of Sir Walter Scott's immortal poem.—Centralia, Illinois.

The Schiaparelli's of Isaac C. Elston Senior High School modeled the garment they had made in their home economics department. The style show was in the form of a tea. The audience was composed of some food classes.—Detroit, Michigan.

The Allen High School, like us, has installed a new public address system. Each student of speech must learn to use the amplifier properly. Once a week, every one will get a chance to prove his skill as a future radio announcer.—New Orleans, Louisiana.

Along The Clothes Line

In the spring a young man's fancy turns to love, but a young girl's fancy turns to thoughts of clothes. This season there will be no set trends, no musts, no fashion laws. One will not have to wear a straw hat to be chic in 1939. In general, the trends will have a little-girl-look about them.

Coats as well as frocks will be bloused. Numerous pleated skirts, topped by wee, flaring jackets and different interpretations of the bolero will make their welcomed appearance once more. Corseted and pinched-in waist lines are being introduced, and sleeves continue to jut out or up by means of shirtings, gathers, pleats, and padings.

Hats will have more brim and less crown; they will be made of gorgeous fabrics as well as felts and straws. Plaid and velvet ribbons and novel veillings will hold these perky creations in place.

In your suits and play clothes gaiety will persist with stripes, checks, plaids, and also beautiful pastels combined with dashing colors. Use your imagination in selecting and combining the season's shades. Use small fresh flowers or a spray of shining green leaves to adorn the lapel of your suit. In small flowers, you may use violets, pansies, lilies-of-the-valley, or anything that will blend in with your type and personality. For evening the florists are stringing these flowers into necklaces to be worn around the neck so as to enhance a stunning evening gown.

Designers have slipped some feminine frofrou into heretofore, plainly tailored frocks. The collars and cuffs on shirtmakers are hand-embroidered batists edged with lace. Green in all shades is the new color for spring.

Pedagogue Corner

Room 190 houses one of South Side's finest teachers—one who is held in respect and esteem by all students coming in contact with her... Mrs. Herbert Rieke, ace instructor of public speaking.

The public speaking world almost lost Mrs. Rieke's talent, as she has always wanted to be a lawyer; but she finally decided against it and studied for her present profession at Indiana University. After graduation, she went out to Brookings, South Dakota, where she taught for one semester. Mrs. Rieke stated that she enjoyed her stay there, because the people were so friendly and informal. Maybe that is one reason why her classes are so much fun, while the classes are conducted according to Hoyle. Everyone is so much at ease.

Speaking of school, reminds one of tests; and tests reminded Mrs. Rieke of one final exam she prepared for at college in a Shakespearean course. She had to know 100 references, know the source, who said it, and under what circumstances. Well, every day, she would try to recall a few. Finally she came to one, that try as she would, she could not recall anything about it. After much trouble, she found that it was a part of the ritual of her sorority.

Mrs. Rieke said that she has enjoyed teaching high school students so very much and that she has so many funny things happen in her classes. The funniest incident happened in a skit given by Kenneth Carbaugh and Lillian Fishman. In one scene, Kenny was supposed to sit down on a straw hat. With the best of intentions Kenny plopped himself down... not on the hat, not on Lillian's lap, but on a sack of goosy peppermint drops. A good time was had by all.

Cinema Side-Glances Prove Progressive For Moderns

Just what are movies doing for this younger generation? Are they putting ideas into the childish minds of "us young 'un"? Are they improving our lives today? Surely, the movies today are becoming more and more beneficial than entertaining. Can you imagine what we would do without them? I am not necessarily referring to the "products of Hollywood" but to those educational pictures that South Side has the opportunity to present.

We learn so much from pictures—more than we hear perhaps! At least, as much. Do we really appreciate the things we see? Or, do we just accept life today as our due?

Movies Are Educational

But about these "products of Hollywood." They aren't all mush and slush, sensational and glamorous. In fact, all the moving pictures today usually have an educational background. Many movies are concerned with healthful living. You are able to see the proper way to sleep, to brush your teeth, and to take care of yourself in general.

Many pictures have a historical background. Pictures such as "Suez," "Marie Antoinette," "Henry VIII," "Algiers," "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and "The Great Waltz." These pictures help us to understand our history books much more easily. Also what we see will help that which we read to stay with us.

We are unable to completely forget many movies. Especially if our favorite actors or actresses play the parts. Some pictures leave you with a happy carefree feeling toward everything about you. You try to live the part over again with yourself as the heroine or hero. And oh, the things you can imagine after you have seen such pictures as "Little Women" or "Four Daughters." It is pictures like these two that leave you with a sad, empty feeling. You want to cry and laugh at one time. It's very amusing to sit through a sad picture and watch the people around you. Some girls and women blow their noses and dry their eyes, while some actually "boo-hoo" aloud. Once in awhile, you can distinguish a young man, who tries to be a toughy, quickly dry his eyes unobserved. Of course, these sad movies are not so good to see with a date. Afterwards, your thoughts will wander back to the picture, and those too beautiful eyes of yours fill up over the brim. Your date would just love that! Yes, you bet!

People Are Annoying

And then there are those cold-hearted people who, for instance, sit through a picture like "Marie Antoinette" and not shed a tear. Those are the people around whose necks you would like to wind a rope, a good strong rope! Especially those who laugh out loud at an awfully sad part of the picture. It isn't funny; it's rude! Those rude people who sit behind you and relate everything on the screen over again. It's almost as bad to sit with someone or beside someone who talks during the whole picture. You all know people like that!

These polite people are quiet only when their favorite Mother Goose story is showing. Children are brought up the modern way nowadays! They aren't read to; they are taken to the movies to see Donald Duck or Snow White in technicolor. Times are improving.

Whether you recognize the fact or not, the world is rapidly improving generally. By way of the movies you are getting an education via entertainment. One bad thing about it, so mothers think, is that double features are becoming a problem for them. It seems to be difficult to find two good pictures at one time. It's usually a Shirley Temple picture with "Shootin' Jack" (a nice thing for children. Yeh!) Everyone can't be pleased, but remember when you see your next picture to think about the reason it was produced, if any—!

Kelly Koed Kut Ups

Roses are red; violets are blue. Oh for some dirt, my frans, that is new!

For a minute I thought that I was going poetic on you, but common sense came through in time. Anyway, that is all beside the point. I realize that for all your scholastic (?) studies, you can't be dropping dirt in the mailbox all the time just to please me but (and this is important) I think that you could at least put one or two notes in maybe every other week. Now that isn't asking too much, is it? Or is it? And for the dear old dirt column's sake, don't cram the mailbox with notes on the same kids; one note is quite sufficient because I'm not blind. Well, that is enough pep-talk for the time being. Now to get down to the dirt. (Yes, that is what this column is for in case you've been wondering.)

First of all, I want to announce to all that are interested that Bill Bundy and Peg Harrod have finally reached an agreement. In other words, they are going steady. Their close friends have been expecting this event for some time, but I must confess it really surprised yours truly.

Another one for the books is that renewed romance between Lorraine Iba and Bob Bolyard. These two kids have finally come to their senses and realize that they were cut out for each other after all.

At a recent dance Mary Lee Kixmiller had the appearance of walking on clouds and no wonder; 'cause she was accompanied by that flash from North Side, Pete Meyers.

Dick Fishering has recently awakened to the values of Marg McNabb and vice versa. Perhaps they will become a steady couple in months to come.

Elaine Hirschey and Andy Bremer are really hittin' it off in two-four time lately. Which is very good music to the ears. Boy, was that ever corny.

John Magely, the innocent boy of the senior class, has been heard of late singing the praises of none other than Mary Ida Straley. How do you feel on the matter, Mary? Address all replies in care of the dirt column.

It seems that another couple has come into the spotlight. The glorified couple is none other than George Horner and Gladys Hanke. Good luck to ya', kids, if you need it, but I have a feeling that you won't.

Alice Minser is at last getting over her crush romance with Jack Snyser in favor of that cutie, Richard Keel. Dick is a determined lad and is hopeful of forever erasing the memory of Jack from Alice's heart. Keep up the good work, and it won't be long. I'm a thinkin', Dick.

For some reason or other, people seem to delight in giving me dirt and then about the time that it is published, come out with the statement that it all was a big mistake, and tell me that they are very sorry but it won't happen again. At least not until the next time. And then to top it all off, when it does come out, they breeze up to me and demand an explanation for my printing such lies. I suppose I'm just supposed to sigh and say, "Sorry, I realize that it was all my fault" and have the injured (?) person stalk off in a huff. From now on if the dirt you give me won't at least be true for a week, then just keep it to yourself.

May I be the first one to break the good news that Donna Colicho and Gene Cassidy are going steady again after a little trouble. I guess they just like the idea of reconciliation.

By the way, Gene's younger sister, Vivian Cassidy, is really getting around lately. That he-man of the junior class, Dick Warner, has professed quite a longing for the little gal. (And I do mean little.) She's barely over the five-foot mark. But he has a lot of competition in the person of Dick Craig who has for the time completely stolen Viv's heart.

What Would You Do?

It's nearing the end of the first grading period, and we trust everyone is dusting off their brains in preparation for a final last minute spurt toward victory. So, while you're in top condition, sink your teeth into the following brain teasers.

Editor's Note: We will not be held responsible, if you follow our answers and are not entirely satisfied with the results. Anyway, here goes!

- If you hear your teacher say that she will give no final mid-semester test the next day, you should:
 - Go to an ear specialist immediately.
 - Report your teacher to the school board that she's slipping.
 - No wonder! Tomorrow's Saturday. ('Taint funny, teacher.)
- If it is spring, and if you are walking with your best girl, and if you come to a ditch in the road, you should:
 - Get her a pair of galoshes.
 - Lay her coat in the puddle, so that you won't spoil your shoes.
 - Turn around and go back—that's not a ditch, that's the St. Mary's River at low tide.

Wee Sketches Of Our Big People

By Jeanette Warren

When the news that histories of the outstanding senior gentlemen were wanted spread abroad, there were many applications. Among the young men that placed themselves at our disposal for questioning was wily Willie.

Mr. William Newhard holds membership in Wranglers', Booster, Service, and Latin Clubs. He is president of S. P. C. and ex-president of Travel. Willie is sergeant-at-arms in Library, home room agent for The Times, and agent for The Totem. The queer combination of lemon pie and ice cream is his idea of food super-deluxe. Public speaking and government are his favorite subjects. Hal Kemp's version of "My Reverie" is ace high in his estimation, which may or may not have anything to do with the fact that he likes to dance and sing. Mickey Rooney and Priscilla Lane place first in his top-ranking stars poll. "Too Hot to Handle" was ace-high among movies this past year, thinks he.

Should a beaming-faced usher greet you with "This way please" at the Palace some evening, you can be fairly certain that it's Mr. Newhard—And oh, yes, among other things Willie is a bow-tie adherent.

He avers that he has aspirations to be a lawyer, but is skeptical as to developments along this line. He came all the way from Georgia to attend our dear old South Side High, in his sophomore year.

Pro and Con

Much ado about something seems to be moving around the school. The "something" concerns music assemblies. The "to do" seems to be among the students and the faculty. It has been a long established custom of courtesy to be attentive and respect the right of others when something which is for the interest of all is in session. From the results of the conduct at the music assembly last Tuesday, it seems that this custom has lost its clench on South Side.

An important question which concerns the furtherance of music assemblies is by the showing of better conduct on the behalf of the students, or the immediate discontinuance of them because of lack of co-operation on the part of the students.

Which shall it be, students? Mr. Pro and Mr. Con seems to have quite a good deal to say on the question.

PRO—

Such music assemblies as we have had in the past are the fruits of many long hours of practice and the supervision of a leader who knows how to build a band that South Side can be proud of.

When they display their talents, the least the students could possibly do is show attentiveness. The last assembly was very fine, but what did the students do? A continuous hum of voices could be heard from all corners of the gym. Is this the way to show your appreciation for the performance of the band members?

Other high schools can boast of their well-known bands, but South Side can only boast of hers if we do our best to keep order while the assembly is going on.

Such assemblies are a means of making the school life more enjoyable. They are intended for a purpose of taking away the cut and dried routine of the students and make them see that school life is interesting.

CON—

Mr. Con says that music assemblies should not continue if the students do not appreciate them any more than they do at present. To some students music assemblies mean the mere getting out of some of their class work.

It we are not careful, some day the music assemblies will be cut so short there won't be anything left of them. They will continue to be cut more and more if the students do not take a greater interest in them. If music assemblies are boring to you, before you start a conversation with your neighbor, in an attempt to take your mind off of the music, why not first think if there might not be some one sitting near you that appreciates what the band has accomplished and desires to give his fullest attention to that which is going on.

Girls! Raise Yourself In Estimation Of Boys By Fault Corrections

Boys are just as gossipy as girls. A fact proved by the girls and even admitted by the boys. All the lads and lassies of today converse on the subjects of clothes, dates, money, technique and personalities. In these conversations names of girls and boys are slung right and left. Not only good about the people brought into these discussions is conversed. Boys talk about the girls, just as the girls do about the boys. So, girls, if you do not wish to have your name included as a topic for conversation, you must attain a higher place in his estimation. Here are a few hints on what the average boy expects of girls.

A boy expects—well a lot of things, but there are a few of his expectations which stand out above all others. And here they are. Any girl who commits herself to loud roars of laughter or a series of giggles is sure to be disappointed of. Boys appreciate a certain amount of cosmetics, girls, but don't over do it; because you'll be sure to acquire the name "lipstick lol" or "plaster face." When he has called to ask you for a date, he expects you to be on time. How would you like to keep up a conversation with his parents for an hour or two? And during your date, if you want him to ask you for another one, be agreeable, congenial, pleasant and make him feel that he really is someone and that you are enjoying yourself and like his company. Wear clothes that you think will please him and look your best so that he will think you really wanted to go. Be original. When he asks where you would like to go to eat, don't say "anywhere" or "wherever you want to." He wants some suggestions. Give him some, and if he doesn't like them, it's his fault, not yours. Be lively, peppy, gay and care-free. After a week's drudgery in school, he wants something that's fun, and you're it if you want to be. Use your best manners. And, girls, boys don't have the title "the stronger sex" for nothing. Make him feel that he is strong and masculine. But don't imply "you great, big, handsome, strong hero you." Boys despise that type. Admire his clothing. When he escorts you to the door, tell him you had a swell time; and if it isn't too late, ask him in a little while. That is... providing you did have a good time. And then comes a question which has been discussed over and over... "Must a girl play up to boys to gain popularity? Do boys like their girls to be forward? Younger sets all over are facing this problem with troubled minds.

Since this question is so important, this column will be devoted entirely to answering some of these questions in the next issue. You can take the advice or leave it which ever you choose to do, but here's hoping that it will help someone solve his or her problem!

For Real Physical Gains Why Not Hold Jam-Fest?

Despite the fact that South Side already has a total of five varsity sports, it seems that another one could be added to the present athletic curriculum. This new sport would involve competition with both boys and girls from parts far-reaching.

Let us approach the subject of this new varsity sport. The purpose of this sport, which will be revealed to you in due time, is to give the competitors the best possible exercise. It gives every bone and muscle in the body a working out and has done lots, good or bad, we can't say here, for many people.

Concerning requirements for competition it seems that every student, rather everyone in this school since most of them aren't students, can enter the sport, which is jitterbug dancing.

Yes, jitterbug dancing, admittedly one of the toughest sports ever opened for universal competition. If you have heard the wild tales, and who hasn't, telling how much modern dancing has done for gran'ma's rheumatism and grandad's neuritis, you can readily see what a boon it will be for this institution.

And, plenty of people are already in training for this new sport so that regular practice can begin immediately for the persons who want to brush up on the essentials of apache dancing. It is the hearty opinion of this crackpot that if jitterbug dancing could be added to South Side's sport department, our school could get a name and a lot of exercise.

Oh, well, it was an idea.

It seems rather difficult to imagine that in such a short, short duration of time, another crop of senior Archers will be preparing to take their enduring ways out into the world. Here's to your hearty successes!

Incidentally speaking, have you subscribed to the best high-school newspaper in the United States? It's not too late, school-spirited people, you can still be one of the lucky paper recipients.

All public speakers are still talking, with utmost enthusiasm, the past-gone invitational speech meet. Or- this to you, Mrs. Rieke!

Archer Squad To Face Horace Mann In Week-End Tilt

Clash To End Season's Stage Of Net Games

Affair Will Be First Game Ever Played With Horsemen; Meet To Be Friday.

Kellymen Eyeing Unbeaten Schedule

Coach Burl Friddle Is Expected To Use Same Line-up As Used In Last Tilts.

South Side's state championship Archers will attempt to make it fourteen in a row tomorrow night when they take on Horace Mann of Gary in the Southern gym. A victory would give the Archers their first undefeated season in the history of South Side and would give Coach Friddle an undefeated season number two, having accomplished the feat while at Washington.

This will be the first meeting of the Archers and the Horsemen and should prove to be an interesting spectacle. The Horsemen have had an in and out season but have shown remarkable ability at times and should give the Archers a good game. Gary teams have always been tough for the Archers, this year's Probel squad being barely beaten 32-31.

The last appearance of a Horace Mann squad in the Summit City was during the holiday invitational meet which was held at North Side two years ago. The Horsemen gave a fine account of themselves drubbing both Kokomo and the famous Central "Light Brigade." The Gary boys would like nothing better than to pick off another of Fort Wayne's highly-touted aggregations.

Boyard, Hall Lead Defense
Coach Friddle's charges have been playing a lot of basketball recently, their last triumph being a 45-19 affair with Salem. Bob Boyard has been going like a house on fire to lead the Green and White in recent contests. Against Salem Bob got himself 10 points while playing his usual bang-up floor game. Carl Hall also had one of his "on" nights against Salem. King Carl hit four fielders during his 16 minutes of play to spark a third quarter onslaught which left the visitors helpless. Another encouraging feature of the Salem game was the air-tight defense as set up by the Green and White, holding Salem to a scant 19 points. If the Archer marksmen, backed up by this fine defensive play, can continue to hit, the Friddlemen should have little trouble with the visiting Horsemen.

Coach Friddle has stuck pretty well to the same starting lineup throughout the current season and in all probability the same, comprised of Boyard, Hall, Glass, Hire, and Beery, will take the floor tomorrow night. Ralph Hamilton and Bob Hines should also see some action and if the Archers can pull away the rest of the first ten should get themselves a little pre-tourney practice.

S.O.M.A.C.'s In Top-Heavy Wins

Defeat Black Hawks, Spikers By 22-9 And 23-12 Scores; May Take Championship.

Five games were played in the intramural basketball loop last week. All of the games were run-aways for the victors, and none of the games produced any spectacular play. In the heavyweight division it appears as if the strongest club is the S.O.M.A.C., however, the Black Hawks, Thugs and several other fives have a good chance of whipping the S.O.M.A.C. as the runner-ups. These same two teams are favored to meet in the playoff this season. In the lightweight division it appears as if the Panthers and the F.O.P.'s will battle for the title.

Two games were played in the heavyweight division last week. The S.O.M.A.C.'s won both of the contests played, whipping the Black Hawks and Spikers. The Hawks, Thugs and Spikers by a score of 22-9 and crushed the Spikers 23-12. Ralph Colicho hit five field goals in each contest to lead the winners offensively with twenty points. Three games were played in the middleweight division, with the F.O.P.'s holding the spotlight. They whitewashed the Tigers 21-0, Brower and Stolte each hitting four field goals for the winners supplied the needed offensive punch. The F.O.P.'s had little trouble in disposing of the Pineapples, winning 18-9. Dallas Zuber hit five field goals to lead the victors. In the other middleweight game the Panthers trimmed the Musketeers 10-2. Sprunger and Schafer each hit two field goals to lead the Panthers. The box scores of the games are listed below:

E. J. Unthank Leads Inter-Racial Assembly

The assembly that was held on Monday, February 21, 1939, was led by Mr. Edgar J. Unthank, Mr. Unthank, who is head of Wheatley Center presents his program annually in connection with Inter-racial Week. The idea behind Inter-racial Week is to have a better understanding between the races of the world. On his program Mr. Unthank presented a soloist and a speaker. Mrs. Kathleen Scott sang four numbers, including "Ave Maria," "I've Got A Home In That Rock," "With All My Heart," and a spiritual, "The Prayer." She was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Golda H. Jones. The speaker for the program was Attorney Nathaniel W. Hudson, who spoke on the problem of races. Our principal, Mr. R. Nelson Snider, arranged for the program.

Archers Take Salem Quintet To 49-19 Tune

Nineteenth Win For Green; Carl Hall Is Inserted In Tilt, Scores Seven Points

The South Side Archers kept rolling merrily on their way when they drubbed a hard fighting Salem team by the score of 45 to 19. This was the Archers' nineteenth victory in a row in their regular season schedule and they have but one game left to equal the record the great Central team of a few years back, established when they won all of their regular seasonal games.

Hall, Boyard, Beery, and Hamilton all hit their stride and jolted the Salem Lions, a bolt which was heard throughout the state. Playing before a near capacity crowd at the southern gym, the Archers were never in serious trouble with the exception of the early moments of the first period when Salem held a 4-1 advantage.

After three minutes of the first quarter were gone, the Green five began to go places when Boyard and Hamilton hit on two baskets apiece to put their team ahead at the end of the first quarter by the score of 9-4. Bennett, sensational freshman from Salem, made three points to make it 9-7, but the Friddlemen hit quickly and were ahead 16-7 at the main intermission.

It was not long before South Side had built up a substantial lead of 23-8 in the third quarter when Carl Hall, ace Archer forward, was inserted in the game. Many of the fans were pulling for Hall to regain his old form, so he can lead the Green in tournament play, and they were not disappointed when he immediately scored 7 points and gave his team an overwhelming lead of 33-11 at the end of the third quarter.

The champs kept moving in the final period with Beery hitting for two fielders, and Hall, Boyard, and Hamilton all getting a basket each. The Archers took 71 shots at the basket to register their 18 field goals while the Salem five needed 48 attempts to hit their seven baskets. South was a bit more accurate at the free throw lane than the Lions, icing nine of 12 attempts while Salem tossed in 5 out of 9.

DIONNE QUINTUPLETS HAVE TONSILS AND ADENOIDS SURGICALLY REMOVED W H Y ?

The tonsils and adenoids were in "a chronic state of inflammation" which accounts for the enlargement of the cervical glands.

This enlargement of the neck glands is palpable evidence that the infection was spreading and that any time may get into the whole system, producing disastrous results such as involvement of the heart or joints, or even a severe generalized infection with death.

The above statements were made by the physicians in charge of the quintuplets.

I have repeatedly stated to patients and parents of children the danger of this infection: abscessed ears, mastoiditis, deafness, organic heart disease, and rheumatism begin with infection in the throat. Improvement always follows the complete removal of infected tonsils. The "blunt instrument" no cutting, no hemorrhage method is the only sensible method of completely removing tonsils. It produces the least injury, minimum of shock, the cleanest and most normal throat.

Basketball Points Awarded By G.A.A.

Eight Senior Girls Are Presented 100 Points Each; Sophomores Had Most Recipients

Last Friday evening, the basketball season for all G.A.A.'s came to a climaxing finish. This favorite sport is over for another season—a fact which most G.A.A.'s deeply regret, especially the seniors.

The seniors who received 100 points for participating in this sport this season are: Bloemker, Connert, Perry, Price, Roberts, Scheele, Schelper and Sprunger. Those who received 75 points are: Carrter, Lyman and Sholwatter. Schubert, Wittmer and Franz each received 50 points.

The juniors who received 100 points are: Perry, Beyrou, Derck, Dickmeyer, Doehle, Feichter, Goeglein, Hall, Hermann, Hudson, Hoover, Jarvis, Meneffe, Mutschlechner, Morrison, Neith, Rarick, Scheuman, Seibt, Ulrich, Werling and Zaegel. Marquardt earned 75 points. Fifty points were earned by Allen and Feichter. Those girls who earned 25 points are: Bridges, Dygert, Hoffman and Schelper.

The sophomore class had the greatest number of underclassmen playing basketball. All the girls in this class who received 100 points are: Baumgartner, Bender, B. Brower, M. Brower, Calkins, Campbell, Deel, Dunten, Ellenwood, Ferguson, H. Fry, Furkman, Gross, F. Gumpfer, L. Gumpfer, Harkman, Hart, Holzworth, Kensler, Lyman, S. Makey, Mann, Medsker, Meyer, Micklefeld, Nash, Porter, Pressler, Schoenherr, Shimer, Smith, Sondles, Squires, Staley, Stein, Sterling, Thiele, Voltz, Weston, Wylie and Lahman. Seventy-five points were earned by the following: Demetree, Jackson, Krauskopf, Lebamoff, Martin, Merkel, Nichols, Schubert, Sheets, Sleigh, Worf, Hanke, Harrod and Hess. Those who received 50 points were Hirsche, Sappington and Galbreath. The sophs who earned 25 points each are M. Fry, Mischa, Van Curen, Murchland, Wiebke and Feichter.

Wranglers Club Plan Initiation For Monday
Announcement has been made by Mrs. Dorothy Rieker, club adviser of Wranglers' Club potluck-initiation to be held February 27. Initiates and club members who wish to attend are asked to sign by tonight in room 190. The committee on initiation has not yet been selected. Similar to former ones, the initiation will be both serious and humorous.

Sophs Annex Court Crown From Seniors

Second-Year Team Wins 5-1; Champs Defeat Freshmen; '39'ers Oust Juniors

The sophomores were elevated to champs and the seniors dropped with a thud by a score of 5 to 1 from their undefeated status in thirty minutes last Friday evening. Sportsmanship and clean fighting as well as fine basketball characterized this super-tilt, with each girl who played putting everything she had into the game.

The sophomores took possession of the ball at the beginning of the contest, and largely controlled it throughout the game. An explanation of this fact might be the sophomore's tall forward, Margarite Calkins. The half ended with the champs ahead 3 to 0.

Perry Converts Toss
The seniors were saved from utter defeat by their captain, Hazel Perry, who converted a free throw in the last minute of the game, making the final score 5-1.

The sophomores who compose the honor championship team are Nash, Dunten, Bender, Smith, Martin, Gross, Thiele, Fry, Lebamoff, Wylie, Sterling and Calkins. Those on the defeated senior honor team are Bloemker, Connert, Lyman, Perry, Price, Roberts, Schelper, Schubert, Sholwatter, Scheele and Sprunger.

Friday evening's entertainment was triple featured, the other two tilts on the program being semi-final games between the sophomores and freshmen on the north court at 3:30 o'clock and between the juniors and seniors on the south court at 3:30 o'clock.

Defeat Frosh Squad
The sophomores defeated the freshmen in a close game, the score being 6 to 3 at the half and 10 to 12 at the end. Officials for this game were referee, Fry; umpire, Galbreath, and scorer, Squires.

The junior-senior game looked close at the half when the score was tied at 4-4. But soon after the beginning of the last half, the seniors let loose and began firing for the basket. Sholwatter converted two and Perry one. At the end of the game the score stood 8 to 12 in favor of the victorious seniors. Officials for this game were referee, Eisenschlager; umpire, Kelsa, and scorer, Pressler.

The freshman honor team was composed of Boerger, Ernst, Hargan, Littlefield, Makey, Menze, Moyer, Neith, Orr, Rose, Scheele, Spore, Stemen and Stephens. The junior honor team follows: Derck, Jarvis, Feichter, Hall, Marquardt, Neith, Werling, Scheiman, Rarick and Meneffe.

Service Club members are asked to sign up in the study hall in the northwest corner by Friday, the 24th.

Committees have been chosen and appointed by Ruth Kaiser who is in charge of all arrangements for this affair. The program committee consists of Doris Siebold, chairman; Evelyn Kruse, Dorothy Bloemker, Eleanor Kneller and William Newhard.

Eileen Hoffman is chairman of the menu committee. The girls assisting her are Helen Paux, Phyllis Branning, Velma Lehman, Kathleen Ramer and Emilou Allendorph.

The committee in charge of making and distributing the invitations is Alma Korte, chairman; Velda Oppenlander and Velma Connert.

Students Send Notices
Notices were sent to Service workers notifying them as to when the potluck picture would be taken. Students that assisted in making and sending these notices are Betty Showalter, Kathleen Ramer and Ruth Kaiser.

U.S.A. Entertains Recruits At Party

George Washington's Birthday Is Theme; Games, Music Form Major Portion Of Big Program

A Membership Party was given for the new members of the U. S. A. Club last Thursday in the Greeley Room. Games of acquaintance were played. The members were given a hatchet, when the dues were paid. These hatchets admitted the girls to the meeting. Betty Lapp, the music chairman, made these hatchets.

The meeting was carried out in the theme of George Washington's birthday. Telegrams were formed by the beginning letters of W-A-S-H-I-N-G-T-O-N. A short speech was given by Elinor Muntzinger. The title was "A Story of George Washington by an Italian Boy." Refreshments were cookies in the form of hatchets and tea.

Several musical numbers were given by members of the club. Betty Nickols played three numbers on her violin. The numbers were "Mother Nature's Lullaby," "Indian Love Call" and "Alexander's Ragtime Band." She was accompanied on the piano by Betty Lapp. Also Elaine Boerger played "Little Sir Echo" on her violin. Kathryn, her sister, accompanied her on the piano. Betty Lapp played several selections on the piano, while the girls danced.

Miss Elizabeth Kelly was again back with the club. She had been absent from school for several months on account of illness. During her absence Mrs. Grace Welty had complete charge of the club.

Leading Archers Attend Dinner Of Kiwanis Club

South Side students who attended the Kiwanis Luncheon were Tom Gallmeyer, Jim Murphy, Bob Hines, Max Spencer, Betty Daniels, Eugene Schmidt, and Eleanor Vasey, chosen because they are class officers or publications heads. Twenty-one students attended the luncheon representing all the high schools in Fort Wayne, including Central Catholic. The students were all leaders in their schools. The luncheon was held at the Anthony Hotel. It was planned by the Kiwanis Club.

Mr. A. Verne Flint

Mr. C. A. Bex, Miss Emma Kiefer, and Mr. A. Verne Flint are the faculty members who are directing the activities for South Side's annual Courtesy Week, which is sponsored by the Inter-Club Congress and which will be next week. This triplet composes the advisers for the Congress. Under their supervision the Congress will each day select three persons who have been remarkably courteous and will give them honorable recognition over the public address system.

Tom Gallmeyer Gives Speech, German Bund

Is Given For American Legion, Elks Group; About 900 Persons Are Present

Thomas Gallmeyer, a South Side High School student, gave a talk on "The German Bund" at the Catholic Community Center at 8 o'clock Monday evening under the auspices of the Fort Wayne Post, No. 47, American Legion, and Fort Wayne Lodge No. 155, Benevolent, Protective Order of Elks. He recently won the state oratorical contest with this speech and will use it in the national contest.

Between eight hundred and one thousand persons attended the four addresses. The three Legionnaires who appeared on the program were Harold A. Shiner of Newburgh, Indiana Legion commander; Isadore E. Levine, of Laporte, national Legion executive committee member, and the Rev. Harry B. Parker of Delphi.

Mayor Harry W. Baals gave the address of welcome. The Rev. Graham Jordan of the Greater Mt. Olive Baptist Church, gave the benediction. Preceding the program, the Sons of the American Legion Band, gave a thirty minute band concert starting at 7:30. During the band concert the Legion and Elks colors were posted.

William Bond Elected Junior Rifle President

Twelve boys were present at the Junior Rifle Club meeting in room 186, February 15, to elect officers for the semester.

Boys who were elected are president, William Bond; secretary-treasurer, Bob Jamieson; range officer, Dick Trotter; assistant range officer, Bill Selby, and chairman of potluck committee, John Craig.

Judgment Day

Students will be unhappy to learn that the grade periods end Friday, February 24. The U and S grades will be issued Tuesday, February 27.

Archer Airplane Club Holds Inter-Club Meet

Last night in the gymnasium the South Side Airplane Club held its first inter-club contest. There were several different kinds of contests held, and almost every boy present placed among the winners. Some of the different types of planes flown were as follows: gliders, solid models, and gasoline driven type.

The next meeting of the club will be on Wednesday, March 8, in room 46. Any boy interested is invited to attend these meetings.

Not-So-Green Frosh Offer Earnest Hope For Coming Grades

New freshmen B's will be interested to know that a warning of failures will be given on Tuesday, February 27. These warnings are given through the U and S cards. The grade period ends Friday, February 24. U's stand for unsatisfactory work. U's show the students that they will have to work harder or else take the consequences. Students having S's should not take it that they shouldn't keep up the good work.

All the freshmen B's interviewed hoped for their share of S's. Out of the number asked few were a little bit puzzled. The replies given are these:

Janis Tremper—Well, I'm just hoping for the best.

Margaret Meyer—Here's hoping for all S's.

Kathrine Kixmiller—Gee, all I'm doing is hoping.

Carolyn McNabb—I'm praying for no U's.

Mary Louise Dunbar—Still hoping.

Warren Spangle—I hope the teachers feel good on that day and give me all S's.

Robert Welty—Ditto. That goes for me too.

Ellen Motz—I'm going to start praying tonight for all S's.

Martha Greider—So far so good.

Marilyn Gregg—I'm hoping.

Mary Louise Wilson—I'm not quite sure.

Ann Heller—I hope I don't get any U's. I think the U and S system is a grand idea. It shows the pupils where they stand.

Jean Stewart—I've been carrying a rabbit's foot around and keeping my fingers crossed for good luck.

Martha Shimel—Quote, "I think S's are more artistic than U's." Unquote.

Phyllis Clark—I don't like the curve of a U.

Phyllis Strasburg—I hope my grades will be stupendous, gigantic, colossal, and tremendous. (Where's a dictionary?)

Joann Wagoner—All I can do is hope and sit on pins.

Barbara Koenig—I sure hope they're good.

Marjorie Haller—They'd better be good.

Dorothy Altevogt—I'll be on pins and needles 'till I see what I get.

South Side Champs, Tigers Clash In First Round

Sectional Tourney Games To Be Held In North Side Gym

Twenty-Eighth Annual Tournament To Begin March 2, And End March 4

Fifteen Schools Will Participate

Monmouth Is Smallest School Entered; Central Is The Largest One

Huge crowds of basketball fans are expected to attend the twenty-eighth annual sectional tourneys to begin on March 2 and to end on March 4 at North Side High School's gymnasium. A drawing is to be held, at which participating teams are to be singled out for each net combat.

Central's fighting Tigers will be in competition with fourteen other teams composed of gallant men of the hardwood. The list of tournament entries includes: Arcola, Decatur, Elmhurst, Harlan, Hoagland, Huntington, Lafayette Central, Leo, Monroeville, Monmouth, New Haven, Woodburn, North Side High School, and South Side High School.

Smallest School
Monmouth with a student enrollment under 100 is possibly the smallest school entered, while Central holds the distinction of being largest with a total of 2,198 scholars enrolled.

From the schools entered in the local tourney, 13 represent Allen County high schools and two come from Adams County (Decatur and Monmouth). The group of participants in a single tourney are entered through registration with the Indiana Board of Control, who decides their qualifications upon the basis of firstly, the location of the school; secondly, its transportation facilities; thirdly, general conditions (including appearance of the school and attitude of individual local authorities); fourthly, success and management of previous tourneys.

While the sectional tourney rages in Fort Wayne, 63 other cities of Indiana will hold other individual tourneys, in conjunction with rules of the Board of Control. In these various battles one team from each of the 64 sections will be singled out to fight in the coming regionals to begin on March 12.

Tickets Cost $1.50
Tickets may be purchased for $1.50 up until March 2 either in Principal Fred H. Croninger's office, from Mr. C. D. Dilts, or from Booster Club members.

Boosters are to be on hand to sell refreshments at each game and will also assist in decorating North Side's gym.

People wishing to buy tickets are urged to get them as soon as possible as record crowds have already purchased them according to the sales calculated to date.

Net Rules Remain Same In Tourney

Even Though Rules Are Not Changed, Sectional Promises Many Thrills

In an interview, Mr. Robert Dornie, assistant coach of Central, stated that the rules governing the tournament games will not be changed in any way. Regardless of rules, the tournament games always promise new thrills even though it is held every year.

A few of the rules to be used in the games are: a jump at the beginning of the game and from then on the ball will be taken out under the scoring team's basket; and the team having the ball is allowed ten seconds to take the ball over the center line. Two referees will be used in the games.

Gimble Award Will Be Offered Again

All Players On Indiana High School Varsity Teams Are Eligible For Trophy

The Gimble Award will be presented as usual at the close of this year's state tournament to the player most deserving of this honor.

This trophy was originally donated by Jake Gimble, who presented it for the benefit of the Indiana basketball players.

All players on Indiana High School varsity teams are eligible to win the award. It is presented to the boy who is of the most value to his team, has the admirable sportsmanship, and the best mental attitude.

The player who is to get this award is chosen by the board of control which is connected with the State High School Athletic Association.

This award has been won by only one Fort Wayne player, Steve Sitko, of Central High School in 1936.

Girl Reserves To Give Dance After Tourney

Larry Fenton's Orchestra Will Play At "Tournament Twirl" Saturday After Last Game

Larry Fenton's orchestra will shuffle out the rhythm for the "Tournament Twirl" to be sponsored by the Fort Wayne Girl Reserve organizations on Saturday night, March 4, following the final tourney game.

Pat Sparling, Inter-Club Council president, is to preside as general chairman for the dance to be staged at North Side's cafeteria. Decorations are to be carried out in tournament style, as announced by presidents of the U.S.A. and the So-Si-Y, South Side High School clubs.

The "Twirl" hostesses will compose the several presidents of the Girl Reserve organizations, including, Pat Sparling and Eileen Boersler, representing South Side; Velma Koorsen and Evelyn Doenges, Central; Mary Price and Marilyn Sondles, North Side.

Dance chaperones will comprise the parents of the above named presidents and club advisers in addition to the Misses Anna B. Lewis, Victoria Gross and Vera Pence, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Reed and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Welty.

Various committees as announced by the chairman and arranged with the help of Miss Harriet Bove, activities director of the Y.W.C.A., include U.S.A. and So-Si-Y in charge of decorations; Friendship Club in charge of favors; Central Triangle Club in charge of orchestra arrangements; North Side Polar-Y in charge of the check rooms.

Admission price of 25 cents per person will be requested upon admittance.

Tournaments To Be Held In Many Cities

Places Named Where Tournaments Will Take Place; Finals At Indianapolis March 25

Sectional tournaments will be held in 64 cities and towns on March 2, 3 and 4; regional tournaments are scheduled for March 11 in 16 centers; semi-final tournaments will be held March 18; and the finals will be in Butler Fieldhouse at Indianapolis on March 25.

Sectional tournament assignment centers are as follows: Anderson, Angola, Attica, Aurora, Batesville, Bedford, Bloomfield, Bluffton, Booneville, Boswell, Cannelton, Clinton, Columbia City, Connersville, Crawfordsville, Danville, East Chicago, Elkhart, Evansville, Flora, Fort Branch, Fort Wayne, Frankfort, Franklin, Greencastle, Greenfield, Greenburg, Hartford City, Huntington, Indianapolis, Jeffersonville, Kendallville, Kokomo, Lafayette, Laporte, Lebanon, Logansport, Marion, Martinsville, Mishawaka, Monticello, Muncie, New Castle, Peru, Plymouth, Rensselaer, Richmond, Rochester, Rushville, Salem, Spencer, Shelbyville, Sheridan, Scotts, Sullivan, Terre Haute, Valparaiso, Vincennes, Wabash, Warsaw, Washington, and Winchester.

Assignments for regional tournaments at the cities listed are: Anderson, Auburn, Bloomington, Evansville, Gary, Greencastle, Greensburg, Huntington, Lafayette, Logansport, Marion, Muncie, New Albany, Plymouth, Batesville, Rushville and Vincennes.

Semi-final tournament centers are: Evansville, Hammond, Indianapolis and Muncie.

As usual, the finals of the Indiana High School Basketball Tournament will be held at the Butler Fieldhouse at Indianapolis March 25.

Sectional Games Will Be Broadcast

John Hackett Is Announcer Selected To Describe Games Over Two Stations

All games in the sectional tournament to be held in Fort Wayne, March 2 to March 4, will be broadcast over station WGL. Station WOWO will also broadcast the games played on Saturday afternoon, March 4.

Play by play description of the games will be given by John Hackett, Westinghouse announcer.

The Perfection Biscuit Company will sponsor this tournament broadcast.

Tournament News First Issued In '28

Harvey, Originator Of Paper; Hurst And Austin Helped Publish First Edition

The largest paper of its kind in the country! This is the true designation of The Tournament News which you now have in your hands.

The credit for the originating of this paper belongs to Miss Rowena Harvey, adviser of the South Side Times and The Northern. In the spring of 1928, Miss Harvey with the cooperation of Miss Hurst of North Side and Miss Leah Austin of Central, who were the advisers of the school papers at that time, published the first edition.

Prior to this time, each school publication had enlarged its paper during tournament time. Miss Harvey realized the possibilities of corroborating the ideas and producing a superior paper.

The first Tournament News was published under the direction of the South Side Times students. The first edition consisted of 16 pages and an average number of ads. The participating schools rotate in the managing of the publication of the Tournament News. The host school is chosen by A. L. Trester.

Philip Olofson, guest editor of this year's Tournament News, has long been interested in sports and has entered state and national contests. Last fall Olofson began collecting information on the teams which were expected to participate in the sectional tournament. He sent questionnaires to participating teams, thus acquiring statistics on the players. In this way he has been very valuable to the Tournament News.

Central this year has charge of the editorial, South Side and North Side of the advertising and circulation management.

This year's paper will consist of 20 pages, a noticeable improvement over the 16 pages of the first Tournament News, which paved the way for later editions.

Band To Play At All Sessions

North Side And South Side Bands Have Opportunity To Play Also

The Central High School Band, under the direction of Geary Menze, student director, will play at all sessions of the tournament to be held March 3, 4, and 5.

The North Side and South Side bands have the opportunity to play when their teams play if they wish.

The members of the Central band are: Geary Menze, director, Betty Payton, Barbara Curtis, Virginia Robinson, Julie Doster, Richard Doster, Donald Nahrwald, Wilbur Baker, Juanita Savio, Dallas Emberlin, Arthur Katzenmaier, Tom DeHaven, George Parker, Martha Jean Exner, Betty Niles and Reba Stettler.

Others are: Sarah Stettler, Eldon Baker, John Kuhlman, Ora Kuhlman, Kathryn Walters, Ann Hogan, Nick Kish, Marian Menze, George Strong, Janice Stute, Paul Welker, Bob Williams, Jene Woodward, Julia Ann Cowan, Dorothy Davies, Bill Hartman, Ray Lyle, Herbert Miller, Louis Pooler, and Bob Mathews.

Others who add to the total membership of fifty-two are: Bill Roemer, Betty Stute, James Batrick, Harold Bear, Eugene Brubaker, Gladys Calvert, Joe Lickert, Wayne Ray, Helen Baker, Patricia Batrick, Mark Bowland, Edwin Kibiger, Paul Lynch, Harold Miser, Bill Vaice, Robert Simon, Armand Martin, and Billy Rankin.

In regard to the band, Mr. Fred H. Croninger, principal, says, "They add a lot of pep, color and enthusiasm to the tournament."

Special Cars Run

According to word received from officials of the Indiana Service Corporation special street cars will be run for the convenience of those who attend the sectional tournament.

Commissioner Relates Rules Of IHSAA

A. L. Trester Reveals Program Of IHSAA In Letter To Mr. Croninger

Has Record Of Thirty-five Years

Association To Continue To Foster Clean Athletics And Fine Sportsmanship

Thirty-five years have elapsed since the founding of the Indiana High School Athletic Association, according to Mr. Arthur L. Trester, Commissioner.

Through all these years the Association has served to foster clean athletics and fine sportsmanship in a democratic fashion, Mr. Trester revealed in a recent communication to Mr. Fred H. Croninger, host principal to the tournament of this section.

Further information, which serves to refute occasional opposition to the Association, is explained in detail by Mr. Trester as follows:

Organized In 1903

The Association was organized in December, 1903 by a small group of high school superintendents and principals meeting in the office of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

There were 15 schools listed as charter members and the membership is now 805. Membership has always been voluntary. Schools are neither required nor requested to join this voluntary association. Schools may withdraw their membership at any time. The annual membership fee is $1.50. The high school principal takes out a membership for his school and agrees to conduct the inter-school athletic activities of his high school according to the rules and regulations of the association. This association is truly representative democracy.

In the beginning the sole purpose of this association was to manage and foster the inter-school athletic activities of the high schools in the membership along the lines of good school procedure and in ways to provide fair competition and honest dealings in athletic games and contests. Through the years this purpose has been served consistently. In addition, the IHSAA has broadened its program for the stimulation and support of physical education, recreation and health work in schools and communities for all boys and all girls.

Operated Democratically

In the early life of the association the constitution and rules were made and amended by the principals in the membership in an annual meeting.

As the membership grew, the town meeting method of legislating was abandoned and a legislative body of 15 members was provided by the principals. It developed that the members of this body did not at all times represent all sizes of high schools in all sections of the state, so the principals provided an Athletic Council of 25 members to represent all sizes of high schools and all districts of the state. This Athletic Council exists today and makes the rules of the IHSAA. High school faculty members are eligible for election to this body.

There is a provision in the IHSAA constitution for a referendum by the principals in the membership on any action of the Athletic Council. Any principal may submit a proposal for the consideration and action of the

South Siders Are Favored In 1939 Sectional Tourney

Principal Welcomes

Mr. Fred H. Croninger

"Welcome to all who come to the Sectional Tournament whether principals, teachers, coaches, players, or fans. May your stay in Fort Wayne be pleasant and agreeable." With these words Mr. Fred H. Croninger, principal of Central High School, extends his welcome to all.

Anthony Wayne To Be Honored

Public Building, Road Or Statue Favored As Memorial To General Wayne

The exploits and bravery of Anthony Wayne will soon be properly commemorated through a memorial to be erected in his honor. It has not yet been decided what form the memorial will take.

Some people favor a public building as a civic center, museum or gymnasium. Others favor the construction of a road following Wayne's route from Toledo, along the Maumee river, to Fort Wayne. Still others prefer a statue to be erected to his honor.

A committee consisting of men from the Indiana district and also from Ohio and Michigan will place the proposal before Congress at the next session. A part of the fund which was appropriated years ago to properly honor distinguished men, who have served their country, will be used toward the memorial although Indiana is expected to contribute her share.

A little booklet which is somewhat of a history of Anthony Wayne's exploits was written by George W. Gilie, congressman. This book will be presented to Congress with the appeal for funds.

Since Anthony Wayne is really a national hero this memorial will be a national project.

Central Plays Host At Net Tournament

Booster Club With Fred Wolf, General Chairman, Will Sell Refreshments

Fred Wolf is the general Booster chairman of the sectional tourney. Central is the host of the tournament. Wolf has charge of the selling of refreshments and the appointment of committees.

Helen Walda is the head of the decoration committee which consists of Charles Laymon, Sis Arnold, Jean Junk, Robert Cunningham, Alberta Bultemeyer, Franklin Boggs, Sarah Stettler, Barbara Curtis, Betty Payton, William Trumbower, and Tom Crosbie.

The members who will sell together at the tournament are Betty Patton and Doris Horn, Mavis Bloemker and Norma Jean Kennedy, Helen Walda and Alberta Bultemeyer, Martha Gause and Jean Junk, Melva O'Shaughnessey and Jeanne Patrick, Theodora Collias and Mary Presbindowski, Norma Exner and Gladys Hunt, and Phyllis Allender and Norene Kaufman.

The accountants that will check in the boxes of the girls who sell are Elda Mertz, Genevieve Freigy, Leona Zweig and Burdella Felts. Mary Jane Masloob, Jo Freigy, Marilyn Heaton, Sis Arnold, Betty Miller and Anita Leonard.

Receive Lunches

According to Fred H. Croninger, principal, all teams entered in the Sectional Basketball Tournament will not stay at any of Fort Wayne hotels, but will leave their homes in the evening, since teams come from nearby towns. All their transportation expenses are paid. The teams will get their lunches in North Side's cafeteria. This plan is the same as that of last year.

Archers To Face Stiff Competition In Struggle To Survive Four Tourney Sessions

North Side Gets Break In Drawing

Redskins In Lower Bracket Expected To Be In Finals Barring Upset

By PHILIP OLOFSON

Chief of Staff

The Hand of Fate struck a mean and telling blow at the titular ambitions of Indiana's defending state champions, South Side's Green Archers, as the sectional tournament pairings dealt the vaunted and heavily backed South Siders a tough row to hoe. Cast in the upper bracket, the Archers must meet Central of Fort Wayne in the second game of the tournament, Thursday evening, and then, if teams run true to form, must conquer Leo, one, if not the best, of the Allen County fives, Decatur's veteran Yellow Jackets and North Side's young Redskins ball club, to retain the crown which they copped last March.

Regional, super-regional, and state tourney drawings fared the Archers little better as they must engage the winner of the Hartford City sectional, which should be the Airdales themselves, in the second game of the Huntington regional, while the victor in the Huntington sectional clashes with the winner of the Bluffton meet an hour earlier.

The super-regional draw is the same as last year and places the Huntington regional winner to a distinct disadvantage, inasmuch as it will see action in the second game of the afternoon, opposing the winner at Marion, undoubtedly Kokomo, and then clashing with the top team of the Muncie-Auburn regional battle in the final game, that team probably being Muncie, with New Castle and Richmond having good chances to replace the favored Bearcats.

At the finals, the Muncie winner drew the easiest foe, if there is such opposition in Indiana basketball, but once again hit a rut as far as the time element goes. The Muncie representative plays the Indianapolis winner while the best team at the Hammond semi-final clashes with the class of the south, the Vincennes title holder an hour earlier.

While South's path is the rockiest, Central's Tigers drew the worst break of the pairings as they are slated to clash with the champions Thursday evening and are hoped to lose, thus becoming the first Fort Wayne five to be eliminated in the initial round for many years.

North Side drew "dark horse" honors in getting a fine break in the draw. The Redskins are carded for two games Friday, both against county opposition, meeting weak Monroeville at 3 o'clock and clashing with the victor in the New Haven-Arcola battle at 9 o'clock, with the Bulldogs counted on to take the measure of the Aces and face the Redskins. The Crimson five if victorious in both tests Friday, then will have the easier of the semi-final opponents, facing a mediocre Harlan squad and South Side opposing Decatur.

If favorites come through in every ball game, second round games will match Huntington, which drew the bye, and Decatur, South Side and Leo, Harlan and Elmhurst, and New Haven and North Side. Semi-final engagements would then bring together South and Decatur and North and Harlan with the two Fort Wayne fives battling it out in the final game for title honors.

Despite their poor luck in the bracketing, the South Side aggregation remains the pre-tourney favorite, with North Side, because of the easier going, given a slight chance of tripping the Green. If the Kelly Klads win here, it's generally conceded that they will march through the regionals rather handily and advance to the Muncie meet. Once at the Bearcat stamping grounds the type of competition varies upward and only time, the Archers and a very tough opponent will tell.

As for the writer, we like the South Side band as repeaters. They have everything a coach could ask of a ball club: speed, sniping ability, height and ability to play their best brand of ball under fire. We aren't the only Archer supporter who doesn't go to the school or back it in some way. Other scribes are liking the smoother South Side machine and from one end of this state to the other, the word is that the title is going up North again. Back to Fort Wayne.

1938-39 Harlan Escutcheon Has Very Few Loss Blemishes

Blue And Gold Quintet Boasts Of 11 Victories

Strong Squad Loses Only Four Games; Height Disadvantage Ignored

Harlan Five Upsets Pirate Squad, 37-26

Hawks Are Well Supported By Students And Parents At Tilts

The Blue and Gold Hawks playing out of Harlan face the sectional basketball tourney with exceedingly high hopes of making a fine showing and possibly even emerging with a sectional crown if "Lady Luck" chooses to light upon their shoulders and avoid the other contingents.

The Harlan fans base this none-too-exaggerated hope on the record of their squad in past performances. The '38-39 Hawks have accounted for 11 wins against 4 losses, with 4 games remaining on the schedule when this article was written.

Returning from last year's group to hearten Coach Jake Smuts in his noble task of developing a definite threat ball club was Leightner, Blackburn, Roth, Klopfenstein, Boterf, and Lake. Of this sextet, Leightner and Blackburn carried off scoring honors for the year.

The wearers of the Blue and Gold are not blessed with an over supply of height, for of the '39 tourney squad just two boys have reached or surpassed the 2-yard mark. Lake and Blackburn are the basketballers making the accomplishment, towering 6-0 and 6-2 respectively. However, this deficiency in height is offset by an abundance of speed and good ball handling.

The Harlanites opened the season by trimming a Coesse five 35-13, then pulled a close one out of the fire by stopping Spencerville 18-16. However, the third tilt proved no charm and the Hawks bit the dust before a hot Woodburn quintet. In the fourth fray they also met defeat at the hands of the Leo Lions; when the game came to an end the scoreboard showed Leo 50, Harlan 30.

The Hawks, then catching their breath, winged away with the next two meetings, the victims being Monroeville and St. Joe. A clicking Arcola five put the proverbial "boogie" on the Blue and Gold to the tune of 25-22.

Not permitting their heads to be held under water too long came back strong to step all over Hoagland, last year's county champs, but in the next tilt fell before Hometown, this year's county finalist, 28-24.

The Big Birds then caught fire and polished off the six challengers in no merciful fashion. Those suffering losses by unwisely getting in the path of the Harlan machine were Woodburn, Monroeville, Hicksville, Lafayette Central, Hometown, and Hoagland.

Keith Leightner Is Top Hawk Scorer

Blackburn, Lake, Trail Leader; Leightner Average Is 7.4 Per Tilt

Flying away with scoring honors for the Hawks this season is Keith Leightner, who thus far has scored 111 points in 15 games, for an average of 7.4 a game.

Leightner, although standing but 5-9 and weighing 142 pounds, has proven himself a definite advantage in administering 11 losses in 15 tilts, by both his excellent ball handling and accuracy at the hoop.

Thirty-two points behind the leader and seemingly well lodged in second place is Dave Blackburn, the tallest and lankiest boy on the squad. Blackburn in the games so far this season has accounted for 79 points.

In third place and determined to stave off last minute threats is Lake, a husky sophomore standing six feet and weighing 170 pounds. Lake has been held responsible for 71 markers in 15 tilts.

Immediately to Lake's rear is Roth, a senior as are the two leaders, who are definite threats on any team. Roth is just one point behind third-placer Lake with 70 points.

Wilson, Dick Boterf, and Klopfenstein occupy the fifth, sixth, and seventh positions respectively.

I'm out of school. Oh grief! Oh Woe! I thought that I would like it so. And here I am. I'm working still. The pay I get is almost nil. I think that I'm the biggest fool. I wish that I were back in school!

Harlan To Try Other Teams In The Tournament

Harlan's Hawks will be at full strength and are expected to show the strength that made them one of the pre-tourney favorites in the County meet.

'Dutch', Bill, Gloria, Spell Cheerleading At Hawk's Domain

Dutch, Bill, and Gloria, these three little words spell cheerleaders to the Hawks. These three Harlan students sporting their school colors, blue and gold, bring out that school spirit at the games which inspire the boys to go on and bring home the bacon. Dutch and Gloria appear uniformed in blue flannel culottes and a gold satin blouse, while Bill wears blue flannel trousers and also a gold satin blouse.

Dutch Wann's interests appear to be all on the artistic side as she is a member of the band, had a leading part in the junior play, "Here Comes The Prince," sings in the glee club and chorus and is a member of the Melodettes, a girl sextet.

The activities of Bill Schlatter are all musical. He prides himself on being a member of the band, glee club, chorus and the boys' sextet. Gloria Horn, who is spending her last year at Harlan, holds the position of drum major and spends the remainder of the time practicing for the glee club and the chorus.

Harlan Yell Leaders, Friends Respond With Personal Information

Friends of the Harlan's three yell leaders responded very generously with information concerning them, so the Tournament News chose to reprint exactly what the supporters of the Hawk cheer exhorters wrote.

For further information read the following personal inventory via Gloria Horn, Eleanor Wann, and Bill Schlatter.

Gloria Horn—A senior, tall and slender with dark natural curly hair; and dark eyes. She is friendly and humorous. She has served as cheer leader and drum major of the school band for two years each and has been on the Loud Speaker staff four years.

Eleanor Wann—A junior with blond hair and blue eyes and bears the nickname "Dutch." She is of the vigorous and witty type. She has been a band member for three years, on the Loud Speaker staff for two years, and is a member of the "Melodettes."

Bill Schlatter—A sophomore with brown hair and blue eyes. He is very humorous.

Harlan Is Second In Softball Chase

New Haven Nips Hawks, 4-3, In County Championship Battle

The Harlan Hawks crashed through a line of smaller softball teams last fall to win a runner-up trophy. Fort Wayne softball fans may remember seeing the Hawks go through their paces at Port Wayne League Park. The team has the distinction of being one of the most powerful in the county. Its progress has been so phenomenal that the number of softball fans in Harlan High equals the number of basketball fans. And saying something like that in the nation's mightiest basketball state means that the Harlan boys like their softball.

Here is Harlan's record in the "County League":

Harlan 4, Woodburn 2.
Harlan 10, Hometown 4.
Harlan 3, Leo 0.
Harlan 6, Hoagland 3.
Harlan 6, Monroeville 4.
Harlan 4, Woodburn 2.
Harlan 3, New Haven 4.
That's a total of 6 wins and 1 loss. Here is the powerful blue and gold squad:

Pitchers: Max Roth, Ralph Ringenberg.
Catcher: Jack Wilson.
Infield: Bill Blackburn, Leland Miller, Keith Keighner.
Short Stop: Gerald Miller.
Short Center: Wendell Moore.
Outfield: Richard Boterf, Junior Chaney, Stanley Lake, Dale Widdfield.

Harlan Hawks Are Getting New Nest

Students Pleased As Construction On New High School Is Speeded

There is a look of joy on the face of every Harlan student. There is a reason for that look of joy. Harlan is building a new high school. They have been using the present structure for quite a long time now. The gymnasium is not even a part of the building. It is located down the street which runs in front of the school, not a very handy location in the minds of the pupils. It isn't a very large gym; it holds only about 150 spectators.

Harlan Band Takes Second Place In Auburn Street Fair

Harlan's band secured second place in the Auburn street fair for their musical arrangements, and first for their well organized marching. The forty members who wear the traditional gold and blue uniforms, also were a part of the Armistice Day program in Fort Wayne.

The musicians' next program will be at the band clinic at North Manchester on March 17. In addition to these programs, the band also furnishes music at all the games, both football and basketball.

At the present time they are very proud of the bell lyre which was added to their band this year.

Athletic Council.

The members of the Athletic Council are elected by the mail vote of the principals in the districts of the state. All sizes of schools in all districts of the state must be represented on the Athletic Council at all times.

The 25 members of the Athletic Council select from their own membership five members to serve as a Board of Control. It is the duty of this Board to execute the rules and regulations of the IHSAA in the wording and in the spirit in which they are made by the Athletic Council. This Board reports back to the Athletic Council any major difficulties that they may have in the execution of any rules with recommendations that revisions be made. Legislation and execution cooperate, supplement and complement at all times.

Finances Made Clear

(1) The IHSAA prints and distributes to the schools in its membership and to any interested party an annual financial report by Ernst & Ernst, national public accountants. The IHSAA also prints and distributes reports of all state tournaments and meets annually.

(2) The center principal of each state basketball tournament makes a report to each school participating in the tourney and to the IHSAA within a week after the tourney.

(3) Each superintendent, principal, teacher or other person handling funds collected for school functions is required by law to file a financial report with the township trustees, board of school trustees or board of school commissioners within two weeks after the close of each school year. This report shall be a public record.

The constitution provides for a distribution of an equitable basis among the high schools in the membership of the amounts accumulated above $100,000.00 and above the amount legitimately necessary for the administrative expenses of the association, to be made on October 1, 1932 and on October 1 of and for each three-year period thereafter. Distributions have been made as follows: October 1, 1932—$50.00; October 1, 1935—$48.00; and October 1, 1938—$60.00. These checks were sent to the high school principals and were endorsed by these principals for their high schools.

No Scandals Involved

There is granted power and authority to the Board of Control to make the financial adjustments in contracts for state tournaments and meets and to administer, execute and control all receipts, expenditures and holdings in connection with the IHSAA.

The money of the IHSAA has always been invested in U. S. Government Securities. Fidelity insurance is

Red Gym Site Of Tourney

North Side's spacious gymnasium, capable of handling over 4,000 fans when packed is to be the site of the twenty-eighth Annual Fort Wayne Sectional Tournament which will get underway Thursday evening, March 2. Although Central is the host team, lack of seating capacity at the Tigers' gym always necessitates the using of the Northern stadium.

Paramount Theatre Central's Varsity Books Dance Bands Recounts Opinions During Tournament About Tournament

With such stellar satellites as Ted Weems, Tommy Dorsey, Ben Blue, and Ted Lewis, the parade of hits at the Paramount Theatre will be in full swing this week end, as the Jitter Bug contest, which will be judged by Paul Whitman, opens at the peak of Indiana's tourney time.

There is little doubt that Tommy Dorsey's engagement scheduled for four days beginning Friday, March 3, will be one of the most eagerly awaited entertainments of the season. The "Sentimental Gentleman of Swing" is a cinch to provide a show that is tops in every respect. The tee-off, of course, will be Dorsey's tromboning of his theme, "I'm Getting Sentimental Over You," but such favorites of the band of Jack Leonard and Edythe Wright, whose swingy singing has won acclaim over the air-planes, will also attract a considerable amount of attention.

carried on the Commissioner, robbery and burglary insurance are carried on the bank vault box, compensation insurance is carried on the help in the state tourneys and meets, and public liability insurance is carried on the gymnasiums in which all state tourneys are held.

There has never been a financial scandal of any kind connected with the Indiana High School Athletic Association.

These statements of fact can be verified by any or all of the high school officials in the state. The local school officials are given as references, according to Commissioner Trester.

The Central Tigers, along with their many fans, have opinions of the tourney and their chances.

Rated as one of the best teams in the sectional, Central is given an even chance to upset the State Champion Archers of South Side. Having upset such teams as Vincennes, Elkhart, and Richmond, and also ending only four points behind the Archers, the Battling Bengals are working out hard and long with Coach Mendenhall and are sure to be a "dark horse" in the tourney.

Twelve boys are at the present time working out but as is the usual custom, just before the tournament begins, two must be cut, for only ten boys can compose a tournament squad. With a record of eight wins against twelve losses the Blue and White enter the tourney with high hopes and higher chances. In the opinion of the players the tournament teams, player, etc., stack up as follows:

Henry Kulesza: "I think we will win, in fact we can't lose."

Bill Hanley: "We got a good chance. If we meet South Side in the sectional, we'll beat them."

Kenny Rice: "There's a lot of good teams in it. We got a good chance and we'll give them all a run."

Russell Parker: "If we get a break we'll win the tournament."

Duke Richardson: "South Side can't beat a good team three times in a row."

Felix Talley: "If we're hitting,

Crack! Central's on the floor!!! But who besides the team is on the floor? Why the cheerleaders, of course! What's more, there are three of them plus our Central Tiger. In flashy blue and white satin suits, Dick Van Camp, Everett Schmidt, Bill Latz and Dick Clancy, lead the rousing cheers of good old C.H.S.

New this year are the beautiful blue satin trousers which these boys wear, a gift of the Booster Club. Now to see just who each boy is and what he thinks. First is Dick Van Camp, known to most of his friends through his work as chairman of the Booster Club. But that isn't all in the list of his achievements. For he is an active member of the Student Players' Club, stage crew, Hi-Y, senior social council and The Caldron staff. Anyway, we are told he is a dependable worker in each activity, so more power to him! Dick's nickname christened to him through his work on the stage crew is "Grumpy." Now on our list we come to William Latz, known to most people as "Enoch." Bill is an active member of the Caldron and Spotlight staffs. He is also in the Latin, Booster and Student Players' Club. Photography occupies most of his spare time. Everett Schmidt, who we call "Ev", is a member of the Booster and Hi-Y Clubs. He really is cute, when he smiles and seems to be quite a lady killer at heart! But anyway he's a good guy and a great yell leader. Last on our rambling interviews comes Richard Clancy. "Dick" come out from behind that Tiger's mask and speak to the folks! Dick is a husky lad, nice looking and a real backer of Central's spirit. He is a member of the Booster and Math Clubs, which keeps him on his toes all the time.

We hope in this interview that we have brought you a little closer to the boys on the floor as they are your Central yell leaders and are constantly behind every yell for the mighty Bengals.

we'll beat them all."

Errett Richards: "I know we can win."

Herb Knothe: "We got as good a chance as any of them."

Warren Wickliffe: "Just bring them on."

Jimmy Storch: "If we get a break in the drawing, we'll win."

Fred Shaw: "If we get an even break against South Side we'll beat them."

Juniors Present Comedy

The junior class of Hoagland High School will present "Blackberry Winter," a comedy drama in three acts, March 31, in the school gym.

The play is a cross section of American life, showing a family of moderate circumstances in a small college town. Two children of the family are in their senior year striving for those things that seem most worth while to them. There is a splendid portrayal of the determined struggle toward success of ambitious "poor folks" from the mountains.

Booster Club Is Organized

The Booster Club of Hoagland was organized this year under the supervision of Mrs. Mabel Sheehan.

The club is open for membership to all students and alumni. The officers are: president, Lorine Kleine; vice-president, Mearvin Ruhl; treasurer, LeRoy Emenhiser; secretary, Marcela Bearman. The president is chosen from the junior or senior classes, and the other officers may be held by anyone in high school.

This club is very active in sponsoring yells and various school activities.

Fort Wayne welcomes you, visitors!

Past records of the competing teams prove that the Fort Wayne sectional tournament will be a good one.

It has been the aim of this paper to satisfy all schools participating in this tournament. We have tried not to be prejudiced.

The Booster Club Deserves Our Thanks

Thanks, Booster Club members, for doing your part toward making this tournament one of the best. At this time the Booster Club of the host school must carry out the plans and preparations which they have been organizing for the past several weeks. The club is responsible for the decorations in the North Side gymnasium, for selling refreshments at all tournament games, and solving a number of other tournament problems. We appreciate the help of the hard-working Boosters and wish to express our sincere thanks.

Good Sportsmanship Admits No "Booing"

When we hear the word "Sportsmanship" we, too, frequently think of but one phase of the word, namely, the attitude of one team or person toward another. A good sport is one who can lose and admit a failure and tries to better himself because of it. Sportsmanship not only plays a part in the athlete, but also in the spectator. Too often an enthusiastic sports fan dislikes seeing his favorite team on the losing side and refuses to admit defeat. This person is a poor sport and proves the fact by "booing" at the referee's decision. "Booing" not only betrays one's unsportsmanlike attitude, but it excites the team members as well, and may result in the loss of the game.

It is our duty to avoid this unpleasant form of showing our disagreement by not "booing" ourselves and by discouraging it among our friends.

It's A Fact, You Can't Lose!

Win or lose, the players of the competing teams in this sectional tournament will derive great benefit by taking part in this annual event. Teamwork and loyalty are two of the fundamental qualities of a good ball club. The members of these high school teams have learned the values of teamwork. They realize that an unorganized group of five players cannot win a game if their opponents are organized to a great extent. Naturally the coaches develop in their players the habit of working together. Loyal members of the team fight for the honor of their school, not for themselves. Maybe your team will lose according to the number of points it makes, but the individual team members have already acquired the habits of teamwork and loyalty which will be winning characteristics, staying wit hthem through life.

Tournament Time Is Here Again

On March 2, 64 sectional basketball tournaments will get under way in various centers throughout Indiana, one of which is in Fort Wayne.

New Haven, Monroeville, Lafayette Central, Leo, Woodburn, Hoagland, Elmhurst, Huntertown, Arcola, Harlan, North Side, South Side, and Central of Allen County and Monmouth and Decatur of Adams County, will compete in the Fort Wayne sectional elimination tourney, beginning March 2 and ending March 4. The schools entering the tournament are assigned by counties with few exceptions.

Mr. Fred H. Croninger has been appointed manager of the sectional tournament in Fort Wayne by the board of controls. This board is composed of five members who make plans for the tourney. The various centers are appointed according to location, transportation facilities, general conditions, rotation, success and satisfactory management of previous tourneys, and invitations. The number of officials is determined by the number of teams. Teams are limited to ten men, but twelve may be certified. No team is eligible for participation which does not abide by the official basketball rules adopted by the Indiana High School Athletic Association.

The teams competing in Fort Wayne will meet in the North Side gymnasium, which has been selected the site for the basketball games on the basis of location, capacity and condition of the gymnasium floor.

The price of witnessing the sectional contests is determined by the number of games played in each division. Tickets are divided among the contending schools according to the proportion of students enrolled in the school.

The 64 sectional champions will meet in the regional centers to determine which 16 teams will meet in the semi-finals. The four semi-final winners will compete at the Butler field house in Indianapolis for state championship.

Things I Never Knew Until Now

(By Gracie Daisy Arsenic Jr.)

That most wives would make good Congressmen they're so handy at introducing bills into the house. That a baby fed on elephant's milk will gain twenty pounds in two weeks. Yessir! . . . That statistics show that animals in captivity live longer . . . including husbands? That diplomatic relations aren't . . . That a laborer who tries to solve his problems by sitting down is using the wrong end of his anatomy. That husbands can be cured of grouching around the home by a simple operation . . . just cut their throats.

That he who hesitates loses his parking space.

That a tack on the chair has put many a man back on his feet. That a physician says the secret of good health lies in eating several raw onions daily. That thin people live longer than fat ones, but they don't live as much. That the use of wood in automobile construction has practically been discontinued. Yes, about the only wooden thing you can find about the average car is the driver's head. That a scientist says insects understand and appreciate kind treatment oh yeah we once patted a bumblebee on the back, and he completely misunderstood our motives.

That we should give Hollywood credit for some ingenuity no matter how many times a plot is used, the picture is given a different title each time. That gasoline is stuff that if you don't use good in your car, it doesn't run as well as if or something. That doctors say that fatal diseases are the worst. That alternating currents don't make good jelly. That window sashes are never careless they always take "panes". That all old men attribute their old age to one source the fact that they were born so long ago. That some people are married.

That some people are very deceitful they allow you to think they believe the lies that you tell them. That we still have oodles in this country most of our students are idle. That one of the Commandments has only four words in it to-wit: "Keep off the grass." That a boy recently stayed away from school on account of sickness the truant officer was sick.

That you should make at least one person happy during the week I did. I went to see my aunt, and she was happy when I went home. That a soldier never loses his head in battle if he did, he'd have nothing to hang his cap on.

That a fishing-net is made of a lot of little holes tied together with pieces of string. That usually the people who make the most fuss about their names in the dirt column are those who like most to see it there. There ARE exceptions. That there are students who say that the teachers "have it in" for them, and then there are those who get their lessons. That a stethoscope is a spyglass for looking into people's chests with your ears. That a sincere friend is one who says nasty things to your face, instead of saying them behind your back.

That one of the chief uses of water is to save people from drowning in. That it is very annoying to be called annoying nicknames by your friends (?) such as "Charles, Jr." and "Arsenic". That a double chin is what ladies look best without and makes them feel better if they haven't got, or, if they have, have their faces lifted, which they don't. That a miracle is something that someone does that cannot be done such as reading this column and finding any sense in it.

About Town

By Oscar P. Twitchell

Again your tipsy twerp Twitchell brings you the crumbly cracks and quibbles of the day. Flash on! News is forthcoming!

Mammy: "If you don't go away I'll call my husband."

Bum (Bill Doehrmann): "Oh! I know him. Last week he threatened to call you if I didn't go away."

Man (or Mouse?): "Who told you to put that paper on the wall?"

Decorator: "Your mother-in-law, sir."

Mouse: "Hm, pretty isn't it?"

Bill Latz: "I just bought a two-pants suit."

Ray Heine: "Well, how do you like it?"

Bill: "Swell, only it's kinda hot wearing two pairs of pants."

Bob Shull: "My intellect is my fortune."

Veatch: "Oh well, poverty isn't a crime."

Little Gail: "Mumsey, I can't help it if I'm not perfect; there's been only one perfect little girl."

Maw: "Oh? And who was that?"

Little Gail: "That wuz you, Mumsey, when you wuz a little girl."

Ray Yarman: "My yacht makes fifteen knots per hour."

Bernadette Shea: "Oh? And who unties them?"

Last confession and request of a golfer: Under the wide and starry sky, Dig the grave and let me lie. Glad I've lived and gladly die—Far from this world of strife.

These be the lines you engrave for me: Here he lies where he wants to be; Here he lies by the nineteenth tee Where he's lied through all his life.

Short Story:

A man ran into a barber shop, wildly yelling and waving his arms.

"Mr. Brown, Mr. Brown! Your house is on fire!"

An old gentleman jumped down from the chair with lather on his face and dashed out the door. About five blocks away he suddenly stopped running, caught his breath and exclaimed: "Heck, my name ain't Brown."

Romance: He crushed her in his arms, sighed deeply and said, "Honey, let's get married."

"What?" she said, "On a twenty-dollar-a-week salary?"

"Oh that's all right," he assured her. You're bound to get a raise some day."

"Come on, come on, get off my feet. Who do you think you are, anyhow? Get off my feet!"

"All right, quit yelling. You stand on them, don't you?"

"That's beside the point. When are they going to open that door?"

"Don't ask me riddles. Got your ticket? It's red this time, isn't it?"

"Have you got your ticket already? Then you don't belong here. Season ticket holders use the side entrance."

"Huh! Well, wait, my friend, here I go to the other door! Come on, Daisy."

And so off went Charles, Junior, and Daisy to the other entrance.

"Gee, everyone's in already. We'll have to sit way back this time," grumbled Charles, Jr.

"I don't mind, Chuckie, Jr.," said Daisy the Dip. "I like to sit way back—it's more restful than sitting on the edge of the seat, don't you?"

"Don't I what?" asked Charles, Jr.

"Don't you love those blue and white uniforms Monroeville wears?"

"Monroeville does not wear blue and white uniforms. Now keep quiet and watch the game."

"Oh look, he's throwing the ball away, the big dope!"

"He is not, dizzy, he's passing it in, aren't you?"

"Aren't I what?"

"Aren't you ever going to watch the game?"

"Ohh, Charles, Jr., look at that hat Suzy Sea Horse is wearing. Isn't it crazy? Wonder where she got it."

Bang! Crash, sock—the gun goes off—it's the half.

"Ohhh, Charles, catch me. I'm fainting. They got me—see the blood."

Boosters' Life Is Merry-Go-Round During Tourney

"Move over, Mary, I want to see a little of the game."

"Okay, but we have to sell again in five minutes. This is the first game I've seen all day."

Such is the life of a Booster at a basketball tournament.

Merrily we rush home after a busy day, say "hello," grab a bite to eat, say "goodbye," and catch a street car on the run in order to get to the game in time to—sell!

We hurry into a seat to watch the preliminary game. However, the bleachers are just filling up, so people are constantly passing and repassing before our ever watchful eyes. Result: it is half time and we have seen one minute of play—and Central called time out just then. One minute to play.

"Pardon us," we say and hasten to get a box to sell, ruining a new pair of hose on the smooth (sarcasm) seats on our way.

"Hurry up, Doris, if you're going to sell with me. You carry the box. I'll take care of the money!" says our bosom pal and friend, ever thoughtful of our welfare and comfort (?).

And so off we start. "Ice cream!" yells someone way down in the center of the center section. "Will you please pass this down?" we ask an uninterested patron. "Huh? Oh, yeah." And he very thoughtfully passes it to the wrong person, who sourly stares in return. "Hand it down two rows," we yell. A quarter comes back to our waiting hand, and the change made the same journey to return to its owner. "Hey," yells the irate fan, "this ice cream is melted." We rush on before he can protest further.

A visiting team yells for candy. "Can't have anything but plain So-and-So bars," says the coach. We have These and Thoses, but no So-and-Sos, and so we rush back to get some. As we are about out of ice cream, we also bring back two boxes with us. Just as we return we hear the warning whistle. The game is about to start so we wearily trudge back to sheepishly turn in our unsold ice cream.

We return to the bleachers to find our seats taken, our hat and coat being trampled underfoot, and no place to watch the game.

So we go back to the Booster room to see if we can help at the stands. We push, shove, and strain our tempers to get there. Just as we reach our goal the gun sounds, and we hear the familiar, "Hurry up—time to sell!"

"Blood nothing! Daisy, you dope, that's lipstick."

"Chuckie, Jr., did you hear that man insult me? He said maybe I did spring from a monkey, but I didn't spring far enough, isn't it?"

"Isn't it what?"

"Isn't it funny how they play this game?"

"With people like you watching, it certainly is! If I'd been out there, I'd have quit long ago! Oh, oh, a foul!"

"Where? I don't see any chickens."

"Not that kind of a foul, Daisy. The referee called this one."

"Did it come? Make him call it over, I didn't see it. I want some ice cream."

"Hey, hey, kid—one ice cream bar. Here, I hope."

"You hope what?"

"I hope you choke on it."

"Charles."

"Now what?"

"I dropped my ice cream bar. You handed it to me upside down, I want to."

"You want to what?"

"I want to go home."

"Gladly! Come on. Gosh dern it—didn't get to see the game. Come on, Daisy!"

Matrimonial School Gives Knowledge To Future Husbands

"Hi, pal, how're you feeling?"

"Tired. Just got back from a day at the College of Matrimony."

"Yeah? What'd you learn?"

"Well, for one thing—that the husband's college song is 'Everything I have is yours. . . what's mine is thine' . . . regardless of our feelings."

"What are your views about marriage?"

"Well, I figured it out this way. Marriage is an institution. Marriage is love. Love is blind. Therefore, marriage is an institution for the blind."

"Is it true married men live longer?"

"It only feels longer."

"What do they mean by the better half?"

"Marriage is a fifty-fifty proposition. Every time your wife spends fifty dollars for a dress, you can spend fifty cents for socks."

"I can see from your remarks that 'matrimony' is a serious word, Professor."

"It's not a word—it's a sentence!"

"I think I'm falling in love. Do you think I ought to marry?"

"Young man, evidently you don't know what a wedding is. A wedding is a funeral where you smell your own flowers."

"I wish you'd talk to my wife. She kisses me only when she needs money."

"Isn't that often enough?"

"Think you're good, huh? Were any big men born in your family?"

"No, only babies."

"All my ancestors were fishermen—I'm at the end of a long fishing line."

"I see—a worm."

"Guess what I've made a discovery."

"What's that?"

"That half of all married people are men!"

"Can You Imagine"

South Side school spirit lagging at the approach of the sectionals?

The various high school ball clubs playing in costumes that portray their titles? (Tigers, Bulldogs, etc.)

Jim Glass, well known South Side center, being called "Shorty"?

Basketball played with such spirit and keen sense of competition outside of our own Hoosier state?

John Hackett remaining cool, calm and collected during the playing of that annual classic known as the sectionals?

The various teams, soon to compete in a tournament at North Side, in the conventional sport costumes of the "Gay Nineties"?

The reserve members of the teams, while waiting to be called into the game, knitting to pass their time away?

A sectional tournament without those lusty cheers and yells of encouragement from the spectators?

A tournament without popcorn, candy and cokes to crunch and gargle in your neighbor's ear?

All the spectators of a "hot" tournament game going home without a touch of sore throat?

Huntertown Has Shown Much Improvement During Season

Huntertowners View Several Exciting Meets

Tilts With Woodburn, Harlan, Avilla, Churubusco And New Haven Prove To Be Exciting

List Of Season's Games Published

Team Is Slow At Beginning, But Rallies As Schedule Gets Underway

Hampered by the lack of height, the Huntertown High School Wildcats embarked on a season which proved to be more unsuccessful than they had anticipated. Getting off to a slow start at the beginning of the season, the Wildcats lost their first five games. But improving as they went along, under the coaching ability of Howard Smith, the Cats began to click and managed to take a few of their next games.

Then losing several men through their grades proved to be another blow to the team. But lately the Smithmen have been starting to click again, and they proved to be the "dark-horse" in the recent county tournament.

The second game played between Woodburn and Huntertown proved to be one of the best games of the season. The score in the closing minutes of play was 19 to 20 in favor of Woodburn. A Wildcat then shot a high arching shot and made a basket, but the gun had sounded before the basket was made, and Huntertown lost.

Another interesting game was the Harlan-Huntertown game. This game, close all the way through finally ended in an overtime and the Wildcats lost by two points.

Avilla, a rival of Huntertown since the first years of competition between these two teams, was the opposing team in another of the featured tilts. The game was played roughly throughout; and, when the final gun sounded Huntertown was on the long end of a 20-13 score.

The improved team showed great spirit in the county tournament and entered the finals by eliminating Woodburn and Arcola. The New Haven Bulldogs were more than they could handle; and, at the final gun, they lost by the score of 35-24.

The complete record of the 1938-'39 season is as follows:

- Huntertown, 27; New Haven, 33.
- Huntertown, 16; Arcola, 28.
- Huntertown, 25; Leo, 50.
- Huntertown, 23; Woodburn, 43.
- Huntertown, 26; Churubusco, 30.
- Huntertown, 24; Hoagland, 19.
- Huntertown, 27; Elmhurst, 31.
- Huntertown, 28; Monroeville, 25.
- Huntertown, 30; Harlan, 24.
- Huntertown, 26; Waterloo, 48.
- Huntertown, 18; Leo, 47.
- Huntertown, 19; Woodburn, 20.
- Huntertown, 24; Monroeville, 29.
- Huntertown, 25; Harlan, 27.
- Huntertown, 20; Avilla, 13.
- Huntertown, 30; Garrett, 41.
- Huntertown, 33; Churubusco, 38.

Huntertown Team Tips

Wesley Stonebreaker, better known as "Stoney" or "Hank", is a junior. He is rather bashful, and he declares that he has no heart-throb. "Hank" lives on a farm. This is his second year for the varsity.

Albert Middleton, whom everyone calls "Mike", is a senior. He is not at all bashful and he drives a little black Austin with silver wheels. "Mike" likes all the girls and this is his second year for the varsity.

Robert Moffitt is the little sophomore boy who likes to be called "Larry." He is a "jitterbug" and he likes the name "Norma!" This is his first year at varsity.

Jim Warner is a senior. His grades are of a high standing. Jim has no special girl in mind. He says he likes them all and he will wait for the best in return. Jim appears as quite an actor in school plays. He is everyone's friend. This is his first year for varsity.

Glenn Hoot plays guard for his second year varsity. Glenn lives on a farm and his father drives the school bus. His one and only seems to be Annajane Tonkel, who is a sister to one of Glenn's team-mates, Merl Tonkel.

Jack Boyce is a resident of Puckerpuddle. He is a senior and this is his third year for the varsity. Jack thinks that he will take a rest after graduation. Jack's better half is Betty Fox. Robert Wappes is a resident of LaOtto. He is a senior and this is his second year for varsity. His current heart-throb is "Laura."

Dale Rodenbeck is a senior. He serves as the "school cut-up." This is Dale's third year at varsity. The object of his affections was graduated last year and she answers to the name of Grace.

Merl Tonkel is a senior. This is his second year for varsity. He doesn't have much to say around school but what he does say he says it to Olive, his girl-friend.

Howard Opliger is a short, dark and handsome senior. This is his second year on varsity. He rates with a girl by the name of Doris.

Leslie Logan is a junior. He is very bashful, and does he ever blush? Along with him comes our curly headed sophomore, Jim McComb, who is a bit bashful himself. We hope to see more of these two boys in the rest of their high school days.

Huntertown Has Impressive Record

—Courtesy of The Journal-Gazette

Huntertown's fast and impressive quintet will be out to add more victories to her already long list when they meet county teams and Fort Wayne Schools in the Sectional tournament to be held at North Side. In the first row is Mike Middleton, Dale Rodenbeck, Robert Moffit, Merle Tonkel, Howard Opliger and Jim Warner. The second row is Coach Howard Smith, Glen Hoot, Jack Boyce, Wesley Stonebreaker, Robert Wappes, and Principal P. T. Henning.

Two "Jolly Juniors" Are Cheer-Leaders For Wildcat Squad

Genevieve Rodenbeck and Ernestine Grim, two "Jolly Juniors" who are better known to their friends, as "Jenny" and "Teeny," are serving as cheerleaders for the "Wildcats." This is Jenny's second year for cheerleading and Teeny's first. The girls have been very good friends for all of their school days and this makes it much easier for them to work together on school yells. The girls' costumes consist of black culottes and black and gold satin blouses.

With the permission of the school principal, Paul T. Henning, there has been a pep session held every day when there is to be a game at night. Jenny and Teeny take charge at these pep sessions and the student body is led in about fifteen minutes of rousing cheers. The girls will be out in front at the sectionals, cheering for the boys until the final gun. Jenny and Teeny think if their team gets a good draw, they can go far. These two are certainly hoping for the best.

Typing Students Aid In Publishing Paper

Not to be outdone by bigger schools, the Huntertown High School also has a paper. It is called the "Harbinger" and is published every two weeks by the members of the advanced typing class. Its purpose is to convey to the parents, patrons and friends of the school an accurate account of what has happened, when it happened, where it happened, and how it happened.

The name of the paper also designated its purpose. Many items of interest will be found within its eight pages. The student body contributes rather generously to its columns. The paper is in its sixth semester. It is a mimeographed sheet and students do all the work toward its completion. The "Harbinger" is financed by advertisements and subscriptions. The paper staff is always behind the team, and the whole staff along with the rest of the high school fans will be at the sectionals.

Huntertown Teachers, Students, Fans Believe Wildcats Have Good Chance

With the cornered proclamations of many of Huntertown's optimistic student body and faculty, the very heartening fact of the Wildcats' merit as a strong basketball force was disclosed. Most of that quintet's supporters sincerely feel that their local net five should prove to be a triple threat when the actual sectional relay takes place.

Among these Wildcat supporters, who were found browsing through the halls of the new El River-Perry High School, the following responses to the question of "What are your chances in the sectional tournament?" came forth.

Mr. Lawrence Foote: I believe that we have as good a chance as any of the county teams, and that with a good drawing we should emerge way out on top.

Miss Lucile Beavers: We stand a very good chance, if we meet the right teams.

Harry Johnson: I think the team will go pretty far. Generally speaking, the team is very well organized all the way around.

Mr. Paul Henning (principal): With a good drawing, we should stand an excellent chance. Our team is a well practiced, well organized and well headed quintet. Their past record in the county tournament in which they reached the finals, should prove their merit. I believe they will go equally far at the sectional tournament.

Jack Gideon: We've gotta swell going to be in the "pink" of condition, and should be a good match for any of the schools entered.

Virgil Balte: You can never really tell about a tournament line of play. The teams are under a strain, and do not play as they would under ordinary circumstances. However, I think with a good drawing and some lucky breaks, Huntertown will go far.

chance. From all aspects the team is

Huntertown Offers Intramural Sports

298 Boys Engaged In Sports At Present; Coach H. Smith Leads Activities

The Huntertown High School Intramural Department is successfully promoting sports among the 298 boys who are not actively engaged in interscholastic activities. This department promotes quite an extensive program which covers the entire year. Coach Howard Smith is at the head of this department. Basketball is the sport which is being advanced at the present time. Another phase of the department is physical education.

This year a basketball league has been formed which is composed of six teams. This league is known as the "Ite" League, because the teams are named after the respective captains.

Each team plays three times a week, every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The games are played during the physical education period and not during the noon hour, as was the case last year. This year the games have proved very interesting because of the fact that the teams are so closely matched. Through these games, clean sportsmanship and the ability to play better ball are promoted.

After several weeks of tough competition, the Ryanites have surged into the lead, followed closely by the Millerites. Since the schedule is nearly completed, the Ryanites have been conceded the championship.

Hunters' Reserves Give Hope For '39

Coach Howard Smith's Youngsters Have Turned In Good Record

The Huntertown Reserve Squad completed a rather successful season, having won 11 games and losing 6. They defeated their two main rivals, Churubusco and Avilla, by an overwhelming score. Other teams which they defeated throughout the season include Elmhurst, Waterloo, Leo and Harlan.

Because of the success of this reserve squad, the Huntertown Wildcats are expected to come through in grand style during the next season. Coach Howard Smith has had this second team working out with the varsity squad which has given them a very valuable training for the coming season.

The record of the reserve team is as follows:

- Huntertown, 15; New Haven, 10.
- Huntertown, 9; Arcola, 10.
- Huntertown, 14; Leo, 23.
- Huntertown, 11; Woodburn, 20.
- Huntertown, 18; Churubusco, 16.

Wildcat Fives Are Arranging New Schedule

Churubusco, Avilla Fives Are Expected To Be Rough, Tumble Teams

The 1939-1940 schedule of the Huntertown Wildcats has not been definitely completed as yet. But a provisional schedule shows several outstanding and interesting games. Because of the rivalry between Avilla and Huntertown, the games between these teams stand out as featured highlights in the tentative schedule. There is also a deep rivalry between Churubusco and the Wildcats, and the meeting of these teams should prove to be a rough and tumble affair.

Wildcat fans always look forward to the county tournament, scheduled to be held January 25-27, 1940. Hoping that their team will better the feat, the fans in Huntertown intend to back their team in every possible way.

The schedule at the present time consists of sixteen tilts, but more are to be added in the near future. The Huntertown Wildcats face a tough schedule next year, but through the leadership ability of their coach, Howard Smith, the Cats are expected to come through in grand style.

- The schedule is:
- Nov. 3—New Haven, there.
 - Nov. 10—Arcola, here.

New Haven Bests Leo In Tournament

Early Season Win Streak Halted
By Leo Alumni By
45-28 Score

Flashing the high scoring offensive which has stamped them as one of the county's toughest and most consistent basketball clubs, Leo's powerful Lions have compiled a 1938-39 season record that any ball team would be proud to claim. Beaten only three times (one of these occasions was an Alumni defeat) the Leo five has soundly whipped every team in the county.

The Lions opened their schedule with a one sided, 46-23 victory over Spencerville and then followed this triumph with an overwhelming 81-16 conquest of Coesse. The 81 points counted by the Leo five in this ball game constitutes the highest total a county team registered during the entire season.

Next came a thrilling 28-26 win over a fighting Elmhurst ball club and easy victories over Huntertown and Harlan, with the Wildcats bowing out 50-25, and the Hawks, 50-29. The Lion Alumni brought a sudden halt to the five game winning streak by belting the present group of Leo eagles, 45-28. Auburn made it two defeats in a row for the Lion outfit by tripping them, 37-34.

Ashley snapped the loss streak by falling 41-24 before the Leo onslaught and Hoagland's usually strong Wildcats duplicated this performance by losing 45-19 in the first game of a Blind Tourney at New Haven. Leo kept moving to nip New Haven, 23-22, and capture top honors in the four team tournament.

Spencerville followed the Bulldogs on the Leo schedule and the Monarchs of the jungle blew hot again to whip Spencerville, 47-22. New Haven fell before the red hot Leo quintet for the second time, 29-26, and this victory was followed by a 47-18 win over Huntertown. Then came another point avalanche from the Lions, who tossed in 74 tallies to bury Monroeville, 74-30. A thrilling overtime victory stolen from Waterloo, 51-50, preceded another conquest of Hoagland, 40-29, and then came the big event of the year as far as county teams are concerned, the Allen County Tournament.

Leo entered the tourney a heavy favorite to take top honors and they looked the part in again beating Hoagland, 37-13. New Haven, beaten twice by the Lions in regular season play, upset the appecart by stopping the Monarchs, 29-24, and then going on to capture the county title.

Leo snapped out of the tournament setback quickly, however, and, in the final game in which we have a report on, bested Elmhurst, 41-33.

Leo, in winning 16 of 19 games, piled up 816 points to their opponents 516, for a plus average of 43 to 25.

The season record follows:

Leo	Opp.
Spencerville	46
Coesse	81
Elmhurst	28
Huntertown	50
Harlan	50
Alumni	28
Auburn	34
Ashley	45
Hoagland	23
New Haven	22
Spencerville	47
New Haven	29
Huntertown	47
Monroeville	74
Waterloo	51 o'time
Hoagland	40
Hoagland	29
New Haven	23
Elmhurst	41

Leo Cheerleaders Are All Feminine

Rosemary Robinson, Geraldine
Bucker, Helen Klopfenstein
Lead Lion Yells

Rah! Rah! Rah! Leo! Three petite young ladies are instrumental in raising this zealous cry from the throats of the Lions' fans. These three Misses are Rosemary Robinson, Helen Klopfenstein, and Geraldine Bucker. When you see the Leo quintet take the floor, you will see these beauties dressed in white pleated skirts and full white blouses adorned by a purple tie.

The leader of this trio, is Rosemary, a junior, whose interest revolves around basketball, having lots of fun, and a boy from Elmhurst. The last item is probably the reason why she hopes her school draws Elmhurst as an opponent.

Following in the footsteps of their captain, Helen and Geraldine, members of the sophomore class, find basketball their favorite pastime. As to boys, Rosemary says they have no special interest, but for the real low-down you'll have to ask the girls themselves. By the way, Helen is a sister to that ball star, Morris Klopfenstein.

High Scoring Quintet Hopes For Sectional Victories

Leo Fans Express Varied Opinions On Chances Of School

In Leo High are the "three best looking girl yell leaders in the state," according to what the Leoites think. We saw one of them, and we seem to agree. They are worth looking at a second time or a third time, or as many times as you want to look, according to our estimation. The one we saw and spoke to was a neat little number in white shoes, those infernal white shoes that capture the fancy of school gals from coast to coast.

They were three of the dozens of boys and gals who boosted the possible victory of their team over the quintet they draw as No. 1 on the card.

We walked through the class rooms and talked over the team and school with the students. They elected Lantz as the star of the team, but there were others who said it was hard to tell which of the five first stringers were top raters.

They feel that a school that puts up a good fight in any kind of sports is looked upon by other teams in the locality as a better school. It molds the school spirit. Leo was county champ in softball two years ago. The trophy they snatched is on display in the recently placed trophy case in the entrance to the gym. We talked with the student manager in the dressing room. We looked over the purple and white Lions' jackets and jerseys hanging in their rack. Neat uniforms.

We walked through a senior class and interviewed over 25 of the seniors, representatives of not only the town of Leo, but Grabbill and Cedarville, two adjoining towns, as well.

We asked them whether they expected a good team next year.

"We'll lose a couple of our best players, but I'd say the team would be just as good next year, even without the stars."

"The team helps to hold the school together," admitted one brawny, black haired upperclassman. He was the one who later told us that the "favorite meeting-place of the school was the boiler-room."

"Sure," we agreed. "Just one big gang of boiler-room dead-end kids."

"The better the team, the better the reputation of the school in the eyes of other county teams and schools," said another.

Darby Davis Is One Swell Fellow In Opinion Of North Side Scribe

Coach Hubert Davis, better known among the Leo-ites as "Darby" Davis, is well along in his sixth year of producing athletic organizations for three communities: Grabbill, Cedarville and Leo, which send their youths to the Leo High School not only to obtain an education but also to gain fame on the softball field and basketball floor.

Darby, if he will permit us to call him such, took over the job of developing baseball and basketball teams out of a comparatively small male population which numbers no more than 94.

Darby's policy is to give every one a chance and produce something out of nothing (referring to actual basketball experience) which is a hard task in any man's language. But, as you can see by the fine records of the Leo teams, it can and is done.

Davis not only had very little material from which to mould a team but his equipment and floor space is drastically limited. But, again his valuable instinct of producing something out of nothing came to his aid, and he and his boys constructed and decorated a room for their personal use. This "hang-out" (a constructive reference) is decorated with pictures of the Lion's own "great" and other inspiring characters. The student managers take a definite advantage of this added facility. Realizing the need for dependable showers, Davis, through his own labor, constructed a shower and locker room. At least he laid down the specifications for it and saw that they were carried out.

Leo Gymnasium Is Small But Is Very Modernly Equipped

The Leo Lions have in the past few years been turning out teams of championship caliber despite the severe handicap of being forced to play in a gym which is somewhat under regulation size.

However, very little complaining is heard and the team and the pupils make the best of it. That may be the explanation of the fine spirit and the willingness to keep fighting when things look pretty dark. The recreational hall, used at the noon hour for intra-mural activities, holds, when packed to the ceiling, not more than three hundred fifty fans.

The basketball court boasts an electric scoring board and glass backboards, supported by steel braces which are securely fastened in the nearby brick wall.

Leo Softball Team Wins Two Of Five

Lions Whip Huntertown And Arcola Then Lose Three In A Row

The Leo Lions, carrying the weight upon their shoulders of defending the Allen County Softball championship, won last year, could pocket but two wins out of five official engagements.

One of the big guns in the Leo nine was tiny Pete Maxfield, who with his constant pepping it up stirred his team to its two early season victories. Showing excellent ability in basketball but being handicapped forced Pete to turn to student managership and he has proved himself a mighty good one.

Supporting Maxfield who played the all important position of short stop, were Harry Schwartz, pitcher; Bob Lantz, first base; Russel King, second base; Morris Gehrig, short stop; Junior Horolf, third base; Keith Gehrig, center field; Levon Bender, right field; and John Arnold, catcher.

Leo Fans Hoping To Upset Redskins

Want To Revenge Lone New Haven Defeat; Coach Proud Of Team

Bill Scott, Leo cheerleader last year has big hopes for his team. His enthusiastic reply to that well-known question, what is your team's chances, was "The way they've been hitting they're bound to go places. We have a good team, in fact, the best line of boys we have ever had."

"Leo is a fine school and we have an excellent team. I hope they go to the end." This was the opinion expressed by Helda Shears. Wayne Rosselot hopes the Lions meet the New Haven quintet during the sectionals. He said, "I'm sure we can beat them, we did previously, three out of four games."

If the winning of the sectionals depends upon school spirit, then, Leo should go far according to the statements made by these seniors. Leona Ragan stated, "We have a pretty good chance, but if we don't win this year, we probably never will." However, Eva Neuhauser asserted, "We have a better chance than we ever had."

Although the purple and white team lost in the county tourney, Virginia Stucky still retains that school spirit and expressed the opinion that her team has a good chance in the sectionals. Richard Klopfenstein, too, sticks up for his Alma Mater, asserting that they have a good chance to take the tournament.

According to Alberta Parsons, Wilber Shaffer, and Junior Snyder a great deal of the success of their team will depend upon whom they draw. (If this is so, good luck.) To climax this wish Junior and Wilber hope they draw South Side.

Bulldogs Optimistic About Sectional Tournament Outcome

Allen County Champs Hope For Triumph

New Haven Five Experiences Poor Regular Season; Win Only Four

Coach Paul White's Team Loses Nine

Recover To Snare County Crown; Upset Tough Leo Outfit

New Haven's Blue and Gold netters topped off a four-win, nine-loss season in fine style as they came back in the final quarter of the last game of the County Tourney to edge out Hometown 35-24 and win the County Championship.

The Bulldogs opened their season against Hometown and came off with a 33-27 win to start the season right, but took a relapse the next week to drop a close one to Decatur Catholic 17-16. Monroeville was the next to fall before the Bulldogs 32-19, but the Dogs' victory was short-lived as Berne's Bears opened up in the third period to ice the game, 20-11. Elmhurst came to town and left defeated, as Hans Dienelt had a field day to lead the Canines to a 30-21 victory over the Trojans for their third win of the season.

Then came the landslide of defeats. Decatur and Central Catholic were the first two victors over the Bulldogs; Decatur won 28-23, by throwing up a tight defense in the last period, and the Irish outscored New Haven 24-19.

For a moment the Bulldogs regained their championship form to defeat Woodburn 27-17, but again slipped and dropped four straight to Leo, 29-26; Hoagland, 21-20; Auburn, 39-37; and Berne, 38-32. In the final game of the season, the Blue and Gold netters dropped a one-sided fray to Ossian 47-29.

The only bright spot in the season's campaign was a win in the Blind Tourney over Monroeville and four straight victories in the County Tourney. The Bulldogs made it two in a row over Elmhurst as they met the Trojans in the first game of the tourney as they won handily 32-23. In the second draw the Bulldogs drew an old enemy, Leo, who had defeated them in the Blind Tourney earlier in the season. The Dogs bit the Lion in this game and came out on top with a 28-24 win and a chance for the championship. Lafayette Central was the next victim of the Dogs and the Pirates fell by the wayside 24-23. In the final fray of the tourney, they really turned on the steam and hit from every angle to win a one-sided victory over Hometown 35-24.

The complete schedule with results is below:

New Haven 33, Hometown 27.
New Haven 16, Decatur Cath. 17.
New Haven 32, Monroeville 19.
New Haven 11, Berne 20.

Hans Dienelt Leads New Haven Scorers

When it comes to a scoring story for the Bulldogs it is just necessary to write two words: Hans Dienelt. Hans Dienelt is the biggest of the big guns on the New Haven squad as he has collected to date 242 points in the twenty games so far this year. This has given the big boy an average far above the run of the mine of scorers.

Second spot is occupied by two boys, Kenny VanMeter and Robert Hutson, with 92 points apiece, in nineteen games. William Rudolph claims fourth place with seventy points and Wayne Gillie takes fifth spot with 35 points in eighteen games. The complete list of high scorers with the games played is below:
Total Pts. Games
Hans Dienelt 242 19
Kenneth VanMeter 92 19
Robert Hutson 92 19
William Rudolph 70 19
Wayne Gillie 35 18

New Haven Bulldogs Loom As Possible Dark Horse

This group of hardy urban basketballers pictured above will represent New Haven in the Sectional tournament. The Bulldogs have had a fairly successful season and definitely proved themselves a threat by winning the county tournament.

New Haven Girls Are Sports Minded

Miss Kathlene Magenity Heads Efficient Girls Athletic Department

The Tournament News in substance plays up the boy athletes; however, we find at New Haven that the girls also are winning honors in this same line. Miss Kathlene Magenity, girls athletic coach, is responsible for the interest taken in sports by about 115 girls.

The activities of the year are divided into three groups. First of all in the fall these girls all turn out for soccer, box hockey, paddle tennis and last, but not least, basketball. The second group consists of tumbling, volleyball, volleying tennis and badminton. Finally they enter the last lap of the year and play soft ball, tennis and archery; in the line of track they hurdle, broad jump, run and practice various throws.

Another outstanding feature is that of the dancing class conducted by Miss Magenity and attended by 150 pupils, both boys and girls. Folk, square, social and tap are taught.

Marjorie Shrock and Pauline Stemmler, the former a guard and the latter a forward, are perhaps the two outstanding girl athletes. Both have very athletic brothers, also.

In order that all players are well informed on the rules of basketball a test of 100 true and false questions is given. Another accomplishment that is required of every girl is that she succeed in making three out of every five free throws of the definite number assigned her to throw. Freshmen are required to make 250 in a period of three weeks and must have two other persons to vouch for the fact that it has been done. The seniors are required to make 350 free throws in four weeks. Do you wonder New Haven has such a turnout of girls?

The New Haven G.A.A. is run under the state regulations. At present it has a membership of around 100. Awards consisting of purple and gold N's preceded by numerals are given on the basis of points an individual has earned.

Paul White Had Great Net Career On Franklin And DePauw Quintets

Paul White

Coaches may come and coaches may go but none come so well as Paul A. White, coach of New Haven's County Championship Bulldogs, who owe most of their sensational success to his able coaching. This year the Bulldogs made Coach White's thirteenth year one of his most successful ones by copping the county championship in basketball for the third time.

Although many say that coaching a championship basketball team is a full time job for any man it is only one of the many accomplishments of this near super coach. Mr. White is also principal and Government teacher at New Haven.

Mr. White's sport record is one to be envied by all who participate in any athletics. Mr. White was one of the first members of the "Franklin Wonder Five" who won three state championships back in the early twenties of this century. Paul was not the only member of this sensational team who took up coaching and became famous in this district. Mr. Burl Frid-dle, of our own South Side, played side by side with White throughout the season. After a most sensational high school record. Mr. White entered De-Pauw University and was voted one of the most outstanding athletes in that university.

During the season the DePauw quintet met Illinois and Wisconsin and due to Mr. White's efforts gave DePauw their good showing. In the Illinois game White scored 21 of his team's 23 points and against the Bad-gers scored 20 out of 25.

While in college one of Paul's team mates was the now Coach Murray Mendenhall of Central, who was one of the mainstays of the DePauw quintet.

Although Mr. White's big interest in college was basketball he also was a star on the track team, swimming team, and was the individual star of the tennis team. Mr. White will be completing his fourteenth year at New Haven and deserves a tribute for his outstanding coaching and management of the School. Before starting at New Haven, White coached for one year at Fairmount, his first year out of college.

New Haven Boasts Of Many Activities

Yearbook, A Cappella Choir, Class Plays Are Few Of Outside Activities

The school yearbook, social science club, A Cappella, a singing quartet, junior and senior class plays, Sunshine Society, and the band are some of the clubs and activities of the New Haven High School.

The yearbook is the first put out by the school and is headed by Robert Butler, editor, and Barbara Rigby, president of the senior class.

Marjorie Bell writes a weekly column in the local town paper which is of great interest to the pupils. So although there is no school paper, the journalistic line is not altogether forgotten.

Barbara Rigby is also president of the Social Science Club, which is under the direction of Miss Mary Chandler. The club, with a large membership, meets once a week.

The music department is also quite active. The A Cappella Choir is directed by Miss Evelyn Walter. The school quartet, composed of Reinhold Werling, Fred Peters, Thomas Kerr and Robert Butler, sings over the radio and for various special occasions. Mr. M. Sheet directs the band.

The Sunshine Society, an organization open to all girls, is a chapter of the state organization.

A good New Haven crowd is expected at the tournament—however, that will vary according to the draw.

Lucky Suit?

It may be the bulldog, it may be superior coaching, it may be the support of the student body, it may be the quality of the players, but if you ask any of the students of New Haven why they have had such sensational luck this season it will not be any of these.

It's Coach Paul A. White's gray pinstripe suit that brings the luck. A couple of weeks before the county tournament Coach White dug this old suit out of the mothballs to wear at the game while his other suit was at the cleaners. They won. This didn't affect Coach White but by some freak of fate he had the suit on when the tournament started and they won. So he kept it on. They won again, so for the final game he wore the suit again and New Haven came out county champs.

He got the suit cleaned and while in the cleaners the Bulldogs dropped a contest at Ossian but the next week he wore it again and the Bulldogs won. So if a bedraggled figure in a dirty gray pinstripe suit comes in at the tournament chalk up a win for New Haven.

Scribes View Pep Session At New Haven; Impressed

A pep session of New Haven is quite comparable to any one of ours. At the very beginning, we were furnished by the principal, Mr. Paul White, with a most capable and helpful escort, captain of the cheer leaders, (Buck) "Benny" Hovel. After answering all the questions we could fire at him, he announced that a pep session was to be held and so invited us to attend.

We were ushered to the gym where we found some seats of prominence overlooking all, just above an exit. We noticed a thing typical of our home pep sessions that was even more evident here. That was the dividing line of the sexes. In an almost unbroken line, we could trace the center row of division, all above were boys and all below, girls. We were a little surprised by the next move; pupils of the student body were asked by a cheer leader to give a pep talk. The unusual was that each one asked, although unprepared, immediately responded with a snappy little paragraph.

Benny left us then to lead with the other two "yellers" in a series of original and peppy yells to which the student body responded with great loyalty. With the last yell, our escort bounded up the steps to aid us further. We needed the quoted ideas of some of the students as to the chances of their team, and so Benny, by the utterance of several names, soon had a group to which we could put our question.

Bulldogs Cop Softball Title; Are Unbeaten

Win Five Regular Season Engagements, Two In Tournament

New Haven not only produced county champions in basketball but the Blue and Golders came through with a county championship in softball, the only other major sport sponsored by the school. The Bulldogs played five regularly scheduled games and two in the county tournament and won them all hands down.

They opened the season against Monroeville and came out with a five-three win, as Hemsoth, who was on the mound for the Dogs, let the visitors down with just three bingles. Lafayette Central was the next victim of the rampaging Bulldogs as Hemsoth repeated his feat of a week before to swamp the Pirates 7-2.

Although two wins in two starts looks good for a softball pitcher, Hemsoth had to wait until the next week to get his big thrill as he shut out Arcola with one hit, a scratch single in the last inning, 5-0. Woodburn sent her team to New Haven in hopes of becoming the first team to defeat the Bulldogs but were denied as Hemsoth struck out twelve hitters to chalk up his fourth consecutive win of the season, 8-3.

Neitert ended the season for the Canines with an 8-5 victory over Hometown and the Bulldogs went into the Tournament heavy favorites to take the title. Not a team to disappoint a following, the Dogs started off in fine style by taking a thrilling extra-inning ball game 4-2, as Dienelt, star short felder, got a single with two men on in the tenth inning to win. The Bulldogs made the year complete with a win over Harlan that gave them the county championship.

The starting line-up in these games is: Hanefeld, catcher; Hoevel, first base; Hemsoth, second base when not pitching; and B. Rosswurm as a substitute; Dienelt, short field; Anderson, third base; Menking, short stop; Rudolph, left field; Gillie, center field; and Voors, right field.

Lichtsinn, Hemsoth, and Neitert divided the pitching duties, with Lichtsinn acting in the role of relief pitcher in most cases. Substitutes to this aggregation were E. Rosswurm, Lampe, and Hade. D. Federspiel acted as student manager during the season.

The schedule and results are below: New Haven 5, Monroeville 3. New Haven 7, Lafayette Cent. 12. New Haven 5, Arcola 0. New Haven 8, Woodburn 3. New Haven 8, Hometown 5. COUNTY TOURNAMENT New Haven 4, Elmhurst 2. New Haven 4, Harlan 3.

"The New Haven team has improved more than any other team I have ever coached. Also if South Side doesn't do it we will," says Paul A. White, the coach and principal.

Woodburn Five Hopes For Break In Tournament Draw

Warriors Win Six Of First 14 Cage Contests

Tough Schedule Proves Costly; Woodburn Divides Tilts With Hoagland

Lose Two Tilts To Lafayette Team

Beat Hometown, 20-19, In Thriller; Whip Concordia Of Fort Wayne

By scheduling the toughest teams in this section, the Woodburn Warriors sacrificed the chance to come out of the season with an unblemished record, but played some remarkable ball against top-flight competition in winning six and losing eight of their scheduled contests so far. The Warriors entered the season with but three seniors around which to build their squad and consequently were inexperienced, but they have made up for that inexperience by fight and are hoping to come out of the season with a fifty-fifty score at least.

The Warriors opened their season by losing a heart-breaker to Berne but came right back in their next fray to defeat Harlan in a county game to start the season off in fairly good style. They added a victory over Hometown but dropped their fourth game of the season to Hoagland. After losing another close one to Lafayette Central the Warriors scalped the Monroeville Cubs in a game that seemingly showed the real strength of the club.

The Warriors dropped their fourth game to New Haven in their seventh game and made it five losses by losing to a hot quintet from Ridge, Ohio. The Indians had a tough time getting out of the rut as they dropped the next two games to Arcola and Elmhurst in another pair of county games. They finally hit their stride late in the third period of the Hometown fracas to pull a one-point victory out of the fire and then avenged an early season loss to Hoagland by defeating them for their fifth win.

Next the Warriors invaded Fort Wayne to engage Concordia High School and walk out with a victory over the Cadets. In their next game they dropped a close contest to Lafayette Central for the second time of the season.

The season's record:
Berne 28, Woodburn 22.
Harlan 19, Woodburn 34.
Hometown 22, Woodburn 43.
Hoagland 23, Woodburn 26.
Lafayette 18, Woodburn 16.
Monroeville 24, Woodburn 47.
New Haven 27, Woodburn 17.
Ridge, Ohio, 32, Woodburn 22.
Arcola 36, Woodburn 26.
Elmhurst 37, Woodburn 30.
Hometown 19, Woodburn 20.
Hoagland 27, Woodburn 32.
Concordia 29, Woodburn 35.
Lafayette 29, Woodburn 27.

Woodburn 'B' Five Wins Nine Games

Warrior Substitutes Better Varsity Mark; Lose Only Four Contests

Woodburn's Reserve Warriors set a standard for the first team to shoot at when they outdid the regulars with a very good season; nine out of thirteen. The strength of the reserve squad seems to point toward a good season next year for the Warriors.

The Paposes played the second teams of the schools which saw action against the regulars and in nearly every game outscored the varsity. They opened against Berne and defeated them 28-20, while the regulars were losing 22-23. They made it three in a row with victories over Harlan and Hometown before they dropped the next two to Hoagland and Lafayette.

The young Warriors came back the next week-end to cop a 35-12 win over Monroeville, but lost on the following night to New Haven's second 11-9 in a very defensive ball game. After New Haven, the Warriors ran into a hot bunch of Arcola Aces and lost another one-point victory 22-21. The following Saturday Elmhurst handed them their last defeat as they went ahead to win the next three in a row from Hometown, Hoagland, and Lafayette Central.

The second team's record is below:
Woodburn 28, Berne 20.
Woodburn 32, Harlan 8.
Woodburn 20, Hometown 11.
Woodburn 17, Hoagland 31.
Woodburn 11, Lafayette 12.
Woodburn 35, Monroeville 12.
Woodburn 9, New Haven 11.
Woodburn 29, Ridge, Ohio, 13.
Woodburn 22, Arcola 21.
Woodburn 22, Elmhurst 28.
Woodburn 15, Hometown 12.
Woodburn 23, Hoagland 22.
Woodburn 14, Lafayette 13.

Woodburn Opinions On Tourney Varied

Students Hope Team Will Get Break By Drawing A Weak Team

The answers to our questions of how far the Woodburn team would go in 1939 sectional brought a great variety of answers from the students of the Woodburn High School. The students believe that the outcome depends upon the draw. Some of the opinions of the students are as follows:

Virginia Sweet: Our boys could go far if they would keep up the good spirit they started with at the beginning of the season.

Ruth Jessup: Our team has the right spirit and they know that we will back them as far as they go.

Arnold Gerbers: Our boys have done very good work so far and I think they will go far in the '39 sectional tournament.

Kelly Lindemuth (student manager): Not having been beaten over ten points by any county team, I think we can go far with any of them, but the Fort Wayne teams will be tough.

Betty Schalsteat (yell leader): If they draw one of the smaller county teams, they will have a good chance as any other team.

Raymond Wetter: Their chances are rather slim, they may get on their first game if they draw one of the weaker teams.

Elton Fuelling: They will do the best they can and will depend upon the draw.

Basketball Popular Woodburn Activity

The Woodburn High School has tournaments in school also. They play paddle tennis, shuffle board, table tennis and checkers. The students play these games during their lunch period and also after school, but basketball seems to be the game they like best.

The juniors and seniors have been communicating with the boys and girls of different countries. Some of the countries are Hawaii, Germany, Holland and Egypt. The life in the classes: Freshies, study; sophomores, study less and talk more; juniors, very diligent in both studies and conversation; seniors, do not study, do not think, do not notice anything, only talk.

The juniors have a hard time trying to become successful public speakers. They blush, stammer, talk too fast, talk too low and the only satisfaction they get is when it is somebody else's turn.

Warrior's Creed

"No alibies, we'll do our best
And take our chances with the rest.
Perhaps you'll criticize our speed
But find not fault with Warrior's Creed.

The battle's on; the goal's in sight,
We'll fight you fair with all our might,
Perhaps you'll think we're low
on speed,
But will not criticize our Creed.

The turmoil of the strife is o'er,
And wreckage strewn about the floor;
Perhaps we've lost, the goal in sight;
Still we have fought a gallant fight.

The thrill of victory is sweet,
But all may strive to turn defeat
Into a course of higher fame;
This is the way to play the game.

Woodburn Principal Is G. C. Henderson; At Helm 35 Years

G. C. Henderson, principal of Woodburn High School, has a record that has been equalled by few in the teaching profession and surpassed by even fewer. He has been principal at Woodburn for thirty-five years, and in that time has had many father-and-son combinations and equally as many mother-and-daughter duos. In thirty-five years he has seen two generations of Woodburn youth come and go from his High School.

Mr. Henderson received his education at Tri-State and Indiana University and taught in DeKalb County before coming to his present post. Students in his classes study mathematics and industrial arts, and probably more of Woodburn's youth will be taught to be better citizens by this "grand old man of Woodburn's education."

Woodburn Leaders Conclude Careers

Two girls will complete four years of varsity activity with the completion of this year's Sectional Tournament when Bonnie Lindemuth and Betty Scholstrate lead the Woodburn cheering section for the last time. Both girls have been arousing the pep and spirit of Warrior boosters for the last four years and will undoubtedly give good account of themselves in the forthcoming tournament.

No matter what the score or how badly the Warrior's head feathers may be drooping, we can always count on Bonnie and Betty to keep the stands alive as they cavort in front of the bleachers in their blue and white slacks and jackets.

Both of the girls are straight "A" students and can, as one loyal Warrior put it, "get yells out of a deaf and dumb section of rooters."

Archers Sweep Through Foes In March Toward State Title

Stay Unbeaten During Regular Playing Season

N. E. I. Conference And City Championships Are Safely Stowed Away By Green

Score 831 Points To Opponents' 567

Narrow Defeats In Hammond Tourney Only Blots On Season's Record

South Side's powerful state champion Archers swept through their 1938-39 basketball schedule in fine style, winning all of their nineteen scheduled tilts and dropping only two verdicts to Frankfort and Vincennes in the Hammond Holiday Tourney. In addition to piling up this amazing record of 19 wins in 21 starts, the Archers won both the city and N. E. I. C. titles.

The Archers swept through all N. E. I. C. competition to hang up seven victories against no defeats. The Green also remained undefeated against city competition, winning the city crown with five wins against no defeats. Last year the Archers won the N. E. I. C. crown, but shared the city title with the North Side Redskins.

The Archers, in hanging up the first perfect record in scheduled games in the history of the school, scored 831 points while holding their opponents to 567. In other words the Green Wave averaged 40 points per contest while their opponents averaged only 27, thus giving the state champs a 13 point average margin of victory.

Hailed as state champions throughout the state and determined to be worthy of the title, the Archers got their 1938-39 season off to a flying start, winning their first six games from Kendallville, Bluffton, Connersville, Auburn, Vincennes, and Central Catholic. During the holiday invitational tournament held at Hammond the Archers met with a pair of defeats. The first of these was at the hands of an all powerful Frankfort Hot Dog squad, 42-40, and the second, a 30-27 affair, was administered by the Alices of Vincennes, a team which the Friddlemen had previously drubbed by no less than '21 points.

After the Hammond tourney, however, troubles for the Green and White were apparently over, as the Archers proceeded to close their season with a win streak of 13 games. Most impressive of these numerous wins were the victories over Franklin and Kokomo. The Archers beat the Grizzly Cubs 35-28 and defeated the powerful Kokomo Kats 38-29. Franklin went on to win the South Central Conference title and Kokomo was crowned champs of the ever powerful North Central Conference.

This year the South Side tournament squad will be comprised of five seniors, four juniors, and one sophomore. Of these, four were members of last year's state tournament squad. These four are Bolyard, Beery, Glass, and Chedester. Newcomers to the Archer squad are Ralph Hamilton, Don Hire, Carl Hall, Bob Hines, Leroy Cook, and Carl Braden. The Archer tournament squad will be above average in height, the average height being around 6 feet, 1 inch.

Coach Friddle has this season been pretty consistent on his choices for the starting five. Bob Bolyard and Carl Hall usually get the call as forwards; Jim Glass is the number one pivot man; and Beery and Hire hold down the guard posts. Ralph Hamilton and Bob Hines have also seen a lot of action during the past season and Coach Friddle frequently differs his starting combination by inserting one or both of these boys in the lineup. In the sectionals, however, it is quite probable that the entire squad will see plenty of action, thus enabling Coach Friddle to save his varsity boys for when the going gets tough.

Friddle Associated With Championship In Minds Of Fans

It has been said, and with some degree of truth, that basketball in South Side turned over a new leaf with the coming of one Burl Friddle. Coach Friddle has done a lot to impress that statement on the minds of Archer fans. After two years of patient building and developing of material, Friddle gave to South Side, to Fort Wayne, and to Northern Indiana its first state championship basketball squad. The 1938 state champions from South Side have become a tradition, never to be forgotten in the history of the school.

Although this having a state championship team was something very new and different for a Fort Wayne school, it was not exactly a thing new to the experience of Coach Friddle. Burl Friddle got his first taste of state championship basketball as a member of the famous Franklin Wonder Five which won three consecutive state titles in 1920, '21, and '22. However, Burl Friddle had also won a state championship sitting on the bench, as in 1930 his Washington Hatchets went through all competition to take the state title.

Looking into the record of Coach Friddle, it is seen that he possesses the best 15-year coaching record in the state of Indiana. His teams have never lost a series of games to any opponent. The Central Tigers were the one team which had won the majority of their games with a Friddle-

Another State Crown On Our Horizon Is Opinion Of Students

Another State Championship is the opinion of every Archer fan. The fans enthusiastically responded to your scribe's inquiries, and they believe that the Friddlemen will conquer in the sectional and finally go on to conquer at state. The hope and dream of every Archer is the retaining of the coveted basketball crown. If the fans have anything to do with the victories, it will be a simple matter to capture the title.

Here is what these Archer fans have to say about the team's chances for winning state.

Andrew Bremer: Best in the world. I think we'll just breeze right through the sectional.

Anna Anderson: Swell. Josephine Frosh: I think they're marvelous. We should be able to win state again.

Lora Lee Montgomery: There is no doubt that we'll win state again this year. Frank Devlin: With Bolyard, Beery and Glass in there fighting, I doubt if the other teams will have a fighting chance.

Roger Neff: We have the best chance in the world to repeat what we did last year.

Aubrey Kellogg: Our team is undoubtedly the best in the state. Bob Gerke: A wonderful chance to win.

Wilmer Bengts: The chances this year of winning state are as good as the chances the team had last year.

Clayton Jensen: We have a swell chance to win that title.

Chuck Haugk: A snappy chance. Bob Devlin: Oh, I think we'll win.

Jim Murphy: I hope and I think that they'll win state.

Richard Buirely: If they don't get too overconfident they're bound to win.

Bob Dahman: I think we'll do it again. Hope so that we can celebrate again.

John Doswell: I think we have a good chance to repeat.

Bob Byers: When we get past Central, we'll have a clear path to win state.

Paul Beltz: By the way we've been beating the southern teams, it makes us look pretty tough.

Joe Box: We seem to be the best in the state, but even the best team can be picked off in a tournament. We have plenty of power in reserve, however, we should remember the failure of the Central team two years ago.

Chuck Bolman: I dunno, I guess they're pretty good. That's what they say anyway.

Allison Arnold: We have a good fast breaking team that knows how to run plays too.

Gerald Polman: All the chances in the world.

Kenny Warren: When and if the team gets hot, no team in the state can stop them.

Max Magner: Chances look pretty good if they get by Central.

Evelyn Kruse: Oh, we'll win.

coached team, but Coach Friddle and his South Side Archers erased the one remaining blot on his record by, this season, trimming the Tigers two in a row. Another interesting note concerning Coach Friddle is that he is the one man who has both played on and coached a state championship team.

Coach Burl Friddle, it is true, has done more to further basketball in South Side High School than any other one man. He takes his position on the Archer bench as a recognized asset, as essential as the team itself.

State Has Eyes On These Archers To See If They'll Repeat

Perhaps another state championship team is the hope of every Archer fan. The Friddlemen this year have concluded a very excellent record, winning all of their scheduled games, and somehow it seems that Fate isn't going to deny the wish of the Archers.

Here is an introduction to each individual member of these potential state champions, a squad which is running neck and neck with last year's squad.

Don Hire, junior guard, the newest addition to the team, is one of the most improved players on the squad. Always ranking high in the scoring column, Don has often been the spark plug of the Archer offense. Don is now a regular on the team after spending his freshman and sophomore years on the reserve squad. His action on the tournament squad will help to make the Archers another state championship team.

Robert Hines, sophomore understudy of Jim Glass, is making his debut into the tournaments this year. This fighting lad, brother of Johnny Hines, who was a member of last year's tournament squad, has made a great showing for himself this season and is expected to be in many of the games, proving what a great basketball player he is.

Challenging his brother Dale's fine record, Ralph Hamilton, who always sees plenty of action in the games, has done a bang-up job for Coach Friddle this season. Ralph sacrificed a year of his high school life in order to gain the necessary height to make a fine player. He will be seen in the games fighting hard all the time and doing his share of the scoring.

Big Jim Glass, senior, playing center on the team, has been a great asset to the team throughout the year. His pivoting, and his ability to make pivot shots, should prove very valuable to the tournament squad. His experience, in that he was a member of last year's tournament squad, will prove to be a deciding factor in the victories which will inevitably fall upon the Friddlemen. Six feet nine inches of manhood is represented in James Elwin Glass.

Following in the footsteps of his brother, Bob, Don Beery is proving to be another of the outstanding Archer basketball players. Don, one of the four members of last year's state champions, has had a prosperous season, hitting that basket from all over the floor. This guard, one of the starting five, is a great asset to the Robin Hood team.

Archers To Have Capable '39 Squad

Bob Hines, Keith Spiker, Dave Roth, Chick Shimer, Ralph Hamilton, Braden To Play.

It seems as if the graduation each year from the varsity five leaves an irreparable gap in the lineup of the South Side first team. The reserve players do not seem to have nearly the ability of the graduated veterans, and early in the season South Side fans began to worry about how the team is ever going to get along next season without the services of such and such a player. However, as the season nears an end, certain members of the reserve squad begin to show remarkable possibilities for handling the ball and hitting the hoop.

The question at the present time seems to be, who is going to replace such veterans as Bolyard, Beery, Glass, and Hall next season.

Reserves Not Hopeless

Turning our gaze in the direction of the South Side reserve squad, we find that the situation is not as hopeless as it seems at the present time.

First of all, it looks as if Bobby Hines is the likely candidate for the center position left open by big Jim Glass. Although Hines does not even come close to the towering height reached by Glass, he certainly is no infant either in stature or in the fine art of basketball. Slightly over 6 feet, 1 inch, Hines has substituted brilliantly this season for Glass. Keith Spiker, a junior, is also expected to run a close second for the center position.

Moving out to the guard position, we find that Hire will continue to hold down one of our positions. Leroy Cook will probably find that he has all he can do to keep freshman "Chick" Shimer from ousting him from the position of varsity guard.

Dave Roth may appear as a "dark horse" in this race for guard to make competition tougher.

Hamilton Makes Good

There seems to be no doubt about the fact that Ralph Hamilton will hold down one of the regular forward berths. "Ham" has played varsity forward this season and has become one of the best on the squad.

Braden is the latest development in line for forward. He has been in there during every minute of the reserve games and just a few weeks ago he began to hit. It looks as if he were going to develop into another "Red" Braden and if he does, watch the "Archers go by."

Looking over this group of young Archers it appears that South Side's basketball record will be left in very capable hands when the veterans leave us.

BACK TO SCHOOL

I work and work just every day:
In every manner...every way.
I get my lessons and am I sore
When teachers say, "Here are some more!"
I think that I'm the "biggest fool
For staying in this unjust school.

Redskin Squad May Come Through And Capture Title

South Side Quintet Trims Reds Twice

Wabash, Central Catholic, Also Beat Red; South Margin,
34-21, Is Largest

With a trio of tilts remaining on their 19-game schedule, North Side's Crimson cagers barge into the Sectional Tournament picture as strictly an unknown quantity. An unknown quantity which has to its credit 12 victories and but four defeats and an early season eight game winning streak.

Coach Bob Nulf, for the most part, will be relying on underclassmen to carry the majority of the load in the coming tourney and it is these underclassmen who have contributed the most to the Redskin victory column.

North opened the season as an injury-ridden, downhearted band of cagers. Football had taken a toll of basketball prospects and the outlook for a successful campaign was indeed dark back in December, 1938.

Traditional opponent Masonic Home was even given a slight edge over the North Side contingent, but the Red Horde surprised and romped home to an experimental; 29-19, victory. An experimental win because Bob Nulf used ten players in sinking the Masons.

Came the annual city series season opened matching North and Central and the Red was still holding an underdog position. Came the final score North Side 32, Central 26, and the Redskin stock was on the upgrade with several thousand fans starting to buy in on the ground floor. Nappanee's veteran Bulldogs nipped the Nulfmen a bit on the following evening but not enough to halt the victory march, as the Redskins shook off the Canines' hold in the final period and triumphed, 35-32. Consternation reigned. Also cats and dogs, but North swept on. Decatur played host to the Northerners and faded in the fourth and final period before an onslaught that buried the Yellow Jackets, 37-15. Peru, out to settle a football score, was itself settled rather easily, 43-28. The game was rough and poorly played but North Side had the 43 and all was well with a winning streak that now stretched over five consecutive tilts. The following week end North bumped Elkhart, a very strong Northern Conference club, by the strength of a late flier by junior Wayne Heiber and followed this narrow conquest up with a driving, 39-26, win over Garrett. Consternation still reigned at North Side but the cats and dogs has resigned long ago. Decatur, Illinois, a very tough out of state club with a very tough reputation, invaded Fort Wayne and the Red five toyed with the idea of losing to the visitors before hitting in the third and fourth stanzas to win out, 17-12.

At this point there will be slight pause for Christmas vacation. Then came catastrophe. South Side's mean ol' champions hung a black eye on the Redskins, whipping them very handily, 34-21, and halting the unexpected Redskin winning streak at eight straight games.

Doldrums of the first water, old as the Mayflower because they probably came over on it, gripped the North Side netters and they blew an easy one to a good, good team of Fighting Irish from Central Catholic, 29-18. North Side fans could only hope that a good break would halt a losing streak which only two games before had been a winning one. Hope they did, but to no avail as a tough band of Wabash Apaches nipped North nicely, 31-25.

Then nice Hartford City, very nice Hartford City, trotted into tepee town and the poor Airedales went yowling home, beaten 31-29, by the hot, hot sniping of Bobby Young, and North Side's lost column was declared "For Rent." Central, another Fort Wayne team, bowed 38-35 to the rejuvenated Redskins and it was three in a row before you could learn Hamlet. But then again came those devilish Archers who cut the Red victory string in a honey of a battle, 43-34. North, to say the least, was downhearted and their way of demanding and getting retribution was to fio out and whip Auburn the next evening, very comfortably, 28-14. Columbia City was the next victim and the Nulfmen operated successfully, using a local anaesthetic (the Red gym) cutting the Eagles neatly, 39-29. Kendallville was next and fell by the same margin but on a different locale. North won, 41-31, at the Comet camp.

And that, of course, is that as far as season records are concerned.

North Side Loses

North Side dropped a North Eastern Indiana Conference clash to Bluffton, February 17, 30-26. It was the Redskins' fifth defeat of the season. Bluffton won on the strength of three late field goals, two by Fryback and one by Hixon, which swept away a North Side 25-24 lead and gave the Tigers their surprise victory. Bluffton led at half-time, 17-15.

Scribbler Compiles Bob Nulf Netters' Shooting Averages

With the Redskin basketball season all but finished, somewhat of a close race has developed for the honor of being top scorer for the '38-'39 year. Leading the Red pack at the present time, after coming from behind in mid-season, is Wayne Heiber, a junior, who in final seasonal games has been handicapped with an injured ankle.

Heiber has accounted for a total of 103 points, scored on 46 field goals out of 177 attempts for a 25.9 per cent. And 11 out of 24 tries from the free throw line for a better than 45.8 per cent. Bob Cowan, a sophomore, Heiber's nearest rival, has completed 43 out of 190 flings at the hoop for a 22.6 average on field goals, but has found the bucket on only 10 out of 40 chances from the charity stripe for a comparatively low 25 per cent.

Bob Young carried off third place honors with no less than 79 markers gotten by swishing the net 30 times from out on the floor on 123 tries, thus receiving a 24.3 average, and scoring 19 instances at the foul circle on 31 well earned attempts for a very high percentage of 61.3.

North Side's Trio Of Cheer Leaders Hopes For Crown

North Side's trio of hard working cheerleaders are becoming rapidly imbued with titular inclinations and, come Sectional Tournament time, will be giving their all in leading North Side fans through their best Sunday - go-to-meetin' yells. The three boys who comprise the Redskin trio are all seniors and answer to Captain "Curly" Hartman, Bob Johnson, and Bill Swager. Inasmuch as this is their final year at North Side they hope to write a great finale to their cheerleading careers by seeing the Redskin basketballers to a sectional title.

Both Bob and Bill have a number of extra-curricular activities with public speaking and debate dominating their leisure time. They are experts and naturally well groomed for their yell leading chores.

"Curly" Hartman's chief extra-curricular interests are the Hi-Y club, which he leads, and women.

Heiber's 111 Points Give Him North's Top Scoring Title

Junior sniper Wayne Heiber stole the scoring spotlight from his fellow cagers during North Side's 1938-39 hardwood campaign by tossing in a half a hundred field goals and 11 free throws during the first 16 games of the Redskin schedule.

Heiber was one of three Crimson netters who saw action in every one of the North Side games. Cowan and Young were the other two boys who played in each of the sixteen tilts with Cowan running second to Heiber in the tally column with a 91 total. His efforts combined 40 fielders and 11 foul tosses. Young finished a rather poor third, hitting 31 baskets from the field and connecting 18 times from the charity stripe.

Bob Sinks, social science instructor at North Side, is responsible for the excellent season record turned out by North's frosh net squad. Sinks handles the squad as his extra-curricular activity, and has made his activity a successful one.

Young's 18 free throws gave him top honors in this department with Ross Leakey, who scored only 55 tallies, finishing a close second with 17 fouls.

Bob Sinks' Frosh Netters Turn Out Ten Straight Wins

While North Side's varsity Crimson cagers and their reserve squad under the generalship of Bob Nulf have been compiling good season records, a freshman-sophomore squad under the guidance of Assistant Coach Bob Sinks has been quietly running up a ten game victory streak.

Beaten in their first game by a more experienced Central squad, the underclassmen have come back beautifully to capture ten consecutive contests. The Blue youngsters beat them in a hard fought battle, 26-20.

After dropping this tough one, the Red subs bounced back to whip Garrett yearlings in four straight tilts, besting the Railroaders, 22-11, 19-10, 48-19, and 14-9. Huntington was the next victim, as the Viking underclass netters fell 23-14. Then came a 36-28 triumph over Concordia frosh followed by two victories over Auburn, 22-19, and 19-16, with a 33-10 licking of Huntington sandwiched in between. The Redskins' most recent triumph was another win over Garrett by a 32-16 margin.

Giving credit where credit is due leads us to Bob Sinks, who bosses these future varsity possibilities. Bob undoubtedly is one of the most popular teachers in North Side. An instructor in the social science department, he nevertheless finds time to work twice a week with his proteges and, as a result of these workouts, has turned out a surprisingly tough squad, as its record will testify. It isn't Sinks' first try at coaching, however, as he formerly was an assistant to Mark Bills, North Side's first football and basketball mentor. Even after Mark had left and Bob Nulf took over the coaching reins, Sinks dabbled in basketball by handling the annual Leaders Tournament, the toughest and most important intramural feature of the year. Genial, as he would have to be to gain his popularity, tall, and oh, so handsome, that's Bob Sinks, one swell guy and how we wish there were two of him.

In dealing with personalities, it's not difficult to discover the outstanding member of the reserve squad. The honor of being the highest scorer goes to Pat Barley, diminutive, speedy frosh, who has scored 74 points in the nine games he has participated. Trailing Barley within striking distance is big Jim Hinga, who has poured in 55 tallies. Other boys who have scored fairly consistently are Bojinnoff with 40 counters, Staley with 23, and Short with 31. Fifteen boys have seen action in the eleven games played thus far and Coach Bob Sinks has a large number to choose from when it comes time to name a starting lineup. Other boys who have played in at least one game are Carpenter, Whiteley, Rothgab, Swager, Dole, Miller, Hite, Schecter, McNagly, and Gunlder.

Red Reserves Lose But Two Net Meetings

North Side Substitute Netters Win Fifteen Tilts; Cop City Title

North Side's cagers behind the scenes deserve a goodly share of the spotlight which their varsity predecessors are claiming, for the 1938-39 escutcheon of the Redskin subs includes 15 victories and but two very lonesome losses. In compiling their good season record the Crimson pony squad snared the city reserve team title, finishing with nary a defeat in their five games with Fort Wayne teams.

After nipping Concordia, 30-29, and Central, 19-18, the Northern quintet went overtime for their third straight triumph, 24-22, over Nappanee. Decatur was an easy mark, dropping a one-sided battle, 33-8, but Peru called a halt to the winning ways of the Red subs by a 21-18 margin. Elkhart and Garrett supplied two more victories for the Redskins, falling, 20-15, and 17-13, respectively.

A specially scheduled game with Central Catholic's substitutes during the Christmas holidays supplied the North Side's second and final defeat of the season by a narrow, 22-20, margin.

This loss was followed by consecutive triumphs over South Side, a revenge win over Central Catholic, Wabash, Hartford City, Central, South Side, (which clinched the city reserve title), Auburn, Columbia City, and Kendallville.

Three of the reserves, Jack Keller, Paul Baumgartner and Ed Errington, earned promotions with their splendid reserve team work and will see action as a member of the tournament squad.

Tournament Will Be At North Side

Gymnasium Has Seating Capacity Of 3,500 For Sectional Gathering

North Side High School's gymnasium will be the scene of this year's sectional tourney, which will start on March 2.

The gym regulation in size; it is approximately 200 feet long and 50 feet wide. It is equipped with horizontal bars, weights, mats, horses and other standard equipment. The seating capacity of the arena shaped gym is 3,500.

The largest number of people ever to be in the gym was Wednesday night, February 15, 1939. On this date, 5,000 people paid admission to attend the Golden Gloves tournament, which is being held there. The gymnasium was completed in 1926-'27 with the rest of the school.

Hoagland Wildcats Are Expected To Put Up Stiff Battle

Wildcats Are Given Chance In Sectionals

Hoagland Net Attack Centered Around Perry, Kraft, Hisner, Gresley, And Emenhiser

Perry Is Big Gun In Attack

Last Year Hoagland Lost To North Side In An Overtime Game

Sectional fans may be sure of one thing, when Hoagland comes out to do-or-die, they will really see an exhibition of basketball as it should be played.

This year the Wildcats are not conceded as good a chance as they were last year, but Coach Irwin would like nothing better than to pull an upset. Last year the Wildcats nearly upset the vaunted North Side Redskins and were ahead until the last few minutes when North Side tied them. In the overtime that resulted North Side finally won but a lot of people had just received a whole lot of respect for the small school which had tried so valiantly, if vainly, to take some glory back to Hoagland with them.

The attack of the Wildcats this year will probably be centered around Dave Perry, 5 ft., 8 inch guard, who saw action last year in the sectionals with such players as Kraft, Hisner, Gresley and Emenhiser. These boys won the county championship last year and a lot of experience drifted Perry's way. This year Dave has been shifted from offense to defense because Coach Irwin figures that Perry can be of more use with his ball saving in stopping enemy plays than he would be chalking up points at the forward post. Whatever happens these Wildcats can't be counted out until the final gun.

Hoagland Favors Softball, Basketball

Junior High School Basketball Team Has Had Very Good Season

The two main sports that the husky Hoagland lads engage in are softball and basketball.

This year's Wildcat softball squad won approximately half of their contests, and at the end of the season, decided that they had had a fair season. They play various county teams.

Hoagland's Junior High School basketball team, namely, the "Little Wildcats," have had a better season than the softball team, having won 85 per cent of the games played thus far.

The team has high hopes of bringing home the bacon in the Junior High Tourney and is comprised of students in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades.

The boys making up the team are centers, Ben Ruhl and Bob Koene-mann; forwards, Howard Emenhiser, Billy Spieth, Billy Counterman and Billy Bumgardner; and guards, Lambert Kraft, Dick Tucker, Byron Cagnet and Billy Zimmerman.

Coach Irwin stated that the fourth and fifth grades also engage actively in the popular sport of basketball.

From all indications it begins to look as though Coach Irwin has some promising lads, that ought to turn into fine varsity material in the near future.

Wildcats Make Use Of New Gymnasium

The Hoagland Wildcats, 1938 Allen County champions, have a fine gymnasium in which to practice and play their games. The playing floor is 50 feet by 78 feet with seats banked in tiers on both sides. Modern glass back-boards are on either end, and a fine electric scoreboard hangs on the far end. The gym has a beautiful stage where bleacher seats are erected before home games. Although 1,000 can crowd into the gym handily, the average attendance is about 600 or 700. Practice is held Monday and Wednesday evenings.

The gym, which was made possible by a W.P.A. grant and township taxation, is also used for school plays, operettas, and civic affairs.

Hoagland Has Tough 1939 Net Schedule

Wildcats Have Nineteen Games, Besides Entering Blind And County Tourneys

The Hoagland Wildcats have lined up a tough 19-game schedule for the 1939-'40 hardwood campaign, besides being entered in the blind and county tourneys.

At the present time the Wildcats have booked Ossian, Monroeville, Harlan, Elmhurst and New Haven for two contests, and will oppose Leo, Lecatur, Huntertown and Lafayette Central in single encounters.

Of the 15 games that are scheduled not including tourneys and open dates, seven are to be played on the Wildcats' home court, while they will engage the remaining eight squads on the road.

Hoagland will play in the blind tourney at New Haven, December 10, and also in the county tournament, which is to be staged in the Bulldog gymnasium, January 27 and 28.

The Wildcats' schedule contains five open dates, which are to be filled in the near future.

The schedule and dates are as follows:

November 4—Elmhurst, there.
November 11—Monroeville, here.
November 18—Lafayette C., there.
November 23—Ossian, here.
December 2—Open date.
December 3—Open date.
December 10—Blind Tourney at New Haven.
December 16—Harlan, here.
December 22—Huntertown, there.
January 6—New Haven, here.
January 11—Ossian, there.
January 13—Decatur, here.
January 18—Open date.
January 20—Open date.
January 27-28—County Tourney at New Haven.

Hoagland Wildcats' Gerald Irwin Most Competent Coach

Mr. Gerald Irwin, friendly and hard working coach of the Hoagland Wildcats, has only been there two years, but already he has shown that he has what it takes to put victorious teams on the hardwood.

He is a graduate of Ball State College with a Bachelor of Science and Master of Science degrees from this school. He taught for ten years near Frankfort, the home of so many basketball champions.

When he came to Hoagland, he seemed to radiate that same basketball coaching ability.

Last year he had a county championship team which nearly defeated a vaunted North Side team in the sectionals.

This year Irwin is also backing his boys to the limit and if they become imbued with his fine spirit, they are not to be counted out.

Irwin also serves as principal of Hoagland.

Hoagland Student Opinions

Here are some students' opinions of what Hoagland will do in the tournament:

Beulah Ehrhart—Beulah is a sophomore and a member of the Booster Club. If our boys work hard enough, I think they can beat the others.

Jean Imier—Jean is a sophomore also and a member of the Booster Club. I think we're good but South Side is plenty good, too! I guess that they'll go to Indianapolis again.

Gordan Hisner—If they get a break, they will go places.

Bob Gresley, senior student manager, says that the season was not as good as some years but that they were handicapped by lack of size, height and experience and also lack of reserves. He thinks North Side or Central will take the tournament.

Harry Houk—If we get any breaks we will go far.

Monroeville Hopeful Despite Number Of Setbacks In Season

Monroeville's Past Season Games Given

Cubs Are Victorious Only Two Times Out Of Seventeen Games Played

Lose Most Games By Close Margin

Blue And Red "Have Enough Grit To Upset Any Team In Tournament"

The Monroeville Cubs, although the team has not hung up a very good season record, are expected to be at their best in the sectional tourney and can be depended upon to give their opponents plenty of trouble. Coach Sam Martin's Cubs have played 17 games, going down in defeat 15 times, while they won two contests.

The Martinmen defeated Huntertown, 29 to 24, and Hoagland, 19 to 16, after having lost to the Wildcats 51 to 19 earlier in the season.

To start off the season the Cubs were defeated by Lafayette Central, 35 to 30. The Hoagland Wildcats kept the Cubs in the defeat column by a 28-to-22 victory.

The next foe of the Cubs was the New Haven Bulldogs, who trounced them 32 to 19. Next Ridge of Ohio, Elmhurst and Harlan all won victories over the scrappy Cubs.

Entering the blind tourney, Monroeville five fell before the onslaught of New Haven and Hoagland. The Woodburn Warriors downed the Martinmen to the tune of 47 to 24.

Huntertown and Harlan eked out close victories over the Cubs with scores of 28 to 25 and 25 to 22, successively. The Leo Lions scalped the Monroeville squad 24 to 30, and were followed by Kirkland, who defeated the Martinmen 29 to 12.

It was at this point when the Cubs defeated Huntertown, 29 to 24, to avenge a defeat at the hands of the Wildcats earlier in the season. Decatur Catholic again pushed the Cubs back into the defeat column with a 40-to-22 victory. The avenging Cubs gave the Hoagland Wildcats the surprise of their lives when they upset them, 19 to 16, for their second win of the season.

In the county tournament the Cubs were defeated at the hands of Arcola, who won 25 to 22.

Although their schedule isn't so impressive the Monroeville Cubs have grit enough to upset any team in the tournament.

Monroeville High Has Modern Gym

Gym Is Also Used For Plays And Various Other School Activities

Like most of the other schools in Allen County, the Monroeville Cubs have a fine, modern gymnasium in which to practice and play their games. The gym is situated in the basement and was built along with a new addition to the old building in 1926, by order of the school board in accordance with the regulations of the county and state.

The playing floor is 70 feet long by 38 feet wide. It is modernly equipped with glass backboards of the most recent design and side baskets equally good. A large electric scoreboard is situated high on the far end of the gym.

At one end of the gym is a modern stage about 18 feet wide by 30 feet long which at game time is used to seat part of the spectators. The total seating capacity of the gym is about 500. The playing floor is designed for basketball and volleyball. As an accessory to the gym, there are modernly equipped shower rooms for boys and girls.

The gym is used primarily for athletic work, but it is also used as a gathering place for school activities and as a public meeting place.

Sammy Martin Is Young, Handsome Monroeville Coach

At first glance, George "Sammy" Martin might be taken for one of the basketball squad. In fact your scribe was set upon interviewing him as one of the players, but after his identity was established, Sam gave out some very interesting information about himself.

Martin is now coaching for his third year at Monroeville.

He attended the Huntertown High School and later went to Ball State, where he earned wide recognition as a football player for three years. In his senior year he received the honor of being elected all-conference guard.

Sam also has charge of the senior play at Monroeville, perhaps because he is so good looking, he resembles a movie star.

Added to these other duties of coaching and teaching dramatics, Martin has classes in biology, shops, and physical education.

Martin thinks quite a lot of his team this year because of their willingness to tackle any team no matter how tough. A few times this year the varsity lost because the reserves were allowed to play the first half, but Sam expects a better showing at the Sectionals.

Cub Reserve Team Scores Are Given

The Monroeville Reserve squad experienced difficulty in launching a successful season and fell before eleven county second teams, while winning two contests.

The Cubs defeated New Haven in a low-scoring combat 9 to 5, and the Huntertown Wildcats 16 to 11 late in the season.

No. 13 Is No Hoodoo To Gene Etter, Head Of Monroeville Cubs

Gene Etter, a junior, captains this year's pack of Monroeville Cubs. His height, just four inches short of the six foot mark, is an exact approximation of the team's average height, and in his sixteen years in this world, he has managed to amass a net weight of 140 pounds.

Gene bravely sports the number 13 on his back during game time, but his jersey number seems not to have been unlucky, inasmuch as he stands second on the team in the number of points scored during the regular season.

Graders Have Band

Hoagland is very proud of their toy band which is composed of forty first and second grade children under the direction of Mrs. Sheehan and Mrs. Shirk.

It was organized last year and has been progressing rapidly. The members of the band will play two numbers, "The Wedding of Jack and Jill" and "Tin Pan Parade," between acts of the junior play, which will be given March 31.

Information About Monroeville Cubs Brought To View

As is the case in most Indiana high schools, Monroeville students regard South Side with a great deal of respect, especially since they are the defending champs of the state title.

The Monroeville netters perform under the moniker of "Cubs". No one seems to know just where or when the name originated, but it seems to have been handed down somehow.

The school colors are black and white. The team members' suits, the cheer leaders' uniforms, and the band suits are designed from these colors.

Believe it or not! The game the Cubs won from Hoagland, 19 to 16, on February 3, was an event of great significance to the Cubs and their followers. It marked the first time the Cubs had defeated Hoagland since 1934.

There was a hot time in the old town the night the Cubs defeated the Huntertown Wildcats, 29 to 24. This marked the first win of the season after losing 12 consecutive games. To do justice to the occasion, a bonfire was built down-town on the bank square.

Golden Gloves Champion for 1939—Tommy Taylor, varsity member of Monroeville High School basketball team, was crowned flyweight champion a few weeks ago. Good luck to you, Tommy, and may you go a long, long way in the fistic game.

The seniors hold down the positions of cheer leaders. They are Ernestine (Ernie) Dummire and Johnny (Bones) Bower.

Six members of the varsity squad are seniors. They are: Dick (Big Gee) Gfell, Cyril (Hades) Linder, Kenneth (Hawkie) Hawkins, Dick (Homer) Clay, Tommy (Aduchi) Taylor, and Bob (Puffy) Bucher. Another senior boy, Jay Rothgeb, is the manager of the team.

Monroeville Has No Spring Sports

Coach Martin Will Be Too Busy Rehearsing Students In The Senior Play

Coach George "Sam" Martin has revealed that Monroeville does not take part in many extra season sports.

Coach Martin also said that he has not made any spring sport plans, because he will be too busy with the senior play, which is an annual activity at Monroeville.

When asked if they played football, he answered negatively and added the remark, that if they did take it up they would have to play the six-man style, because of the limited number of students in the school. However, Martin said that he would be glad to start in, if the other county schools decided to make it an annual season affair.

It can be correctly stated that Monroeville, if football was to be introduced in the county, would turn out to be quite successful, having as its coach, Sam Martin, a former Ball State football star.

Tigers Start Preparations For Tourney

Central Forgets Defeats, Difficulties, Handicaps Of Season; Start Earnest Work For Sectional Tournament

Bengals Tackle Tough Schedule

The Blue And White Murraymen Finish Season With Nine Victories, Eleven Defeats

Central's Blue and White Tigers have forgotten their defeats, difficulties, and handicaps of the past season and began earnest preparations for the sectional basketball tournament of which they are the hosts.

Inexperienced, handicapped by a lack of height, and tackling one of the toughest schedules in the history of Central basketball, the Tigers can boast of victories over some of the highest ranked teams in the state. The Blue caused many an unwary foe trouble, because what it lacked in height, it had in speed and fight. Usually unable to get going until the second half, the Tigers lost more than one ball game by thus giving their opponents a first-half advantage.

Central began its 1938-'39 hardwood campaign in most discouraging fashion, traveling to Muncie and falling before a deadly Bearcat attack by a score of 39 to 27. Two days later, the Tigers suffered their second straight setback, this time losing to North Side Redskins by a 32 to 26 count.

At this early date Central rooters began to question the strength of the Blue and to speculate on the number of games that would be won and lost. They did not have long to wait, for the fighting Bengals came back the next week to nose out the Eagles of Columbia City 36 to 28 and then proceeded to knock the pins from under Kendallville's Comets 38 to 34. In the latter game Henry Kulesza, sharp-eyed Central forward, tossed in 25 of the Blue's points, setting a record for the number of points scored in one game by a Fort Wayne player. His record was later broken by Stanczak of Central Catholic who scored 26 points in one game.

The Bengals' next game was a hot engagement with Central Catholic. The Tigers and their fighting Irish opponents put on one of the best exhibitions of basketball in the history of competition between the two schools. When the smoke at last cleared from the floor, the Blue was found to have eked out a 34 to 32 victory and chalked up its third win in three starts. The Tigers ran up against a stonewall defense, however, when they took on the powerful Kokomo Kats at the home floor and fell before the invaders 31 to 22.

During the Christmas vacation Central won the four-team invitational tournament at Kendallville, coasting to a 28 to 17 win over Goshen in the afternoon round and coming back in the finals to trim Huntington 35 to 21.

The Tigers finished the season with seven victories and eleven defeats for a season average of .388. The majority of games lost were by four or five point margins. Central scored 565 points to their opponents' 586, averaging better than 31 points to a game.

Tourney Draw Matches Host Tigers Against South Siders

Central's fighting Bengals, host team for the annual Sectional tourney, is scheduled to oppose South Side's state champions in the second game of the tournament, tonight at 8:00. First row, left to right: Warren Wickliffe, Everett Richards, Russell Parker, Bill Hanley. Second row: Dr. E. A. King, trainer, Assistant Coach Bob Dornte, Coach Murray Mendenhall, Duke Richardson, Fred H. Croninger, principal. Third row: Herb Knothe, Kenny Rice, Horace Talley, Henry Kulesza, Jim Storch, Fealing Talley.

Central's Fighting Murraymen Are Cited As Prominent Blue, White Personalities

Bill Hanley: Well-known as "Bucking Bill," and outstanding in football and basketball, has been on the varsity three years. He was chosen an All-City halfback and was really hitting the long ones in the first South Side game. He has been going good all season and Mendy is counting on him for a great deal in the sectional. This star is seen very frequently with an ex-Centralite by the name of Margie.

Kenny Rice: Although he is not so big, Kenny has been outstanding in football and basketball all four years in high school. Having put on weight since the football season, he now stands 5 feet 10 inches and weighs about 150 pounds. But athletics is not the only thing Kenny is noted for. He has been prominent in many class activities and at the present time is vice-president of the senior class.

Feling Talley: Nickname "Flash." He stars in three events. He plays halfback in football, forward in basketball and really is a "flash" in track. Talley weighs 141 and is only 5 feet 7 inches tall, but is not handicapped by his size as Central fans have already seen. He has begun to hit his stride in the last few games and we are sure he will prove valuable in the tourney. Feling is always smiling and is really good-natured. He is a junior and our great consolation is that he'll be back next year.

Henry Kulesza: Nickname "Hungry Hank." Although he is only a junior, Hank is one of the greatest stars ever to come from Central. He leads the Northern Indiana scoring race and just recently broke an all-time individual Fort Wayne scoring record. Along with his basketball, Hank is outstanding in football and one of the best high jumpers in the state. He weighs 165 and stands 5 feet 11 inches.

Harrison Richardson: "Duke," as he is nicknamed, is one of the most outstanding boys in Central. He is 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighs about 160 pounds. Duke is a swell football player, having been chosen as All-City end at the close of the football season. He is a real fighter and never gives up until the final gun. This is shown in the last South Side basketball game where we must give three cheers for him in his job of holding down big Jim Glass, South Side's elongated center. Duke is a senior and will be leaving us next year. He can be seen most of the time with Kenny Rice.

Russell Parker: Commonly known as "Rus." This boy is on the varsity for the first year and we feel he has really earned his position. He is known for his fighting spirit and ability to go up there and bring down the rebounds. He plays center on the football team and really does a swell job. He weighs 180 pounds and is 5 feet 11 inches. He has been at Central four years and has earned his sweater and made a name for himself.

Errett Richard: Errett displayed such ability in intramural last year that he jumped from that division into the varsity team. He is 6 feet tall and weighs 155 pounds. He is a senior this semester and will only get the benefit of this one semester of competition. Although he does not participate in sports other than basketball, he will earn his sweater and a lot of friends.

Herb Knothe: Outstanding in scholastic activities as well as in athletics. Although small, Herb has earned his sweater in football and has been outstanding in basketball, especially on the reserves and this year on the varsity. He weighs 152 pounds and is 5 feet 8 inches tall. He is a senior so will not be with us long.

Warren Wickliffe: Warren is now a junior at Central and a member of the football and basketball teams. However, his football career was handicapped when he received a broken collar bone in the North Side game in his sophomore year. Warren was a member of the Harnar grade school basketball team.

After playing two years on the reserves he is now a member of the varsity and eligible for the tournament. Warren is 5 feet 11 inches and weighs 157 pounds and will be here next year.

Jim Storch: Jimmy, as he is called, came to Central from Harnar school and has been prominent in athletics ever since. He has played on the reserves two years, and now in his junior year, he has been chosen to be on the varsity. Jim is left-handed and therefore, of course, is an ace at left-handers. Although he is the smallest man on the squad, he is very scrappy and makes up for his size by his fight.

Fred Shaw: Fred, nicknamed "Shadow," is in his sophomore year and is one of the most promising players of the squad. After playing his first year on the reserves Fred has been playing with the reserves again this year and also on the varsity. Fred also plays football, but due to an arm injury he didn't see very much action. He is 5 feet 9½ inches tall, weighs 145 pounds and is still growing. He is good natured and likes to take it easy.

Horace Talley: Although only a freshman, he has already proved to be an excellent athlete. He proved his powers in football this fall and recently, turning his attention to basketball, has played outstandingly well

Central Students, Teachers Express Opinions Of Team

The Central Tigers will certainly go far in the sectional tournament if the opinions of Central students and teachers can have any bearing whatever on their performance.

Interviewing several students and teachers in Central halls, this writer received interesting and encouraging answers to his queries. A great many of the Central students believe that the Tigers have an excellent opportunity to repeat their performances of two and three years ago. Some of the interviewed contended that the Blue could stand a lot of improvement and were out-spoken in their criticism of the entire team. One prominent senior found this fault in the team—"I believe Central has too much of a one-man team. If all five players go out there fighting, each doing his share, I think Central will stand a pretty good chance of winning. But it's a fact that five men on a team stand a better chance to score more points than only one. We need more cooperation."

Another senior, Don Murphy, said, "I think Central can win if they go out fighting." Bruce Emerson, well-known Central senior, added, "Central definitely has a chance to win. I believe in the ability of the boys and think they are all fine fellows. All that they need is a sharp eye when shooting foul shots. But all of them are all right and should go a long way."

Harry Meads, active junior, was short and to the point. He said, "I think the Tigers can win."

Here are some of Central's faculty members opinion of Central's chances in the tournament.

Miss Rosza Tonkel—"Of course the team will uphold the lasting spirit of Central in the tourney. If South Side manages to overcome us, they'll know they have played a tough team."

Mr. Charles Dilts—"It all depends on the breaks we get in the sectional. If South Side plays a tough team first, I think we have a good chance to beat them."

Mr. Harry Veatch—"We'll take the sectional because our team is steadily improving in every game. I think we can take on South Side too in this tourney."

Mr. Meredith Aldred—"It's a sure thing that Central will display a better brand of ball in this tourney than in previous games."

Miss Amy S. Barnes—"A tough schedule at first will pull us out of the tourney, I think. But last Saturday's game with South Side proved we could hold our own."

Miss Iva Spangler—"This tourney will show up the best in Central, I think, no matter how hard we are pressed."

Mr. Ralph Virts—"I'm no prognosticator as to how far Central will go, but we'll be fighting in there every minute."

on the reserve squad; playing for the varsity only in the South Side game. Although only a freshman, he is almost 6 feet and weighs about 170 pounds. Although not as jovial as his cousin, Feling, he is liked by his team mates.

Two Coaches Train Youths From Central

Trainers Murray Mendenhall, Robert Dornte Help Make The Boys More Sports-minded

Mendy Coaches Team 15 Years

Dornte, Graduate Of Central, Has Been Faithful Assistant At CHS For Five Years

Coach Murray Mendenhall, who possesses all those qualities that become a real honest-to-goodness swell guy, has lightened the halls and gymnasium of Central for 15 eventful years.

A finer and a more capable coach can no where be found. Mendenhall has worked untiringly to give Central teams, for which her faculty and students are justly proud.

To coach a high school team is no easy nor trifling matter. To do so successfully necessitates, among other things, stamina and experience. Mendenhall, known to nearly all students as "Mendy," has both. This fact he has corroborated more than once when the occasion demanded it. Everyone who knows "Mendy," likes him; those who do not know him, want to meet him; and those who never get an opportunity to meet him, are fully within their rights to lament this great misfortune. The place where one is likely to find him is the gym. Here "Mendy" conducts physical education classes throughout the day and works with the team long after school has been dismissed.

Murray Mendenhall attended West Newton High School in Marion County (Indianapolis and vicinity). Making the varsity basketball team in his sophomore year, Mendenhall fought hard and gave his best to his school for the next three seasons. That fighting, never-say-die spirit has not left him; for today he still gives all of the best that is in him for Central.

Already well-known for his ability, "Mendy" went straight to college upon graduating from high school to further his athletic activities and fulfill his life's ambition. To become an athletic director was his chief aim. He entered Butler University where he at once made the team. After a year at Butler he went to DePauw and there played on the varsity for three years.

Coach of the public high team at New Castle, Ind., was the first real job Mendenhall secured after he was graduated from DePauw. For two years he held this position and then came to Central as head coach. Faithfully working, advising and instructing in 15 years, he has won an immortal place in the annals of Central history with his winning personality and notable achievements. In 15 years he has produced six powerful teams that worked their way to the state finals only to fall before teams possessing only a little more, yet enough, power to oust them from the state crown.

Aside from coaching "Mendy" referees high school and independent ball games. He teaches no classes other than physical education.

Much credit is due Robert (Bob) Dornte, Mendenhall's faithful assistant. Bob, as he is usually called, graduated from Central ten years ago. While attending Central, he participated in all sports, being outstanding in basketball and football.

Elmhurst Five Will Endeavor To Shake Off Season's Jinx

Trojans Seem Hard To Stop When Clicking

Win Seven, Lose Ten Of Scheduled Battles; Defeated Often By Few Points

Coach Bud Snider Not Too Expective

Year's Progress Slowed By New Mentor's Instructions; Seven Underclassmen On Squad

A jinx seems to be following the Elmhurst squad thus far this season; however, they mean to do their best to shake it off in the coming tournament.

The consensus of opinion seems to be that if the Trojans are clicking in the sectionals they are going to be plenty hard to stop. However, Coach Snider does not expect too much from this year's squad as seven of the first ten are underclassmen.

Elmhurst has won seven games and lost ten this season; but of the ten teams which have downed them, only six have been able to defeat them by more than six points. Central Catholic, which holds high hopes of capturing the State Catholic Championship, was able to beat the Trojans by only six points.

The Elmhurst team has been inconsistent; however, much of this is due to the fact that they are learning an entirely new brand of ball under the capable tutelage of their new coach, Waveland (Bud) Snider.

Elmhurst started their season against Hoagland and lost the game by three points by a score of 28-31. Roanoke and Leo defeated them also before the Trojans snapped back to beat Jefferson Center by a margin of 31 points and Monroeville by 12 points.

New Haven, who turned out to be the county champs, vanquished them by nine points, 30-21.

Huntertown fell before them on their seventh attempt, but they were defeated by Central Catholic 30-24. Angola, Lafayette Central, and Woodburn were disposed of before Decatur Catholic defeated them 34-28. They defeated Arcola only to have Leo defeat them for the second time during the season.

As the Trojans entered the county tournament, the jinx again caught them as they drew New Haven as their first opponent.

Although the players entertain small hope of winning the sectionals, they expect, with fair luck on the draw, to knock plenty of teams off before they are defeated.

Several of the individual players have been showing unusual possibilities during the season, namely Fred Link who has shown unusual speed; Fusselman, who has worked hard dumping in 112 points in during the season; and Richardson, the long shot artist. Richardson is the only senior of the three.

Elmhurst High Expects Good '39-'40 Season

Seven Out Of First Ten Players Are Expected To Be Back

The Elmhurst High School netters are looking forward to a very successful season next year. With seven out of their first ten players back, the Trojans will be ready to challenge all comers.

Of the three boys who will graduate next June, two are on the first five, but Coach Snider says that he has able substitutes who with a little more experience will more than be able to fill the shoes of their predecessors. Although the Trojans will lack height next year, they will be able to make up this loss with speed. With the two Sheets brothers and speedy Fred Link, the Trojans will really burn up the hardwood. Red-headed Wendall Fusselman has developed into an under-the-basket-shot artist, while Vernon Foulks is very good from far out on the court.

Since most of the boys are caddies at the nearby golf courses, they receive plenty of the exercise that it takes to make strong legs built for speed. Along with this speed, of course, comes the stamina that makes a good ball club.

Coach Waveland Snider teaches a style of basketball different from that of former Coach Byerly. The boys returning next year will have had a year's experience at this new type of play and so should be twice as good. In an interview with the coach he stated, "I don't like to make any predictions, but I think Elmhurst will be able to win a very high percentage of their games next year. Our main hope is to break the jinx that Leo seems to have over us."

Of the seven boys returning, there will be five seniors and two juniors. The seniors are Wendall Fusselman, Vernon Foulks, Nelson Millhouse, Arthur Sheets, and Melvin Sheets. The two returning juniors are Fred Link and Robert Capin.

When the team was asked what they thought of their prospects they just said, "Watch the newspapers for our record." So we will be watching!

Elmhurst's Rapid Improvement Gives Fans Brighter Tourney Outlook

Elmhurst's Trojans have come a long way since their opening game and their improvement makes their tourney chances more numerous. First row—left to right: Coach Snider, R. Capin, F. Link, R. Belschner, E. Bailey, student manager, J. Rowan. Second row: H. Richardson, A. Sheets, W. Fusselman, V. Foulks, M. Sheets and N. Millhouse.

Here Are The Elmhurst Players

Elmhurst's Trojans Capture The Hearts Of Feminine Rooters

Elmhurst's Trojans may not be able to capture the sectionals but they may be able to capture the hearts of the feminine fans, for not only do they have the looks for such a conquest but they have the names and heights to match. The first ten men range from five-five to six-two, each being exactly one inch apart. The Trojans will appear on the floor with uniforms of either white numerals on red or red numerals on white. We understand that there are at least three Cassanovas on the squad. The three which are especially noted for their good looks are the Sheets brothers and Wendell Fusselman.

As to the source of information about names we have been sworn to absolute secrecy, however, it was with great difficulty that we were able to secure them. The following is a complete list of their full names: Robert Gene Belschner, Ernest LaMar Bailey, Joseph Wendall Fusselman, Vernon Morgan Foulks, Arthur Franklin Sheets, Jr., Melvin Aldien Sheets, Nelson Dennis Millhouse, Frederick Franklin Link, and John Robert Capin.

Trojans Are Pretty Sure Of Winning But Don't Like To Commit Themselves

Coach Snider has every reason to be proud of his fighting Trojans this season; for, from all appearances, chances for winning are high-reaching. Although new to Elmhurst, Coach Snider has high hopes for his boys and is really well-informed as to their abilities. Even though luck may not permit top honors, the Trojan mentor states that the players are very consistent ball handlers and are bound to show good plays and a lot of action.

The Trojan netters are pretty sure of their aspirations, yet they hesitate to commit themselves. At least, if there is any doubt in their minds, the boys in answer to the question, "What do you think of your chances in the sectional?" reveal that they will be cooperating to the fullest extent to represent their school to the end.

Martin Sheets: We'll beat South Side; there's no doubt about that.

Art Sheets: Chances may be slim, but we'll put up a tough fight.

Harold Richardson: Elmhurst has the best county team and can easily defeat South Side or Central.

Bob Belschner: County teams will be easy for us. North Side may fall before us, but not South Side or Central.

Henry Epple, "Eppie": If we draw someone like South Side it will be plenty tough, although we have good chances with any team if we get hitting okay.

Vernon Foulks, "Verny": I'd rather not say, for it's hard to tell as everything depends on whom we draw.

Wendell Fusselman, "Red": We're bound to go places and do things competing against county teams, but chances are slim if we draw any of the city teams.

Nelson Millhouse, "Nel": All I can say is that we can beat South Side and that covers everything.

Elmhurst Trojans' Coach, Ex-Archer, Has Good Record

A former South Sider, Waveland (Bud) Snider by name, has taken over the coaching duties at Elmhurst this year. Before taking over his duties at Elmhurst, Mr. Snider had coached at Churubusco for a year where he possessed a very impressive record. In the '37-38 season he won sixteen out of twenty contests, his Churubusco squad also went to the finals in the sectionals that year, where they were defeated, after a very close game, by Columbia City. So far Coach Snider's Elmhurst record has not been too impressive due to the newness of his surroundings and time taken in getting acquainted with the boys and they with him, but his chances for next year seem very bright.

Bud was a basketball star at South Side High School under Coach Jake McClure. After he was graduated from South Side he attended Manchester College where he played on the varsity basketball team for three years.

He coaches a type of basketball similar to that of Burl Fiddle, coach of the South Side Archers. In his year of coaching at Elmhurst he has fashioned his squad with his ideas and has formulated a type of ball according to them.

When asked about his prospects for the next year, he replied thusly, "Although we haven't turned in a very impressive record this year, I think I will have the proper material next year to beat any team that we may meet." So if the Trojans live up to their coach's predictions they haven't very much to worry about.

Two Girls Lead Elmhurst Cheers

Jean Kortokrax, Rosemary Pond Do Much To Cheer Team To Victory

"Come on Elmhurst, beat 'em Elmhurst" will be the heated and heartfelt cries of those ardent, battling Trojan supporters from Elmhurst high school, who without a doubt have what it takes in school spirit. However backing the fans are two peppy, ambitious cheer leaders and with the support of 400 or so students, the Trojans are sure to be led to victory.

Garbed in red and grey uniforms with "yell" on the front and "Elmhurst" on the back will be these enthusiasts, namely Joan Kortokrax and Rosemary Pond. Joan who is a veteran this year and only a junior, says that chances for the team are good but that a lot depends on the teams drawn for opposition. Rosemary, a senior, and leading yells for the first time this year, believes that fighting may be tough with city teams, but that no county team can compare with the Trojans.

Decatur Yellow Jackets Have Up-And-Down Season Record

Decatur Yellow Jackets Have Fair Season

Jackets Nail Up Eleven Wins And Eight Losses Over Past Season

Team Loses To Tigers, Redskins

McConnell, Zerkel And Stapleton Lead Net Squad Through Brilliant Season

The Decatur Yellow Jackets, one of the outstanding teams of the sectionals, have an excellent record behind them this past season with a list of 11 victories against 8 defeats.

The Jackets have displayed a wonderful record on their own floor, having lost only one contest at home. Led by their veterans McConnell, Zerkel, and Stapleton, the Decatur squad has met and defeated many good teams; and although they were defeated in their battles with Central and North Side, the Jackets are improving fast and are going to be tough for the tournament.

Having split games with some teams, trampling some, and falling before a few others, the Yellow Jacket aggregation's season ran along this path.

Decatur opened her season by smashing Portland 37-22. Old man hard luck however, hit the Jackets and they were slightly edged by the Marion Giants, and a little later they fell before the Railroaders from Garrett 24-19.

Back in the money again, the Decatur quintet overwhelmed Geneva 42-23. Then New Haven, an ancient rival, came next, and before a terrific battle did the Bulldogs give in 28-23. Again the Yellow had a bad streak and fell before Bluffton, and a little later were thoroughly crushed by the North Side Redskins. Having defeated Berne 30-21, and afterwards Van Wert from Ohio, 39-22, the Yellow Jackets were scheduled to meet the Berne Bears. But a great surprise settled over the Yellow, when a revived and invigorated Bear aggregation upset thoroughly under a 37-21 barrage.

The "never-say-die" Jackets settled down after the Berne upset, turned the tables on the Bluffton Tigers to avenge a defeat earlier in the season.

Auburn was the next team to trample the Decatur men, but the latter retaliated quickly by edging a 35-32 victory over Hoagland, the last year county champs.

Displaying very poor form, the Yellow Jackets failed badly, falling before a powerful Central Tiger quintet. The Tigers smashed out a lopsided 45-23 victory.

As was said before, the Decatur squad has been fast improving and this can be definitely seen by the remainder of the season.

Smashing their way to a 35-31 victory over the powerful Huntington Vikings, the Jackets continued with a lopsided annexation over Columbia City 51-29. Since they had split two games with Bluffton, a decisive 37-23 victory over the Tigers gave them a 2-1 seasonal advantage. Hartford City was drubbed 34-32 to complete the bill.

Decatur Possesses Good Gymnasium

Arena Has Large Playing Surface; Seating Capacity Of 2,000 Persons

The least of the Decatur basketball team's worries is a place to practice, for the Yellow Jackets have a new home and it is one of the best gyms your scribe has seen for a long time.

The dimensions are 50 feet wide by 74 feet long which makes a plenty big playing surface. The average crowd which attends the games is from 1,000 to 1,200 backers but just in case of a larger crowd, the gym will hold 2,000.

W.P.A. grant and local taxes furnished the money for the gym. W.P.A. furnishing $45,000 and the balance of the $100,000 was received through local taxes.

The ceiling is formed of squares and the powerful lights are set flush with it. It is also used for civic affairs being a combination auditorium and gym. It is really a beautiful place and if the Yellow Jackets needed inspiration they can surely find it in this splendid place.

Jackets, Paired In South Side Bracket, Are Optimistic

Girls Have Setback

The Decatur girls are mighty proud of their new school and especially the new gym. But, nevertheless, they are also handicapped in their sports program, as they must use the boys' gym. They do not have a girls' athletic association, but award points for numerals and sweaters based on the State Girls' Athletic Association system. The various sports in which the 50 or 60 athletically minded students engage are basketball, volleyball, tennis, baseball and folk dancing. Basketball is now played every Thursday after school. Miss Eleanor Humphrey is the physical education teacher and coach.

DECATUR PRINCIPAL IS ALSO A TEACHER

One of the most rabid fans who will be at the sectional tournament is Decatur's popular principal, W. Guy Brown.

His reputation as a red hot Yellow Jacket supporter has become almost proverbial during his nine-year term in his present position. Mr. Brown was graduated from Ball State Teachers College and attended Indiana University, where he received his M.S. degree. Besides his regular duties as principal, he teaches civics. Before assuming his present post, Mr. Brown was principal of the Decatur elementary school.

Mr. Hugh Andrews

"Very pretty," mused Betty Lou Huffman of Decatur, admiring our Central schedule pencils. "Very pretty indeed." We think she's pretty, too.

Students Expect Much From Team Of Yellow Jackets

Decatur High students are backing their team to the last and several of the Yellow Jacket fans expressed their confidence in their team in the following statements:

Jack Eady: You're right, we'll take on South Side any time!

Betty Shook: I think we have a pretty good chance to pull through this tourney.

Martha Ellen Hower: I'm quite a basketball fan and when we come to Fort Wayne, we'll show you we've got a swell team.

Grace Grother: I think and hope that we will go pretty far, at least to Butler Fieldhouse!

Dixie Miller: We have a swell team and grand student spirit to help us win.

Dixie is a cheerleader and so she is naturally interested in her team.

John McConnell: We have a pretty good chance in the tourney as we are plenty tough. With our experience and a good draw we'll prove our worth. John is a guard on the basketball team.

Jinny Shady: Sure we're tough, but I think South Side will win. Decatur is good though, so watch out!

Gladis Miller: I think we really have an excellent team and I'm very proud of our school. Gladis, incidentally is the editor of ye old Decatur yearbook, the Raveling.

Virginia Shoof: Our most enthusiastic cheerer at the home game is our Mr. Millikan. We of Decatur High, have great faith in our boys. They have a fair chance to win the tourney.

Betty Lou Huffman: The Yellow Jackets are the best team in the state of Indiana. We hope we win the sectional.

Violet Brown: We have an average team but it will be better in time to come.

Sanna Kunkel: They're as good as they come.

Elvira Ward: I think we could do better, but they'll pass.

Bob Bock, senior, says, We're good enough to upset South Side. Central is tough too.

Marjorie Springer says, Decatur has a good chance but I think Central will win the tournament.

Decatur Coach Is Uncertain About Chances

Andrews States That His Team Has Its Seasonal Ups And Downs

"We have an up and down team this year—sometimes it is really good and sometimes it is mediocre. You never can tell about it, and if they are going good we might do something in the sectionals," was a statement made by the Decatur High School coach, Mr. Hugh Andrews.

Andrews, a tall, likeable, light haired fellow, was very good in giving your scribe some facts about himself and the team.

He received his high school education at Decatur High School and then went to Franklin College, where he got his A.B. degree. He then went to Indiana University to receive his M.S. degree. He starred in both football and basketball at Franklin, playing two years at each sport.

Andrews has coached five years of football and four years of basketball at Decatur and during that time he has taken two conference championships in football.

When asked who he thought would be toughest in the sectionals, Andrews replied, "South Side looks pretty tough."

Besides coaching, Andrews teaches mathematics and physical education.

Going back to his favorite subject, the team, Andrews commented, "You can see we have an up and down team by the fact that we beat Huntington worse than South Side did and then we let New Haven beat us."

Lewis Koldwey: They have a good chance unless they run up against South Side.

Bob Stapleton, forward says, We've got a good chance.

Bob Maloney, football halfback, says, We will probably go to the semi-finals of the sectionals. We've got a good team and we ought to win but South Side is tough.

Bob Eichhorn, junior, says, If they play ball they can go places.

Monmouth Enters Tourney With Excellent Seasonal Record

Eagles Give Net Schedule For Season

Monmouth Eagles Win Eight Games Out Of Fourteen; Two Contests Yet To Play

Eagles Use New Gym First Time

With Such A Fair Season To Look Back On, Boys Are Well Prepared

The Monmouth Eagles, using their new gym for the first time, came through the 1938-39 hardwood season boasting a string of eight victories against six defeats with two contests yet to play.

Coach Curtis, and his fighting Eagles began their court campaign by dropping a contest to Geneva, November 4. However, smarting by this defeat the Curtismen eked out a 31-29 victory over the Pleasant Mills squad for the first win of the season.

One week later the Monmouth boys took on Jefferson and defeated them 37-30. On November 19, the Eaglemen were walloped, the local squad of Concordians beating them 45-22. Although the Concordia boys didn't have a very impressive season, they seemed to be able to take care of Monmouth in pretty fair style.

The Eagles hopped back into the win column November 22, and took Poling to the tune of 28-23. The Curtismen looked as if they had hit their belated stride in their next two encounters, downing both Spencerville and Kirkland with a large amount to go on.

However, on December 16, the squad fell before a tough Monroe team, 35-31. In their next two games the Monmouth five played Pleasant Mills and lost in both contests, after defeating them earlier in the season.

The Curtismen entered the blind tourney and played in only one contest, dropping Jefferson to the count of 48-15. In their next seasonal game the Eagles also played Jefferson, winning again 24-15.

On January 13, the Eagles engaged Pleasant Mills for the fourth time and evened it up, winning this time 33-24. Next Concordia again took the Monmouth five down the line 34-24.

The Eagles will end up their schedule by engaging Poling on February 17, and Geneva, February 24.

With this fair season to look back on, the Monmouth Eagles, headed by Coach Ernest Curtis, will be well prepared to enter the Sectional, and can be depended upon to give as well as receive.

Brief Description Is Presented Of Monmouth Eagles

Personal particulars on Monmouth's battling Eagles brings to view the qualifications of each team member, as follows:

Lawrence Fuelling: "Lorny"; 5 feet 10 inches tall; weight 160 pounds; plays forward; fourth year on team; appearing in the senior play; popular with the girls; is the catcher on the softball team; in a game against Kirkland he made a basket while on his knees.

Arnold Conrad: "Arny"; 6 feet tall; weight 170 pounds; plays center; first baseman on softball team; appearing in the senior play; goes for cheer leader, attractive Leona Dornseif; good on left-handed shots from the corner; associate editor of the school newspaper; has the habit of running his hand through his hair on the basketball floor.

Lewis Murphy: "Whitney"; 5 feet 9 1/2 inches tall; weight 138 pounds; plays forward; fourth year on team; plays center field on softball team; pivot shots are his specialty, but he can them from anywhere on the floor; claims to be a teacher's pet; Sanna Kunkel takes up his spare time in the evenings; editor of the school newspaper.

George Schuller: gets by without a nickname; 5 feet 9 inches tall; weight 155 pounds; plays center; will be in senior play; fourth year on basketball team; has been nursing a set of boils for the past month; is no woman hater but won't commit himself as to who is the lucky girl.

Truman Krueckeberg: "Kacky"; 5 feet 10 inches tall; weight 150 pounds; plays guard; left fielder on softball team; is very good looking and blond; will be in senior class play.

Frederick Aumann: "Fritz"; 5 feet, 5 1/2 inches tall; weight 126 pounds; sophomore; plays forward; plenty of girls find him attractive, but Peggy Dunn seems to have captured his affections.

Edward Miller: "Ed"; 5 feet 4 inches tall; weight 138 pounds; freshman; plays guard; at present has a feud on with Murphy to see who goes with a certain "Lizzie."

Fred Kunkel: "Fritz"; 5 feet 10 inches tall; weight 150 pounds; sophomore; plays guard; pitcher on the softball team; second year on the basketball team; shoots at one basket, but the ball goes in the other hoop.

Roger Ward: "Rog"; 5 feet 8 inches tall; weight 140 pounds; junior; is in the junior class play; nice looking; plays third base on the softball team.

Robert DeLong: "Bob"; 5 feet 4 inches tall; weight 100 pounds; is the

Despite the fact that their season has been none too successful, Monmouth's cagers will be striving to upset Elmhurst, their opponent in the Fort Wayne Sectional Tournament. Second row: Fred Kunkel, Lewis Murphy, Lawrence Fuelling, Coach Curtis, Arnold Conrad, Truman Krueckeberg, George Schuller. In foreground, Mary Jane Curtis, mascot.

Principal Ernest Curtis Is Instructor, Basketball Coach Of Monmouth Eagles

Mr. Ernest Curtis

Principal, teacher, and basketball coach, is the lot of genial Ernest Curtis, capable mentor of the Monmouth Eagles.

Mr. Curtis, despite his triple job, has produced some very successful teams that have earned Monmouth wide recognition and the respect of the larger schools.

He has put up with many difficulties while turning out his hardwood teams. The team had to practice in an old dilapidated church that threatened to fall apart at any moment. However, this year the Eagles were given a fine new gym with a seating capacity of 1,500 and a swell floor that is as good as any.

Curtis' own life is well worth noting. He has taken an active part in the smallest man on the squad; junior; is in the junior class play; is no woman hater but manages to live without them.

Lloyd Mahan; has no moniker; 5 feet 6 inches tall; weight 130 pounds; plays floor guard; sophomore; first year on team; is a good looking brunette.

Elmer Oetting: "Little Elmer"; 5 feet 11 inches tall; weight 120 pounds; sophomore; plays forward; also played in freshman year, but didn't make the tournament team.

court game for many years and once played for the state championship in 1909 when there were only 47 teams in the state.

His team this year is unusually small, but Curtis has managed to win 10 out of 16 games and in every case except one, the opponent was a larger school than tiny Monmouth. The exception was Jeffersonville and the Eagles defeated them twice. Curtis said that his team has had a little trouble getting used to the new gym, but should improve rapidly.

Curtis has had much experience at coaching and refereeing. He also realizes that a small school cannot have a good football team, and one of pet ideas is to develop a six man football team.

Basketball, Softball Are Eagle Features

This years sports list at Monmouth is made up of Intramural basketball, and softball.

Mr. Ernest Curtis, jovial Monmouth coach, is well pleased with his softball teams, and well he might be, when they have won seven out of eight County tourneys against tough county competition.

The boys have their intramural and class tournaments of basketball in the fall. Mr. Curtis said that the seniors held this year's class title, mainly because a few of the players on the senior squad are varsity performers.

Have New Colors

Coach Ernest Curtis' Monmouth squad will sport black and gold suits as their tournament emblems in the sectionals. It isn't known how the Monmouth team received the nickname, Eagles, but they have employed it use for many years.

Wear Purple And Gold

Purple and gold are the colors that the Decatur five will wear in the sectional tourney. The Decatur team has used the suitable nickname of Yellow Jackets for many years.

A new graveyard of prehistoric animals has been discovered near Robert Lee, Texas.

Monmouth Has Modern Gym; Eagle Buildings Make Hit With Nosy Reporter

"Have you seen our gym?" asked Mr. Ernest Curtis, principal of Monmouth.

"I'll take you down to see our gym," said Robert of Monmouth.

"Boy, you should see their gym!" said Bill of our own Central.

By this time we were fairly well convinced that we should see Monmouth's new gym. And, so we entered the building. Once inside the school, we found we had our choice—we could go upstairs or downstairs, but we could not go straight ahead—the gym was downstairs. Or at least the entrance was. So we went downstairs and entered the gym.

And is that gym something! It is said to have the largest floor space of any of the county school's gyms.

Stretched across the entire length of one side of the gym was a marvelous stage, the floor space of which is often filled with bleachers in order to increase the seating capacity of this auditorium-gym. Opposite to the stage are the stationary bleachers, newly varnished and snag-proof, girls. (We tried them.)

An interesting feature of this high school was the ping-pong table standing in the middle of the lower hall. (Incidentally, we literally fell over this table—not noticing it in our hurried descent.) We learned from one of the girls that ping-pong is a favorite noon-hour recreation of these students.

Advancing to the upper regions, we found the majority of the students in assembly, a large room, corresponding to our session room. Mr. Curtis very kindly permitted us to interrupt the study hour—to the students' great consternation—and interview the students. Also we were allowed to disrupt the senior typing class to obtain student's opinions.

Suddenly there was an astounding rush as a group of grade students broke forth from cover to go out to recess. The first question asked us by these young Eagles was, "What do you think of our gym?"

Probably you could understand this interest in a gymnasium better if you could have seen the Monmouth gym of last year. We did. And we can understand why they appreciate their new addition. Formerly, the Eagles played ball in an old barn—no bleachers and the roof leaked. Now there is the gym!

"Have you seen our gym?" asked a small Monmouth rooter. You bet your life we've seen the gym!

Wear Blue, White

The varsity squad of Hoagland possesses the same color of uniforms as the Central Tigers, blue and white. Coach Gerald Irwin didn't know how the nickname, Wildcats, happened to come into their possession.

The Union of South Africa legislature meets in Capetown, but all other government offices are at Pretoria.

Three Pretty Girls Lead Monmouth's Cheering Section

Leading Monmouth in an avalanche of cheers, are three good looking, flashing girls. But to do credit to the girls, this lowly scribe thinks it necessary to describe each one individually, so here goes.

First is Leona Dornseif, an attractive brunette. Leona is of medium height and has an engaging personality. As for her opinion on what Monmouth hoped to do, she said, "I don't think we will go so very far in the tourney but in every game that we play, you can be assured of plenty of fight from Monmouth's team."

Next on our interviews of cheerleaders comes Helen McKown. Helen is rather small in stature but perhaps that is explained due to the fact she is a freshman. Helen says she hates to miss a day of school for fear that something would happen interesting and she would miss it. (Students: Please take special notice!) She thinks Monmouth can overcome Monroeville and several other county teams to win a few games.

Last but far from least on our list is Margaret Moses, the third cheerleader. Margaret is of medium height, very blonde and with big blue eyes. Her comments on, tourney chances were that the team lacked height but had two fast playing forwards to count on.

Looking for another student opinion, we ran into Herman "Ham" Franz, Monmouth's student manager. "Ham" stated that, "We'll whip South Side and win the tourney hands down!"

More Monmouth student opinions are as follows:

Pauline Roop—We know we can beat any old team at any old time.

Arnold Spiegel—We will do our best.

Lloyd Kitson—We ought to do pretty good.

Gertrude Aumann—I think our team is pretty good if they all cooperate.

Lorien Schueter—I think our team will win if they try their best—as they always do.

Peggy Dunn—I think we have a swell team and they can do their best if they want to.

Meriam Brown—Our boys are the best.

Junior Beihold—I think the team will do the best they can. That's all we can expect.

Alma Selking—I think our team will do their best and that is all that can be expected. I am sure we will be well satisfied.

Zone Musser—I think our team will go to the semi-finals. We had a very successful season as a whole. Rah! Rah! Monmouth!

Eagles Have New Arena For Games

Monmouth Is Jubilant Because Of New Gymnasium; Handicapped By Old Gym

It was a jubilant group of basketball players that first set foot on the new Monmouth gym floor this year.

No more getting splinters from sitting down suddenly, no more torn suits because of a rough, uneven floor; and yes, no more chance of doing a Houdini act and suddenly disappearing into a hole in the floor, which actually happened to one member of Monmouth's tournament team last year. He was dribbling the ball down court when suddenly there was a loud "crack" and he disappeared through a hole in the floor. He was, fortunately, unharmed.

The new gym, however, has a very fine playing floor which is a little wider than that of any other school near Monmouth. It is 50 feet wide and 80 feet long. There is also a fine new scoreboard. Along one side are the bleachers while the other whole side is taken up by a huge stage upon which the collapsible bleachers are set up at the time of the games. The whole place will seat about 1,500, according to Mr. Ernest Curtis, principal and coach.

The old gym, which before it was pressed into service as a gym, was a Mormon church. Now it is still serving its period of usefulness, as it is used to store the school buses.

Curtis is to be praised for the patience it took to make good teams while under such handicaps. It is hoped that the new gym will inspire Monmouth to put out even better teams.

Equipment Lacking

Because lack of equipment and gymnasium of their own, the Monmouth girls are greatly handicapped in their athletics. But, in the face of these handicaps, these girls do have their sports. Twice a week, the girls are permitted the use of the boys' gym.

The various sports in which the girls participate are basketball, tumbling, soccer, softball, ping pong, and folk dancing. Miss Canwell is the coach and physical education teacher. She is also the commercial teacher at Monmouth High School.

Fans Boost Eagles

The Monmouth Eagles have the local fans behind them in a solid block. Every year about 75 tickets are sold for the tournament sessions, but in those sessions in which the Eagles appear, the town turns out en masse to cheer their favorite sons.

Pirates May Haul Down Colors Of Other Craft In Meet

Won 12 Games Against Tough County Quints

Took Blind Tourney Title To Prove They're Strong In Tournaments

Lose By One Point To New Havenites

Lafayette Central Has Rolled Up Victory Over Many County Fives

The Pirates of Lafayette Central gained for themselves the reputation of being one of the toughest of Allen County net squads during the past season. The Pirates rolled up an impressive record of twelve victories against eight defeats and defeated some of the toughest teams in the county. The high spot of their season, strangely enough, came with defeat rather than victory. New Haven, county champs for the 1938-39 season, received their toughest battle from an inspired band of Lafayette Central Pirates who finally went down to defeat by the extremely close score of 25-24.

The Pirates got off to a good start with five consecutive victories. Arcola, Monroeville, Lancaster, Rockcreek, and Hoagland fell before the Pirates' attacks before Roanoke finally handed the Lafayette five their first defeat by a score of 23-15. East Union, who has always been a jinx to the boys in Red and Black accounted for the Pirates' second defeat, 27-23. The Pirates then got back in their winning ways, defeating Woodburn, Arcola, and Jefferson Center before the shadow of defeat once again enclosed them. Elmhurst and Ossian then handed the Pirates a pair of tough two-point defeats, 41-39 and 32-30.

The fact that the Pirates have played their best ball in tournaments is borne out by their victory in their blind tourney in which they defeated both West Union and East Union to cop the title. In the county tourney the Pirates defeated Harlan 34-32, thus avenging a previous 36-26 defeat, and lost a heart-breaker to New Haven, 24-23.

The Lafayette season record is as follows:

- Lafayette Central 18, Arcola 12.
- Lafayette Central 35, Monroeville, 30.
- Lafayette Central 36, Lancaster 29.
- Lafayette Central 31, Rockcreek 27.
- Lafayette Central 42, Hoagland 30.
- Lafayette Central 15, Roanoke 23.
- Lafayette Central 23, East Union 27.
- Lafayette Central 18, Woodburn 16.
- Lafayette Central 27, Arcola 14.
- Lafayette Central 60, Jefferson Center 13.
- Lafayette Central 39, Elmhurst 41.
- Lafayette Central 30, Ossian 32.
- Blind Tourney
- Lafayette Central 31, West Union 26.
- Lafayette Central 32, East Union 28.
- Lafayette Central 26, Harlan 36.
- Lafayette Central 31, Huntington C. 38.
- County Tourney
- Lafayette Central 34, Harlan 32.
- Lafayette Central 23, New Haven 24.
- Lafayette Central 29, Woodburn 27.

"Cigar Box" Name Given Pirate Gym

Lafayette Central Basketball Team Definitely Handicapped By Small Playing Floor

The gymnasium of Lafayette Central is known throughout the school as the "cigar box." It is rightfully known by this name because the gym is only about 30 feet wide and 50 feet long, which is much smaller than the regular sized gym. Not only is the gym small but there is only about two feet space surrounding the playing floor.

The gym is used mainly by the grade school children's gym class and for practice by the netters of Lafayette Central. The games are played in a much larger gym in Roanoke, which holds a capacity crowd of 500 people.

Lafayette Central is in for a big surprise soon. It was learned through a reliable source that the reconstruction of their gym is to take place this coming summer. The gym is being planned so that it will hold 650 people, besides making the floor larger and having more space around the edges.

Lafayette Central has had many great teams, including the present one, but due to the handicap of their gym, have found it difficult to play on a larger court and thus have suffered many defeats which most likely could have been averted if they had a larger gymnasium.

Pirates Pointing For Game With County Champs

Lafayette Central's Pirates shown above are hoping for sweet revenge when they meet New Haven in the Sectional tournament. The Buccaneers lost a one-point game to New Haven earlier in the season and are hoping for revenge when it is the sweetest; in the tournament. Reading from left to right they are: First row—Jewell Genth, Student Manager Kenneth Crow, Richard Crull. Second row—Paul Reddin, James Chaney, Rex Shaw, Gib Imel, Kenny Kahlenbeck. Third row—Coach Clair Motz, Glen Genth, Harry Zurbick, Willie Dice, Bud Shaw, and Principal Edwin Tribble.

History Repeats Itself In L. C.-Bulldog Tilt

Ten years ago in 1929 in the county tournament, Lafayette Central was slated to play New Haven in the same game that both were paired in this year.

Despite good ball-playing and hard struggling, Lafayette was beaten by one point, to the endless sorrow of at least two of the team's players, one a guard, the other a forward.

Just before Lafayette played New Haven this year, the guard on that team, Noel Genth, present coach of the Morristown Yellow Jackets, telegraphed his fellow player and chum, the forward of that team: "Beat New Haven and revenge defeat of ten years ago. Play double hard and win or lose we will be proud of you." But Lafayette lost—again by one point.

The forward on that team is now coach of Lafayette Central, Clair Motz.

Cleverness Gains Name For Pirates

Switching Ball From Opponents Brings Title; Noted For Fair Playing

Perhaps many of you have wondered how Lafayette Central received the nickname of Pirates. Well, back in 1923 while they were playing another county team, Lafayette Central stole the ball from the opposing team so often that the men in the enemy camp called them the "pirates." From that day on, the nickname Pirate has stuck with them.

In 1921 the first class at Lafayette Central voted on the color they wanted for their school. The vote was won by a wide margin by the colors of red and black, second in this vote was gold and black.

The school emblem of Lafayette Central is the picture of a pirate's head. The pirate head is in black or red on the opposite background of one of these colors.

The Pirate is not a symbol of a school which is always unfair and cheating, but rather a symbol of fairness and doing their best for the betterment of education and general good feeling.

Give Short Summary For Each Member Of The Pirates' Team

Gerald Imel, who prefers to be called Gib, and who is holding down the Pirate's left forward berth, is playing his last year for the Pirates. His clever ball-handling and constant long-range shooting have pulled the Pirates out of many a pinch this season. In the county tournament this former Elmhurst lad, received the King Trophy award.

Willard Dice, the other regular forward, is also playing his last year for the Pirates. He has developed into a very clever and tricky pivot man, probably one of the finest Lafayette has ever produced. He is generally referred to as Willie among his teammates. Besides playing ball he is advertising manager of the Transcript, the school paper, and the yearbook.

Harry Zurbick, a junior, has played three years on the varsity. He answers to the name of Zub, and his all-around ball-handling and shooting have proved very beneficial to the Pirates in many games. He is generally found playing alternating pivot with Dice and he usually plays center.

Robert Shaw, another senior regular, generally playing guard, desires to be called "Bud" or "Bob". His constant drive for underneath the basket shots and his clever passing have entitled him to a regular berth on the team. He is also assistant sports editor of the yearbook. Like Imel, he formerly attended Elmhurst.

Kenneth Kahlenbeck, who is the other regular guard, is a senior and answers to the name "Wilson" or "Kenny." He is a deceptive dribbler and was honored by receiving a guard berth on the All-County Tournament Team. He is sports editor of Transcript and yearbook and was lately elected honorary captain of 1938-'39 basketball team.

Glen Shaw, who is clever and deceptive at shooting, is found playing in both the guard and forward positions. "Rex" is his nickname and informs us to call him so. He is also on the Transcript and yearbook staff. He also came from Elmhurst.

James Chaney, who is the lightest boy on the team, is a junior and prefers to be addressed as "Jim." He is the Pirates' trickiest ball-handler and passer. His ability to come through in a pinch has often proved helpful to the Pirates.

Paul Reddin, who is the Pirates' best reserve guard, is a sophomore. This all-around ball-player has helped the Pirates a great deal during the season. His previous two years of the varsity experience has been a great benefit to the squad for the next two years.

Richard Crull is another sophomore and this is his first year on the varsity. He answers to the name "Rich."

L. C.'s Reserves Have Hung Up Good Record

Pirate Second Stringers Have Won Twelve Of Seventeen Games This Year

Following in fine fashion the excellent example set by the Lafayette Central varsity, this year's reserve Pirate aggregation has established one of the best reserve records in the history of the school. Last year's second stringers hung up a fine record, and the 1938-'39 squad, in winning twelve out of seventeen battles, has far exceeded all expectations of Pirate fans. Their record becomes even more impressive when it is pointed out that in none of their five losses have the Pirate scrubs been set back by more than three points.

In the majority of their tougher tilts, however, the final gun has found the Red and Black on the long end of the final score. The most notable of these conquests was accomplished when the Pirates nosed a previously undefeated Ossian quintet, 21-20. The Red and Black seconds got their current season underway in fine style, taking four in a row before losing a tough one to Hoagland, 16-14. After absorbing their second beating at the hands of larger Union outfit 15-13, the Pirates got a five-game winning streak underway which was finally ended by West Union 24-21. Breaking even in their four remaining games, the Pirate seconds concluded their successful 1938-'39 season.

Summary of season's schedule: Lafayette Cent., 19; Arcola, 7. Lafayette Cent., 24; Monroeville, 10. Lafayette Cent., 21; Lancaster, 14. Lafayette Cent., 18; Rockcreek, 12. Lafayette Cent., 14; Hoagland, 16. Lafayette Cent., 20; Roanoke, 18. Lafayette Cent., 13; Union, Wells, 15. Lafayette Cent., 12; Woodburn, 11. Lafayette Cent., 14; Arcola, 9. Lafayette Cent., 37; Jefferson C., 15. Lafayette Cent., 39; Elmhurst, 19. Lafayette Cent., 21; Ossian, 20. Lafayette Cent., 21; West Union, 24. Lafayette Cent., 21; Harlan, 10. Lafayette Cent., 24; Hunt/gton C., 26. Lafayette Cent., 13; Woodburn, 14. Lafayette Cent., 29; East Union, 11.

He has had little experience on the first team so far this season although the Pirates will benefit through his playing in the next two years.

Glen Genth is a senior and has no nickname. He is a good ball feeder on the pivot and has had but little experience on the varsity this preceding season. He is on the yearbook staff.

Monroeville's Net Schedule Is Announced

Cubs Begin 1939-40 Basketball Season With Game On November 1

The Black and White Cubs of Monroeville will begin their 1939-40 basketball season, when they tangle with Lafayette Central at their opponents' court, November 1.

The Cubs' schedule, having as yet not been completed, has only Hoagland, Huntertown, and Arcola posted as facing them in two contests during the future hardwood campaign.

The Monroeville players have entered the blind and the county tournaments which are to be held on the New Haven court.

Coach George Martin stated that his schedule was not quite completed but would be in the near future.

The schedule for 1939-40, complete with dates and teams is as follows:

Nov. 1—Lafayette Central, there.
Nov. 10—Hoagland, here.
Nov. 16—New Haven, there.
Nov. 28—Elmhurst, there.
Nov. 29—Huntertown, here.
Dec. 1—Harlan, there.
Dec. 9—Blind Tourney at New Haven.
Jan. 12—Arcola, there.
Jan. 27—County Tourney at New Haven.
Feb. 2—Hoagland, there.
Feb. 9—Woodburn, there.
Feb. 10—Huntertown, there.
Feb. 24—Arcola, here.

Arcola High School Publishes "Arcolian"

The "Arcolian" is the school publication of Arcola High School. It is a monthly publication edited by the students, but is published by a commercial publishing company. For the past three years the "Arcolian" has received second class honor rating from the National Scholastic Press Association. Journalism is not a subject being taught at Arcola, so the work on the school paper is an extra-curricular activity. The only awards given for this work are a one-fourth scholastic credit a semester and upon graduation the students receive a pin signifying their working on the publication.

There are some forty members on the staff including reporters, proof-readers and the general staff. The staff is made up of students from each of the four grades of high school. The persons appointed to the various positions remain in office for one semester.

Mr. Henderson is the editorial adviser and Erwin Miller is the business manager.

Decatur Receives New School

Decatur High School

The new Decatur High School has received much comment as one of the most attractive and modern schools of this district.

Oddities From Schools Here And There Reveal Red Shirt Epidemic, Tall Story

While covering Hoagland, we found a regular epidemic of red shirts. "An organization?" we asked. "Oh, no," was the reply, "a fad—like this." And to our astonishment, we saw that the girl wore one white and one brown shoe. "You see," explained the Hoaglandite, "it's the senior fads: red shirts for the boys; bi-colored shoes, mismated, for the girls."

"This is our senior typing class," said the Monmouth commercial teacher, a very pretty and unbusinesslike-looking young woman. And were we surprised. There in the midst of all those smiling girls sat one lone boy. Hi-yo, Silver! Wonder if he ever gets lonesome?

"Accidents come in pairs" is an old adage and Miss Pumphrey, physical education coach of Decatur firmly believes in it. During a tough basketball game, two girls collided. Result: an almost broken nose and badly skinned shoulder. The same morning, another girl turned her ankle, suffering a bad sprain. Is there a doctor in the house?

The Central ad staff was becoming slightly discouraged. "Is the manager in?" we had asked many times. "No, he's out to lunch," was the reply we had heard many times. Twice we were informed that the manager was ill. And then came the ultimatum. "Is the manager in?" we inquired for the near-hundredth time. "No," was the calm reply, "he's in Mississippi." That got us—out to lunch or ill, we would forgive, but—Mississippi!

As our group walked up Monroeville's stairs, we made as much noise as any Napoleonic army. The stairs squeaked, and just as we were merrily tripping down the hall, we felt our equilibrium slipping, and likewise our feet, so we sat down unceremoniously in the middle of the wide hall. Other than a few broken boards, no casualties were reported.

The lower grade children at Monmouth wore red paper hearts with red, blue and white streamers attached. Very proudly they announced, "We had a party." Unfortunately we arrived too late for refreshments.

We're going the wrong way," yelled Latz from the other car, "we'll have to turn around. By the time we were turned around and well on our way, Latz whizzed by us going the original direction. Our glares failed to harm the occupants of that car, however.

Grade Tournament Is Scheduled Soon

The seventh and eighth grade county tournament will be held on the ninth, tenth, eleventh of March at Hoagland. The following sixteen schools will participate: Waynedale, Anthony Wayne, St. Joe, Leo, Woodburn, Pleasant Hill, Crest, Washington, Lincoln, Arcola, Jackson, Lafayette, Huntertown, New Haven, Monroeville, and Hoagland.

The county winner will be awarded a trophy; the runner-up will receive a basketball.

This is the first opportunity Hoagland has had to be host to the seventh and eighth grade teams of the county. As host, they will certainly do their best to make everyone feel welcome.

Leo Grade Team Has Perfect Record

Lion Cubs Are Undefeated In Regular Season; Favored In Tourney

The Leo grade team, champions of Allen County, were undefeated in their 1938-39 schedule, winning six games and losing none. They are coached by Jackson McNabb.

The boys are favorites to win the county championship again this year. Unusually large for a grade team, they average 5 feet 5 inches in height and are well built.

The leading scorers of the team are Lantz, Arnold, and Conrad, but they are very ably helped by Tharp, Kryder, and Butler.

Student Manager Eddie Sauder is an important cog in the team. He does his work very well and is liked by all team members and classmates.

Leo has scored 157 points to their opponents' 87. They are now preparing for the county tourney which will be held in March.

Has Executive Council

New Haven High School is governed by an executive council, consisting of two representatives from each class, usually the president and vice-president. This body meets once a week and discusses the problems of the student body.

Children often acquire fear of dogs, bugs, or darkness because they see adults showing fear of such things.

Weariness and the strained life is one of today's greatest troubles.

Hoagland Will Publish Annual

Richard Hoffman Named Editor-In-Chief Of Newly Organized Yearbook

The Hoagland junior and senior classes are publishing a yearbook for 1938-1939. This book promises to be of unusual interest in the community, since it is the first ever to be published by Hoagland School.

A name has not yet been decided upon, but the organization of the book has been worked out by the editorial and business staffs. The book will contain histories of the various classes, feature articles, humor sketches and a great number of snap shots. All pictures will be individual shots with the exception of the various club pictures, which will be in groups.

A section of the book has been reserved for advertisers, who through their patronage, are making the publishing of the book possible. Many advertisers from Fort Wayne, Monroeville, Decatur and Hoagland who are interested in Hoagland School have already bought advertisements.

Monroeville's Tallest Is Dick Gfell, 6 Feet

The Monroeville team averages just a fraction over five feet, eight inches in height, and the average Cub tips the scales at slightly under 146 pounds.

The tallest boy on the squad is Dick Gfell, a lad who measures an even two yards, from top to toe. Tom Taylor is nearer the ground than any of the other Cubs, standing just five feet, four inches tall. As might be expected, Dick and Tom also mark the extremes of the Monroeville weight chart, tipping the beam at 165 and 116 pounds respectively.

Greyhounds Enter Tournament After Mediocre Season

Arcola Squad Is Victorious In Eight Starts

Scheduled Against Tough Teams This Year; Beat Only Two Sectional Entries

Coach Miller Is New Ball Mentor

Several Boys Returning From '38 Tourney Quintet Will See Action Again

The Greyhounds of Arcola enter this tournament after a rather unimpressive season in which they won eight games and lost ten. The boys from Arcola have had a tough time having played the toughest teams of the country. The Millermen, however, have only beaten two clubs that will play in the Fort Wayne tourney, these being Huntertown and Monroeville.

The outlook is quite dark this year, but as Coach Miller sees it, Arcola will be right in there next year. This is Coach Miller's first year with the Greyhounds, and he has done quite well in view of the fact that last year's team won only half as many games.

Only three boys who played in last year's tourney were lost by graduation and three more are seniors now. Those boys back from the last tournament squad are Robert McCoy, a senior; Dale Schoch, a junior; Robert Milligan, a senior; Marion Snyder, a junior; Forest Felger, a senior; and Harold Butts, a junior. Of these boys, Milligan, who plays guard and forward, has been out about two-thirds of the season with injuries.

The leading scorer for the Greyhounds is Dale Schoch, who will be appearing in his second tournament as center.

Arcola has lost some mighty tough games this past season. The most outstanding of these was the game with Huntington Catholic which they lost 24-25.

Not much can be predicted about the Arcola aggregation as they defeated Harlan 25-22 early in the season and then lost to the same team 29-42. This is the way the "Hounds" have been playing, hot one time and cold the next.

The Greyhounds were eliminated by South Side in their first game last year, so the general opinion is this year that Arcola will be in the tournament until they bump into a city team as they seem to be the chief fear for the Millerboys.

In the county tourney Arcola eliminated Monroeville 25-20 and then lost to Huntertown 15-27 after they beat them in the regular season 28-16.

The record for the past season for Arcola follows:

Arcola 18, Lafayette Central 28.
Arcola 15, Coesse 21.
Arcola 28, Huntertown 16.
Arcola 23, Churubusco 34.
Arcola 25, Washington Center 20.
Arcola 57, Jefferson Center 21.
Arcola 18, South Whitley 29.
Arcola 25, Harlan 22.
Arcola 14, Lafayette Central 27.
Arcola 39, Woodburn 26.
Arcola 37, Coesse 18.
Arcola 24, Huntington Catholic 25.
Arcola 12, St. Paul (of Marion) 22.
Arcola 20, Elmhurst 30.
Arcola 28, Churubusco 43.
Arcola 31, Jefferson Center 10.
Arcola 29, Harlan 42.
Arcola 26, Washington Center 23.

Arcola 15, Huntertown 27.

most one hundred points. When he gets "hot," he is really hot; however, at times this year Dale has been held down. It may be said that the offensive hopes of Arcola hang on the shoulders of this lad. Oh yes, he has his eyes fixed on a certain Margy in his home town.

Harold Butts is a junior. He stands about 5 feet 6 inches, which is not considered an advantageous height for a basketball player; however, despite this handicap, Harold has shown an amazing ability on the hardwood. He has been used this year as a sub for Bob Milligan, regular forward, who was injured, in over half the games played. Also, he plays guard, where his tight defensive work comes in very handy.

Ralph Buecker is the youngest member of the tourney squad. He is a sophomore and has played varsity ball since about Christmas. His only handicap is a lack of experience; however, Coach Miller has been tutoring Ralph along in fine shape. Of all the lads out for basketball at Arcola, the greatest fireworks in the next two years are expected from little Ralph Buecker. A special note to the fans—Ralph is off the women.

Max Sitton is a junior and has had three years' experience, being promoted from reserve to varsity ranks only this year. He looks very tough at either guard or forward, and is used frequently at each position. He wears glasses—but these are never of a handicap to him as he wears a special eye-guard. Despite the glasses—he loves to fight and mix things up while he is in the game. Max is another woman hater.

Frank Poinsett is a curly-haired junior who is one of the best long shots on the squad. He is the best pivot man on the Aces' squad. Being only a junior, Frank is the man upon whom the coach is centering his activities for the coming season. Frank is the beaux brummel of Arcola high, being continually trailed by the lassies.

Vernon Whitlow, a junior, is the tenth man on the Arcola squad. He has seen little action this season on the varsity. However, he played in almost all of the prelim games. By his fine work in the prelims Vernon was given a position on the tourney squad. He will prove a valuable reserve during the sectional. He has great hopes of his playing varsity ball next year. Vernon is an outstanding student, but unlike most the players, shuns the fair sex.

Robert McCoy, a senior, with some three years of experience, plays at a varsity guard position. McCoy is the fighter of the squad. He may always be seen wearing a broad smile at all times. He is liked by fans everywhere for his fine sportsmanship and playing ability. He is very popular with the girls; and, confidentially, he leans toward the brunettes.

Robert Milligan is the only other senior on the tourney squad. He is another three-year man and is the most dependable forward on Coach Miller's five. He scored twenty-four points against the Jefferson Center team to turn in the best offensive performance of the year. Robert has been out quite a bit this year with a fractured cheekbone. He has come along rapidly and was the only player of the Aces' to be accorded a position on either of the All-County teams.

Marion Snyder is a junior at Arcola high and is a very potent ball handler. If you're interested, his nickname is "Sambo." He is possibly the coolest player ever to see action in an Arcola uniform. He is used by Coach Miller when things look dark, and at these times Marion usually upholds the equilibrium of the team. It seems from a little gossip we overheard that Marion is not one to favor the brunettes; it seems he really goes for those blondes.

Dale Schoch is the lad whom you will see jumping center for the Arcolians. Dale is the leading scorer of the Arcola team, having tallied al-Arcola, one of the strongest teams in the county, will provide plenty of competition for other county teams who expect to come out on top in the tournament.

Arcola Announces 1939-'40 Schedule

Thirteen Clashes On Program; Over Half Are Home Meets; Games Listed

The Arcola Aces' basketball schedule for the season of 1939-'40 has been announced. The only definite change is that the Aces will play the Monroeville Cubs twice instead of once. This season the Arcola squad played Churubusco; however, the Buscos have been dropped from the schedule next year by the Aces.

The Aces have scheduled thirteen games for next season. Five schools will be played on a home-and-home basis; however, the Aces will play Harlan, Elmhurst and South Whitley but once next year. Arcola has lined up a tough schedule and Coach Miller will have to have a strong team to come through with a good record; however, as has been proved in the past, Arcola likes a tough schedule.

The Aces will offer their fans a good chance of seeing their boys in action next year, as they play over one-half of their games at home. The '39-'40 schedule is listed below:

- Nov. 1—Lafayette Central, here.
- Nov. 3—Coesse, there.
- Nov. 10—Huntertown, there.
- Nov. 28—Washington Center, here.
- Dec. 8—South Whitley, there.
- Dec. 13—Harlan, here.
- Dec. 15—Lafayette Central, there.
- Dec. 22—Coesse, here.
- Jan. 12—Monroeville, there.
- Jan. 19—Elmhurst, here.
- Jan. 25, 26, 27—County Tournament.
- Feb. 9—Washington Center, there.
- Feb. 16—Huntertown, here.
- Feb. 23—Monroeville, here.

"Arcolian" Chooses First, Second Teams Of County Tourney

During the recent county basketball tournament held at New Haven, the Arcola high sports scribes selected several All-County teams for the school paper, the Arcolian.

Three New Haven boys made the first team, and also one lad from each Huntertown and Lafayette Central placed on the first five. The second squad featured five lads, each from a different squad. On the second team one boy was placed on the squad from each of these schools: Harlan, Lafayette Central, Leo, Arcola, Hoagland. The teams picked are possibly the best selections that could be made. The first team is very well balanced as to height, weight, speed and ability. The forwards on the first team are speedy and great offensive threats. The center chosen is one of the best pivot men in the state, and the two guards are especially good in ball-handling and keeping the team intact.

The second team is almost as good as the first team; however, the second squad possesses less offensive drive and defensive ability. The two teams picked by the Arcolian are listed below:

Arcolian All-County First Team—F. Rodenbeck, Huntertown; F. Van Meter, New Haven; C. Dienelt, New Haven; G. Hudson, New Haven; G. Kahlenbeck, Lafayette Central.

Arcolian All-County Second Team—F. Wilson, Harlan; F. Imil, Lafayette Central; C. Conrad, Leo; G. Milligan, Arcola; G. Perry, Hoagland.

Band Of Arcola High To Play At Tourney

The Arcola band, in their uniforms of green and white, will play at the tournament at North Side during the three-day contest. This band has 42 members and this is their first year under their new music instructor. Last year the Arcola high school band was in the second division of the state contest. Recently the school has invested three hundred dollars in new instruments. The Arcola band takes part in music contests over the state each year. They also play at the basketball games and all the programs at the school.

Teachers Will Be In Charge Of Ushering, Handling Crowd To Effect Dispatch

Special To The South Side Times

Huntington, Ind.—A total of 3,512 seats will be available at the regional tournament to be held in the Community gymnasium in Huntington next Saturday, and every seat will be sold in advance, according to word expressed by Burton Stephan, principal of Huntington High School, in charge of the tournament as host.

Because of the ruling of the IHSA, every seat in regional tournaments must be reserved, and the bleachers of the Community gymnasium have been marked off so no fan need have difficulty in claiming his proper place. A group of teachers of the high school will be on duty to supervise the ushering, so that the large crowd will be handled with dispatch.

Welcome To Huntington!

Huntington High School welcomes the South Side, Ossian, Redkey, and Union Center teams and fans to this Regional Tourney.

We extend to you our best wishes for a pleasant stay with us and wish you all a lot of luck in the games you play. May the best team win.

Minstrel Show Is Feature Of Philo

Plans Are Made For Annual Banquet To Be Held March 16; Admission Price 55 Cents.

Under the direction of 10A girls, a minstrel show was presented at the last Philo meeting held last Monday in the Greeley Room. Wilma Lagermann, who was to have had charge of the meeting, was absent, and her place was taken by Betty Lapp. Other girls taking part in the show are Martha Jean Smith, Charlene McAtee, Marjorie Roberts, Alice Sweet, and Mary Bowby. Bettillu Stein and Helen Savage sang a duet, and Ruth Dauner and Elaine Hirsch played a duet on the piano.

A play, "The Pink Ten" was presented by Helen Savage, Mildred Hanke, Faye Gumpfer, Lois Gumpfer, Harriet Greer, Alice Sweet, Betty Lapp, Gloria Staley, Virginia Hill and Mary Fry. A modern dance was given by Faye Gumpfer, Olive Swanson, Bettillu Stein, Martha Jane Krauskopf, Romyne Rediger, and Miriam Reobels. Caroline Lichtenberg recited two poems.

Betty Daniels, president, announced that Philo's annual banquet will be held March 16 at the Wayne Hotel. The price of the banquet is fifty-five cents, and before a member can attend her dues must be paid. Humorous Fete To Be Staged By Wranglers Best Declamers Chosen During Day To "Show Stuff" On Monday To Club.

Wranglers' Humorous declamation has been set for Monday, March 13, by Wranglers' Club adviser, Mrs. Dorothy Riecke. Because there are to be twenty-three participants, contests will be run off during the day and winners will compete at Wranglers' meeting after school.

Contest winners will be given Wrangler declamation medals at the banquet in the spring. First and second place winners will represent South Side in a similar state contest to be held at South Side March 26. These winners will be coached by Mrs. Riecke.

23 Are Initiated

Twenty-three speech enthusiasts were initiated into Wranglers' Club February 27 at Wranglers' semi-annual potluck-initiation. Approximately 130 Wranglers attended the affair and took part in the initiation ceremonies.

The serious initiating was performed by five officials of the club, Richard Garton, acting as president in the absence of Ed Reeves; Dick Buchholz, treasurer; Ed Kettler, assistant-treasurer; Jeannette Warren, secretary, and Sam Bacon, sergeant-at-arms. This part of the initiation was carried on in candlelight.

Lists Are Given

Initiates were Safford McMyler, Larry Gump, Bob Gump, Carolyn Cartwright, Gloria Wiebe, Marilyn Sandless, Mary Barrett, Lois Bloemer, Jane Merchant, Dorothy Karnap, Ruth Harbor, Lionel Gebhardt, James Brooks, Bob Merchant, Martha Krauskopf, Bob Brooks, Kathryn Guild, Mary Russ, Jack Hodell, Dave Lowe, Frances Kemmel, Carolyn Snoke, and Ellen Swartz.

Meterite Initiation Is Held For 9B's

Present Quiz For New Members; Marilyn Loomis Heads Play, "Sparkin'"; List Characters.

Initiation of 9B and other new Meterite members was held in the Greeley Room at 3:30 o'clock on Tuesday, March 7. The committee, Carolyn Whittier, chairman, Thompson Hall, Ionejean Tracht, Lois Bloemer, and May Scheele, questioned the initiates on various subjects. Those who were not able to answer their questions were sentenced to undergo forfeit. Also the girls had to sing in a group one of the Meterite songs. Judges for the occasion were Carol Whittier and the committee not doing the questioning.

"Sparkin'" a one-act play, was presented by Marilyn Loomis, director, and assistants Kathryn Kayser, Ruth Henry, Arlene Perry, and Doris Miller. The characters were Susan Hanna, Gloria Kramer; Lessie Hanna, Harriet Will; Granny Painsberry, Ruth Hageman; and Orry Sparks, Theda Tyndall.

Alida Eldino will present the play to be given on March 21, assisted by her committee, Carolyn McNabb, Margaret Meyers, Katherine Kixmiller, Lois Bloemer, Coleen Glentzer, Peggy Greaney, Margaret Heine, and Ionejean Tracht.

Sectional Refresh—

South Side's State Champs repeated their sectional victory of last year by downing a fighting band of North Side Redskins 33-28 last Saturday night but only after every Archer fan experienced a mild touch of heart trouble. The Redskins got hot early in the ball game to lead 18-13 as the half ended.

It was the first time in many a moon that the Archers could be found trailing at half-time. The Green had a little trouble getting their organized offense to clicking in the first half, so Coach Friddle sent the boys out in the third stanza with instructions to settle down and play just a normal ball game. The result was obvious.

The second diminutive Ralph Hamilton hit his sensational one-handed shot as the third quarter started, the State Champs were on their way. Once into the lead at 21-20 the Archers, paced by big Jim Glass, settled down noticeably and played real ball to finish ahead 33-28.

In connection with North Side, here's a tip for next year's net fans. North Side will be a lot harder to beat in the future than

South Side Basketball Fans Looking Forward To Enjoying Gala Time At Huntington Meet

By Robert Young

South Side basketball fans are looking forward to the regional tourney with eager anticipation of having a good time. The South Siders remember two years ago when they went to Huntington and had such a good time during the games and between sessions.

Because of the fine seats and spacious gym, the fans had a swell time cheering their favorites on to victory. Turning back the clock to the regional tourney two years ago, we see not South Side on the floor, but Central; however, there are hundreds of South Siders on hand cheering their city rivals on to state. The din was terrific, anything goes, as Central takes the floor in the afternoon. The spectators rise to their feet and cheer their teams on to victory. Pennants wave, confetti flies, the games are waged hot and fierce. The Central boys win and we give out a lusty cheer.

Walk Around

Well, now we decide to walk around between the two afternoon games. Being a big fieldhouse, the Huntington Community building offers ample opportunity for strutting around between games. We start to run, and run into some girls carrying Coca-Cola and other goodies. We are in a hurry to get to the game. But wait, we see the liquid. The second game starts and we take our seats, but since our home team isn't playing we decide to look about for our friends. They are all here and enjoying themselves as we are.

After the second afternoon game, we decide to go out and have some fun. First, we go into a hardware store and buy some nice loud cow-bells to clang that night. We're hungry now, so we decide to find a place to eat. We finally locate a crowded restaurant and rush in. We wait an hour and finally get our meal (one large coke), which we devour in a hurry and rush out into the street. We next see some of our friends going down the street in a car and we hop on the running board but are pushed very firmly off. Then we have another brainstorm and go into a dime store to purchase some crepe paper to make streamers and bow ties. But wait, we spot a gayly decorated car and snatch off all the beautiful decorations. The owner, although disgusted, minded little our work. I then spotted some big signs advertising a sale and we carried them through the stores.

Evening Session Starts

The evening session is ready to go, so we will have to hurry. We're ten minutes late getting in but we don't care. We look at the score board and find that Central is ahead. We lean back comfortably and push the hats off the ladies heads in front of us with our feet. We sit up straight, ignoring the scene, and go right on talking with each other. The quarter is over and now the half. Central still leads, and so we are still happy. As usual, we again get up to parade about during the half. This time we knock many glasses off in the rush and spend the next few minutes in by virtue of Highland's field goal and Hoagland won their way to the semi final round by beating Elmhurst in an overtime session.

REGIONAL PROSPECTS—

South Side will again reign as favorites in the Regional meet to be held at Huntington next Saturday. Their first foe will be Redkey, winner of the Hartford City sectional tourney. We had the privilege of meeting some of Redkey's varsity last week-end and wish to report that the Wolves are one of the biggest squads still in tournament competition. The fellows have a fine spirit and have every intention of giving the Archers all they have.

Despite the fact that they are a marked ball club and their every opponent will be pointing to beat them, the Archers should represent this Regional district in the Muncie semifinals. If the Archers do come through, it will be the first time a Green and White squad has ever won a Regional held at Huntington. The last South Side entrant in the Huntington meet fell victims to Bob Dro and Company from Berne.

Of the teams competing Saturday, Ossian seems to have the best chance of beating the Archers. The Bears have a veteran squad and have had a very successful season, losing only three games all year and these by one-point margins. A remarkable Union Township team, which won their way to the Regionals by upsetting a strong Huntington team, completes the list of squads which will appear at Huntington Saturday.

ALL SECTIONAL SQUAD—

It is a difficult task indeed to single out of the number of swell ball players which appeared in the Fort Wayne meet last Saturday. Nevertheless, we have chosen exactly ten boys of whom we feel sure are qualified for the distinction of being chosen on an All-Sectional team and hope they meet with the reader's approval.

They are:

Forwards: Bolyard and Hall of South Side, Stapleton of Decatur, and Kulesza of Central.

Centers: Glass of South Side and Keller of North Side.

Guards: Cowan of North Side, Beery of South Side, Dienelt of New Haven, and Perry of Hoagland.

Love Affairs Worry B. Klotz, Manager Of Archer Quintet

If you are wandering in the gym some night and some little boy about half your size grabs you to help you politely out of the gym, don't take a swing at him, for he is the head manager of the basketball team; and what's more, he's tough.

His name is Bruce Klotz and he is not only capable and efficient, but possesses remarkable endurance.

One finds, as he delves into the duties and troubles of a team manager, that everything is not fun and free rides with the team, but a manager must have special qualities fitting him for his job.

Has Many Duties

First of all, he must be able to get along with and fit in with the team members. Not that he should be a "yes man" but he should know when a little humor will go well and when to be serious. The duties of a manager are seemingly endless. This includes rub-downs, taping, care of colds, etc.

According to Mr. Klotz, who as you know, is a veteran, every team has its weaknesses. The state champs are no exception in this respect. This year's team is afflicted in two respects; first colds, second women. Again quoting Mr. Klotz: "No team in love can win a state championship." Consequently, Bruce is kept quite busy breaking things up.

Protects Against Colds

In regard to the colds, evidently every basketball team needs special attention. Protection against this menace also falls under the heading of "duties to be performed by the manager."

mentioned earlier that a head manager must have endurance. Although he is well liked, Bruce may expect at any time to find his, shall we say "equipment", hanging from some vantage point in the gym.

It's a lot of work but if the championship depends on the quality of the service rendered by Bruce, the Archers may consider the victory already in the bag.

The Times Ad Solicitors Put Over Big Edition

For The Tournament News, the advertising staff of The Times secured many advertisements. June Enoch, who had 41 inches, was the leader. Thirty-six inches were obtained by Jim Brooks.

Bud Lampton and Martha Jane Krauskopf each secured 12 inches. Close to these was Katherine Kixmiller, who obtained eleven and one-half inches.

Dick Bailhe and Bill McNulty, who solicited ads together, obtained 8 inches. Six inches were obtained by John Gumpfer. Also, Erma Jackson secured one inch.

In addition the heads of the ad staff obtained several ads.

Jim Brooks and Bud Lampton were tied last week for the most number of inches of advertising. One inch was obtained by Bill McNulty.

The Past Sectionals, The Future Regional

the 784 teams entered in sectional competition last Thursday, Friday, and Saturday fell by the wayside and the remaining 64 prepare for their respective regionals. Chief among the surprise defeats were the losses of Jeffersonville, Central of South Bend, Huntingtonburg, and Emerson of Gary. Jeffersonville, the third choice to win the state title, fell before their bitterest rival, New Albany who had previously accounted for one of the vaunted Jeff men. Valparaiso was responsible for the defeat of Emerson and also of the three other Gary entrants, Froebel, Horace Mann, and Tolleston. Mishawaka surprised by upsetting Johnny Wooden's Central of South Bend cagers, a team picked by many including Fort Wayne's own Johnny Hackett to upset Frankfort in the Hammond semi-final.

Jasper's defeat of Huntingtonburg ended in a rather pathetic story. For the past two years Jasper has come within two points of defeating the Happy Hunters in their annual sectional strife and this year after finally accomplishing the task, Jasper fell before a small but mighty team in the finals. Well, this is Indiana where anything can happen, and especially in basketball.

First Game To Start At 2 O'clock; Another To Be At 3; Final Game At 8.

Southern Archers Expected To Win

All Sectional Participating Teams Thought To Put Up Fights; Give Records.

This year's regional tournament, which will be held in the Huntington Community gymnasium, gets under way at 2 o'clock when the Ossian Bears take the floor against the Sharpshooters of Union Township to determine the first of the two evening finalists.

Ossian won their way to the regional meet by winning the Bluffton sectional, while the Sharpshooters came through in the Huntington meet. At 3 o'clock the vaunted South Side Archers will take the floor against a large Redkey outfit, winner of the Hartford City sectional. The tourney will enter its last stages when at 8 o'clock Saturday evening the two afternoon winners will battle it out to determine who shall represent the Huntington Regional district in the semi-final meet to be held at Muncie the following Saturday.

Many Tickets Are Available

Plenty of tickets are available for Archer students and fans wishing to attend the Huntington meet. South Side, it was announced by Principal R. Nelson Snider, has received 1,500 regional tickets and if the necessity arises, more can be readily secured. The Huntington Community gym, which will be the site of the meet, seats a good 4,000 fans, thus thoroughly accommodating the expected tourney crowd.

South Side, by virtue of being a co-favorite along with Frankfort to win the state championship for the second consecutive year, will reign as favorites in the Huntington Regional. The Archers season record of twenty wins as against but two defeats received in the Hammond Invitational Tourney, has done much in influencing dopesters to pick for the state champion. However, every one of the other three teams entered in the coming regional possess similarly impressive season records although the competition encountered was not as tough as that encountered by the State Champs.

Lose Very Few Games

Both Union Township and Ossian lost only three of their regular season games. However, one of the Union defeats came at the hands of Ossian in the middle of the season. Redkey dropped four games this season but two of these came at the beginning of the season and can no longer be considered in judging the strength of the Wolves.

Ossian won their way to the regionals by taking Bluffton and Liberty in the Bluffton sectional. Redkey's Wolves defeated Hartford City in the semi-final and Portland in the finals to win the Hartford City sectional. Union Township upset the pre-tourney favorites, Huntington, to win the Huntington sectional meet.

Use Pivot To Advantage

By downing Central 38-32, Leo 34-17, and Decatur 36-25, South Side's State Champs won their way to their sectional finals. The Archers finally took the North Side Redskins in the final game, after being behind 18-13 at half-time. The Archers use a shifting man-to-man defense to bottle up their foes. Offensively, the Archers usually stick to a set style of ball, but occasionally try their luck with the fast-break. The Green also uses the pivot to good advantage, the team revolving around Jim Glass in the pivot spot.

Four members of this year's tourney squad were members of last year's state championship team. The boys possessing this valuable experience are Bolyard, Glass, Beery, and Chedester. Although there will be four fine teams in the Huntington meet, South Side should fulfill the expectations of dopesters throughout the state by winning their regional and advancing to the Muncie semifinals.

Two Upperclassmen Address Youth Forum

Helen Faust, senior, and Henry Velkoff, post-graduate, represented South Side at the "Youth Forum," which was held at Central High School, Tuesday, March 7.

At the "Youth Forum" meeting a panel of students, one from each high school gave five minute talks on different topics concerning the questions chosen by the students for the forum. After the short talks, the students were given one hour in which to ask questions or state opinions concerning the topic under discussion. The forum was under the direction of V. J. Harold.

Too-Few Students Realize To Fullest Importance Of Paper

Some time ago, while walking down the hall, a group of four girls engaged in a conversation in which The South Side Times was a main topic. From the general trend of their conversation it was obvious that the student body of this institution was generally non-thankful for everything The Times has brought them or has meant to them. It was easy to see that perhaps the students had become so used to fine things that they did not appreciate them any longer.

Ever since it was first organized way back in October in the year of 1922, this publication has taken highest honors awarded to school papers. If any student should some time enter the room given over by the school board and Mr. Snider, which in itself shows that The Times must be worth something, you will immediately wonder where the 137 odd awards from various quarters came from. These many awards are for the best high school paper in Fort Wayne, Indiana, the United States, and the world; and they have been given to The Times from different organizations throughout this nation. Each of these presentations shows that some group has considered our school paper tops in its field.

This paper, which has a staff numbering nearly 200 people who do every bit of work connected with the paper except make the raw paper and print the copy, has gained world-wide renown for its efficient and almost professional workmanship; and yet part of the student body thinks that The Times isn't so keen.

If this is the case, what must the staff of this publication do to come up to the apparently "high" standards set by the students?

The Times has done more than any other high school newspaper in the world and will continue to do great things in the field of journalism.

But no matter what it does, The Times is first and always the students' paper. It is a paper of the students, for the students, by the students, and no one else.

Why Not Apply Courtesy To Our Cycle Of Study?

Dorothy Dix, Emily Post, and other people well-known to general public, have often made the remark that politeness and courtesy are two major assets for a person. They do not mean for a person to be a so-called "goody-goody" but mean that by certain actions and attitudes we can make our presence more appreciated by others.

However, this rule of courtesy and politeness applies not only to an individual but also to a large institution or group of persons like South Side High School and the student body of this school. Of course, a different meaning of the two admirable aspects mentioned above can be taken for use in a large place like this institution. By courtesy and politeness in a school we mean not the introduction of your friends to other acquaintances, not the calling of everyone Mr. or Mrs., but the general kindness and helpfulness which is so easy to give.

For example, the opposing basketball teams would appreciate our remaining quiet when they are trying to make a free throw.

We don't have to boo the referee and opposing team just because they aren't on our team. And how much easier it would be to take our slow, careful time in passing through crowded corridors.

By changing the attitude of the student body, this school could gain an admirable reputation for itself and thus have another laurel added to the championship heap.

Students! Use Book-Nook

Students nonchalantly take it for granted that the library is just a parking place for them until their next class or that it is a fine place to catch up on their sleep. South Side boasts of many new improvements of which all students are justly proud, but they totally disregard the library which is the most beneficial of all. Perhaps that is where the fault lies. The students have too long taken for granted the various values that the library has to offer.

There are a great many South Side students who have never even attempted to put in use the facilities of this worthwhile institution. The only obvious remedy for this truly shameful situation is to wake up the students to the many opportunities they are passing up, all of which would eventually aid them a great deal.

The heart-felt march of progression was felt by all net-tilting enthusiasts, after the regal sectional fray held at North Side's mighty athletic assemblage hall.

Pro and Con

Every six weeks the question of U and S cards comes up in the minds of the recipients. The students begin to wonder if these cards really serve their purpose. Some students fear the U and S grades more than they do the letter grades. This question has been torn to bits and put together again so often by every time the grades are issued it seems that there are more points of argument both Pro and Con. Some teachers take the Pro stand and others take the Con stand. Students seem to be staunch supporters of both sides. To examine the matter more thoroughly, we shall look into the debates put up by both sides.

PRO
The supporters of this side seem to think that such grades give the students a warning and make them work harder. When a U grade is received the student knows that he is not necessarily doing failing work, but that his next grade might be unsatisfactory to him. Such a purpose as this is truly beneficial. If the U and S grades were not issued, the students would have no way of knowing exactly where they stand. When the U and S grades are beneficial to the students then they have really served their purpose. Such grades should not frighten the students but they should serve as a helpful measure to them.

Since the time for receiving the letter grades is so far along in the semester, it is often too late to do anything about a low grade then; but if the student is warned earlier by the U and S cards and he can therefore make a better showing when the time for the letter grades does come.

CON
Some students and teachers are inclined to think that these grades are of no real value. These people claim that they give the student a very vague idea of where he stands and do not draw a line. They further claim that only the letter grades give the students a clear picture of what is in store for them. Many times a student works very earnestly and receives a U. Such a disappointment is discouraging and he begins to let down in his work. Perhaps this could have been avoided had the U and S cards have been something of the past. Some of the teachers have a very high standard upon which they base their grades and thus a pupil who has been used to another teacher, using a lower standard, will become discouraged with the U and S cards.

Of course such a question as this is highly debatable and when it comes right down to it, who knows whether it is a good thing or not. Every person is entitled to his own opinion and so let us close this bit to questioning whether they should continue or not.

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

Senior Synopsis

By R. U.

Graduating

With the student study cycle now taking the middle semestered course, we find real upperclassmen preparing to partake in that forthcoming much-heralded day in June when all ardent seniors will make their cap and gown procession march. And yet even as that promised day continues to loom closer in the futuristic distance, all Archer class biggies continue to undergo explicit happenings which we relate to all of you column watchers.

SEASONAL LAUGH CLASSICS were enjoyed by all when CLOWN-atic Lukie Kowalski rushed in with the mirth-rending line which stretched as follows: "Hitch-hikers to the right of me; hitch-hikers to the left of me. Thumb fun!" An' we're still in a kuandary circle.

FROM MEDICAL OPTICALIS-TICS, it looks as though even seniors, stout fellows all, were felled by the recent body-rending blows of the flat-footed FLU-gies. Open-throated calls for medicinal aspirants!

BEATIN' IT OUT 'ere high school-came, was our Gene Kroupa of the sticks, Rev Griffith. We hear tell that hot licks came as a natural talent for this swing-boasting alligator, who was found adding zest to the fateful measures of "Here at the crossroads we're standing."—We guess she's not so drum.

MAY WE HEAR with gracious sincerity and good will the senior laurels upon extra-curricular's sponsor, Carl Goebel. His speech attributes have established him as a top-notch Wrangler, and his scholastic rarities have named him a four-bell ringer. Nice going, Mr. Goebel, yours for future successes.

AND WASN'T IT, Mr. W. Wilson, government's artful teacher, who non-reluctantly ad libbed that the law of gravitation should be repealed?—Faculty fun-masters. Need we say more?

WE HEAR YA TALKIN', Messrs. Duemling and Chambers, M.D. (mighty dynamic) for your ever-helpful verbiage which is so efficiently handed out to the highly appreciative and deeply grateful upperclass takers. May the course continue to effervesce all-exuberant listeners!

CHAGRINED IS THE WORD applied to erstwhile Chuck Bollman, as he received the far-flung interrogation on feminine strapless wearing apparel at a recent duo-club session. Lovely is the keynote, eh Chuck ole boy?

WE SPEAK OF YOU OFTEN for although the miles are many and far-between Dottie Rohrbach and her ever-constant lunch chums still are discussing the delectability of Dorothy's honest-to-goodness college pal who arrived in our thriving metropolis to wish her loads of the best as he was passing through—Oh the joys of higher learnings.

Regional Jam-Session

What Would You Do?

After coming through the sectional basketball crowd at North Side this week-end last, and about losing your religion in the shuffle, we are impatient enough to assume that you hold definite ideas as to crowd conduct. Take a glance at the following and see whether your mind is running in the same channel as ours.

- If, when a basket is made, your neighbor in his excitement, jams your hat down on your head, you should:
 - Have known better than to have a hat on at a game. Tch, tch, you're no gentleman.
 - For heaven's sake, smile! The neighbor was Snider, the team South Side, and the player, little Hamilton.
 - That was no hat, that was an ice cream bar. Editors Note: Sloppy goo!
- If in a crowd you accidentally, in your jubilation, find your finger in someone's eye, you should:
 - Remove it!
 - Tell the victim to "Blame it on your youth."
 - Retrieve your finger and make yourself obscure. In other words, take it on the lam.

To entice the public speakers of Northern California to do their best in their fourth annual public speaking contest, the reward for the winner is a trip to Hawaii. In addition to this trip, trophies and vacations at Camp Curry in Yosemite Valley and Aetna Springs will be awarded to the other winners. Gold and silver cups will be presented to students winning certain contests. Each student in the contest will be presented with a gold medal. The theme is "American Citizenship."

The dramatic students at John Hay are rehearsing for the one-ring circus they are going to present in the near future. It's to have the grand title of JAMBOREE! They will feature everything from trapeze acts down to dwarfs. As in all stupendous productions, there'll be clowns, dancers, singers, tumblers, and death-defying stunts. A ventriloquist will be an act that will attract much attention; and even though he may not put Edgar Bergen to shame, he may run a close second. The strength of the strong man will no doubt startle all present, and they will marvel at the courage of the animal trainer.

It's a wonder to me that with all the hustle and bustle of the sectionals I found time to write the dirt column, but (wonder of wonders) here it is straight from the gutter to you. Or you might say straight from you to the gutter. You can figure out which would be the most appropriate. Now for the dirt....

From all appearances Eileen Smith and Beauford Carper are getting along swell. For a while there I had my doubts, but everything's ironed out now.

A really cute couple that deserves honorable mention is the combination of Virginia Nunenkamp and A. J. Ferguson. This romance has been going on for quite some time now, in fact ever since Virginia made a desirable addition to the school last fall. A. J. has put his stamp of approval on her, and Virginia didn't utter one word of protest. What girl in her right mind would?

Right in top rank in Barbara Blue's heart is a certain Johnny Galbreath. And since Johnny is a very determined lad, he intends to keep that position against all contenders. (Sounds like our team and their attitude toward the state championship.)

'Tis rumored hither and thither that Mae Vanderford and Red Bradley are on the outs again. Why can't those two kids get together? They really make a swell couple. Seems that they are not alone in their trouble.

Phyllis Renkenberger has gone over the deep end where Richard Hambroch of Central Catholic High School is concerned.

Bob Ferguson...take heed! If you expect to keep your monopoly on Rita Murchland, you'd better act now; because a certain lad from C. C. has his eye on her.

Betty Johnson has a serious crush on a boy in her English class, but the trouble is she hasn't been introduced. Now if some condescending person would help Betty out with an introduction maybe we'd have a new romance around these halls.

Love has come early in little frosh Clinton Miller's life. The lucky object of his affections is Mildred Squires, but I'm wondering if the feeling is mutual.

Girls....We finally have a really good one on the boys. Lateley some of the he-men (?) of South Side have taken to spending their evenings under sun-lamps in order to acquire that "fresh from Florida" look. Those gals who have found the deep dark secret out are laughing quietly up their sleeves. So boys, if I were you I'd prefer to be just an ordinary pale-face, rather than an object of ridicule.

However, there is one lad with a legitimate tan haunting the halls of South Side. He is none other than Joe Reichert. By the way Joe, more than one boy is envious of your claim on bauteous Lola Rodriguez.

The famed basketball star, John Chedester, has a silent admirer by the name of Katherine Perry. Haven't you forgotten something very important? You are supposed to be going steady, aren't you?

A couple that's really going to town lately is Wilma May Pierce and Roy Ehlerding.

I'm wondering what has happened to that romance between Margaret Brower and Don Hire? They were getting along swell there for a while, but all of a sudden they just lost track of each other. Maybe this will serve to be an eye-opener.

Recently Bonnie Yaeger has been stepping out with that diminutive Jim Winter. In my opinion they really make a cute couple, and I think that in the very near future they will be keeping steady company.

Aubrey Kellogg, who is known as the original Woman's Home Companion, is practically going crazy because he cannot secure an introduction to gorgeous Gloria Werkman. Aubrey feels that in order to ask her for a date, he must first be properly introduced.

Marilyn Anwiler, that glamorous gal, has fallen hook, line, and sinker for that v-man, Jimmy Hartman. But Jimmy's interest is heart and soul at North Side.

Ruth Freese and Harold Fremion are really hitting it off swell lately. Ever since a skating party when they first met they have had eyes for no one else.

Many requests have been sent in asking who Wilma Brown receives her mysterious notes from lately. Is he so good that you can't share him with anybody or is it that you are just naturally bashful? We all are interested in the affairs of your heart. So if you care to let the public in on your secret, just mail your reply in care of the mailbox. If you don't, well, just forget it.

Wee Sketches Of Our Big People

By Jeanette Warren

Meet "Beanpole Bubbles", people, for if you don't know her you really don't know what you're missin'. Another of those immigrants from Harrison Hill, she rates a one hundred per cent on her Times ballroom gymnastics (in other words she may be seen at variegated times "tripping the light fantastic" fantastically there).

Grif, like other senior A's (freshmen call 'em slap-happy duds), makes ample use of her spare time for the betterment of the school through her participation in extra-curricular activities. From morn' till night (really night, too) she may be seen 'drugging herself "skinny" (you have to put it in quotes for Bev) folding papers and checking accounts that you may get your Times on Thursday rather than several days later. Her official title in this capacity is circulation assistant. Besides being a loyal staff-member on the school paper, she is doing her bit on the other publication, The Totem, acting as junior editor. She is a member of Service, Philo, Social Science, and S. P. C. Clubs.

Grif has not a number of favorite foods as you would expect (if you would, and I think you would), but only one! It is apple pie a la mode a la cheese. Henry Busse and "I Promise You" strike her as a right suitable combination. And here's an apple Mr. Gilbert—her favorite subject is chemistry. She dislikes people who necessitate the re-explanation of jokes (she had someone in mind but wouldn't give; whoever you are take heed, and make it your business to catch on the first time, or Bev'll be mad at you). Her pet peeve is the existence of Times moochers—it hurts her business. Her favorite movie so far this year is "Kentucky." Incidentally she intends to attend school there (Ky.) following her graduation from these pillared portals.—As she puts it, "Down with the rest of the horses" (editor's note—too true). This schooling she hopes will qualify her for the position of laboratory technician.

Now and then the object of our deflection likes to "dash off a ditty" (courtesy J. Magley). One was dashed off especially for us—and as soon as it's printed we're dashing off, too.

TO A FRESHMAN

Never study too hard
Or too very long—I say;
'Cause if you stay too late at night,

It will surely turn to day.
It's too late to retract, but early enough to make a hasty departure.

Since all the department stores are featuring spring styles, I feel justified in bringing you some hints that point to spring. So on with the tips.

The suits of the season serve as a wardrobe basic around which to throw a number of frou-frou blouses. Snowy white blouses grace every kind of suit from the classic three-piece suits to the very formal suits.

Fresh flowers are used for lapel gadgets. By the way, have you seen the new lapel gadgets? The designers have used their imaginations this season, and it's really amazing how unusual yet how stunning they are. Big chunky enameled clips and pins have taken the lead in spring accessories. Artificial flowers, made up into dainty, little round bouquets, pinned to the neckline adds a smart touch to your lacy blouses. Match this up with a little bracelet in the same color tone.

Since we all like shiny patent leather, I know you will all welcome the news that the shiny-stuff is an important spring favorite. Hats of straw sport patent leather crowns. Some bonnets are made entirely of patent. Two accessories of the lacquered shine is sufficient. Black is most important in the shiny leathers, but the pastels are the new and different models.

The traditional sailor hat takes first place as a topper to finish off spring suits. The sailor of this generation is bedecked with flowers, feathers, or maybe a colorful veil wound around it. If you go in for tricky accessories, you might try a scotch bonnet matched with a plaid taffeta bag.

This season's buttons are a decoration as well as a necessity. Many times colorful buttons are the only trimming on an otherwise simple frock. Thick smocking and eyelet embroidery have taken their places in the fashion spotlight as the latest in trimmings.

If you should hear the rustle this spring, it will most likely be the taffeta petticoats rustling under the skirt and full skirts of the coming season. These petticoats usually go the whole length of the frock, with a small ruffle at the bottom and around the square neck peeking out just a little.

Stripes, checks, polka dots, (large and small) and plaids are foremost in fabrics; but the luscious plain colors and combinations tempt one into trying one's skill at combining them in the most unusual and attractive way. Brown is a runner-up to black and navy this spring. Tri-color combinations are also very striking. The mustard shades are lovely accents to grey. A yellow hat and a yellow jacket would brighten up that last year's print dress, and that color is one of the best.

Why Not Comment Rather Than Offer Untimely Slander?

"Doesn't Mazie look simply precious in purple?"
Is this the kind of remarks you make about your friends, or do you criticize their appearance? If this is not the kind of remarks you make, then you are not really their friend. Who was it that said, "Always look for the good in people?" And who said, "There is some good in everyone?" If you look hard enough you can find some good in everyone. These two phrases contain a lot of meaning but it takes a lot of thought to fully realize their importance. They are a warning to you to avoid one element which steadily destroys the popularity you are striving to gain. That is...criticizing other people.

Let's take Mazie for instance. She strolls by a group of her friends wearing an aqua skirt, brown hat, black shoes, white hair ribbons, and a purple sweater; and one in the group which is standing by (and the one who is her REAL friend) says, "Doesn't Mazie look simply precious in purple?", when there were a hundred slams she might have made about the outfit Mazie had on. What this girl looked for was the good in other people. Are you supposedly a friend to your associates, who smiles at them to their face; and as soon as their back is turned stabs them with cutting remarks? Or are you the REAL friend that your companions think you are? If you are not the latter, you'd better change your tune; for your present attitude will result in the loss of friends and friendships which have already been established and will prevent any future ones which might have been on the verge of springing up. It also lowers your social training in the estimation of your friends. People will not feel at ease in your presence and will thus go out of their way to avoid you. In other words, you speedily become a social outcast.

Think over all the people who make you feel ill at ease when you are in their presence. When you are departing from the group in which they are enveloped, do you feel that they are talking about you as soon as you are out of hearing distance? When they say, "See you later," wouldn't you like to yell, "Not if I see you first?" Can't you feel a thousand eyes following you critically? Don't you like to avoid them whenever you possibly can? If you have never experienced this feeling, then you are one in a million! If Mazie would have strolled past you, would you have defended her as her REAL friend did?

So, in the future, take care of what you say publicly, or for that matter, confidentially. It always leaks out some way. Think anything you want to, but don't express your thoughts. Keep them to yourself.

If you follow this small piece of advice, you'll see how greatly it will benefit you as well as your friends and associates; how much happier the atmosphere will be all the way around; and how many more friends you will acquire. Think it over and see if it isn't worth trying.

Orchids To Booster Group Which Benefits All Students!

Hats off to the student and faculty members of Booster Club for the hard work and effort they put forth in boosting the school clubs, activities, and athletics during these past busy months! The students of South Side commend you for your ability to help out all the other functions of the school and thank you with sincere gratitude. They look up to you for being contented merely with knowing that you are of service to the school and for upholding the projects of your club although you receive no medals, no social recognition, no bronze or silver pins, or any sort of an award.

Perhaps a few of the students of South Side don't know where the original and colorful decorations which adorn our gymnasium during the basketball seasons appropriated from. Perhaps a few do not realize that the loyal members of Booster Club work for hours after school and on Saturdays, making the delightful favors which are distributed throughout the student body at various times, decorating the rooms in which our major banquets are held. These favors are also real pep-you-ups at all athletic frays.

This same group is responsible for the concession stands where fans are afforded the opportunity to cram themselves with goodies. But the majority of South Side students never realize the many responsibilities of the Booster Club members, and this majority salutes you faithful workers and want you to know that they do appreciate your helping to promote various activities of their school. You've done a lot to boost the team, and all look up to you for it.

From all aspects it looks as though our yearly class book is going to be something really to write home about. And it's not too late for anyone to subscribe. So, take your chance, frosh-folk!

Union Sharpshooters Win Sectional Title For First Time

Sharpshooters Score Upsets At Sectionals

Conquer Huntington And Lightnings During Semi-Finals Of The Tourney

Will Meet Bears At Regional Play

Team Hopes To Revenge Earlier Setback Given It By Ossian During Season

Annexing their first sectional basketball crown, the Union Township Sharpshooters will make their bid for further fame in the coming Huntington regional this Saturday. Under the coaching ability of Harold Smith, these Sharpshooters managed to score several upsets over Huntington Vikings and Warren Lightnings, in the sectionals. Defeating Huntington in the semi-finals was the featured game of the tourney. The Smithmen downed the favorite Vikings in an overtime by a 32-30 score, and then eliminated the Warren squad in the finals by the score of 24-15.

To Meet Ossian
The Sharpshooters will meet the Ossian Bears in the opening game of the regional tournament. Hoping for revenge for an earlier setback, Coach Smith will probably use his starting line-up when the opening gun is sounded. The first five are Ralph Johnson, Mark Kline, Dean Griffith, Lewis Graham and Glenn Graham. Bob Kline will undoubtedly see action, when the Smithmen fight hard for victory and another upset in the regionals.

The Union team completed one of the best seasons they have ever had. Winning seventeen out of their twenty scheduled games by overwhelming scores, they have lived up to their name, Sharpshooters. This high-scoring team scored thirty or more in all their games except three. The Union cagers once defeated the Jefferson team by a 75 to 22 score.

With no really outstanding player on the team, the Sharpshooters form a team in which every player is needed and the loss of one would prove tough for the Union cagers. Three players, Ralph Johnson, Dean Griffith and Robert Kline, have proven to be the spark-plugs of the Union attack. Playing the brand of basketball which they do, which is the fast-breaking type, the services of these three boys have proven invaluable to the team. Sharpshooters is a very typical name for if they are given a set shot, it means two more points for their side.

Harold Smith, Union Coach, Is Well Liked

Says Sharpshooters Will Be Gunning For Ossian; Also Desire Crack At Champs

The Union Township Sharpshooters have been under the leadership of Harold Smith for three seasons. Coach Smith had little luck in his first two years at Union, but this year he turned out the best five of his entire coaching career. Coach Smith is liked by everyone at the school, as he is a fine coach and a great friend to all the students.

Coaches Intramural Sports
At the present time he coaches the Union baseball team besides his basketball activities. He also teaches science and history in the high school. Coach Smith conducts several intramural sports in the school. These sports are run off during the lunch periods and have been very successful in the past.

The outlook for the Union team next year is very gloomy. Six seniors will be lost by graduation so that Coach Smith will have to develop a whole new starting five; however, Smith will rely a good deal on Bob Kline to supply the punch for the next two seasons. The Union boys have been very loyal to their coach, following out his instructions and playing clean and hard.

Uses Summer Scheme
Coach Smith seems to have developed quite a scheme for keeping his boys prepared for the coming season. During his absence in the summer, the boys practice almost daily on baskets on their own barns. The Union boys like their coach very much and expressed great gratification for his leading them through the sectional tourney at Huntington.

When quizzed concerning the coming regional, Coach Smith answered, "We are gunning for those Ossian boys and hope to avenge our early season defeat. Also we surely would like a crack at the state champion Archers."

Six Miles From Huntington Is Picturesque Union School

Just six miles east of Huntington one comes upon the picturesque school of Union Center Township. The school is set a good distance back from the main road on a small gravel road. On the way out from Huntington to the Union Township High, one passes by a good portion of the most scenic part of Indiana, for the entire surrounding country of Union Township contains innumerable streams and creeks and flourishing fields of crops which are raised by the industrious farmers of Union Township.

To get back to the Union Center School itself, we see a square shaped high school and grade school combined with a conveniently sized gymnasium capable of accommodating 700 persons adjoining the school. The entire enrollment of the high school division is only 100, which leaves a very little number from which to choose a basketball team. But these farm lads who attend the Union Township High School have the determination which it takes to build a top-rank basketball squad. Every member of their team practices throughout the entire summer on basketball. Every one of these energetic lads has tacked on their barns nets, basketball hoops or anything else through which a basketball can be thrown. Every member on the team works as hard as he possibly can on basketball throughout the summer season and they're all determined to win.

Union High Is School Worthy Of Fine Team

When one reaches a point six miles distant from the metropolis of Huntington, he has arrived at Union Center Township school. The school was built in 1918, according to the corner stone located at the south end of the building.

When one enters the grounds of this school, he first sees the various playground equipment put there for the benefit of the grammar school children. The school is rather small but has up-to-date facilities throughout.

The school has a gym adjoining it capable of accommodating 700 persons; however, at the Union Center-Ossian game this year 1,100 people were admitted. The gym floor is of regulation size, 84 feet by 50 feet. Behind the school are six baskets by which the team can practice when the weather permits and which are also used by the gym classes in the fall and spring.

Union Center Fans Are Backing Team To Utmost Degree

When the Union Center Sharpshooters come out on the floor of the spacious Community Gymnasium, located on Park Drive in Huntington, every fan attending the game will see a determined and tireless team fighting every minute of that game. Even though their boys live in the country and have less time to practice and indulge in this sport, they have shown a willingness to work, and from this willingness they have reached their present position.

Every person in the vicinity of Union Center High School is backing the powerful little team of Union Center, and you see only a few of the hopeful comments of those on the team or connected with the team:

Robert Kline: I think we'll come out pretty good; however, we will have to put up a battle.

Mr. R. Kline, Sr.: I think we'll come out pretty well here.

Mr. Freck: Ossian beat us once but we hope to beat them this time.

Mark Kline: I think we'll do pretty well.

Dean Griffith: We hope to get revenge on Ossian.

Ralph Johnson: We hope to go to Muncie at least.

Fred Bowers: Ossian beat us once but we'll show them we're improved.

Glenn Graham: We ought to get past our first game, at least.

Lloyd Overholt: We've got a clear field to the super-regionals.

Union Varsity Squad Boasts Of Six Seniors

Union Center's second team seemed to have the same good luck this year that the varsity squad had, for they lost only three out of all their twenty scheduled games. As the varsity squad at the present boasts six senior members, the team will be forced to fall back on the reserves.

The varsity squad this year was noted for their height; however, next year the team will lack in height and experience. But from the looks of the results of this year's reserves against those of other schools they will par up pretty well; and, under the skilled hand of Coach Harold Smith, next year's team of Union Center will no doubt be one of the fastest breaking teams in the state.

Two Union Boys On Honor Team

Dean Griffith, Ralph Johnson Are Chosen On All-Sectional Squad By Coaches, Officials

Two members of Union Township's basketball team made the All-Sectional team picked by coaches and officials at the Huntington sectional. Dean Griffith and Ralph Johnson were selected to play forward and center, respectively.

Griffith is possibly the best forward ever to see action for Union. He is fast and is a really good ball handler and may be depended on to supply the fireworks for Union in the coming regional. Ralph Johnson is the giant of the Union team, standing about six feet four inches. He is a rebound artist and is noted for his many tip-ins. Ralph was undoubtedly the real spark-plug for Union in the sectional as he really played heads-up ball in that meet.

Wolves Win Regional Entry Right By Defeating Portland

Annex Coveted Sectional Title, For First Time

Defeat Portland 35-31 In Final Sectional Game By Steady And Hard Playing

Won 21 Games, Lost Only 4 This Year

Team Has Plenty Of Height With Four Players Reaching The Two-Yard Mark

A strong band of Redkey Wolves conquered a hard-fighting Portland five last Saturday night to annex their first sectional crown and win the right of competing in the regionals which will be played in Huntington this Saturday.

The Redkey five played good, steady basketball to beat a previously favored Portland team, 35-31. The Wolves, while they won by only four points, had control of the playing throughout the game, never letting Portland get a successful rally underway. This win over Portland sends Coach Hutchinson's squad into regional play against South Side's powerful Archers, who reign with Frankfort as co-favorites to win the state title.

Defeat Madison. The Wolves won their way to the finals of the Hartford City sectionals by shading Madison 29-27 in an overtime battle and then dropping Hartford City in the semi-finals, 38-31. The thriller of the tourney was the Redkey-Madison clash. The regular playing time ended with the two teams tied at 27-all, but the Wolves finally won out in a "sudden death" overtime battle. It was the third meeting of the two teams, the two previous games ending in overtime affairs with the Redkey Wolves in both cases coming out on top. Portland won the right to meet the Wolves in the final clash by virtue of their 41-28 semi-final victory over Ridgeville, the defending champion.

By drubbing Madison, Hartford City and Portland, the Wolves proved beyond doubt their supremacy over the teams competing in the Hartford City sectional. The only blot on the Redkey season record which was not erased by the Wolves' sectional victory was the 26-22 defeat suffered at the hands of Ridgeville in their sectional start of the season. However, the Wolves had improved remarkably during the season, and there is little doubt of their superiority over Ridgeville at the present time.

Use Three Attacks. Coach Hutchinson's squad had depended largely on three major types of offensive attacks to secure their victory margins this season. In hanging up their amazing record of 21 victories against four defeats to date, the Wolves have made use of the pivot, fast break and a set game with three out and two in.

Man for man, Redkey possesses one of the biggest small school teams in the state. Four of the starting players ascend to the six-foot mark and the first five as a whole average about 6 feet 1 inch. The starting five also averages around 180 pounds in weight. Coach Hutchinson will probably try to stop the state championship march of the Archers using Willman and Holdcraft at forwards, LaMaster at center, and Wingate and Smith at guards.

Opponent In First Archer Battle

Redkey will be the first to meet the last year's state champions, the South Side Archers of Fort Wayne, in the Huntington Regionals. Redkey is expected to put up a tough battle against the Archer team.

John LaMaster Is Redkey Principal

Has Held Present Position For Past Four Years; Is Proud Of This Season's Net Squad

Encountered in a garage in Portland, Ind. Mr. John LaMaster, principal of Redkey High School, very generously, under the influence of his son, John, tallest member of the varsity squad, consented to reveal a little information concerning himself. Having been in this position for the past four years, Mr. LaMaster has gained a good reputation for himself, and is very well liked.

Before coming to Redkey, he taught in Delaware County for eighteen years and was principal of Cowan High School, south of Muncie, for six years. During this career he has coached basketball for ten years; after coaching at Redkey from 1924 to 1934 he assumed his position as principal.

Receives Two Degrees. Before commencing his career, John, as he is called by all of his many friends, attended Ball State University and Indiana University. At the former he received his B.A. degree, and he received his M.A. degree at the latter. Incidentally, while he was at Ball State, Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal of South Side High School, Fort Wayne, was a very good friend of Mr. LaMaster. Both Snider and LaMaster were ardent baseball fans while in school together.

Principal LaMaster is fully proud of his Redkey Wolves and hopes they fare fairly well, at least, in the regionals. Asked about the other extracurricular activities at Redkey High School, he responded that they have an excellent band, composed of forty pieces and girls' and boys' glee clubs. He states that the lack of funds prevents the prevalence of any other sport besides basketball in the high school.

Is Capable Principal. One would think from all appearances that Principal LaMaster would naturally be an over-enthusiastic basketball fan, but in his own words he states that one of the reasons why he hasn't become a rabid fan is that he has seen so many bad acting coaches, he would rather just let things take their course and slip by. With such a capable principal and leader as Mr. LaMaster, we certainly can form a good opinion of Redkey High School.

Redkey Students And Townspeople Express Chances For The Wolves

Enthusiastically responding to the over-popular question, "What do you think chances are for your team in the regionals this year?" are the Redkey aspirants. Yes, and they do have every reason to be proud of their fighting Wolves; for 1939 is the very first year the sectional title has come to Redkey, and from all aspects, it won't be the last.

The varsity squad has done a lot of playing this year and lost only four of the games in their regular schedule. Coming through with top honors in the sectional meet, gave them even more experience, although fighting was tough. Madison Township, the first squad played by Redkey, in the sectional tourney, gave them plenty of competition, it being an overtime game, the second overtime meet with this team.

Your scribe found difficulty in securing opinions from varsity squad members, but students and townspeople are not afraid to commit themselves by any means. Some of the private opinions expressed are as follows:

Betty Gegenheimer: Chances look pretty good for the Wolves, although fighting is bound to be tough.

Fred Overmyer: Redkey will do okay for themselves and may go pretty far.

Charles Pearson: I've never seen South Side play, but they are sure to give us a good game.

Forest Lowry (former student at Redkey High School): We have a good chance and a good team and it is tough that we have to meet South Side first, because they are the only team who can stop us.

LaVon Champ: We will play a great game—the first one will be, anyway.

Interesting Item Taken From Bluffton Paper Is Reprinted

One of the more interesting articles taken from the annual Sectional Tournament News issue of The Comet, the Bluffton High School paper, is here reprinted upon request of the Regional Tourney fans. It is an interview with Zeke Young, veteran Northern Indiana basketball official.

"Charging and holding are the most frequent fouls committed in basketball," was the opinion expressed by Zeke Young, well-known basketball referee and former coach at Auburn High School, in a recent interview by a member of the Comet class. "Most of these fouls, of course, are accidental and are due to overexcitement or the boys trying too hard," he continued. "The charging foul is the hardest foul to detect. And when two boys meet—one dribbling the ball, the other guarding him—it's very difficult to decide just which is at fault if a foul is made. However, most boys are good sports when the foul is called on them and, as a rule, are sorry."

His answer was a very definite week.

Redkey Wolves Pick Up Speed During Season

Get Off To Slow Start But They Win Six Straight Games To Finish Strong

The Wolves of Redkey got off to a slow start this season as they dropped their first two games, the first to Albany by one point, 29-30, and the second to Ridgeville, 22-26. The third game the Wolves played was with Madison Township and went to an overtime in which they won, 16-14. Following the Madison game, Redkey won six straight scheduled games and the Jay County tourney before they lost a thriller to Pennville, 29-30.

As the second half of the season started, Redkey defeated Bryant, 45-25, won the Big-Four tourney, and defeated Gaston, Union City and Montpelier. Redkey won a third tourney in the invitational meet at Dunkirk. The last game the Wolves lost was to Frankfort, 25-34. At present the Wolves are riding the crest of a six-game winning streak, having won the last three scheduled games and three games in the Hartford City sectional.

The record of the Redkey Wolves for the past season follows:

Redkey, 29; Albany, 30.
Redkey, 22; Ridgeville, 26.
Redkey, 16; Madison, 14 (overtime)
Redkey, 40; Roll, 28.

Girl Cheerleaders For Redkey Wolves Give Great Support

The battling Redkey Wolves certainly do not have to worry about support from their school, for out in front, full of vim, vigor and vitality, and yelling for main and might are two ardent, enthusiastic cheerleaders.

Your scribe was able to obtain a very pleasant interview with one of the leaders, Mabel Rathfon, who, incidentally, is and has been keeping steady company with the 6-foot-1-inch forward, Marion Holdcraft, who, without a doubt is a red-haired Casanova and president of the senior class at Redkey High School. The other member comprising the boosting squadron is Dorothy Barley, who, like her cohort, claims a basketball player, the 6-foot-2½-inch center, John LaMaster, as the main issue in her love life.

Mabel is a senior this year and Dorothy is a junior. Both girls, however, are serving their first year as cheerleaders; but with their pep, they are sure to lead the Wolves to victory. Garbed in blue and white uniforms, composed of blue flannel trousers and white satin blouses will be these enthusiasts, who without a doubt have what it takes in school spirit.

Speaking of the team's chances, Mabel has high hopes of the Wolves going pretty far, although she states that she has certainly heard a lot about the South Side Archers. Whether it is merely her influence together with that of Dorothy's, or some other power, it is hard to say, but Marion Holdcraft and John LaMaster seemed to be more garrulous than the other members of the team. Both boys think a lot of their school and team and hope to go pretty far in the regionals, although they admit that if they do fall before any team at all, it will be South Side.

Anything concerning basketball is the "rumbling roar of the robust rooters of Redkey" these days, for the sectional crown appears in this lively little town for the first time in its history and the townspeople are mighty proud of it. Ambulating around, one could easily detect the talk of the town, for in the drug-stores, variety shops, or on street-corners fans could be found discussing their victory. Your scribe happened in town the Sunday after the win and listened to bits of conversation between old men in the main hotel of the town and of the youthful rooters in the Double-Dip Shop. Everything appears top-notch and hopes are definitely far-reaching.

"Hoofing it" around Redkey, we chanced to pass by the school, which is a very nice one at that. Life was non-existing this day, as it was Sunday, but one of the points of interest noticed when we were once inside the building was a blue and white banner with "Jay County Champions of 1939" inscribed on it.

Another feature noticed is something else the town should be proud of, and that is the modern fire engine housed in the city building. Surmounting the building is a bell tower, from which two ropes are extended, each with an iron ring on the end to be rung to call the volunteer fire force of the city.

One of the outstanding sights of the town is the Willman Bakery which is known throughout the state for its fine baked goods. A fleet of seventeen large trucks are a main characteristic of the bakery. Incidentally, Bob Willman, a member of the varsity basketball squad, is the son of the owner.

Enthusiastic supporters of the so-called famed team of Redkey can be seen and heard everywhere. Blue and white ribbons and banners adorn the entire town. In one grocery store window, for instance, was seen a basketball decked with blue and white ribbons with "We're for you, Wolves," inscribed. Good luck was written in many store windows; thus the inspired fans show their exalted, whole-hearted spirit.

Whatever trouble Adam had, No man in days of yore Could say when Adam cracked a joke: "I've heard that one before."

Ossian Squad Wins Twenty Of Twenty-Three Season Tilts

Bears Are Beat In Three Games By Point Apiece

Central Catholic, Bluffton, Roanoke Are Only Squads To Conquer Ossian Team

Bruins Retaliate In Two Of Losses

Quintet Later Avenue Bluffton, Roanoke Defeats; Are Also County Victors

Ossian's regular 1938-39 escutcheon is one that any high school hardwood aggregation would be proud to own. Seeing action in a total of 23 games, the Bears came through to win 20 of the tilts, losing but three contests, all of these by one point, and later avenging two of the defeats. Central Catholic dropped Ossian 31-30 in the Catholics' season opener and Bluffton and Roanoke nipped the Bears during regular season play. Roanoke tripped the Bruins, 27-26, and then dropped a later engagement, 49-25. Bluffton edged them, 34-33, and this loss was twice avenged by the Bears as they beat out the Tigers in the Wells County tourney and in the Bluffton sectional tournament.

Ossian Trims Liberty
Ossian opened the season by trimming Liberty 31-22. It then ran its winning streak to four straight by handling Union, 40-31; Lancaster, 32-15; Hoagland, 59-25; and then dropped before Central Catholic. Rock Creek fell under a 51-18 barrage and then Roanoke slapped a 27-26 loss on the ambitious Bears. Lancaster was beaten for the second time, 32-25, before Bluffton nipped the Bruins, 34-33. Lafayette Central gave the Ossian outfit a great battle before bowing out, 32-30, and from here on in the Bear trail was one of victory.

Triumphs Are Listed
Triumphs were registered in rapid succession over Hoagland, 56-24; Union, 31-24; Liberty, 26-24; Union (for third time), 31-26; New Haven (Allen County Champaign), 49-27; Roanoke, 49-25; Elmhurst, 44-31; Warren, 33-27; Rock Creek, 62-21; and Upland, 43-21. Included in the win list must be the County tourney conquests by the Bruins which were victories over Rock Creek, 37-33; Bluffton, 28-27; and Liberty, 40-24.

Undoubtedly the outstanding triumph by Ossian in the sectional tournament was its 31-29 victory over Bluffton in a semi-final clash. The Ossian regular season follows: Ossian 31, Liberty Center 20. Ossian 41, Union Center Wells 30. Ossian 32, Lancaster 15. Ossian 59, Hoagland 26. Ossian 30, Cent. Cath. (Ft.W.) 31. Ossian 51, Rock Creek 18. Ossian 26, Roanoke 27. Ossian 32, Lancaster 25. Ossian 33, Bluffton 34. Ossian 32, Lafayette Central 30. Ossian 56, Hoagland 24. Ossian 31, Union W. 24. Ossian 26, Liberty Center 24. Ossian 31, Union (Huntington) 26. Ossian 47, New Haven 29. Ossian 47, Roanoke 25. Ossian 44, Elmhurst 31. Ossian 35, Warren 27. Ossian 62, Rock Creek 22. Ossian 43, Upland 21.

County Tournament:
Ossian 37, Rock Creek 23. Ossian 28, Bluffton 27. Ossian 40, Liberty 24.

Sectional Tournament:
Ossian 42, Rock Creek 16. Ossian 35, Beine 26. Ossian 31, Bluffton 29. Ossian 43, Lancaster 22.

Two Ossian Girls Will Lead Cheers For Bears' Team

While Ossian Bear fans are doing so much praising of the team, and congratulatory remarks are being heard on every hand, two other people who contributed much to the enthusiasm of the tournament should receive their share of credit, too. Dorothy Grear and Betty White, decked out in their white and crimson "yell" outfits, surely did a great deal in making Ossian's yelling section very conspicuous at Bluffton.

Dorothy will graduate in April, and her contributions to many school functions will be missed. A typical blonde, and short, Dorothy isn't hard to spot. She had a part in "The Arrival of Kitty" last year, and this year her chief activity, besides leading yells and playing in the band and orchestra, has been to manage the editing of "Bear Facts."

Betty, just as typically brunette and short, will be with us next year yet. She has a special interest in the team, but she cheers for the whole group regardless. Her main activity recently has been working with "Here Comes Charlie," in which she was a little Irish maid. The operetta later in the year will include Betty also.

All we can say is, "Congratulations, girls; we appreciate your good work."

Junior Class Presents "Here Comes Charlie"

The annual junior class play was presented by the juniors last Tuesday evening at the high school auditorium. The chosen vehicle was "Here Comes Charlie" and the presentation, given under the direction of Miss Lois Blair, English and physical education instructor, was very well greeted by a capacity audience. The cast included Richard Johnson, Norman Trzinka, Louis Garrett, Bob Squire, Gene Swaim, Aida Kincaid, Lois Parkson, Betty White, Dolly Wilson, and Donna Moore.

Curious About Ossian Players? Then Read This And Know All

Louden "Bud" Hoover has been around O. H. S. for about four years. He has played on the varsity all four years. "Bud" has been one of the leading scorers for three court campaigns, he also was captain as a junior. His points totaled 174 for this season. Besides scoring a great deal, he is very clever with the ball and is an exceptionally good passer. Hoover is the general of the team.

Wilbur "Ding Dong" Bell is a senior in school. Ding Dong has played two previous years on the varsity. Bell also scores many points, as well as being a very good back board man. He is one of the largest boys on the squad. His total points for the season are 186.

Donald "Deacon" Beerman is also a senior this year. "Deacon" has played on the varsity for three years. Deacon is the fastest man on the squad, and is very aggressive. Beerman is also a good defensive man. He has tossed in 127 points this season.

Ernest "Ernie" Wilson is the last of the seniors on the squad. He has been on the varsity for three seasons. "Ernie" attended Decatur High School as a freshman. For the last two seasons he has been a regular. Wilson is a very good defensive man. His total points for the season are 140.

Harold "Tub" Yager has had one year's previous experience on the varsity, and is a junior this year. He is the largest man on the squad. "Tub" is chiefly a defensive man. His points for this season totaled 37. Hubert "Hube" Pensinger is a junior this year, and has had one year's experience on the varsity. He is about the smallest boy on the team. He is a good offensive man for a reserve. His points for the season total 70.

Clare Holley has been the coach of the O. H. S. Bears for 3 years. He graduated from Huntington College with the A.B. degree. Coach Holley has shown himself to be a competent coach in coaching his two county championships and one sectional in his three years at Ossian.

Orville "Orv" Mahnensmith is a sophomore member of the squad. "Orv" played on the reserve team last year when he was only a freshman. Now that he is a sophomore he has shown his prowess in varsity play.

Charles "Charley" Mahnensmith is another sophomore member of the squad. He has advanced from the second team as a freshman to his position on the varsity. "Charley" has been a stalwart guard on the team and promises to be in the thick of the fight in his two remaining years.

Chalmer "Louie" Springer has two years' experience in varsity play. "Louie" is a junior and has been a reliable player on the squad this year. Springer has been fighting for a regular berth on the team, tallying 97 points during the season for his efforts.

Paul "P.M." Miller is a junior member of the squad playing his first year on the varsity. "P.M." is a valuable man on the back board and is dependable on defense. Miller has shown himself to be a capable reserve and is expected to be a mainstay on the team next year.

Wayne "Stooge" Henly has been the student manager for two years. He has always been on the job and takes care of his duties with his best ability. "Stooge" is a senior and his services will be greatly missed next year.

Cub Reserves Excel Elders In Net Season

Ossian Wins Eighteen Out Of Twenty Games, Lose Tilts To Bluffton, Pirates

Ossian's reserve squad emulated their more experienced elders in their 1938-39 basketball campaign, as the Cubs knocked out eighteen victories in the twenty games in which they participated. The Bruins' subs won eight consecutive contests before losing their first tilt to Bluffton seconds by a 16-13 margin. Lafayette Central reserves made it two losses in a row by tripping the cubs, 21-20; but the Pirate defeat only spurred the Ossian subs to greater heights, as they finished out their season without losing another ball game.

The season record of the reserves is as follows:

Ossian 22, Liberty 12.
Ossian 21, Union 6.
Ossian 32, Lancaster 15.
Ossian 59, Hoagland 25.
Ossian 23, Cent. Cath (Ft.W.) 21.
Ossian 23, Rock Creek 11.
Ossian 36, Roanoke 14.
Ossian 18, Lancaster 14.
Ossian 13, Bluffton 16.
Ossian 20, Lafayette Central 21.
Ossian 19, Hoagland 13.
Ossian 25, Union 14.
Ossian 31, Liberty 14.
Ossian 20, Union 18.
Ossian 26, New Haven 10.
Ossian 23, Roanoke 13.
Ossian 21, Elmhurst 13.

Ossian 29, Rock Creek 24.
Ossian 29, Upland 8.

Cubs' Hopes Are High For Tourney

Tally 896 Points To Rivals 604 During Season; Unfrightened By Prospect Of Meeting Green

If favorites come through as expected in the afternoon clashes of the Huntington regional tourney, South Side will have to be on guard against a high scoring Ossian outfit.

The Bears aren't one whit frightened by the impressive South Side record, and the team is firm in the belief that it has enough stuff to knock off the topnotch Archers. In their first 23 regular season games the Bears piled up 896 tallies to their opponents' 604. Bell paced the Bruins' offensive with 177 points in 19 games for an average of 9.3 tallies per game.

Hoover, with 160 counters, in 21 games, was second to Bell. His tallies averaged 7.6 points per game while Wilson, hitting for 131 markers in 20 tilts, boasted a 6.5 average.

Bill Ogg, Ed Walsh Lead Reserve Squad

Heading the list of boys who were members of the winning-minded Ossian reserve squad are the names of Bill Ogg and Ed Walsh. This pair paced the Cubs' offensive machinations throughout the 1938-39 season. Other boys who participated in the subs' 18 victories are B. Walsh, Summers, Hunter, Dishong, Ludwig, Herberst, Mathews, Krauter, Johnson, Hatfield, Ludy, Wilhelm, and Reinhart.

Ossian High School Is Lucky To Have Mr. Moore, Head

It was the misfortune of the Regional Tournament News scribes to visit Ossian, a thriving little community of about 800 population, on one of the few days when its basketball coach, Clare Holley, was not at home. We were therefore automatically denied the privilege of meeting him, but we did meet for the second time the Ossian school principal, Mr. Moore.

Mr. Moore has been at the head of the Bear school system for eight years; and from what we saw of him during our brief visit, Ossian students are very lucky in keeping him at his present post. He was not only enthusiastic about our proposed selling plans, but aided us in several ways in arranging for the disposal of Booster names and the selling of the tourney newspapers.

Coach Holley, we were informed, was visiting in Tipton and thus we had to forego the pleasure of meeting him. As we said we had met Mr. Moore before, when we had visited Ossian high school on a search for State Tournament tickets.

Mr. Moore told us that he had become acquainted with the publication of the Regional Tournament paper two years ago when Ossian had made the trip to the Fort Wayne Regional.

In regard to our brief visit with Mr. Moore, we say, "'Lucky, lucky Ossian.'"

Some Favored Quintets Fall Into Discord

Lady Luck Proves Fickle Dame After Casting Smile During Regular Season

The goddess of basketball, that fair haired dame who pulls the strings and controls the destinies of the 800 teams entered in the present I. H. S. A. A. tournament, certainly passed up some of the most highly regarded quintets in the state. Jeffersonville, Central of South Bend, Huntington, Froebel, and Emerson of Gary all were struck down by dame fortune's hand. All these teams fell by the wayside in the recent sectionals. They were beaten by supposedly inferior teams.

Jeffersonville's conqueror was New Albany. New Albany it will be remembered was the team that upset the Red Devil's earlier in the season. Jeffersonville was the Indiana sports writers third choice to cop the prep school crown. After trailing all of the way in the game New Albany launched a rally in the last minute that carried them to a 35 to 32 victory. Mishawaka, playing an inspired game, led all the way in their game with Central of South Bend. Central was co-champion of the Northern Indiana Conference, eastern division and winner of 18 out of 20 games during the regular schedule. But the South Benders were no match for their rivals and lost 41 to 35. Huntington fell before their bitter rival Jasper by a score of 34 to 26. The Happy Hunters weren't so happy after the Jasper quintet upset them. The Hunters had beaten Jasper twice before during the regular season, but they were unable to come through when the chips were down and that is what counts in this tournament. Froebel of Gary fell before a city rival, Wallace, 23 to 20. Valparaiso provided a stunning upset when they knocked over Emerson of Gary 26 to 20. The Valparaiso squad went on to win their own sectionals.

Outside of these upsets, upsets that stunned the best of basketball circles, there were no other upset teams beaten. Frankfort had a breeze in their sectional, Anderson managed to come through, Burris of Muncie squeezed through, Kokomo had little trouble, and Richmond came through in good shape. But perhaps the dark horse of the tournament will be a little team from the town of Mitchell. Mitchell first gained prominence by handing Huntington their first defeat of the year. The little Mitchell team played at Bedford and in their first game beat Fayetteville 51 to 26. They ran all over Marshall Township 35 to 18, continued their winning ways against Tunnelton 28 to 25 and defeated a strong Bedford squad in the finals 32 to 22. Mitchell plays at New Albany in the forthcoming regionals and they will compete with such teams as Salem, Seymour, and New Albany.

The only state finalist of last year beside South Side is the Hammond quintet. Columbus and Bedford, the other two state finalists, were beaten.

G. A. A. Exhibition To Be March 31

World Cruise Is Theme Of Show; Dances Representing Various Countries Will Be Presented

Plans are already being made for the G. A. A. Spring Show, which is to be held on March 31. This year's theme is to be "World Cruise."

Different dances representing the various countries will be presented by the dancing classes and the Dance Club. A few of the countries which will be portrayed by dancing are Norway, Spain, China, Hawaii, and Ireland. Other dances are the High Hat Tap, Seaweed, Angels With Dirty Faces, Yam, and the Drum Dance.

G. A. A.'s contribution to the program will be in the form of an interesting tumbling act. Both deck and beach games will be given by the gym classes under the supervision of the student leaders.

The lettergirls will be at the door and the tickets will be sold by the gym classes. This show is one of the main events on the G. A. A. program and is sure to be highly entertaining. Miss Dean and Miss Smith will supervise and direct the program.

Five Of Riflers Qualify In Meet February 21

Fifteen boys attended the second important meeting of the Junior Rifle Club in the rifle range Tuesday, February 21. Dues from the new members were taken up and pins were presented to the respective boys. The targets for the bi-weekly match were passed out, and the qualifying scores were Bill Selby, 93; Don Burns, 92; John Craig, 91; Bob Jamieson, 91; and Arthur Puff, 90.

Other boys who shot and their scores were Bill Bond, 88; Bill Whetzel, 86; Norman Karbach, 85; Edmund Bauer, 81; and Gene Brehm, 81. The next meeting of the club will be on Tuesday, February 28, in the rifle range.

Chicago University Alters Examination

School Of Higher Learning Make Change In Scholarship Test; Mental Ability Is Stressed

Using a radical change of examination methods, the University of Chicago will hold its twenty-sixth annual scholarship competition April 15.

Previously the scholarship examination was held on only three of a list of eleven subjects. This year the students will be examined in clear and critical thinking, familiarity with and appreciation of effective language usage, familiarity with significant ideas and sources of ideas, the understanding of words, and the ability to deal with numbers and quantitative relations. Each student's examination questions will include all of these forms of exercise, although naturally each contestant will not be expected to be equally proficient in all divisions.

South Side students will go to Indianapolis for the examination. All arrangements to enter the contest must be made with Mr. R. Nelson Snider so that all who desire to enter the competition can have their names sent to the Entrance Counselor of the University not later than March 15, one month earlier than the examination. The first competitive scholarship examination was held by the University in 1913. In 1938 more than nine hundred entered the examination.

DIONNE QUINTUPLETS HAVE TONSILS AND ADENOIDS SURGICALLY REMOVED

The tonsils and adenoids were in "a chronic state of inflammation" which accounts for the enlargement of the cervical glands.

This enlargement of the neck glands is palpable evidence that the infection was spreading and that any time may get into the whole system, producing disastrous results such as involvement of the heart or joints, or even a severe generalized infection with death.

The above statements were made by the physicians in charge of the quintuplets.

I have repeatedly stated to patients and parents of children the danger of this infection: abscessed ears, mastoiditis, deafness, organic heart disease, and rheumatism begin with infection in the throat.

Improvement always follows the complete removal of infected tonsils. The "plumb, instrument" no cutting, hemorrhage method is the only sensible method of completely removing tonsils. It produces the least injury, minimum of shock, the cleanest and most normal throat.

Is NEEDLESS Eyestrain
Sapping YOUR Energy?

Eyestrain can cause headaches, tired, aching eyes and drowsiness. Those are the symptoms. But more than that it causes inefficiency and costly mistakes because it drains your energy and fogs your brain. Certainly money you put into the care of anything as indispensable as your eyes is the soundest investment you can make.

More Than Forty Teams In Tourney

Large Entrance In Volleyball League This Year; But Few Lightweight Teams Playing.

The intramural volleyball season is off to a great start. Over forty teams are entered in this year's competition. Nineteen teams are entered in the heavyweight division; eighteen in the middleweight, and but three in the light.

Heavyweights Listed

The teams entered in the heavyweight division are the Adrians, Spikers, Dubs, Gus's Special, Baldies, Inegonits, S. R. R., Fighting Devils, All Stars, Thugs, B. V. D., Bayons, Cardinals, Sissies, Pickers, Jigi Boos, Jitterbugs, Red Devils, and All Colors. The middleweight teams run as follows: Lone Rangers, Giants, Shamrocks, Six Skunks, Tippy Truckers, Panthers, Juniors, Wildcats, All-Poos, Flashers, Palmers, Yokums, Bashers, Musketeers, Volley Archers, White Knights, Cream Puffs, and the F. D. R.'s. The F. O. P.'s, the Cubs, and the Skunks are the lightweight entries. Exactly twenty games have been played up to date, ten in the heavy, nine in the middle, and one in the lightweight.

The results of the heavyweight games follow: The Adrians won from the Spikers, 15-2-15-1. Gus's Special trimmed the Jigi Boos, 15-12, 15-10. The Baldies won from the Dubs, 15-1, 15-9. The Red Devils beat the Inegonits, 15-9, 15-5, while the Fighting Devils whitewashed the F. D. R., 15-0, 15-0. The Thugs won two games, the first 15-10, 15-9, over the All Stars; the second 8-15, 15-11, 15-3, over the Fighting Devils. The Jigi Boos beat the Spikers, 2-15, 15-7, 15-11. The All Stars trimmed the Thugs, 15-10, 15-9.

Middleweight Results Given

The results of middleweight play: The Lone Rangers won two contests, the first from the Shamrocks, 15-2, 15-4; and the second from the Wildcats, 15-6, 15-11. The Tippy Truckers completely whitewashed the Six Skunks. The Panthers whipped the Giants, 15-0, 15-1. The Juniors took the Wildcats, 15-5, 15-7. The All Poes registered a win over the Flashers, 2-15, 15-14, 15-12. The Bashers won from the Palmers, 15-4, 8-15, 15-11. The Musketeers took the Yokums, 15-6, 15-10; while the White Knights easily beat the Volley Archers, 15-12, 15-5. There has been but one game played in the lightweight division. In this contest the Cubs beat the Five Old Pals, 15-8, 15-9.

Frosh Tennis Champ Won Numerals First Semester At School

On June 19, 1934, the Helen Wills Moody of the freshman class first saw light in this busy world of ours. Perhaps you've guessed already to whom I refer. She is none other than that brown-eyed, brown-haired G. A. A. er, Betty Hargan. Betty was born in this city and attended James H. Smart School, where she was chosen Queen of the class. Last fall she entered the School of the Champs, choosing to study the college course.

Immediately "Buster" joined the Girls' Athletic Association. After being in the organization but a short time, she made a name for herself by becoming the tennis champion of the freshman class. When speedball, basketball, and volleyball seasons came along, the name of Hargan was always on one of the teams. As a result of her faithful participation in G. A. A., "Buster" accomplished a task seldom made by a freshman B—she received her numerals in her first semester of activity. At present she has 434 points, and will probably earn her letter in her junior year if she keeps up her good work. Betty considers tennis and badminton as her favorite sports. She likes tennis because she can play it in the open, and she goes for badminton because it is so much like tennis.

Betty also divides her time between U. S. A. and reporting for The Times. Her subjects also keep her quite busy, for she likes them all very well. Betty admires Miss Gretchen Smith, and someday hopes to be a gym instructor as she is.

Her hobbies include cycling and rock collecting. Many people agree with Betty on her following choice of favorites: Radio program, Lux Radio Theater; colors, Green and White; movie actor, Tyrone Power; movie actress, Loretta Young; orchestra leader, Kay Kayser; popular song, Deep in a Dream; movie, Alexander's Ragtime Band; foods, olives and pineapple upside down cake; basketball players, Carl Hall and Don Berry.

There are a few things that even her good friends don't know about. But she finally broke down and said that she gets so mad at herself because she is always falling down. She is also embarrassed frequently because her papers and books are always falling on the floor. So if by chance you should ever see someone either picking themselves up or trying desperately to pick up their books, it may be that popular G. A. A. er, Betty Hargan.

Archers Advance To Regionals After Winning Sectional

Archers Leap First Hurdle In Title Race

Defeat Central, Leo, Decatur, And North Side In March Through Sectional

Capacity Crowds Attend Sessions

Good Games And Keen Interest Make Fort Wayne Meet Successful Affair

South Side's Green Archers successfully launched their championship bound arrow last Saturday night in the North Side gym. Whether that same arrow will carry them through the Regionals and Super-Regionals and finally to the state title remains to be seen. Nevertheless, the Archers made an auspicious beginning when they hung a 33 to 28 defeat on North Side in the championship game of the Fort Wayne sectionals.

Game Is Thriller

The final game was a thriller from the opening whistle to the final gun and when the smoke of battle had cleared away, the Archers had won again, but not without some difficulty. The North Side Redskins played the game of their lives in the first half of the title game, and their splendid efforts were rewarded with an 18 to 13 lead at the end of the half. South Side grabbed an early 2 to 0 lead by virtue of Bolyard and Hire's foul shots. North Side came right back to knot the score, when Young hit from the center of the floor. Hall looped a beautiful shot from the side into the hoop making the score read 4 to 2 in South Side's favor. But Cowan and Young tallied with a field goal and foul shot respectively to put the Redskins out in front 5 to 4. From here on it was all North Side. At the end of the initial quarter the Redskins enjoyed a 10 to 7 lead. They kept right on going and never let up for a moment and the Archers tailed at the end of the half by a score of 18 to 13.

Second Half Changes

But it was a different story the second half. Ralph Hamilton came into the ball game for Hall, set the South Side machine into action with a one-hander from the side. From then on the South Side play was beautiful to watch. Hire, Hamilton, and Beery each started clicking with field goals and Glass dumped one in as the quarter ended making the score 25 to 23 South Side's favor. Once out in front the Archers were unstoppable. Jim Glass played a particularly fine game and sparked the Archer high-geared attack with nine points. The gun ended the game with the Archers on top of a 33 to 28 score.

The Redskins won the right to face the Kelly Klads, when they tripped Hoagland in the afternoon by a score of 35 to 33. South Side shot into the finals when they trounced Decatur 36 to 24.

Give Whole Results

The whole result of the Sectionals is as follows: Thursday night, Decatur beat Woodburn 42 to 31, South Side beat their hated city rivals, Central, by a score of 38 to 32, and Leo downed Lafayette Central 49 to 28. Friday morning Elmhurst trounced Monmouth 37 to 27, Hoagland nosed Harlan 27 to 26. In the afternoon, New Haven walked all over Arcola with a 51 to 25 score, North Side beat Monroeville 35 to 18, and Decatur beat Hometown in an overtime 35 to 32. Friday evening found South Side doubling the score on Leo 34 to 17, Hoagland nosing Elmhurst in another overtime, 30 to 28, and North Side stopped New Haven 33 to 24. Saturday afternoon, South Side tripped Decatur 36 to 24 and North Side edged Hoagland 35 to 32. In the final game Saturday night South Side won over North Side 33 to 28.

Every one of the sessions were attended by near capacity crowds. Many fans that would have liked to have witnessed the games had to be turned away from the doors. The congratulations of Fort Wayne should go to Mr. Croninger and Central for a very successful tournament.

New Yorkers Defeat Archer Girl Riflers

The Valley Stream, New York, Central High School Girls' Rifle team won over the Girls' Rifle team of South Side in a recent postal match. The Valley Stream score was 472 while South Side shot only 435. At the meeting last night at the range, two more girls became members of the Girls' Rifle Club. Any girl is eligible for membership in this club if she is a junior or a senior.

The last time the girls shot for the National Rifle Association bi-weekly contest the team score was 444. The ten girls that shot on the team last night are followed by the scores they made that made them eligible for the team.

Will Meet Redkey At Huntington

First row: Ralph Shimer, Don Hire, Don Beery, Bob Hines. Second row: Bob Bolyard, Keith Spiker, Jim Glass, Blackie Braden, Coach Burl Friddle. Third row: Ralph Hamilton, Carl Hall, John Chedester, Leroy Cook. Continuing on their championship drive, the Archers squad will meet Redkey in their first tilt at Huntington. If successful they will then encounter the winner of the Union-Ossian game.

Tough Opposition Cripples Offense

Archers Fail To Show Best Form In Sectional; Bolyard High In First Game And Tourney.

South Side's high geared offensive fell somewhat below their usual standard in the 1939 Fort Wayne sectionals. But considering the quality of competition they met and taking into consideration that several of the boys were unable to practice properly due to colds, they did very well. For the South Siders, Bob Bolyard was the high scorer with a total of 31 points in four games. Carl Hall was second with 25 points and Don Beery was close behind Hall with 23 points. The Archers took a total of 217 shots at the basket in the four games they played. They hit 60 fielders out of the 217 attempts for a percentage of 27.6. The Kelly Klads had 53 foul shots and hit on 23 from the charity stripe for a percentage of 45.2. This is a good percentage, but it is a little below the Friddlemen's usual average.

The statistics for the four games played by the Archers are as follows:

South Side-Central Game
Field goals attempted—59.
Field goals scored—15.
Percentage—25.4.
Foul shots attempted—17.
Foul shots scored—8.

For Seventh Time Archers Are Victorious At Sectionals

By Bob Martin

This year South Side evened up the count with their age-old rivals, Central. Both have advanced to the regional seven times with North Side winning twice and Decatur once.

To date the title has moved around in this fashion. In 1923

South Side won the first Fort Wayne sectional.

In 1924 the defending sectional champs held on to the crown by winning a hair-raising double overtime game from Columbia City. Then Central came into prominence winning in 1925, '26, '27, and '28. In 1929 South Side regained the sectional crown by defeating Lafayette Central. Then the Tigers attacked, again winning in 1930. North Side took the spotlight for the first time in 1931 and Decatur followed in 1932, the only time the sectional crown has ever left Fort Wayne. Then North Side came back, winning in 1933.

After a four-year rest, South Side came back into the battle and walked off with the crown in 1934. The Archers repeated in 1935 by defeating the Tigers of Central. However, in 1936 Central regained their lost crown as well as their sixth championship. In 1937 they again downed the Redskins of North Side for their seventh march to the regional. Then in 1938 it was South Side's turn to win the sectional for their sixth time and start their long march to the pinnacle of the "Indiana madness," the state championship.

Now, for the seventh time the Archers of South Side are the Fort Wayne Sectional champs. Will they repeat their march through the State Championship as in 1938? Well, only time will tell, but there are to date fifteen schools backing them to the utmost. The fifteen teams of the Fort Wayne Sectional Tournament.

Regional Tournament Tickets Are Available

Regional tickets may still be purchased in the office. Mr. Snider announced earlier in the week that 1,500 tickets were available to South Side students and fans.

The 615 final State Tournament tickets allotted to South Side are all sold. It will be impossible to secure more State tickets.

Semi-final tourney tickets are sold up to date, however, if South Side takes the Regional, it may be possible to order about 1,500 more tickets.

Sectional Fans Have Breathtaking Times At Exciting Tourney

It seems that the boys and girls of our dear old alma mater really thought the sectional tournament was exciting, marvelous, exhilarating, and—oh well, here are their reactions in their own words:

Lilius Patton: The games were pretty nice, and the fact that we had a lot of competition will help us go through state.

Dorothy Karnap: I think our boys played nice games but had stiff competition. I wish them good luck.

John Schotter: Marvelous.

Eugene Schmidt: Always the champs, never a doubt.

Miriam Jackson: Wonderful!

Kathryn Beckman: Marvelous.

Jayne Knoche: Worried at first. Thought we were going to lose, but knew we had a marvelous chance.

Loren Hearn: Most interesting tournament I ever heard.

Lester Oppenlander: Games all right!

Thelma Draper: All swell, but the last game had me worried.

Phyllis Hess: I was sure we would win all the games.

Olive Zahn: All games were exciting but in the last we were not far enough ahead.

Jeanette Zahn: Never regretted a moment I spent at the games.

Maurice Leas: Glad we won.

Mildred Franz: It was good, but I wish South Side would have beaten North Side by a greater margin.

Bob Develin: Swell.

Nick Markoff: Ditto.

Valetta Favory: Wore myself out yelling.

LaVerne Holloway: Exciting games.

Robert Stock: Got tired seeing so many games.

Rosa Lee Hall: Pretty tough games.

Byron Plumley: Betting for South Side.

Max Neff: Swell games.

Kellys, Redkey In Net Feature At Huntington

South Side Will Encounter Wolves In Second Game At 3 O'clock Saturday.

Four Teams Are Entering Tourney

Ossian, Union Will Clash In First Game; Finals To Be Played At 8:00 Saturday.

"On Through State" is the cry sent up by Fort Wayne basketball fans as they saw South Side's Indianapolis-bound Archers come from behind to take the Fort Wayne sectionals away from an inspired tribe of Indians from North Side.

The champions fought a hard uphill battle for nearly three quarters of the game to overcome the fighting and stubborn Redskins. At the end of the first quarter North Side had established a lead of 8-3 and kept right on going to hold this lead at the end of the half when the score stood at 18-13. The third and big quarter for the Archers started to spell victory, and the Archers with a brilliant brand of ball led North Side for the first time at 21-20 at the end of this period. From this point on the Archers played good ball to outplay the Redskins and win at the end of this hectic battle by a score of 33-28.

Green Favored Over Redkey

The first hurdle on the road to the state finals is the Huntington Regional. Four teams will participate in this meet. Ossian is favored to win over Union Township in the first game of the afternoon, and the Archers are favored over Redkey in the second. The winners of these two games will fight it out Saturday night at 8:00.

The victor Saturday evening will travel to Muncie to engage the winner of the Marion sectionals, and winner of this game will meet the winner of the game between the Muncie and the Auburn regional winners to determine the champion of the super-regionals.

Redkey, the first to contest the Archers' way in the regionals won its way into the regionals by means of a 35-31 victory over Portland in the Hartford City sectionals. This was something in the way of an upset as Portland was expected to beat the Redkey quintet. Should the Archers beat Redkey, they will be required to conquer, in all probability, Ossian to win the regionals, and Kokomo, which is favored to come out on top in their regional, in order to reach the finals of the super-regional.

The Archers have little doubt as to their ability to conquer the Redkey and Ossian threats, and they have already trounced the Kokomo five during the regular season.

Archers May Play Burris

Should South Side find themselves in the super-regional finals, they will probably have as their opponents Burris of Muncie. Muncie advanced into the regionals upsetting its old rival Central of Muncie 33-31. Central one of the favorites for the state finals.

The champions hope to hit their stride in the regionals and believe that if they can play good ball they will find themselves down at Butler Field House.

The following are the schedules for the regionals at Huntington:

- Saturday Afternoon
- 2 P. M.—Ossian vs. Union Township.
 - 3 P. M.—South Side vs. Redkey.
- Saturday Night
- 8 P. M.—Winner of game one and two.

Ticket, please.

Boys Express Hope Of Defeating Redkey In First Tilt

After a hectic afternoon of trying to find the ten members of our tournament squad and then trying to get them to answer a few questions, the opinion of our boys seems to be that we will defeat Redkey in our afternoon game of the regional, but will have quite some trouble that evening with the winner of the Ossian vs. Union Township game, probably Ossian. Although it was a very hard task to get any comments out of the players, I did get these few.

"Baldy" Cook: Although I know very little about this Redkey team, I think we should beat them. They're big but lack speed. Ossian will be our tough game.

John Chedester: This Redkey team is O.K. They beat Hartford City in the sectionals, but I think we can beat them.

Don Hire: Redkey is big and tough, but I think we are a little tougher. (I hope). Ossian's the team to beat, and we can do it if we get started early in the game.

Bob Hines: Although Redkey and Ossian both have nice teams, I got a feeling that we'll beat them.

Carl Hall: Redkey looks pretty big but they are not very fast. Because of this lack of speed, I think we can beat them. Ossian is undoubtedly the team to beat.

"Sparky" Hamilton: Although I think Ossian is the team to beat, I'm not forgetting Redkey. They're pretty big so maybe we can beat them with a little fast action.

"Saggy" Glass: If we play a better brand of ball than we did in the sectionals we should win. Give me some more of that orange juice and watch me go.

"Baron" Beery: We'll beat Redkey, but we'll really have to battle if we play Ossian. If you don't think so, look at their season's record.

"Blackie" Braden: If we get started before the last quarter we'll be all right. Hall's about due for sixteen or eighteen points.

Mgr. Klotz: The team's got it in them. If they really want to win, they can do it.

"Chick" Shimer: If we're hitting we should beat them, but not without a battle.

Awards Degrees Mary Emily Seibt, president of U. S. A. last semester, gave the degrees to the members who had earned them. For the first degree the member had to be initiated, have a name and have attended two thirds of the meetings. The girls who have done this for the past semester are Peggy Berning, Bernadine Bender, Margaret Calkins, Betty Nichols, Marjorie Gerding, Elaine Boerger, Constance Bender, Elinor Muntzinger, Marie Schultz, Marjorie Hopkins, Wanda Roeling and Helen Olinger. Louise Buesking, Jane Cocks, and Eileen Hormann received their second degrees. These girls attended two thirds of the meetings, were members in good standing, paid their dues, and took part in two special projects.

Two vocal selections were given by Peggy Zerlike, Dorothy Koomjian accompanied Peggy on the piano. The selections Peggy sang were "You're the Only Star" and "It's a Lonesome Trail."

The committee in charge of the meeting was Betty Nichols, chairman, Eileen Kiessling, Marie Schultz, Betty Lou McNutt, and Louise Hauk. Refreshments of fudge were served.

Riflers Shoot Targets For Bi-Weekly Match

Shooting the third bi-weekly of the new semester, provided the feature of the Junior Rifle Club's last meeting held Tuesday on the range. Ten of the new bi weekly targets were given out and the five highest scores are as follows: Bob Jamieson, 94; Bill Selby, 93; Don Burns, 93; John Craig, 91, and Arthur Puff, 90.

The next five boys who were high and their scores are as follows: Bill Whetsel, 88; Dick Trot, 86; Norman Karbach, 85; John Heffelfinger, 85, and Bill Smallbach, 80.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

Margaret Davis, junior, was taken to the Lutheran Hospital for an appendectomy. She is now at home.

In Miss Osborne's English 4, period 1 class, Gloria Axt and Ellen Soufe were the only students to make 100 per cent on a literature test over The Ballad.

In Miss Osborne's English 2, periods 3 and 4 classes, the following students took part in a dramatization of Ivanhoe: Corrine Smith, Gloria Orr, Dick Brandt, James Burke, and Dick Forb-ing.

Dale Gierke, a student of Miss Os-borne's English 6, period 2 class, gave an interesting report on the Life of Abraham Lincoln.

In Mr. Yoder's botany classes, the students are studying the different types of roots and plants.

On a recent test given by Mr. Welborn over factoring, the fol-lowing students made 100: Gladys Foellinger, Mary Parker, and Dick Theye. Grades of 96 were made by Jim Holzworth and Carolyn Snoke.

The bookkeeping 1 classes of Mr. Mills are learning how to record transactions into the General Journal, which is a book of original entry.

The commercial law classes of Mr. Mills are studying laws which are used to determine whether or not there is an offer made and acceptance to the offer so that there is a binding agreement.

The business economic classes of Mr. Mills are beginning to study rent, wages, interest, and profits which are shares of those who help produce goods we use.

In a recent grammar test in Miss Schmidt's German 4 class the fol-lowing made 100 per cent: Richard Bus-sing, Dick Garton, Sara Jane Makey, and Robert Wylie. Richard Sebald, Betty Porter, Hazel Perry, and Ralph Sebald all made a grade of 99 per cent.

On a recent test over factoring given by Mr. Welborn to his first period, algebra 2 class, the high-est grades of 100 were made by Virginia Gray, Gloria Kramer, and Betty Wynn. Next highest grades of 96 were made by: Jen-ouise Babcock, Marjorie Hopkins, Robert Jamieson, and Helen Savage.

Lois Holtmeyer made A and Dor-othy Foellinger A- on a report in Mr. Makey's English 6 class.

Isn't the arrangement of the gym office quite the "stuff"? Every girl seems to like it. The room seems to be bigger than it used to be.

Among a number of other paintings hanging on the wall of room 77 is an outstanding twilight scene done in pastels by Dick McClure.

Four students in Miss Osborne's English classes have finished their outside reading for this semester. They are Dick Brandt, Jim Brehm, David Bundy and Arthur Howard.

Mr. Gould's Botany classes are watching the growth of several corn stalks. The plants are anchored in moss and have their roots in a water solution. The purpose of this experi-ment is to show that plants can grow without soil and that they must have certain chemical elements which are dissolved in the water.

The following students received A's in a test given by Mr. Mur-phy on the Civil War and Recon-struction: Anna Anderson, Dick Doerner, June McAlister, Joyce McAlister and Virginia Fleming.

Miss Mellen's home nursing classes are now studying personal hygiene and are taking a general review in simple anatomy as will be applied to home nursing.

In Mr. Whelan's physical geography 2 classes a test was given on glacia-tion. In the first period class Josephine Antrim and John Green got 98 and Harold Kitzmiller and Mary Snavely got 96. In the third period class Ag-nes Siler got 98 and Lillian Meeker got 96. In the seventh period class Ralph Herb and Louis Miller got 96.

In Miss DeLancey's English 1 class, Duane Savage has finished his points in outside reading.

In Mr. Box's 9A manual training class, the following boys have received A's during this six weeks: Duane Shidler, Richard Wilson, and James Holzworth.

Dick Graue played guitar accom-paniments while Miss Emma Kiefer's class in American Literature sang cowboy ballads.

Miss Emma Kiefer's home room sang patriotic songs on Washington's birthday. The program included "America The Beautiful," "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "Yankee Doo-dle," "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," and "America."

In Miss Fiedler's algebra 2 classes a contest was held. In the third pe-riod class there was a tie for first place between Ernest Dent and Holly Reper. Marvon Dosch was second. In the seventh period class Leonor Kens-ler was first, and Elinor Muntzinger was second.

Doris Marlow, a member of home room 178, has moved to Detroit.

In Miss Pocock's English 8 class, the following made A or A- on a written lesson over the American Dream Essay: Doris Hilbish, Robert Hinkle and Robert Taylor.

The following persons were elect-ed to their respective offices in home room 32: Warren Schueler, presi-dent; Virginia Sprunger, vice-presi-dent; and Adelheid Scheele, program chairman.

Mary Cowan, a pupil in Miss Po-cock's English 4 class, has completed her fifteen points in home reading.

On a Latin vocabulary test in Mrs. Welby's Latin 1 class the fol-lowing made 100: Adrien Altom, DeLama Benzal, Phyllis Clark, Mary Louise Dunbar, Harry Hines, William Cappel, Dorothy Kendall and Katherine Kixmiller.

The boys in Mr. Chappell's mech-anical drawing 5 classes are finish-ing their pictorial drawings and are beginning to make drawings of ortho-graphical projections.

The following persons were elected to office in Miss Thorne's home room: Evelyn Koomler, secretary, and Dor-othy Lebrecht, president.

In Miss Demaree's English 7 class, Bruce Bradbury and Jean Fortriede made A on a test over the first three chapters in Eng-lish literature. Other students who made high grades were Fritz Lohman, John Schotter, Kieth Spiker, Jean Shinnick, Jane Eng-elking, Delores Meneffe and Mau-rice Everson.

In Miss Mellen's home nursing classes, in a review test on the his-tory of medicine and nursing, and the red cross and its connection with the home, Virginia Sprunger and Phyl-lis Tyndall made grades above 90.

In Mr. Davis' home room, Harold Bodenhorst will give a talk on boys intramural sports, sometime this week. Other helpful talks are being planned by the program chair-man, Mary Ellen Barrett.

Rosella Koehler received the highest grade in a test given to Mr. Wilson's second period gov-ernment 2 class. In Mr. Wilson's sixth period class, Janice Dyer, Peggy Procise and Elaine Huff-man received the highest grades.

Miss Dochterman has changed the display on the walls of room 77. The drawings that are now on the walls are done in show card, pastel and dry paint.

Mr. Kixmiller, district manager of the Unemployment Bureau of this dis-trict of Indiana, spoke to Mr. Wil-son's sixth hour civics class.

School Gets Manicure Mr. Carl Vonderau, custodian, re-ported that over the week-end the floors were cleaned and waxed, the windows washed, and the office bul-letin board painted.

EVERLAST, Dept. R 187 Lafayette St., N. Y. C.

At last we underclassmen who have not yet earned our coveted let-ters in G. A. A. can wear pins to show that we are also members of that swell organization. These gold and green emblems are really very pretty and stand for one of the grand-est clubs in the school.

Now that the basketball sea-son is over we can turn our at-tention toward the Spring Show. The program this year looks real interesting with all of its dances, tumbling acts, and games. Be-sides having a colorful program, we must also have a large audi-ence. Every G. A. A. member should attend along with her boy-friend, mother, father, uncle, aunt, etc.

Another new game has been intro-duced in the gym classes called Aerial Dart. This game proved to be a huge success especially with those tennis and badminton fans. The game is played with a ping pong pad-die, a shuttlecock, and a volleyball net.

This week we turn the spot-light on Sarah Jane Makey one of the best tumblers to be found in the Monday and Tuesday classes. This active and fast tumbler can turn some of the straightest and fastest forward rolls ever seen by this party. Maybe her love for tumbling has much to do with her skill in it as she can be seen holding all sizes of girls on her shoulders in the gym on Monday night and also turning flip-flops in the Tuesday classes.

To end this column, it is only fit-ting that we, the members of the Girls' Athletic Association, congratu-late the South Side basketball team and wish them the best of luck in the coming regionals.

Times' Staff To Start Understudy Projects

"Using an understudy plan, the major staff of The Times will coach underclassmen for high positions on the school paper's staff next fall," it was announced by Miss Rowena Har-vey, publications adviser, this week. The plan will be explained fully to all staff members at the next Times' pot-luck which will be held March 30.

The plan will shift students who make applications for jobs, from as-sisting one major staff member to an- other. In this way, and on the basis of past work, all members of next fall's staff will be determined.

The plan not only will aid greatly in giving the most deserving students major positions, but will give these same students experience that will produce a better paper in the future.

March 9: Bill Craig.
March 10: Philip Muller, Carolyn Rodriguez.
March 11: Velma Adams, Robert Anweiler, Peggy Greaney, Don Park-inson, Leonard Shepler.
March 12: James Carpenter, Wan-da Eller, Joan Korte, Mary Russ.
March 13: Norman Karbach, Bob Moses, Alvin Stanley, Mary Tompson.
March 14: Leona Ehrman, Rosanna Weston.
March 15: Arlie Ayres, Clarence Dittion, Madelyn Howell, Rosemary Jones, John Magley, Marjorie Schel-per.
March 16: Homer Smeltzer.

Mural Markers

Little Tom Brower is still clinging to the lead in this year's scoring race, but to hold this advantage he will have to start hitting his pace again. For the first time in several months of mural play Brower's lead has been threatened. Dallas Zuber, flashy team-mate of the former, is just six points behind him. Zuber outscored Brower some fifteen points to twelve last week to whittle down Tom's lead.

Ronald Duiser and Richard Gettys are waging a neck-and-neck race for third place, each having scored forty points. In fifth place this week is Mc-Lain, in sixth is Claude Davenport, in seventh Melvin O'Brien; Schwartz, McKay and Colicho round out the first ten. Colicho, holder of ninth place, turned in the best offensive perform-ances last week. He hit five field goals against the Black Hacks and tallied a like number against the Spikers. The twenty leading scorers are listed be-low:

Player, Team	Pts.
1. Brower, F.O.P.	67
2. Zuber, F.O.P.	61
3. R. Duiser, Flashers	40
4. Gettys, Black Hacks	40
5. McLain, Pineapples	28
6. Davenport, Flashers	27
7. O'Brien, Swishers	27
8. Schwartz, Zippers	26
9. McKay, S.O.M.A.C.	26
10. Colicho, S.O.M.A.C.	26
11. Butler, Cubs	24
12. Martin, F.O.P.	23
13. Simmons, Zippers	21
14. Powers, Hoosier Pot Shots	21
15. J. Davenport, Flashers	20

19. Youngmans, Black Hacks	17
20. Wolf, Pineapples	17

Article Is Published

Marvin Schleiger, senior, was the only South Side Archer who had an article in Youths' Passing Show last week. "Amateur Radio Is a Hobby That May Prove Beneficial," was the subject of the article. The article went on to state how amateur radio is useful in time of war and also to interpret "ham lingo".

North Side Workers Complete Ossian Page

Under the direct supervision of Phil Olofson, Dick Till and Al Bartholomew, North Side High School pub-lication workers, plans were complet-ed for the Ossian page of The Times' Regional News. The group completed or made arrangements for all ma-terial for the page, and succeeded in contacting Mr. Moore, principal of the Ossian High School, who assisted the trio of students.

Through Mr. Moore, both the Hi-Y and Sunshine Clubs of Ossian will sell the Regional News to students and townspeople. These two organizations, who solicited Booster names, will di-vide the profits obtained from sell-ing the paper to students and towns-people.

Pep Meet To Be Tomorrow At 8:20

Mr. Paul Sidell will be the prin-cipal speaker at a pep session to be held at 8:20 Friday morning. Mr. Sidell will speak on the subject "Sports and Conduct."

The lusty cheer leaders of South Side will lead the student body in the various school yells. It is hoped that the students will respond as well as they did in the sectionals. The school band will also play several selections.

Archers Lose "Grand Man" Of South Side

Death Of Herbert Voorhees,
Retired Teacher, Stuns
Faculty, Student Body
Hold Funeral Service Monday

Principal R. Nelson Snider
Pays Tribute To Memory
Of Beloved Instructor.

Mr. Herbert S. Voorhees, the "Grand Old Man of South Side High School," was laid to rest last Monday, after classes had been dismissed early in the afternoon that the many students and teachers who were his friends might attend his last services. Before his retirement at South Side, Mr. Voorhees was dedicated the 1936 South Side commencement, and had the honor of having the Voorhees Room named after him. Principal R. Nelson Snider delivered South Side's message at the services.

Failing because of ill health, Mr. Voorhees, "Fash" to many of his friends and students, passed away quietly last Friday afternoon because of heart disease, after being confined to his bed for ten weeks.

Native Of Cincinnati
Throughout his entire life, Mr. Voorhees came to be outstanding in all fields, even after he became head of the department of science in South Side High. A native of Cincinnati, O., he came to Fort Wayne after living in Rush County, Indiana.

Eventually, because of his superior mind and all-around excellence, he became principal of the old Fort Wayne High School for the term of 1920-21, but upon the opening of South Side, requested his transfer as a chemistry teacher here.

It will be remembered by all of Mr. Voorhees' pupils that he did not adhere to textbooks, but that he made up his own outlines and own works. Particularly in chemistry and in botany, his two great loves in the field of science, did he excel in his work.

His last and farewell appearance at South Side came last year as the championship Archer basketball team was traveling toward its state title. In a skit in which a presto-chango machine was featured, Mr. Dorsa Yoder, who took Mr. Voorhees' place on the science staff, requested that he be changed into a "Grand Old Man of High School." After Mr. Yoder had stepped into the machine and the crank had been turned by the powerful magician, Mr. Voorhees stepped out.

The ovation given him was instantaneous and stupendous. Two thousand pupils and faculty members at once rose to their feet and continued cheering—until Mr. Voorhees had extended his hand for a shake. During the entire life of South Side High School, no faculty adviser or supervisor has ever received such an ovation that resulted from the true love of a school for one of its friends.

Comes Back Often
Although retired from active school life, Mr. Voorhees came back to South Side quite frequently to room in his home to work in "his" chemistry lab. Of all the things he hoped to accomplish, he wished to live until he became eighty years of age. He died when he was seventy-nine, just before reaching his goal next August 30.

During his time at South Side, Mr. Voorhees served the school in outstanding capacity. Not only serving and filling the duties of a teacher to a limit, he saturated the school with his well-being. Serving on the National Honor Society Selection Board, he officiated until his retirement.

Mr. Voorhees held first grade life teacher's licenses in the superintendent, high school principal, elementary principal, high school teacher of all subjects, primary grade, grammar grade and rural school divisions. He had taught chemistry, general science, Latin, English literature, mathematics ranging from arithmetic to trigonometry, history, botany and physical geography. Mr. Voorhees was a teacher in Fort Wayne for thirty-six years, having come here in 1901 in the high school on the present site of the Taborum Theatre.

Founder of the Fort Wayne Academy of Science, he served as its first president three years ago. He held membership in the Indiana Academy of Science, National Educational Association, Fort Wayne Teachers' Association, and the Northeastern Indiana Teachers' Association, in which he served as program chairman of the N.I.T.A. for several years. He also held membership in the Van Voorhees Association, an organization comprised of descendants of a family which came to this country in 1660.

U. S. A. Will Feature Pantomime Of China

A Chinese pantomime will be the main event of the U. S. A. Club. The pantomime is called "The Tale of the Sacred Caterpillar." The characters of the play are Marilyn Soudles taking the part of Queen Fleedpatrick, Irene Meyers as Prince Likemallot, Maxine Crago as Flower Girl, Eileen Harmann as a Scribe, Louisa Haug and Wanda Rohlfing as Ladies-in-Waiting, Eva Jean Wylie as the Sacred Caterpillar and Reba Coppock as the Story Teller.

To carry out further the theme of the Chinese, Velma Connett will give a talk on Chinese Girls. Chinese games will be played. Surprise refreshments will be served in Chinese style. Chinese articles will be on display.

Wanda Rohlfing is the chairman for this meeting. Assisting Wanda are Maxine Crago, Irene Meyers, Reba Coppock and Flora Eiler Sauer.

The meeting will be held in the Voorhees Room, 26, instead of the Greeley Room.

"Grand Man" Passes

Mr. Herbert Voorhees

South Side's "Grand Old Man," Mr. Herbert Voorhees, quietly passed away last Friday afternoon after being confined to his bed for the past ten weeks but his great spirit will always remain in the halls of this institution.

Speech Group Names Victors In Declaration

Jeannette Warren Winner;
Jane Bowen, Bruce Bradbury Also Take Honors

Jeannette Warren, senior A, was adjudged first-place winner of Wranglers' Humorous Declaration last Monday, March 13. Her selection was "At the Swimming Pool." Second place was awarded to Bruce Bradbury, senior B, who gave "The School Program." Jane Bowen placed third with "Sparkin'".

The winner will receive a Wrangler declaration medal. Also first and second place winners will represent South Side in a similar state contest to be held at Franklin College Saturday, March 26. All finalists will be given Wrangler Honor Awards at Wrangler spring banquet.

Names Judges
Judges were Mr. Lex Combs, and the Misses Mary Pocock, Susan Peck, and Dorothy Magley.

Those who were to participate in the finals at Wranglers' meeting were determined by preliminaries held during the day the second, third, fourth and sixth periods. Below are listed participants, their selections and the winner of each period.

Period I—Jane Bowen, winner with "Sparkin'"; Edger Ketter, "Edgar Gets a Tow"; Bill Riethiller, "China Blue Eyes"; Carol Whittier, "Exit the Big Bad Wolf."

Period II—Jeannette Warren, winner with "At the Swimming Pool"; Bruce Bradbury, "The School Program"; Marjorie Quakenbush, "Ladies' Aid at the Local Theater."

Period III—Caroline Lichtenburg, winner with "At the Photographers"; Kolman Gross, "Mr. Pickwick Intrudes"; Mary Holthouse, "Two Aspirins for Mr. Bots"; Safford McMyler, "Bill McGee's Weapon."

Period IV—Mary Ellen Barrett, winner with "An English Lady's Impression of America"; Harold Martin, "I'm in a Hurry."

Period V—Caroline Lichtenburg, winner with "At the Photographers"; Kolman Gross, "Mr. Pickwick Intrudes"; Mary Holthouse, "Two Aspirins for Mr. Bots"; Safford McMyler, "Bill McGee's Weapon."

The first place winner was Ruth M. Bachman of North Side, whose story was entitled, "Why the Moon is Full." This first-place winner will receive $5.00 and the winning story will be entered in the provincial contest. The chairman of the provincial contest is Mrs. Alda Jane Carson.

Wins Third Place
Third place was given to Phyllis Friedly of North Side for her story, entitled, "Find a Way." The third prize of $2.00 was awarded for this story.

The judges of the local contest were Mrs. Carl W. Bowen, Mr. Ralph Taylor and Miss Mabel Greenwalt.

These winners will be entertained by the Delta Gamma Chapter at the home of Mrs. James Edwards on March 28.

All stories that were entered in the contest were given to Mrs. Carson before February 1. The announcement of the winners was delayed because of the tie. They were to be given on February 15.

Entered In Provincial
The story taking first place in the local contest is automatically entered in the provincial contest. The winner of the provincial contest will receive $25.00. The winning provincial story is then entered in the state contest, and the state winner receives $50.00.

South Side has had several local winners in the past. In 1936, Jo Ann Smith won the first prize, and in 1937 Elinor White, Peggy Kilpatrick and Ruth Phipps won local prizes. Betty Garton won the local and provincial contests last year.

Mrs. A. K. Rimmel was named president of the South Side Parent-Teacher Association at the meeting held Monday evening, March 6, in the study hall. Mrs. H. E. Hartman was elected vice-president; Mr. Maurice Cook, second vice-president; Mrs. A. Perry, secretary; and Mrs. Simpson Parkinson, treasurer. The retiring officers are Mrs. J. Bostick, president, and Mr. Ward O. Gilbert, vice-president. Mrs. A. Perry and Mrs. Simpson Parkinson were re-elected to their respective offices.

Mr. Ward Gilbert, retiring vice-president of the P-T.A., presided at the meeting. The school orchestra opened the evening's entertainment, playing three numbers with Mr. Jack Wainwright conducting. The selections were: "The Great Waltz," "Indian Summer Suite," and "Bells of the Sea," featuring Gerald Polman in vocal and trombone solos.

Tom Gallmeyer, who recently won first place in the state oratorical contest and who will represent Indiana at the National Contest this spring in Beverly Hills, California, delivered his winning oration, "The Scorpion." "Eyes," a dramatic declamation, was given by Helen Wiehe, winner of first place in a recent invitational speech meet sponsored by South Side Wranglers' Club.

Two amusing one-act plays were then presented by the pupils of the dramatic department directed by Miss Marjorie Suter. Stewart Walker's "The Medicine Show" with Joe Bex, William Gernand, and Bill Newhard in character roles had a contrasting theme to that of the second play called "Culture." Those taking part in this satire on modern culture clubs for women were Margaret Gross, Eleanor Vesey, Beverly Griffith, Kitty Clinard, Rafida Laudadio, Marjorie Quakenbush, Lillias Patton, Dorothy Rohrbach, Donna Lou Foutz, Lois Rea, Dorothy Karpman, and Helen Wiehe. Students assisting with the stage settings were Bruce Bradbury, Bob and Jim Brooks, Donald Meyers, Reva Foster, William Riethmiller, Paul Geiser, and Harold Martin.

During a short business meeting, Mrs. A. W. Parry, secretary, read a brief resume of the activities of the association during the current year. Mrs. Simpson Parkinson, treasurer, read the annual report of the treasurer. The report of the nominating committee was given by Mrs. H. W. Garton.

Herbert Voorhees To Remain Symbol Of Inspiration, Aid To Those Who Knew His Spirit

By Principal R. Nelson Snider

Herbert S. Voorhees—what a wealth of memories that name recalls; what a treasure house of kind deeds, of helpfulness, of guidance, of friendly counsel, of educational leadership, of upright character, of superb teaching ability. To the thousands of young and older boys and girls, men and women, who came in contact with his shining spirit, his keen mind, and his steadfast character the name of Herbert Voorhees will always remain the symbol of inspiration and assistance. From some place in the mysteries of heredity or from the unknown influence of environment Mr. Voorhees received a love of learning, a gift which he nurtured and tended with care and industry until he became one of the most widely and deeply learned men it has ever been my pleasure to know. And from one or both of the above sources he received the gift of love and for people. This gift he carefully tended, until throughout the world there are literally thousands of persons whose lives have been enriched and made useful because he gave of himself to all whom he met.

Loved Teaching
Then, with a skill and exactitude which spoke well of his scientific training and attitude Herbert blended these two great gifts into a work which was his life long and well loved profession—teaching. For more than half a century, with but few short lapses of time he taught—not subjects but—boys and girls, young men and women. He left the classroom once for a short period in the business world, but soon returned to his first love. He later left the classroom for another short period to accept the direction of the Fort Wayne High School. This executive work, however, he found took him too far away from individual contact with the boys and girls, and again he returned to teaching. His love of learning and of people, and his kindness and thoroughness combined to make him, from the viewpoint of the technician and science of pedagogy, the finest and best teacher I have ever known. Recognition of the excellence of his work was not confined to our community; from colleges throughout the land, wherever our graduates went, there came glowing praise for the kind of teaching which he did. From supremely successful adults who received their first scientific training under Mr. Voorhees there have come countless expressions of gratitude and appreciation for the ideals and attitudes toward science and toward work and life in general which he gave them. All bear witness to his knowledge, his inspiration, and his originality.

Has Own Methods
Mr. Voorhees' teaching methods and technique were his own, yet they bore the test of comparison with the most recent and effective plans worked out by teacher training institutions and leaders in the educational world. His independence of so-called teaching aids, his originality in every subject, his development of an excellent laboratory method, all these things were known and accepted by local and state school authorities. In science he never depended upon hand-me-down laboratory manuals, but insisted, correctly, that he could devise experiments better calculated to fit his work than could some one far away. I doubt if ever a week went by without his making or putting together a new experiment or method of demonstrating the work which he was teaching. And of the science courses of our high schools, and much of the work of the grades, show evidences of his skill and thoroughness. And the universal comment of those teachers with whom he worked was that Mr. Voorhees was supreme as a craftsman and as a creative member of the profession.

Secures Own Knowledge
Much of our friend's skill in teaching, it seems to me, came from the fact that a large part of his knowledge was secured by his own efforts, and not in the formal classroom. He had a keen desire to know many things, and he worked out the solutions to his problems in his own way. This method which he used for his own benefit he found could be used with like results in teaching others. I have seen students who tutored with him in Latin, French, Mathematics and other subjects aside from his chosen field of science, catch a glimpse of the meaning of their problems when they had been unable to do so before. Clearness of thinking, the ability to reason from cause to effect, the supreme gift of seeing all the details of a problem and yet being able to fit these together without letting the minor points obscure the large objective—all of these characteristics Mr. Voorhees possessed in a generous measure.

Friend Of All
Supreme as a teacher, "Herb" will ever be the highest with his acquaintances as a friend and companion. I have never seen anyone else who had such a hold upon the affections and respect of his fellow workers. To say that they idolized him might give the impression that he was too aloof. Perhaps we should say they liked, respected, admired, enjoyed and loved him. He was the center of every group of teachers, his opinion was sought, his help asked, his suggestions followed with complete confidence. He was cheerful, optimistic, loyal, friendly and co-operative. One member of our faculty said: "I appreciated his admirable personal qualities. His spirit of gaiety, his fine sense of proportion and fair-mindedness, his tolerance, his sympathy, his courage and his ability to encourage old and young, his splendid example of loyalty, industry and courage to the end."

And what did the students of the school think of Mr. Voorhees? He was by far the most popular and generally loved member of our faculty. When he appeared at a convocation, he was always greeted with delight, respect and pleasurable anticipation. His hold on his classes was effortless and magnificent. Discipline troubles were unknown, because his work was well planned, and because his industrious example corrected every tendency toward sloth and carelessness.

Teachers Can Testify
Those teachers who worked directly under Mr. Voorhees' supervision knew him most intimately, and can testify best to his help and influence. One young man in his department was naturally frightened when the head of the department came in. Mr. Voorhees walked over, placed his arm around the beginning teacher's shoulder, and said, "Well, Paulie, how are you getting along?" The tension was lost; a basis of friendliness was established which made future visits and consultations a pleasure. One science teacher says, "I feel that I owe a very large share of my success in teaching to Mr. Voorhees' tactful suggestions. They were always constructive, and were given in a way that made me feel he was my friend." Another one says, "I received more inspiration and real practical suggestions from Mr. Voorhees than from any other person with whom I have worked."

Countless numbers of tributes to Herbert's memory could be related. I think the feeling of all of us who worked with him can be summed up by saying that we felt he was our friend, we knew he was intellectually honest, we admired the brilliance of his mind, we tried to imitate the industry and courage which he everywhere exemplified, we enjoyed his companionship, we thrilled at his deep and living philosophy of life, and above all else, we loved him.

Teacher To Talk At Library Meet

Miss Eleanor Smeltzly Will Address Club Next Tuesday On Summer's Trip To Australia

Miss Eleanor Smeltzly, history teacher and extensive globe-trotter, will be guest speaker at the Library Club meeting next Tuesday. Miss Smeltzly will address the club on her trip to Australia, taken last summer. Miss Smeltzly has been a frequent and welcome visitor to various clubs at South Side, and has given many talks on her travels in distant lands.

Margaret Null, Delia Oppenlander, Max Wagner, Max Mitchell and Maury Lehman are in charge of this meeting and plan a novel surprise for members in the form of ice cream "Brownies."

The selection of two new books by members will start in the very near future and each member should be thinking of books he wishes to review or have reviewed. Twelve reviews will be given.

French Will Discuss
Feudalism, Crusades

The program for today's French meeting will include discussions on the feudal system of the Middle Ages, the Crusades and the building of the great cathedrals of France.

"French Music and Musicians" was the theme of the French Club meeting held March 2. Several members contributed to the program with discussions on ballet and minuet Debussy, Lily Pons, Bizet, and Emma Calve. Recordings of several French classics were played. They were the "Toreador Song" from "Carmen," sung by Lawrence Tibbett; Debussy's "Claire de Lune," and "Amaryllis," written during the reign of Louis IX.

Directs Banquet Plans

Miss Elizabeth Demaree

Miss Elizabeth Demaree, faculty adviser of the Philaethan Literary Society, has been directing the plans for the club's sixteenth annual St. Patrick's Day banquet which will be held this evening at the Wayne Hotel at 6:15 o'clock.

Totem Names Will Be Based On Payments

Only Those Who Have $2.00
Paid By March 24 Will Get Names Put On Books.

Totem subscribers who wish to have their names on their books must have them paid for in full by March 24.

Students who did not subscribe during the original campaign, with the exception of the present 9B students, must pay 10 cents at The Totem office by March 24 if they wish to have their names on their books.

Pupils who have not completely paid for their Totem by that date will not have their name printed on any book since the book would be a total loss if they were not paid. The covers are being made now. This deadline will not be extended as the names will be printed on the covers early in April.

9B freshmen may subscribe for The Totem by paying any amount down now. However, they must have the entire $2.00 paid by March 24 to get names on their books. If they do not wish names, they have until April 21 to complete payments.

The final deadline is the same for other students who have been paying their installments since the original campaign. If the complete $2.00 is not paid by April 21, a 25 cent fine will be added. The next deadline is March 24 when $1.75 must be paid by all students who do not wish names on their books or $2.00 if they wish names.

Notices were sent to students delinquent in their payments notifying them as to the total amount they have paid. Nadine Mueller and Phyllis Geller, co-circulation managers, had charge of sending these notices. They were assisted by Peggy Bacon and Joan Bradley.

Exactly 490 underclassmen paid for Totem pictures. These students may purchase their photos at six for 75 cents. Enlargements will cost $1.00. Proofs of these photographs are being shown at the Jefferson Studio, where the orders for prints must be placed.

Passing Of 'Herb' Voorhees Grieves Archer Faculty

Sorrow over the passing of a fellow-worker, a sincere friend and a shining symbol fell over South Side's passing this week after the passing of Mr. Herbert S. Voorhees, former science teacher at South Side. A number of his friends express their feelings concerning his comradeship below:

Miss Edith Crowe—I thought the services were very lovely and in perfect keeping with the kind of life that Mr. Voorhees had led and with the way in which we think of him.

Miss Lucy Osborne—Mr. Voorhees retired before I came to South Side. From the few occasions I had to be in his presence and from what has been said of his work, I feel that a great teacher, friend and citizen has gone away from us and that we as teachers may profit by using his life and teachings as a pattern to follow in our work.

Miss Susan Peck—I liked the quiet dignity of the entire service. I thought the tribute read by Mr. Snider was beautiful and most sincere.

Miss Mary Crowe—Mr. Snider expressed my feelings excellently when he paid tribute to Mr. Voorhees as a friend and a teacher of the most valuable kind.

Miss Crissie Mott—The title of "Grand Old Man of South Side" was always held by me to be most fitting for Mr. Voorhees. I esteemed him most highly.

Mr. Lloyd Whelan—I thought the services were very fine, especially Mr. Snider's tribute to Mr. Voorhees. There was a fine representation of teachers at the services.

Mrs. Herbert Riecke—Mr. Voorhees was a perfect example of what a teacher should be.

Miss Beulah Rinehart—I think of Mr. Voorhees as a man with a keen mind who enjoyed life. He had a keen sense of justice. He was always willing to help to see others had fair treatment.

"Emerald Isle" To Be Theme Of Philo Fete

Betty Daniels Will Act As Toastmistress Tonight;
Seven Speakers Listed
Alumni Members
Given Invitation

Vocal Selections, Reading,
Tap Dance, Yells, Harp
Solo To Be On Program

"Emerald Isle" has been chosen for the theme of the sixteenth annual Philo banquet to be held at 6:15 o'clock this evening at the Wayne Hotel. Betty Daniels, club president, will act as toastmistress. Speeches carrying out the Irish theme will be given by Mr. R. N. Snider, Mr. Benjamin Null, Carolyn Lichtenburg, Dorothy Gore, Margaret Null and Betty Neeb. Roberta Garton, Philo's poet-laureate, will recite a poem prepared especially for the occasion.

The Philo quartet, composed of Margaret Null, Romyne Rediger, Ruth Dauner and Helen Savage and directed by Frances VanBuskirk, will furnish several vocal selections. A harp solo will be presented by June Flaig. A reading and a tap dance will be given by Helen Wiehe and Rosella Foutz, respectively. Miss Pauline Van Gorder will assist with the music. Stunts between courses and songs and yells by club members will also feature the program. Helen Wiehe will lead the yells.

The menu, also in true Irish style, is as follows: Irish Chanticleer, Irish Staff of Life, Shamrock Drops, Bridget's Surprise, Hibernian Rolls, Pat's Delight and Little Folks' Dream Pot.

Committees for the affair are decorations, Janice Dyer, chairman, Lois Rea, Betty Neeb, Betty Marquardt, Katherine Beckman, Marjorie Dyer, Faye Gumpner, Lois Gumpner, Audrey Hall, Bernice Etzler, and Helen Banks; program, Margaret Null, Velda Oppenlander, Virginia Shidler, Rebecca Abbett, Miriam Jackson, Donna Lou Foutz, Pearl Waller, place, Ella Jo Reed and June McAlister; music, Frances VanBuskirk; and reception, the officers. Miss Elizabeth Demaree, club adviser, is aiding with all plans.

Former Philo members are invited to the banquet and may secure reservations by calling either H-60862 or H-59863. Tickets cost fifty-five cents and may be secured by Philo members in Room 68.

Rev. A. P. Teter Is Club Speaker

Gives Talk At So-Si-Y Meeting;
Subject Is The Church; Mrs.
Laurence Price Also Speaks

Reverend Alvan P. Teter was the main speaker at the last meeting of So-Si-Y which was held on Tuesday, March 14, in the Greeley Room and which was on the "Church." Other speakers were Caroline Lichtenburg, Rosella Koehler, Mrs. Laurence Price and Miss Beulah Rinehart.

Mrs. Scott, chairman of the Younger Girls' Work Committee, issued an invitation to all the Girl Reserves and their mothers to come to a tea at the "Y" during spring vacation. As preliminary to her invitation, she read a "Gypsy Ceremonial" by Abbie Graham. This tea is a kind of ceremony to formally make the Girl Reserves realize the significance that they have been given Junior Membership to the Y.W.C.A.

Dorothy Amstutz, the service chairman, announced that all girls interested in doing Easter service work should come to Miss Smeltzly's room. This service work must be done by March 28. They may color eggs, make cards, or make flowers.

Velma Connett, chairman of the meeting, made a few opening remarks showing that the line in the code "Reverent to God" fitted very well in application to the theme of the meeting, "The Church." A short play was given, showing how some people think it is a disgrace to go to church. The scene was in Miss Pittenger's office at the close of the sixth period. Deloris Menefee played the part of Jean, the office girl; Dorothy Bloemker was Doris, the girl who did not go to church; Helen Ellenwood was Jean; and Constance Hirschy was Patty.

Talks Are Given
The main part of the meeting was reached when a student, a Jewish girl, a mother, a teacher and a minister told what the church meant to them. Rosella Koehler, the school girl, talked on "What the Church Means to Me." Caroline Lichtenburg, a Jewish girl, told of her experience in the Jewish Church. The mother, Mrs. Price, talked on the influence of the church on family life. Miss Rinehart, the teacher, told of the beauty of the formal worship service and the advantage of going to church regularly. Mr. Alvan P. Teter, minister of the Simpson M. E. Church, summed up what the other speakers had said and added his own thoughts to those already given. He stressed the fact that there is a need for tolerance in religion and a place to worship.

Edna Voltz read a poem, "Faith," Constance Hirschy read "In a Church," and Alice Volmerding gave "Words." Velma Connett finished by giving "God and I."

Possesses Fine Record

Betty Garton, '38, has made a remarkable record at the University of Wisconsin. As a freshman at the university, her record shows eleven hours "A" and four hours "B." "This is an excellent record," said Mr. Snider.

Hey Studes! Let's Keep On Observing Week Of Courtesy

Last week was Courtesy Week. This week is Courtesy Week. Every week is Courtesy Week. Those three statements may seem like an advertisement for Utopia or some other perfect refuge from everyday scrambles.

Regardless of what those sentences mean to you it would be possible to make those three lines true if everyone in this school co-operated to attain this end. Just because the Inter-Club Congress had announced that it was Courtesy Week didn't stop the many discourtesies that are so often practiced among these rooms and halls, not that Courtesy Week isn't a fine thing for the representatives of all the school clubs to promote and establish to bring about normal and happy relations between students. On the contrary, we like the idea of Courtesy Week.

But we think that a period of courtesy once or twice a semester is too small a time for people in South Side to treat each other as human beings. We know that Courtesy Week did encourage and bring about an unknown number of courteous acts, but why not continue this policy the whole school year and during vacations.

What joy or purpose is there in acting badly towards your neighbor? If we could decide to act with courtesy towards each other, we should soon have a model after the Utopia of many dreams.

Maybe you are of the opinion that a permanent week of courtesy couldn't be carried out. Yet, nothing is impossible, and we could do this if we tried. It Can Be Done is a good motto for promoting permanent courtesy. Probably this editorial is only a drop in the bucket of social ills, however, if enough drops fall in that bucket; it may overflow and carry away discourtesy.

But until then, why not try a policy of courtesy towards your fellow humans? You may find a new pleasure in being friendly. Anyhow, it's worth a try, isn't it?

Ho Hum! It Appears That Spring Has Already Come

Hazy days, sunny skies, balmy breezes—ah me! it must be the spring. In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns, etc. What more could one ask for, except no school, a hamburger with onions, and a nice place to sleep? Yes, it looks as if old dog winter's had his day and that little old spring is going to stay until summer comes and chases her away. Hmm, it must be spring; it couldn't have been something we ate. So amidst the derision of our so-called friends who aren't feeling quite so springy as we, we attempt to sit down for your eyes our dissertation on spring. Yes, we have decided after our observations, that spring is definitely here. What with all the whistling of Book Learners, the happy twitter of birds, and the dampness of the ground, we can almost visualize what a robin looks like even after not having seen one since last time they were in the Middle West. And maybe we can account for the sudden failing of the class attendance to the spring atmosphere or must we bounce back to realism and call it influenza? Well, anyway, something's in the air besides noses and hydrogen.

Keep On Writing, Fellows!

As you can well understand, The Times needs a large number of students, preferably with a bit of journalistic training, to handle the work involved in turning out our high school paper. Although many Times workers had no previous training when they first started this type of work a steady stream of trained workers is now coming into high school from the different grade schools in this end of the city.

Two grade schools, Harrison Hill and Hoagland, have school papers which are published frequently. The Beacon is put out at Harrison Hill Grade School with an entire student staff.

Over at Hoagland another publication with a similar general staff and working arrangement is telling the students the news in interesting and thoroughly worthwhile manner.

Only those very close to The Times can appreciate fully the worth of these pre-trained Times workers, but you can be sure that the entire school owes something to the smaller grade school papers for giving us trained workmen.

Keeping St. Patrick cunningly in tact, all Philo literary-delvers will hold their annual fun-fest of feasting on March 16. Are we ever GREEN with envy.

From the spring extracts, we take note of the able tracksters making the literal round out in the stadium—all for the sake of Southern laurels.

Pro and Con

With the issuance of forthcoming hot weather, the students of South Side have the long-felt consolation that a spring vacation was also forthcoming. This is a very debatable subject, however. In many states a spring vacation is entirely done away with, and the students are consequently let out of school one week earlier in June. The question up for argument is, "Would South Side benefit more greatly if this type of system was installed?" There is much to say in favor of each side of the interrogation. Let's see what Mr. Pro and Mr. Con think.

PRO
The last week in June there is always so much confusion because of the coming of the long awaited vacation and because of graduation. Of course, although it is impossible to concentrate, there are a few exams administered this last week. If the other system were installed, all of this confusion would have occurred the preceding week; and instead of being in school as we are, we could be outside, breathing the fresh air and enjoying our freedom to the utmost. It seems that it takes so long for summer vacation to come anyhow, and if we were to start our vacation a week earlier, well it would just be better all the way around. What student wouldn't sacrifice spring vacation to be out in the free air and enjoying his vacation a week earlier than usual?

CON
Then too, there is the other side, with just as many good arguments against the proposed plan. It seems that there is such a long stretch of time between our last vacation in the fall until the summer vacation. But with a spring vacation in between to cut the monotony, this time does not seem so long. Then too, there is always the series of basketball games going on at this time and the students are always so fatigued from attending them that a spring vacation comes in awfully handy.

In June the time seems to literally "fly," and it isn't long until the end of the term. If we didn't have a spring vacation, we would all await the coming of the summer vacation even more anxiously and we would find it much harder to wait for without a spring vacation.

When we started writing this dirt column, we had only one idea in our news issuing mind. That was to bring you pleasure, while meanwhile delving in some extra-special currents about your best pals and gal-friends. It's a difficult process this unearthing of meaningful somethings in order to add to your optional fun-fests. However, we have done our labor-weary best; and it is thus that we expound to you out there, hoping to quench in some small measure your zest for "What was seen with whom, where?" So on with the latest!

WE CAN REMEMBER when only upperclass big-people were the fellows who dated—but, in our fast-moving mode of living, we today find our freshmen up and comers squiring their best loves here and yon. Little Davie Rea can be found highly squirrely especially when sweet lil' Pat Sanford is within a handy reach. Underclass date aspirants do not stop there, however, for our sophomore lady of charm, Barbara Roth, can be found keepin' "steady datin'" with none other than aforementioned-so-often Morrie Archbold.

FROM ALL POINTS, it is a highly visible notice that may be posted as the real thing...at least as far as Mary Treen and Bobbie-Boy Shimel are concerned. Starting out some many months ago, they have been going strong ever since. Highly delectable, we say!

AMONG NOTEWORTHY NOTES, we find Carl Goebel, who not to be beaten by his friendly enemy, Bob Hawkins, takes his highly-desirable in the dating of one Bernice O'Brien, the lovely-to-look-at youngster still new in our portals. Mr. Hawkins, you remember, is the chap who, incidentally sees Irma O'Brien to the nicest spots around about.

WITH SPRING ON THE WING, we also notice a new romance blossoming forth in the ultimate fragrance of young love. Dot Gardner and Kenton Dickey, the two nominations concerned, both attribute this new feeling to the old stand-by of love at first sight. Niceties in the optical illusions!

BEATING IT OUT, we find the uproar Redskins who have offered some of their bits of feminine pulchritude to the careful distribution of our Archer v-men. Ed (Big-stuff) Kettler is one fellow, at least, who finds his far-sought-for solace in the companionship of North Sider Margaret Ann Fellows. Regal pickings, Eddie!

WE CAN'T QUITE REALIZE, why Senior Biggie Eddie Reeves denounces all blondes because of their mental deficiencies. (We're only quoting what some misinformed individual once said.) Here-to-fore and at the vital present, he has been highly entertained by the flaxen-haired members of our fair sex. Lois Rea is the lucky girl, who up to now has been nominally excluded.

Ah, but now copy watchers, we must come to a sad but highly necessary conclusion. So, until a later time, we will sign off, wishing you the mostest of the bestest...Your faithful mudrakers.

As March Winds Blow

Wee Sketches Of Our Big People

By Jeanette Warren

This week we are devoting this column to a very worthy cause indeed—that of giving John Wilson Magley his belated but due recognition.

A newly crowned Casanova, he finds himself at home in the limelight of a very popular column on this page. Johnny is quite active extra-curricularly, being an active member of Hi-Y, Math Science, Booster, Service, Social Science, Wranglers, Three E's, Times and Totem organizations. He holds the position of treasurer in Hi-Y. The fact that he is a sports writer for the Times and intramural sports editor on the Totem would tend to make one believe that he has affinity for sports—which he does have, basketball being his favorite.

One of our most outstanding senior philosophers, he may be heard at various times to murmur something like—"people are luckier than anybody except horses, 'cause they can sleep standing up."

He'll take ice cream in any shape, color, or flavor and then more ice cream. The Times staff favorite swingaroo, Deep Purple, suits him too. As for orchestras, he'll prefer a front seat at one of Horace Heidt's jam sessions come on day. Math, science, and how they come on his list of favorites, too. His hobby is collecting candid camera shots—one he prizes highly pictures Eleanor Vesey avidly devouring a piece of cake.

Bravery and gracefulness are paramount characteristics of our hero. And we can prove it—in the first grade (and without a single error, too, he read before an assembly of 600 "Little Black Sambo"!) To attest his gracefulness (and enumerate one of the highlights of his life)—in May, 1935, he danced in a Mayfair fete with Betty Daniels.

He has ambitions to become a metallurgical engineer and—attention politicians—to go to Annapolis.

Greetings people! This week I've really succeeded in getting some authentic dirt together, so I'll just pass it to you.

In top place this week is that romance between tall Jim Glass and Marjorie McMahon. This couple has been going strong now for a couple of months, but now I think it has finally reached the steady stage. It's about time I'd say, 'cause two kids so obviously made for each other should quit stalling around and really get down to business.

Then there's that hot and sizzling romance that is 'a'burnin' between Lora Lee Montgomery and Dick Buchholz. However, even the best of couples meet with a little interference at some time or another, and in this case it was in the form of Artie Hoffman. Artie has become very interested in Lora ever since their recent date.

This isn't very definite, but I heard via the grapevine system that Ralph Shimer, that up and coming sophomore, is quite interested in that glamorous girl, Barbara Roth. But (and this is very important) Barbara is still faithful to Maury Archbold.

The mumps seem to be making the rounds 'cause Bob Dahman just recently recovered from them also. His steady, Alice Sweet, (as if you didn't know) was completely lost while he was out of school and at times she even braved the dangerous consequences and went to comfort him. Hmmmm...must be nice to be sick, eh Bob?

Here's some more hot news for the gossipers! Corky Bostick has serious competition in the form of Bill Newhard for the affections of Dotty Becker of North Side. By the way, Bill has also shown an interest in that blonde "eye-filler" Eileen Eidner, and vice-versa. Bill's really got something there, don't you think?

Don Hire has quite a following these days if I can judge anything by the notes I receive concerning him and various gals. One of many is Betty Littlefield.

Watch out, Norma! Maybe you will get into deep water over that little

News - Vues

With due respect to everyone concerned during the past week the Inter-Club Congress has literally waged an undeclared war on all South Side citizens in their annual "Courtesy Week" campaign. Putting forth their best efforts, they delved completely into the subject at an appropriate hour—tournament time.

They have, through their sincere efforts impressed upon the student body, courtesy, not only as a means of mental and moral gain, but as a moral and mental duty.

And during the tournament, it can be said of the Congress that their work came to be of value—not of gold or of silver, but of another type. Knowing that a task well done is the greatest courtesy one can bestow upon oneself, besides upon others, South Side's group should be commended for their frankness in declaring themselves staunchly aligned with respect and well being.

Their job was well done—there is no need to say more. But their results should rank in current discussion and practice as a great joy.

Ruthlessly with cold cunning, wanton destruction of property be it of great value or little in any building, house, or home belonging to any state, group, or individual of any class or creed, is unlawful and unjust.

Last year, when South Side won the Indiana state public school basketball championship, it can be fairly said that property destruction did not exist to a large extent, and that verbal or literal slurs were not extended to other schools in the "I told you so!" fashion. Although we may have more than our share of championships, South Side's school spirit did not extend to other schools through a medium of destruction. Common courtesy, as promoted by the Inter-Club Congress, was employed on the whole regardless of our enthusiasm.

Perky orandies and dotted swiss seem to be the fabrics that most of the spring formals will be fashioned of. Bows and streamers of satin or another exciting fabric would be an excellent trimming for these creations, which will incidentally have full rustling skirts, so easy to dance in as well as being easy on the eyes.

Speaking of trimming, brings up the hat adorning problem. From what we have seen and gathered up, ostrich feathers nearly make up entire hats, mostly in the forms of turbans. Several large flowers of contrasting shades shoot up from the high crowns. Patent leather bandings and crown shine above wide brims.

What is so rare as a day in spring? If I said uncoked meal, they'd get me for plagiarism, so why say anything, cause yours truly can't think of anything nicer than the weather. Must be spring. That's what they all say, so agree and be done with it. Let's talk about the sun, breezes, mud and things like that. Did you ever think what you would do if?

1. While walking along the street you were splashed by spring mud?
a. What's spring got to do with it?

b. If you can still see, turn the other side to be splashed. (never do things half-way, I always say.)
c. That wasn't mud, that was water with a dirty complexion.

2. If the clock in the gym broke precedent and started ticking time again,
a. You've been studying too hard lately, dear, you're getting illusions, delusions, and bad grades in general.

b. Nothing surprises me anymore since I found out recently that half the married people are men.
c. Time marches on!

And I've got to march on with the parting suggestion that if you have any questions whose answers are not quite clear in your mind, drop me a line and I'll advance my theories with which teachers are not always in agreement.

Exchange Extracts By Irma X Pert

Oddities in the clinics! The students of York High in York, Pennsylvania, have a sports clinic. They have demonstrations of all kinds of sports and athletics. The first assembly of this kind was so well attended that they have made attendance compulsory for the students.

Here is a new filler-in for short columns—hit songs!! The Calumet Herald of Hammond, Indiana, does not use a hit song merely as a fill-in, but it is a weekly feature to put the words of the top ranking song on the editorial page. It is very popular with the students.

The students of West Seattle High School in Seattle, Washington were to a skiing trip sponsored by the P.T.A. of their school. On the two hour train ride to the Snoqualmie Ski Bowl, the students danced in a club car, played their favorite indoor games, and ate the refreshments served. When they arrived there, every one enjoyed the fine facilities afforded them.

On a "Pet Peeves" survey at Bluffton High, the following pet peeves were listed: breaking of dates, boys who try to lead their steadies around by the hair, people who make embarrassing remarks about one in public, a girl who monopolizes both boys on a double date. These were the most common pet peeves.

The students of Connersville High are going to have a real for sure Mardi Gras! Queen of the Mardi Gras is to be chosen. Prizes will be given for the best costumes. Music will be furnished by the high school band; refreshments will be served; and favors will be given.

Along The Clothes Line

This season there is a unique note seen in accessories. In addition there are many flick tips which I shall offer to you, in order that you may get some fashionable info on fads or fancies that will give your ensemble a real "lift."

The costume jewelry that stands out this season is the jewelry that is the brightest, gayest, and smartest. Lacquered cherries in mixed reds, yellows, and greens, and which hang in luscious natural-looking clusters live up to the unique note mentioned above.

A splendid freshener for immediate wear, is the colored glove that matches your bag or hat in fuchsia, raison, or blue. But with these combinations one cannot throw on a lot of chunky, shiny or enameled jewelry. The answer is pastel enameled monograms.

Snowy, white blouses have all the attention now, but simple hand knitted sweaters are odd novelty filler-ins. Just the plain knit ones in the season's newest shades will make it easy for you to make your suit have several new outlooks.

Suede, the pet of winter's sports fashions, continues into spring. Some of the smartest frocks are made entirely of suede with maybe front closed with buttons.

Perky orandies and dotted swiss seem to be the fabrics that most of the spring formals will be fashioned of. Bows and streamers of satin or another exciting fabric would be an excellent trimming for these creations, which will incidentally have full rustling skirts, so easy to dance in as well as being easy on the eyes.

Speaking of trimming, brings up the hat adorning problem. From what we have seen and gathered up, ostrich feathers nearly make up entire hats, mostly in the forms of turbans. Several large flowers of contrasting shades shoot up from the high crowns. Patent leather bandings and crown shine above wide brims.

What Would You Do ?

What is so rare as a day in spring? If I said uncoked meal, they'd get me for plagiarism, so why say anything, cause yours truly can't think of anything nicer than the weather. Must be spring. That's what they all say, so agree and be done with it. Let's talk about the sun, breezes, mud and things like that. Did you ever think what you would do if?

1. While walking along the street you were splashed by spring mud?
a. What's spring got to do with it?

b. If you can still see, turn the other side to be splashed. (never do things half-way, I always say.)
c. That wasn't mud, that was water with a dirty complexion.

2. If the clock in the gym broke precedent and started ticking time again,
a. You've been studying too hard lately, dear, you're getting illusions, delusions, and bad grades in general.

b. Nothing surprises me anymore since I found out recently that half the married people are men.
c. Time marches on!

And I've got to march on with the parting suggestion that if you have any questions whose answers are not quite clear in your mind, drop me a line and I'll advance my theories with which teachers are not always in agreement.

We Even Find Our Southern Institution Undergoing Big Tests

We usually think of a teacher as giving a pupil an examination, but this time the situation is reversed. South Side is undergoing an examination through the South Side Self Survey. We students might think that our tests are really tough, but South Side, although she doesn't have to know all there is to know about history and ancient literature, has to prove that all the courses she offers and all the activities she affords compare highly with other like schools.

Such an examination as this presents a clear picture of our school in operation and shows its true relation with other schools tested. This examination is based upon our standing in nine different fields of school operation and each division is under the guidance of a committee of teachers. This survey is to be completed in a few weeks. All of us are eagerly awaiting the results. We can always boast of our fine paper, year book, our teams, and our other outstanding departments, but such a test as this will really show how good we are. South Side is rated as one of the top schools in this state, and this state is said to have the best schools in this country. Such a reputation as this should make us even prouder to say that we attend the school with the high rating and the good reputation.

It is up to us to make our school rate highly in this survey. If we, as students, work for the betterment of the school and appreciate and understand the relationship between the different divisions of the school, we can even raise our rating. Remember that every division of the school exists for our use and our educational betterment and that it is up to us to gain all we possibly can and prove that these divisions are fulfilling their purpose. Come on, students, and make this survey turn out just right. Remember that we have all that is necessary to make our school a top-ranker and it's all up to us.

If You Have That Let-Down Feeling, Then Learn Why

Do you have bags under your eyes and that exhausted feeling? Do you pull your hair at the slightest provocation? Do you find it hard to concentrate on lessons, and do you doodle or fill O's while teacher expounds. If you have these symptoms, you may be the victim of one of two things.

If green and white crepe paper or the mention of basketball sends you off the deep end, you probably have tournament nerves (and if they don't affect you, you must be unconscious). However, if the warm(?) sun and the balmy(?) breeze make you want to walk through country lanes, you are definitely suffering from spring fever blues.

Both diseases, while disturbing, are not serious in themselves; but they may result in dangerous complications. For instance, the great expectations which now raise the blood pressure and speed up the heart-beats may in the future lower grades and slow up the process of graduation. This will probably cause serious disturbances in the family and may even injure the allowance region.

It is evident that these devastating diseases must be treated while they are still in early stages. The best medicine is Will Power, to be taken when the desire to neglect homework becomes most strong. Something soothing is advisable for tournament nerves, along with the ability to rid the system of excess enthusiasm at the crack of the final gun. Of course, violent exercise of the vocal cords at the games themselves is a good way to let off steam and is still another cure.

We can't help but sort of wonder just what the old institution of learning is going to be like in the forthcoming scholastic seasons, when this fine batch of seniors make their graduating exit.

Another Junior Prom seems to be in the making, what with the third year upperclassmen already making elaborate preparations for this greatly heralded, much heeded event.

And who was the misinformed individual who said that ropes were the only things you could skip without further ado? Some class!

A pre-war attack of influenza seems to have made its attack on studyable Archers, judging from absent issuances.

More entangling alliances have ensued with the budding of Chinese Checkers, now the regal acme of recreation.

It looks as though Old Sol put an end to our unheralded snow fallings. We s'melt as much.

Who was it that said, "Oh, come on; pull up a knife and sit down." We got the point, did you?

History Of Present South Side Boys' Rifle Organization Shows That Club Is Derived From Former Archer Shooting Divisions

What are now Girls' Rifle, Junior Rifle and Varsity Rifle Clubs were one club back in 1928 in the infancy of South Side's only rifle organization. It is with the boys' division that we are concerned at present.

Scanning the constitution, we found that the purpose of the club is to promote sportsman-like activity and intelligence along the line of safety in firearms. Eligibility requirements are very liberal; anyone with three passing grades may join—provided he pays his dues of twenty-five cents.

Has High Rating
At present the two clubs, Junior and Varsity, advised by Mr. Stanley Post and Mr. Maurice Cook, respectively, are in possession of six rifles; one Savage, three Winchester 52's, and two Springfield. Each member purchases his own ammunition, which is ordered through the club. One target, consisting of ten shots, is the maximum allowed at each regular club meeting. The school rifle range, where the shooting is done, is located in the north end of the basement, with the door leading to it opening opposite room 24. The Junior organization meets every other Tuesday, the Varsity on every Monday.

The Junior group is for beginners, and those who are just learning, while the Varsity group is for the more advanced. The latter is a member of the Inter-Club Rifle Association and the National Rifle Association.

Because it best meets the requirements set up by the National Rifle Association, South Side's Varsity squad has been accorded the highest rating of any high school rifle team in the state. Since the members of the squad, comprised necessarily of five men, vary due to a rise or fall in their "hitting" average, no student can be named as being definitely a member of the team.

Whether or not the team may remain in the "A" division of the N.R.A. is determined as follows: Eight men of the varsity group are chosen to shoot one target (10 shots each); the five highest scores are combined, and if from a possible perfect score of 500 (100 each for the five highest) a total of 490 or better is obtained, they are still an "A" class. Similarly, the highest scoring team in the "A" division (the above-mentioned honor) possessed by South Side at present) is selected.

Requirements Given
The N.R.A. individual class rating is determined by the rifle competition with the listed requirements for a certain qualification:

Pro-marksmen—Must shoot 20 of a possible 50, prone (10 targets in succession—a requirement for all of the following to assure the association officials that it isn't an accident); Marksmen—Must shoot 25 of a possible 50, prone; Marksmen, first class—Must shoot 30 of a possible 60, prone;

Mr. Maurice Cook

Mr. Stanley Post

Sharpshooter, fourth class—Must shoot 35 of a possible 50, prone; Sharpshooter, third class—Must shoot 40 of a possible 50, prone; Sharpshooter, second class—40 of possible 50 in sitting position; Sharpshooter, first class—40 of possible 50, standing; and Distinguished rifleman—A score of 18 of a possible 20, both sitting and prone, and a score of 16 of a possible 20, kneeling and prone (ad lib—and when you can do that—take it from Carl Goebel—you're a true Archer, that is, rifleman).

Letters Are Awarded
To secure a letter "S" it is first necessary to obtain 200 points by the means prescribed in the following point system: (1) each of the above-mentioned qualifications gives 10 points; (2) bi-weekly matches, five best scores—10 points each; second five highest—5 points each; (3) class and inter-school matches, first five—10 points, balance of team—5 points; (4) Inter-school (any private club or school), first five—15 points, balance—10; and (5) individual school champion gets 25 points, second place winner—15, and third—10 points (if there is class champion who is not one of the above, he is awarded 10 points).

Having obtained the required two hundred points, a "hopeful" must fulfill two more requirements, namely, complete or have completed qualifications of sharpshooter, fourth class, and place or have placed among the first five in two inter-school or inter-club matches. There are possible deductions from those precious totals, too. A deduction of 25 points is made for an unexcused absence. Unsportsmanlike conduct or violation of the safety code and rules can bring about a 25 to 50-point deduction. No points may be earned in any semester in which ineligibility occurs.

In spite of these handicaps, five South Siders have won letters, some more than one, in this manner. They are Carl Goebel, three letters; Bob Hageman, two letters; Russell Long, one; Dick Hornberger, one; and Jack Ridings, one. All of which goes to show you that, just as we had suspected, South Side is a school of champions.

Officers Are Listed
Officers of the Varsity Club are Robert Hageman, president; Max Kimble, secretary-treasurer; Russell Long, range officer, and vice-president; Dick Gentis, second range officer; and Carl Goebel, executive adviser. Mr. Maurice Cook, as stated before, is faculty adviser.

Members of Varsity are Art Bear, Wayne Bastian, Bob Hageman, Max Kimble, Carl Goebel, Richard Gentis, Richard Enslay, Dick Nance, Dick Hornberger, Jack Ridings, Russell Long, Dick Dickerson, Bob Hawkins, Austin Harrison, Arthur Longworth, Sam Cleland, Dick Theye, Jack Vorhees, Charles Haugk, Jim Stier, Bill Riethmiller and Mark Hall.

Service Group Completes List For Members

Workers Of Group Help Out Teachers In Many Different Ways In School.

A complete list of service workers has been turned over to Mr. A. Verne Flint. These students, because of their service for some teacher, become members of the Service Club.

A preliminary list was printed in a recent issue of The Times and this is a continuation.

Miss Emma Shoup chose the following students to assist her in the library. These pupils also belong to the Library Club. They are Emiliou Allendorph, Marcia Allen, Laura Ellen Augsburger, Helen Banks, Betty Daniels, Janice Dyer, Richard Dyke, Betty Ellenwood, Dick Garton, Audrey Hall, Joyce Hardwood, Erma Jackson, Helen Karnap, Evelyn Kruse, Maurice Lehman, Max Magner, Max Mitchell, William Newhard, Margaret Null, Velda Oppenlander, Margery Rapp, Kathleen Ramer, Bill Reithmiller, Elizabeth Rose, Dick Strausburg, Phyllis Tyndall, Nancy Valton and Doris Williams.

Work At Games
Boys that work at the football and basketball games are Andy Bremer, Wayne Bastian, Paul Butler, Algine Boese, Beauford Carper, Jack Dunifon, Claude Davenport, John Davenport, Howard Ensley, John Ensley, Clarence Elliot, Carl Goebel, Jack Cross, Charles Hall, Arthur Howard, Earl Hofstetter, Ralph Herb, Max Kimble, Paul Murphy, Billy Morgan, Alan Mueller, Edward Meyer, Donald Meyer, Max Magner, Harold Martin, Donald Nolan, Eugene Nahrwald, Wayne Ludwig, Fred Pugh, Wayne Jones, Ralph Ransome, Dick Shorter, Billy Ruegamer, Levon Schnepp, Billy Siebold, Lee Harter, John Bornschein, Lyndall Tyndall, Billy Walker, Robert Bourne, J. Waiman, Glen McNeal, Dale Marschard and J. Conyer.

William Whetsel is guard for the bicycle lot, the seventh period. Margaret Wittmer and Helen Brinker work in Miss Martha Pitenger's office after school every night.

Assist Miss Teachers
Miss Adelaide Feidler has Audrey Jeffries assisting her. Working for Mr. Joe Plaskett is Paul Murphy, Kenneth Newman and Donald Greener.

Lilas Patton and Paul Madden held Mr. Bex.

Assisting Mr. Earl Murch are Kathleen Ramer and Velda Oppenlander. Miss Mabel Thorne has chosen Irene Briggs to help her.

Two girls work in Mr. Benjamin Miller's office. They are Delilah Shaffer and Eileen Hoffman.

Lorine Dicke and Patty Lyman assist Miss Mary Crowe.

Three students assist Mr. Wilburn Wilson in his classes. They are Mary Treen, Max Spencer and Bill Newhard. Students that work for Miss Pauline Van Gorder are Wanda Bernman, Louisa Haugk, Betty Jane Baumgartner and Bernadine Bender.

Le Cercle Francais Is Result Of Request Of Several Enthusiastic Pupils Wishing To Extend Further Their French Knowledge

Parlez-vous francais? Members of Le Cercle Francais (French Circle or Club) do (not as much, perhaps, as they should though).

This foreign language club came about as the result of the request of several students who decided that such an organization would prove helpful to their study of the French language. The first meeting was held October 1, 1932, with the club's faculty adviser, Miss Olive Perkins, French instructor of South Side, and twenty charter members present.

Give Purpose
The purpose, briefly, as set out by the constitution, is to increase the students' knowledge of France and the French people; to acquaint him with the history, literature, folk-lore and custom of the people, and to give him the opportunity to practice speaking French through games and songs. The eligibility requirements, as also set up by the constitution, are (1) each member must have completed 1 year of French; and (2) his final grade each semester must be B or better, or (3) having completed two years of French, a student may be a member regardless of his grade.

Each semester club members choose a theme, which they follow to make more interesting their study of France. The one chosen in the fall of last year was "The French People, Their Occupations and Customs." The main part of the programs consist of talks given by the students, and occasionally by outsiders. Often a member reviews a book pertaining to France or the French which the adviser deems enlightening. The social hour is spent singing, and playing games which necessitate conversation in French. A number of the latter are "le bureau," hangman; "loto," similar to our bingo; "si nous dinions" (if we should dine), corresponds to our game of authors; "les grande hommes de France," also played like authors, and "qui suis-je," who am I. Crossword puzzles, involving the use of a fairly good vocabulary of French words, are popular with the members.

Obtain Speakers
Le Cercle Francais has been fortunate in obtaining interesting outside speakers. At an early meeting Miss Anna Ried, who resided in France for seventeen years, explained

Miss Olive Perkins

the system of the French schools. Dressed in the native costume of that section of France, Mrs. Homer Davidson, wife of the artist, spoke at another meeting on the people of picturesque Brittany, and showed a number of paintings made by her husband on their stay there. Mrs. Methodie Velkoff discussed at another time Switzerland, a country similar in people, language and customs to that of France. Previous to the annual Mardi Gras held in New Orleans last year, a French festivity dating back to about 1857, Mr. Scheueman and his daughter described a Mardi Gras celebration that they had attended in Louisiana. Obliging faculty members have spoken to the French enthusiasts on various subjects appropriate to the chosen theme: Miss Martha Pitenger, Joan of Arc; Miss Hazel Miller, Era of Louis XIV; Mr. Wilburn Wilson, government and political policies of France; and Mr. Russell Clark, Armistice celebration in France after the world war. The social events of the French Club year include a skate, a picnic, and a potluck-initiation. The latter was held this year on February 23; and as a result of a recent amendment to the club constitution, there is a 25 cent initiation fee. The skate and initiation fee provide the club's sole source of revenue.

Award Pins
Each year outstanding club members are awarded pins purchased from the club treasury (the number depending usually on its financial status). The activity of a member in the programs sponsored by the club is determined by a point system. Below is a list of means by which members may secure the specified number of points (members might be interested in this bit of information, too): (1) attendance, 10 points for one meeting; (2) officers, 100 points for one semester; (3) being on a program, 25; (4) members of a committee, 30 as a chairman, 25 for others; (5) winning a game, 5; (6) reading in French, 1 per page; (7) club service (typing), 1 per page; (8) selling tickets, 1 per ticket; and (9) securing new member, 10 points.

Club officers are Joe Bex, president; June Holzworth, vice-president, and program chairman, Murray Squires.

The present enrollment of French Clubs includes twenty French and ex-French students, who are Louis Hilbish, Clara Makey, Marcia Allen, Joe Bex, June Holzworth, Margery Price, Elaine Bernstein, Margaret Null, Clayton Jensen, Murray Squires, Gerald Polman, Frances Van Buskirk, Annette Snoke, Virginia Porter, Gloria Staley, Charlotte Du Wan, Hilda Leininger, Joanne Smith, Rosa Lee Hall and Jeanette Warren.

Girl Scouts Continue Three-Interest Feature

Senior Scout Troop 41 continued their three-interest program at the regular meeting held Wednesday, March 15, in the Greeley Room at 3:30. Mrs. J. M. Purcell, leader, headed the clothing group; Mrs. Walter Flaig, assistant leader, directed the girls most interested in dramatics, and Mr. Purcell was in charge of the aviation division.

Alumnus To Speak At Club Meeting

Former Math-Science President Of 1926 To Give Discussion, "Mathematics In Chemistry."

Mr. Maurice M. Felger will be the guest speaker at the Math-Science Club meeting tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room.

Mr. Felger's topic will be "Mathematics in Chemistry." He graduated from South Side in 1926 and was president of Math-Science Club in his senior year. Mr. Felger graduated from Indiana University in 1930, and a few years later received his Ph.D. in Electro Chemistry at Indiana University. During the last ten years, he has held various positions ranging from laboratory assistant to instructor in chemistry in Indiana University Extension here in Fort Wayne.

Games will be played and refreshments will be served.

Query Is Answered By Famous Author, Christopher Morley

Christopher Morley, a noted present-day author of essays and other types of literature, answered a letter sent to him by Helen Roth, a 10B student, and other members of Miss Dorothy Magley's second period English six class.

This incident had to do with the fate of a young German boy, Ingo, who became a close friend of Mr. Morley while the author was traveling through Germany before the World War. The author taught Ingo English while the boy taught the German language to Mr. Morley. Ingo was then about ten or twelve years old and he greatly enjoyed reading Robinson Crusoe. Mr. Morley and Ingo played around the German hotel where the author stayed and also took long hikes and bicycle rides. Ingo also had a younger brother.

At a later date, in an essay, now studied by English classes along with a collection of essays in a book, "Introducing Essays," Christopher Morley wrote about this boy with whom he spent many enjoyable hours.

After a discussion of the essay during English class the students in Miss Magley's class became concerned with the probable fate of Ingo.

Mr. Morley wrote, "I have never heard from, or about, Ingo since the autumn of 1914. What may have happened to him or his family I cannot conjecture. Yet I have always had a thought that either he or his younger brother would turn up some day."

Mr. Morley is now a contributing editor to The Saturday Review of Literature, published in New York City.

Miss Pearl Rehorst Talks To Wo-Ho-Ma

Miss Pearl Rehorst gave an interesting talk on "Labrador" at the meeting last Thursday of Wo-Ho-Ma Club. The committee in charge was as follows: Louisa Haugk, chairman, Mildred Korte and Dorothy Allen, assistant chairmen, Mary Demetre, Betty Kinley, Wilma Kellogg, Miriam Roebel, and Elizabeth Kelso.

Interview Granted With Ted Weems, Orchestra Leader

Because of numerous requests, your roving reporter is "a goin' interviewin'" again. This time we head backstage at the Paramount to interview the popular band leader, Ted Weems.

Mr. Weems was born in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. But by the time he was of high school age, he had moved east and was attending West Philadelphia High School. From there he went to the University of Pennsylvania. In school his favorite subjects were mathematics and journalism (a fact which makes us just a little leary of writing this). His interests outside of scholastic work included football and tennis.

Ted Weems started his first band in 1923 and has by today built up one of the finest aggregations of stars to be found in any one unit, led by the whistling star, Elmo Tanner.

His present band numbers fifteen. When we asked him how long he would be on tour, he replied that they were always on tour and when they did stop at any one place, it was a surprise. The newest member to the band is Rex Kelly, guitarist, who hails from the sunny state of California.

Mr. Weems measures 6 feet 1 inch in stature, has brown hair and grey eyes. While his favorite hobby is amateur motion pictures, he doesn't have time to see many pictures. When we inquired as to his choice of the most popular song of 1938, he replied that his favorite hit is "My Reverie," and we have to agree with him for it was one of the most outstanding songs of last year.

German Student Group To Learn Game, Song

The members of the German club will learn to play a German game and sing a German song at the next meeting which will be held in the Voorhees room, Wednesday, March 15. The meeting, which was scheduled to be held last week, was called off because of the many absences.

Two Archers Write Youth's Page Articles

Two Archers had the honor and distinction of having articles written by them published in Youth's Passing Show last week. They are two senior girls, namely Doris Carman and Ruth Ellison. Doris gave a description of how she feels when she gives a report, and she tells how she wishes the teacher could know her feelings. Ruth told about her ambition to become a missionary.

Camean Club Has Musical Program

Is Newly Formed Organization For Study Of Fine Arts And The Various Social Graces.

A musical program featured the first regular meeting of the newly-formed Camean club, Tuesday, March 7. The Misses Mary and Edith Crowe are sponsoring the organization which will study the finer arts and the various social graces.

Velma Lehman played "Park Avenue Fantasy" and "Dizzy Fingers" on the piano; David Slattery rendered "Dinah," "Star Dust," and "Umbrella Man" on the saxophone; Richard Strassburg chose for his selection, "Nola"; and Imogene Fabian concluded the program by singing "Indian Love Call."

The committee in charge of this meeting was composed of Wilma Carrier, Dixie Lee Hines, Sophie Kelsak, Mildred Thayer, and Eileen Hoffman. The committee for the next meeting consists of Edith Summers, Lois Hagemann, Doris Reinking, Dorothy Ringenberg, and Patty Lyman.

The officers of the group are secretary, Wilma Carrier; treasurer, Dixie Lee Hines; and inter-club Congress representative, Eileen Hoffman. The club meetings will not be presided over by a president, but the committee in charge will act as hostesses and the other members as guests.

State Results For Regional Are Published

Franklin, Kokomo, Anderson, Frankfort Considered To Have Good Chance.

The sixteen teams which survived the regionals throughout our basketball-crazed state were Anderson, Auburn, Garfield of Terre Haute, Bosse of Evansville, Laporte, Greencastle, Franklin, Ossian, Frankfort, Logansport, Kokomo, Burris of Muncie, Salem, Elkhart, Aurora, and Vincennes. Of these, only four were considered a chance to win the state crown. These were Kokomo, Anderson, Frankfort, and Franklin.

Garfield of Terre Haute, surprise winner of the Terre Haute sectional tourney a week ago, turned in an upset by eliminating Bloomington in the Bloomington regionals, 29 to 24. Aurora pulled a fast one by trimming Rushville, 36 to 24 after beating Connersville in the afternoon, 46 to 38.

Muncie Is Good

Burris of Muncie kept right on going, after upsetting Richmond at the afternoon regional session, and edged New Castle in the finals, 35 to 31.

Frankfort established themselves definitely as the possible successor to the crown vacated by South Side when they crushed Lebanon by a 58 to 25 score in the final game of their respective regional contest. Anderson also stands a good chance of winning the title as they completely outclassed New Winchester 40 to 31, and Kokomo emerged the winner over Tipton in a free scoring 56 to 44 affair.

Franklin Plays Overtime

Franklin had to play an overtime game in the final battle Saturday night to win over North Vernon 29 to 27. Salem pulled a surprise by defeating Seymour after being behind at the third quarter 16 to 13.

The defeat of South Side left Bosse of Evansville as the state's remaining hope of a championship squad. Indianapolis, Gary, and South Bend teams have also been eliminated. Bosse moved into the semi-finals round with a 36 to 23 defeat of Lynnville and a 28 to 26 decision over Owensville.

Gary Regional Is Exciting

The Gary regional was one of almost constant uproar. To start it off, Laporte nosed out Hammond 27 to 20. Then Rensselaer whipped Valparaiso 28 to 27. Then in the final game Laporte, using a fast break, held a 14 to 6 margin at the half and kept its advantage. Hammond was too tense and Laporte held Wally Ziemba, big Hammond center, without a single point. In the night game Laporte had a 29 to 25 lead going into the final quarter. Rensselaer rallied, however, and went ahead 31 to 30, with two minutes to go. Two quick field goals put Laporte back in front and the Slicers stayed there.

Only five former state champions will be eligible for action next Saturday. They are Anderson, Franklin, Frankfort, Logansport, and Vincennes. Former champions who fell Saturday were South Side, Lafayette, Marion, Bloomington, Lebanon, and New Castle.

The afternoon upsets included the defeats of Southport by New Winchester, which later lost to Anderson, and Logansport by gymnasies Stendal which later lost to Vincennes.

GAA GAZETTE

What were Geneva Martin and Velma Connert hunting in the waste basket in the gym office Wednesday the seventh period? Was it a love letter written by Betty Thiele? Why, Betty!! It surely was something as important as a love letter, for the girls were really quite concerned for the lost "thing."

This game of "ping bad" (so the girls call it) is proving to be quite a popular game. The other morning the first period class practically raised the roof of the gym with all their loud screaming. The game is really aerial dart, but the girls gave it the name of ping bad because they use ping pong paddles, a badminton birdie, and the volleyball net.

Miss Dean's beginner's tumbling classes have now completed their work, and only those girls in the Spring Show are working on tumbling stunts. And we really do mean that they are working! Along with all many other enthusiasts are preparing for another grand show this spring. Let's all buy tickets to this grand show and express our appreciation for all the hard work these girls are doing.

It certainly was grand to see all our G. A. A.'ers wearing their sweatshirts and letters to the recent tournament games. They added much green and white to the atmosphere, and they really looked fine.

What's this big bicycle trip that some of our G. A. A.'ers are planning during spring vacation? It sounds mighty interesting to us. Spring vacation is another time for all the girls to earn a few extra points by hiking and skating. These few points really help a lot toward earning those letters and numerals which will again be awarded at the breakfast in June.

Why was Marion Owens so scared when the basketball boys threw the ball toward the side basket under which she was sitting? Was she really afraid of the ball, or was she just excited by being so near to the basketball heroes?

We were glad to hear that one of our senior G. A. A.'ers, Frieda Schuber, is rapidly recovering from a minor operation. Because she is so strong and healthy (from her activities in G. A. A.), Frieda lost little time in getting back in first class shape. Oh, yes, we almost forgot to tell you—she had a tooth pulled!

Ossian Overwhelms Onrushing Opponents

Pictured above is the surprising Ossian squad which will represent this district in the Muncie super-regionals next Saturday. Kokomo will be their initial foe. They are from left to right—first row: Coach Clare Holley, Donald Beerman, Wilbur Bell, Ernest Wilson, Loudon Hoover; back row: Orville Mahnensmith, Paul Miller, Chalmer Springer, Charles Mahnensmith, Harold Yager, and Hubert Pensinger.

Future Net Players To Have Tough Time Equaling Grads

No matter how tough South Side teams of the future will be they will have a hard time equaling the performance of the individual stars on the South Side 1939 squad. As far as we are concerned each member of that team is a champion. We are not concerned with the younger members of the squad for they will have another chance at the game next year. We are interested chiefly in congratulating the graduating members of the team for the fine record they made this season for South Side. It will probably be a long time before South Side is again able to be represented by such a combination again.

Here are the veterans who have been the backbone of the Archers' net squad for two years: Bob Bolyard, Carl Hall, Jim Glass, Don Beery, and John Chedester. All of these boys have certainly scored their share of points for the Green.

Bolyard Comes Through

Bob Bolyard, one of the regulars on the championship squad last year and a varsity forward during his sophomore year, sparked the team to an undefeated season and a sectional crown. Although he didn't do any sensational scoring in normal times he came through every time when the Archers were in a pinch. South Side has never seen his equal as a ball handler. He was in there fighting the ball from the time the game started until the final gun boomed. He pulled a victory out of a sure defeat at Huntington during the regular season when he sunk a long one from out on the floor. That was the closest to defeat the Archers came during the season and he saved the day. Recently he was elected to an all-state team chosen by the coaches of the state and having played a bang-up ball game in the sectional and regional, was put on the all-sectional and all-regional squads.

Hall To Be Remembered

Carl Hall will always be remembered as one of the best of South Side's athletes. When Carl was sent into the game the scorekeeper might just as well have marked up at least six points. He missed being one of the ten boys to take us through state last year because of illness. Jim Glass, also one of the veterans of the championship squad, had a great deal to do with the scores run up by the Archers. With that giant frame under the basket, he nearly had to reach down to put them in. He was also placed on the all-regional squad this season. Any team would have been dangerous with Jim on the basket.

Another of the ten boys who took South Side through state last year and helped with the fine record this year is Don Beery. Don will be remembered for his uncanny accuracy and his ability as a guard. He didn't shoot

Senior Shows Latin Aids In Foretelling Results Of Tourney

All of us have heard many ways of finding out about the future. Some prefer the crystal ball, others the palmist, while still others like the fortune teller. Some of these noted methods work, while the others have failed us utterly.

It seems that one memorable Saturday eve, Gwen DeWees, a loyal Archer, wished to know the outcome of the South Side-Ossian game. This particular Archer happened to be a Latin student and had been in Mrs. Alda Jane Carson's senior Vergil class the day they discussed ways of prophesying the future. It was discussed in class that one sure way of finding out anything you wished to know was to make a wish, open the Bible and place one's finger upon a page—without looking, of course—and then read the passage. Gwen decided to try her luck, and so made her wish that the Archers would defeat Ossian that night. She opened the Bible, placed her finger upon the page and read only the first part of the saying, "And it shall come to pass, etc." She had almost closed the book when she decided that she should read all of the saying. It said, "And it shall come to pass that the idols shall fall, and they shall no longer be remembered."

All of which goes to prove that without the discussion in a Latin class, Gwen's prediction never would have been made.

Betty's In Command

Strange things do happen! To prove it, ask Mr. Ernest Walker. In his second period business organization and management class out of twenty-one students, one-fourth of them are Bettys. They are Betty Clark, Betty Ellingwood, Betty Garmire, Betty Hearn, and Betty Pressler.

Archers Have Many Ideas Concerning Bears' Possibilities

Now that South Side is no longer in the tournament the question of the hour is how is Ossian going to come out? South Side got through Muncie pretty easily last year but do you think Ossian can do the same? Ossian has a tough team and ought to show up pretty well, but anyhow here's a few opinions of us South Siders:

Roy Heavner: Ossian won't do so hot. Kokomo will skunk them.

Louis Hallenstein: Well now, let's see. Well I just don't know.

Chuck Bollman: Not very good.

Hank Velkoff: Same as Bollman.

Dick Garton: I'd like to see them win.

Bill Gernand: As I always say, a team has its ups and downs, and I think Ossian has had its ups.

Bob Brooks: I'm still for them.

Jack Hodel: They'll get beaten in the first game.

Bill Newhard: If they're as hot as they were last week they'll win.

Bev Griffith: Lightning never strikes twice, I always say.

Dick Aronhalt: They'll go to state.

Lela Gregory: I hope Ossian goes to state.

Dick Gallmeyer: Kokomo will beat 'em.

Ivan Truman: Pretty good.

Mural Markers

Dallas Zuber is at the present time leading the mural scoring race with 93 points, while the former leader and teammate of Zuber, Tom Brower, is in second place with 86 points. Ronald Duiser of the Flashers is in third place with 50 markers. Dick Gettys of the Black Hawks holds down fourth place with 40 points.

At the present time it appears as if Zuber will tally over one hundred points this season, as he is one of the few players who has a game left to play. The leaders are listed below.

1. Zuber, F.O.P. 93
2. Brower, F.O.P. 86
3. Duiser, R. Flashers 60
4. Gettys, Black Hawks 40
5. Colicho, S.O.M.A.C. 37
6. Springer, S.O.M.A.C. 32
7. Schwartz, Zippers 31
8. Biedenweg, S.O.M.A.C. 30
9. McLain, Pinapples 27
10. O'Brien, Swishers 27
11. C. Davenport, Flashers 27
12. McKay, S.O.M.A.C. 26
13. Heinzeleman, S.O.M.A.C. 25
14. Butler, Cubs 23
15. Simmons, Zippers 21
16. Powers, H. P. Shots 21
17. Bogner, Swishers 20
18. J. Davenport, Flashers 20

Burl Friddle

Coach Burl Friddle, after carrying his 1939 Archers to the final game in the regional held at Huntington last Saturday, is looked upon by many as one of Indiana's leading high school basketball coaches.

Englewood (Chicago) high school students who enroll in clothing classes must wear tags stating that their clothing was made by themselves. It encourages the girls to show their work.

South Side Archers Close One Of Brightest Net Seasons

Green, White
Win All Tilts
On Program

Champs Are Defeated In Only Three Games During Season, Ossian Included.

Win Northeastern
Conference Title

Also Hold Sectional Championship, Possess City
Title For This Ball Year.

South Side's state champion basketball team just closed one of their best seasons, as far as winning ball games is concerned, in the history of the school. The Kelly Klads won every one of their regular scheduled games. They were defeated only three times the entire season, including the recent loss by Ossian at the Huntington Regional. The Archers won the Northeastern Indiana Conference title and they also possess the city crown. They are the Sectional champs and advanced to the finals in the regionals, where they were upset by the spirited band of Ossian Bears.

The starting five consisted of Carl Hall at forward, Bob Bolyard at forward, Don Beery at guard, Don Hire in the back guard spot, and Jim Glass, center. Bob Hines and Ralph Hamilton saw plenty of action in the games also. The Archers possessed a powerful offense and a fairly good defense all season.

Make Successful Start

The Green netters made a successful start of their 1938-39 season on December 2 when they defeated the Kendallville Comets by a score of 46 to 35. The game was a rough affair with both teams losing two men via the foul route. Bob Bolyard led the Green attack with 14 points. The following week-end the Archers defeated
Bluffton 34 to 18 and Connersville 27 to 21. Bolyard was again high with 10 and 9 points respectively. The following week-end Auburn and Vincennes fell before the Green Wave to the tune of 42 to 27 and 43 to 22. Carl Hall led the Green in both games. Vincennes was the first so-called tough team to face South Side.
The Archers opened defense of their city crown by drubbing Central Catholic 44 to 34. Again Hall was high with 17 points.

During the Christmas holidays South Side journeyed to Hammond to compete in a blind tourney. They met the first defeat of the season by the mighty band of Frankfort. The final score was 40 to 42. Don Hire led the South Side offense with 18 points. Vincennes in the consolation game dropped South Side by a 30 to 27 score. Bob Bolyard carried off the scoring honors with 8 tallies. These two defeats were the only ones suffered by the Green until the tournament.

Archers Defeat Redskins

Playing without the services of Big Jim Glass the Archers drubbed the undefeated North Side Redskins in a city series contest by a 34-21 count.
Ralph Hamilton was high for the champs with 9 points. The previous evening the Fiddlemen barely nosed Froebel by a 32 to 31 score. Carl
Hall led the attack with 10 points.
South Side continued its winning ways against Hartford City with a 45 to 13 win. Hall again led the Archer attack with 11 points. Franklin fell before the champs by a tune of 35 to 28. Central was stopped by South Side 43 to 36 with Glass leading the Fiddlemen with 14 points. Goshen was tripped up by the Archers 48 to 21 with Glass again tallying 14 points. The Archers hit the hoop in style while beating Elwood 60 to 18. Hall got 15 points to lead the attack.

Huntington was barely nosed by South Side 31 to 29. The game was won in the closing seconds, when Bob Bolyard hit a flicker from out on the floor. Glass was high with 7 points in this game. The following week-end
North Side lost to the Green and White by a score of 43 to 34. This victory captured the city title for South Side. Kokomo fell before the champs by a score of 36 to 29. The Archers were at their peak this week-end. New Albany lost to the Fiddlemen 45 to 32 and Central fell by a score of 31 to 27 the next week-end. The next game was with Salem, who proved an easy mark for South Side, the final score being 45 to 19. Horace Mann was the final team the Archers had to meet during the season. South Side easily defeated the Horsemen 43 to 27. The Archers finished the regular season undefeated. They scored a total of twenty wins.

During the following week-end,
South Side beat Central, Leo, Decatur, and finally North Side for their seventh sectional title.

Last week-end South Side beat Red-key 29 to 26 in the regionals and fell before Ossian in the finals 42 to 28.

They're Still "The Champs" To Us!

Archer Squad For Next Year Seen As Good

Five Players Of This Year's Tourney Team Will Return; Others Coming Up

Another basketball season has drawn to close, and now the question that is uppermost in our minds is,
"What are the prospects of the South Side team for the 1939-40 season?"
The team will suffer a great loss due to the graduation of Carl Hall, Bob Bolyard, Don Beery, and John Ched-ester of the tournament squad of this year. Big Jim Glass will pass his twentieth birthday in August and therefore will be ineligible.

Back from this year's tournament team will be Ralph Hamilton, Don Hire, Bob Hines, Carl Braden, and Leroy Cook. It may be seen that the team will be quite a bit smaller, but it will make a good match for any of the big boys by superior playing ability.
All five of the above boys have been playing together since about the seventh grade and therefore should make a smooth working quintet. Along with these five will be Keith Spiker and "Chick" Schimer, the alternates of this year's tournament squad, and almost all of the one hundred boys who were out for the sport this year.

The schedule for next year is almost complete except for four games. Burris of Muncie will be on the schedule for the first time, but on a whole it will be very much the same as the schedule just completed. Little is known of what prospects there will be in the crop of freshmen that is coming over, but there may be some promising material among them. Although the boys may not repeat this year's feat of winning all scheduled games, all indications show that they will take care of the bigger percentage of their opponents.

Grandstand Glimpses

By Bob Martin

(Huntington Community Gym, 9:20
P. M., Saturday, March 11)
Sinclair Lewis sure was wrong when he wrote, "It Can't Happen Here."

Well, we could, and did keep the Wolves away from the door, but, well, the Bears were just a little too tough.
Maybe it was because of the rabbit's foot each player wore.

Here's something I found out after the afternoon game. Even at the most trying points of the game, the cheers led by our cheerleaders helped sooth
the nerves of our stay-at-home fans.
And it surely helped down here, too.

Do you remember last Friday at the pep session when the boys on our team called out for "three cheers for Klotz?" It meant a lot to Bruce and it showed what the team thought of their student manager.

There is a man sitting back of me, here, with a beard all of two feet long. And he is right up on his feet shouting louder than about half the folks here.

Personal note to all you fans who are bemoaning the loss of the Ossian game. Sure, we lost, but look what we have won. We have a team that has won every game on the scheduled season, defeating some of the toughest teams in this state where basketball reigns. Our team won the City Conference title, the Northeastern Indiana Conference crown, and a good hard-to-get Sectional title. South Side has put twenty-five teams in the red this season and we seemed to be fairly good winners. Now that the same thing has happened to us (and it does happen to the best of them), let's be the fine sportsmen that our boys are. We have given a good many defeats this season. Now, let's prove we can take a defeat the same as we handed them out for so long.

There goes the team off the floor. In the last game you have given many things. Although you lost by the score, you won the admiration of every last one of the 3,700 people who jammed the gym tonight. You played a fine game, a clean game. Even in the closing minutes tonight when it would have been so easy to get the ball by unfair methods, you still played the game according to the rules. Congratulations, boys! You proved you were and are champions—champions of fair play, the thing which makes us prouder of you than if you had won the other way. You are still champions to all of us.

Let's hold a pep session.

Let's give fifteen Raahs for a swell bunch of boys—our team.

Did you fans happen to think that as our team leaves the floor tonight, there are some who are leaving the basketball floor for the last time. So let's give three long, and lusty cheers for Bob Bolyard, Don Beery, Jim Glass, Carl Hall, and John Chedester.

Speaking of leaving the floor for the last time, there are still more who won't be back. I've kidded you boys some in the past, but now that it's time to go I want you to know that the whole school thinks that you're pretty swell fellows and we are sorry to see you go. So come on school—
Three big rah's for our cheerleading squad and three more for the ones who won't be back—
Charley Haugk and John Magley.

You know when we won the Sectional fifteen schools got behind us to push and cheer us on our way. Now that we have come to the short end of the score let's all give our support to Ossian and wish this squad the best.

Note to Coach Friddle: Congratulations from the whole school on building such a swell team. They played their hardest for you—and the school.
That's all one can ask of any team.

Well, the game's over and the officials here tell me it's time to go. It's been fun sitting in with you, but everything comes to an end, so—
Goodbye and Good Luck!

Dukes Now Hold Heavyweight Title

Crowned Champs After Upsetting S.O.M.A.C.'s; To Hold Middleweight Finals Later.

The Dukes won the heavyweight championship by defeating the S.O.M.
A.C.'s to the tune of 22-11. Bob Shimel led the victors with four field goals and one charity toss for nine points; while the scoring among the losers was evenly divided. The game started out close, but the Dukes rallied just before the half and piled up a big advantage on their opponents; however, the S.O.M.A.C. squad went down fighting to the last minute. Incidentally, the S.O.M.A.C.'s were the heavyweight runner-ups last year also.

In the other contest played last week the F.O.P.'s whipped the Slashers, 19-12. By their victory, the F.O.P.'s tied up the middleweight division, each having lost one game. The championship game between these two teams will be played some time this week. The box scores of the two games follow:

Hi-Yers To Discuss Best Girl's Banquet

Plans for the coming Best Girl's Banquet will be discussed at the Hi-Y meeting which will be held tonight at the Y. M. C. A.

The Hi-Y attended a district officer's meet which was held Monday at the Y. M. C. A. Captain Cornish, head of the Municipal Airport, and Merle E. Carver, state Y. M. C. A. secretary, were the principal speakers. An election of officers was held.

Archers Are Sorry For Green's Tough Break In Regionals

Students of South Side, although downhearted over the defeat of the Archers, expressed the opinion as a whole that the South Side boys played real championship ball despite their downfall. It is the opinion of the students since the ball game last Saturday that the Archers had fallen before a powerful ball club. The "giant killers" from Ossian embedded themselves deeply into the South Siders as they brought an end to our great season and tournament play.

We all know our boys fought as hard as they could Saturday night.
Not a single person whether from Ossian, Union City, or Redkey, can deny the fact that the Green Archers went down in scragging style. We decided to walk about the halls of our Alma Mater and attempt to find out the reactions of some of the student body concerning the regional meet.
The opinions ran something like this:

Charles Feistkorn: We had some tough breaks.
Betty Kinley: It was a shock to me; but our boys put up a fight.
Peg Bacon: I'm philosophical about the whole thing.
Dick Garton: They are still the champs as far as I'm concerned.
Kolman Gross: Law of averages caught up with our boys.
Max Wagner: Too bad.
Chuck Bollman: They had tough luck and just didn't get the breaks.
Jessie Freeman: I'm very happy about the whole thing.
Sam Bacon: Well I swan.
John Magley: The law of averages finally caught up with us.
Bud Lampton: They played good;
we can't win all the time.
Robert Martin: They played as hard as they could.
Kenneth Fairfield: I've lost my umph.
Rudolph Wuttke: I can't talk.
Fred Bill: I don't feel so hot.
Donald Parkison: We fought hard.
Could we do any more?
Eather Seltzer: They played the best they could.

Gets Gold Jewel Pin

tising manager of The Times, received his gold jewel pin last week. He earned his points ad soliciting. To be eligible to receive a gold jewel pin, one must have ten thousand points.

Archers Drop Regional Final To Bear Team

Ossian Conquers Green 42-28; South Wins Right To Finals By Redkey Defeat.

One of the most startling upsets in the whole I. H. S. A. A. took place last Saturday at the Huntington Regionals. Ossian High School, with an enrollment of less than 100 students, assumed the role of giant killers and took the Archers over the hurdles to a tune of 42 to 28.

The championship game was Ossian all the way. South Side's famed offense and South Side's famed defense was simply stopped cold and riddled unmercifully. The Bears grabbed an early 5 to 0 lead from the Green and from there on it was a losing cause for the state champs. At the end of the quarter Ossian was ahead 11 to 8.
At the half the Bears were still in front 22 to 15. The Archers at no time were able to get a sustained drive underway. Their plays were blocked, their offense smothered, their defense shot; at no time did South Side really play ball. Inability to hit the hoop also was a contributing factor to the defeat.

The Archers shot into the finals by the skin of their teeth when they downed a strong Redkey outfit in the afternoon. Redkey proved to be plenty tough for the Green to handle. Only by virtue of Bob Bolyard's three long field goals did the Archers play in the finals. Bolyard at the opportune times swished the net with fielders that kept the Archers in the ball game. With the score only 27 to 26 in South's favor and a few seconds remaining, Hall iced the game with a pair of foul shots.

Ossian tripped Union in a hard fought battle by the score of 35 to 27.
Union had trouble locating the basket and were unable to keep Ossian from rebounding their own shots. The half time score was 25 to 12. Wilson and Hoover paced the Bears attack with 10 points apiece.

Senior Riflers Shoot Matches At Meeting

The Senior Rifle Club met last Monday for their bi-weekly shoot. Wayne Bastian was high scorer for the meet with a 97, Max Kimble with a 97, Hornberger with a 98, Charles Haugk with a 97, Mox Kimble with a 97, Mark Hall with a 96, and Carl Goebel with a 95.

During a meeting before the match, it was decided that the next match would be held Monday, March 20. All underclassmen who desire to learn how to be a good marksman are invited to attend any of these meetings.

A helpful Junior sent a mess of jokes. They were awful but when I threw them into the furnace the fire just roared.

Champions? Yes!

More important than Championship Trophies gained from physical strength, is the possession of Championship Character—a trophy in your possession long after your physical prowess could no longer be used to play basketball or any other sport except the sport of helping many others to win that same Character trophy, Respect.

You were called Champions by the people of the entire State. You are still those same boys, possessing the same character, possessing the same knowledge of the game, possessing the same ability and knowledge of Sportsmanship that it takes to be a Champion.

Your Coach started with those qualities and helped to strengthen them and even increase their number.

That's why we say, to you, to your Coach and to all who are true sports that you are still and always shall be Champions if that is the thing you wish to be.

Soph Advisers For This Year Are Selected

Miss Lucy Osborne, Mr. E. Sterner To Aid Members In All Class Activities

Sophomore Party Set For May 12

Officers Working In Conjunction With Teachers To Select Theme For Fete

After holding an organization meeting with Mr. Nelson Snider, the officers of the sophomore class selected as their advisers for this year, Mr. Earl E. Sterner and Miss Lucy Osborne.

Officers To Remain In Positions
These members of the faculty will assist the sophomore class in all of its activities while the present officers, Bob Hines, president; Becky Abbott, vice-president; Sam Bacon, secretary-treasurer; Betty Elberson, president of Social Council; Bob Robinson, member of Social Council; and John Boush, member of Social Council, remain in office.

The outstanding event of the year for which these officers and advisers will plan is the Sophomore Party, held annually by the sophomore class of the school.

The date of the Sophomore Party for this year has been set for May 12. Officers of the sophomore class are now working in conjunction with the advisers to select a theme for the Sophomore Party.

Theme To Be Selected
After the theme of the party has been selected various committees will be appointed to help carry out the work connected with the party. To help select persons to make up these committees each home room teacher with 10B, 10A, or 11B students has been asked to nominate several persons who they believe would be of aid in helping to plan for the Sophomore Party.

It is expected that a member of the school's art department will also be asked to help the sophomore class plan the party. This teacher would carry out the decorations for the party.

Philos Take Trip To Emerald Isle

Annual Saint Patrick's Banquet Held By Literary Group; Varied Program Is Presented.

Traveling through the Emerald Isle were the members of Philo at the annual Saint Patrick's banquet held March 16 at 6:15 o'clock at the Wayne Hotel. Betty Daniels, as toastmistress, did a noteworthy job. Other members displaying forensic ability were Dorothy Gore, Caroline Lichtenberg, Margaret Null, and Betty Neeb. They spoke on the Shamrock, Brogues, the Wee Folk, and Pipe Dreams, respectively.

Helen Wiehe, an outstanding senior member, presented an amusing monologue; and Rosella Foutz gave a tap dance in Irish costume. She was accompanied on the accordion by her sister, Donna Lou Foutz. Roberta Garton, Philo's poet laureate, recited an original poem, written especially for the occasion.

Three numbers were sung by Philo's quartet, composed of Margaret Null, Romyne Rediger, Helen Savage, and Ruth Dauner. They were accompanied by their director, Frances Van Buskirk. Several Irish selections were rendered on the organ by June Flaig. Miss Pauline VanGorder assisted with the music. Between courses the members sang Irish songs and yelled the Philo yell. Yells were very capably directed by Beverly Griffith and Eleanor Vesey.

Committees were as follows: Decoration, Janice and Marjorie Dyer, co-chairmen, Lois Rea, Betty Neeb, Betty Marquardt, Katherine Beckman, Faye Gumpner, Lois Gumpner, Audrey Hall, Bernice Etzler, and Helen Banks; program, Margaret Null, Velda Oppenlander, Virginia Shidler, Rebecca Abbott, Miriam Jackson, Donna Lou Foutz, and Pearl Wallen; place, Ella Jo Reed and June McAlister; music, Frances VanBuskirk, and reception, the officers, Miss Elizabeth Denaree, faculty adviser, directed all plans.

Forum Club Split Being Considered

Proposal To Form Second Unit To Be Decided Today; Present Group Too Large To Benefit.

Because of the growing interest in parliamentary procedure, the members of the Forum Club decided to hold a special meeting today to discuss the possibilities of organizing a second club with the same purpose. Everyone interested in the organization of such a club is invited to come to room 72 at 3:30 o'clock.

The Forum Club has recently had such a large attendance that some of the members do not have a chance to participate and express their opinions on motions, which are put before the house. By organizing the second club the members hope to increase activity in the meetings.

In the program meeting, motions of all varieties were made. The majority of the motions made were amended and discussed to such an extent that the chairman and members were bewildered. The chairman and secretary pro tem were Richard Bailhe and Thelma Ormiston, respectively.

New Soph Advisers

Miss Lucy Osborne

Mr. Earl Sterner

Miss Lucy Osborne and Mr. Earl Sterner were chosen as advisers for the sophomore class this year by the class officers elected last fall. Plans are being laid at the present time for the annual Sophomore Party to be held May 12.

Final Times' Drive Is Now Launched

Fifty Cent Campaign Is Begun; March 31 To Be Final Deadline For Promissory Notes

The Times circulation department has now begun a final subscription campaign for the present semester. After holding a room agents meeting to inform all room agents as to the details of the drive, the fifty-cent campaign formally started. This fifty-cent campaign is designed to get as subscribers all persons who have not subscribed for the paper so far during this semester, and to enable those not able to purchase an entire semester's subscription a chance to receive The Times for the remainder of the year.

Fifty-Cent Campaign To Start
It is expected that several more rooms will be added to the present list of seven one hundred per cent home rooms during this drive. The fifty-cent campaign will continue until the day when all Times payments will be due. March 31 is the deadline for payments on all Times promissory notes. On this day all money should be paid to The Times. Agents will now attempt to collect the remainder due on promissory notes.

Has Perfect Record
Last semester The Times, for the first time, had a perfect record since all promissory notes were paid. It is hoped that the circulation department can achieve another perfect record this year. After March 31, all persons who have not paid their money will be approached by room agents and, if no other way remains, fines will be given to those people who will not meet their obligations. However, The Times staff does not approve of this method in dealing with the student body unless all other means have failed.

Wo-Ho-Ma Initiation To Be Held Today

Play, "The Expected Guest," To Be Presented After Induction; Purple, White Colors.

Initiation will be the main feature at Wo-Ho-Ma this afternoon in the Greeley Room at 3:30 o'clock. The committee in charge is Margaret Geroff, chairman; Audrey Cooper, and Marilyn Miller, assistant chairmen; Allen Klenke, Helen Anderson, Martha Shaffer, Carmel Roy, and Jane Knippenberg.

Louise Buesing will be the "Voice." Marjorie Gerding will be the "Spirit of Home Economics." The officers will also take part in the initiation ceremony. They are: President, Patty Lyman; vice-president, Eileen Kiessling; and secretary-treasurer, Mary Demetre. Lois Gumpner will play the piano. Wo-Ho-Ma Club initiation song will be sung.

Purple and white has been selected as Wo-Ho-Ma Club colors. Purple stands for loyalty and white as purity. A play, "The Expected Guest," will be presented after the initiation with Louisa Haugk as director. The characters are as follows: Delia, Eileen Kiessling; Ladie, Mary Demetre; Nettie, Eileen Harman; Bessie, Dorothy Allen; Cornelia, Miriam Roebel; Evangeline, Wilma Kellogg. Eileen Lee will sing, "Deep Purple," and "My Hero." Refreshments will be served.

Math Teachers Hit
Two teachers were absent Thursday and Friday of last week. They were Miss Fiedler and Miss Thorne, both algebra teachers.

Reporter Finds That Ping Pong Pleases South Side Teachers

As a roving reporter, we did a bit of roving and eventually invaded room 170 and discovered a little white celluloid ball bouncing back and forth on a green table. The ball was aided, in its seemingly slap-happy cavortings, by wooden paddles held by, of all people, a number of South Side's male pedagogues and Mr. R. Nelson Snider.

Upon investigation, we discovered that this is ping pong and that there is no city in China by that name. "Ah, fate, thou art so cruel." Why must you spring this "disillusionment" on us so unheralded-like. Be that as it may we must proceed.

Ping Pong Fadists Named
And then we see not only the ball, but also the paddle holders doing a bit of snappy jiggerbugging. "But why?" we ask, "one bug?" Answer, "I want to get the ball back on the other side." But why do you want, wonder. "So he can hit it back to me." Silly, isn't it?

But to get down to this and that we would like to know who the teachers with ping pong complexes are. They included such persons as Mr. R. Nelson Snider, Mr. Clyde Pierce, Mr. Wilburn Wilson, Mr. Ora Davis, Mr. Maurice Cook, Mr. Ernest Walker, Mr. A. Verne Flint, and Mr. Lloyd Whelan.

Cook Is Champ

Through peekholes, and we wear extra thick spectacles so we don't miss anything (at least not much), we discover that people usually get out of the way of Mr. Davis' serves; that Mr. Cook is the admitted champ; that Mr. Snider is very difficult to beat (so say his opponents); that Mr. Wilson plays a scientific "brainy" game; that Mr. Flint plays a consistent game and, because of his long arms, he always returns the ball no matter whether it is near or far; that Mr. Walker camouflages his maneuvers so that his opponents never know when the ball is coming; and that Mr. Pierce's good playing is probably due to the fact that he presumably spits on his paddle before he serves.

On a corner of the bulletin board, yours truly found the initials V. and D. After a bit of Sherlock Holmesing, we discovered that they stand for Verne Flint and Davis and that they are having a long range silent feud. They even fight it out on Saturday, and the score stands, Flint 22 and Davis 26.

Has System

We also discovered that Mr. Walker paints fierce faces on the balls he plays. He says, "I like to play my opponents (that is what we would surmise by the number of his victories).

When Mr. Pierce claimed that only Mr. Cook and Mr. Snider have beat him, we heard murmurs of rebellion from Mr. Davis and Mr. Flint. (You figure it out, we can't.)

Would Like To Play Volleyball
But we do wonder why these worthy pedagogues work themselves so needlessly. Mr. Whelan partly cleared up the question by saying, "I like to play because it's not too strenuous and yet there is a lot of action in it. I like playing doubles because then a lot of comical and entertaining situations come up. I guess another reason we play ping pong is because there is no other game around here we could play. If we could get the gym, I'd like to play volleyball."

On this same subject Mr. Walker says, "Oh just for pleasure. It's not for exercise or reducing the waistline. I never really analyzed my reasons."

Likes Competition
Mr. Davis claims the reason he plays ping pong is that he likes any game where there is competition. "I'd play any other game if someone would only play with me. I wish I could find someone who would play badminton with me."

From one of the teachers we gained this interesting statement. Most of the teachers buy $1.50 paddles and then play a 10-cent game.

Roaming Reporter Granted Interview With Happy Felton

Up Wayne street and back stage at the Paramount we head again. This time to interview a man who isn't quite as well known here as he is in the east, but a man who has one of the best bands we've ever had the pleasure of hearing. All in all, it's "The man who styles music with a smile, Happy Felton."

Mr. Felton was born in Belview, Pennsylvania. He attended the Belview High School; and, when we asked him his favorite subject, he replied, "I liked English, civics, and everything—except math."

His favorite sports are football and basketball, but for relaxation he plays golf, which happens to be his hobby.

Then we got down to the last poll of the month questions. His nominations were as follows:

Favorite radio program of 1938: Jack Benny.

Biggest news event of 1938: Munich conference.

Biggest sports event of 1938: World Series.

Favorite song of 1938: "Deep Purple."

To this he added that although "Deep Purple" was written some six years ago, it wasn't until last year that the song came into popularity. Then it came time for the final question which was an inquiry as to the instrument he played. He answered, "I own a violin." But in all seriousness he plays a violin very well.

The theme song of this orchestra, as you might have guessed, is "I Want To Be Happy."

Watch for this band! Although we in the middle west haven't heard much of this band, we soon will. In New York "Music with a Smile, played Happy Felton's style" is one of the most popular headlines in town. Thanks for the interview, Mr. Felton, and good luck.

"Best Citizen" Award Given Janice Dyer

D. A. R. Is Sponsor; Betty Daniels And Phyllis Geller Reach Finals In Voting

Janice Dyer, outstanding senior student, was honored this week by being elected by senior students and South Side's faculty, as the recipient of the annual D.A.R. good citizenship award, granted each year to a girl of the senior class who, in the opinion of the voters, best fulfills the qualifications.

Along with Janice, Betty Daniels and Phyllis Geller were also distinguished, being the other two candidates for the award. To qualify for the award, one must be a senior girl. Nominations are made by the senior class, each senior voting for anyone he thinks worthy. The names of the three girls are then passed on to the members of the faculty. The faculty then votes on the three girls; thus naming the winner.

Winner Comments
When asked how she felt over winning the award she replied, "It's the biggest thrill I've ever experienced. I had never hoped for such an award. It came as a complete surprise."

Janice is to be recognized on Recognition Day and will then be presented a medal. She is also to be the guest of honor at a tea given by the winners of the award this year in other high schools of Allen county.

Works For Clubs

Janice entered South Side from James H. Smart in 1935 and since then has been prominent in numerous clubs. She is art chairman for Philo, art editor for the Totem, cartoonist for The Times, secretary of Social Science, art chairman for the Booster Club, social chairman for the senior class, and has membership in Marionette, Service, Meterite, Library, and Wranglers. She also was a member of the Social Council in her junior class.

Party Enrolling For Washington

Ten From South Side Will Go To Capital Spring Vacation For Sightseeing; Room For 5 More

Including on their itinerary the principal buildings of our Nation's Capital, Washington, D. C., as well as visiting the home of our first president, George Washington, and the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland, ten South Siders and a group of sixteen others will spend spring vacation on a personally sponsored tour to the center of our nation. Miss Rowena Harvey, publications adviser, will sponsor the group, with several chaperones.

There is room for five more persons to join the party.
To Leave April 3
Leaving Sunday afternoon, April 3, the group will reach Washington Monday morning. The Department of Justice, the Embassies and Legations, the zoological gardens of Rock Creek, the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington Cemetery, Alexandria, Mount Vernon, the Washington Monument, and the aircraft buildings are some of the spots to be visited.

In Washington proper, a tour of the Department of Justice will be made. A trip to Annapolis will be taken and the travelers will see the cadets in daily drill.
The Congressional Library will be seen and the last afternoon will be spent in the galleries of the House and Senate as guests of Congressman Gilie. Lunch will be served at the Capitol.

Name Those Going
Any student, teacher, family member, or friend may join the tour which costs only $37.50, by contacting Miss Rowena Harvey. Besides the other members of the tour, Mr. W. R. Hall, traveling passenger agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad, will be present personally to conduct the tour.

South Siders and North Siders who have already joined the tour are as follows: South Side, Betty Daniels, Helen Banks, Marjorie Rapp, Eddie Reeves, Kathryn Eipper, Miriam Miller, Marjorie Butler, Dorothy Bloomer, Betty Showalter, and Delilah Shaffer; North Side, Rose Steiber, Shelly Wagner, Ellen Kattell, Bill Gerhardt, Isabel Fraser, Dick Tilt, Jackie Huguenard, Eleanor Fritz, Bob McPherson, Paul Bailey, Pat Sweet, Mrs. R. D. Benninghoff, Dan Benninghoff, Art and Don Aiken, and Jean Scott.

To Emboss Names On Paid Yearbooks

Totem subscribers who wish to have their names on their books must have paid for them in full by tomorrow night.

Students who did not subscribe during the original campaign, with the exception of the 9B students, may have their names appear on their books by paying ten cents at the Totem office and having the total amount of the books paid up, by tomorrow night.

Pupils whose books are not completely paid up by tomorrow evening will not have their names appear on the cover under any circumstance as the book would be a total loss if it were not paid for. As the covers are being made now, this deadline will not be extended.

Students may still subscribe for the Totem and must have all of it paid for by April 21. The final deadline, a 25 cent fine will be added to the price of the Totem if the full amount is not paid by then. However, the next installment deadline is tomorrow night when $1.75 must be paid, if no name on cover is wanted.

By The Poll-of-the-Month Editor

"My Reverie," "Two Sleepy People," and the "Umbrella Man," star-studded 1938 musical ditties, were chosen as the top-ranking tunes of South Side's 1938 Hit Parade by approximately two thousand Archers in the first annual Poll-of-the-Year, conducted by The Times' Poll-of-the-Month Editor.

Ballots, which were distributed in home rooms several weeks ago, gave students the opportunity of naming their favorite King and Queen of the Movies, band leader, radio program, motion picture, sports event, news events and popular song of the past year.

"My Reverie"
"My Reverie," which clinched a conclusive victory, was named by almost twenty-five per cent of the South Side student body—entitling it to first place with four hundred thirty-four votes. Number two on the Kelly Klads' roster of jam session jives "Two Sleepy People," which crept into second place with two hundred twenty votes.

Carving its own niche in the Hall of Fame, a newer ballad, "The Umbrella Man" found third place with one hundred sixty-two votes. The other leaders in the Big Ten are as follows: fourth (tie), "Music Maestro Please" and "A Tisket A Tasket"; fifth, "Alexander's Ragtime Band"; sixth, "Deep In A Dream"; seventh (tie), "You Must Have Been A Beautiful Baby" and "Heart And Soul"; eighth, "Franklin D. Roosevelt Jones"; ninth, "You're The Only Star In My Blue Heaven"; tenth, "I Must See Annie Tonight."

Revive Former Hits
The only two revivals of the whole lot came in "Alexander's Ragtime Band," from the picture of the same name, and in the rejuvenation of "A Tisket A Tasket"—which used to be called a nursery rhyme.
It is interesting to note that of all the popular songs named, only two have come from motion pictures—and one of them being a revival of a pre-war musical hit.

Article Written By Miss Mellen Appears In National Paper

An article on "Ethics Code for Cafeteria Staff" by Lucy Mellen was accepted for publication in the March issue of "What's New in Home Economics," a national newspaper for home economists. Miss Mellen was asked to write this article.
"I was surprised to receive the letter informing me that my article was to be published. These articles are written because they will be beneficial to home economists and cafeteria directors throughout the country," said Miss Mellen. The following article of Miss Mellen's was published:
"I have found that the accompanying ethics code has helped to strengthen the cooperation of my cafeteria student staff toward the work in the cafeteria as well as to elevate the staff's work itself."

1. Report immediately at beginning of period that you are due.
2. Have hands washed and fingernails clean.
3. Keep apron and head band on while handling food.
4. Watch your health condition.
5. Keep handkerchiefs away from food.
6. Spend no more than 15-18 minutes to eat your lunch.
7. Have cashier check amount of your tray before eating.
8. Stay at your work until the bell rings.
9. Hang up apron and head band before you leave.
10. If necessary to be excused for any reason, report to Miss Mellen.
11. If you have to be absent from school, consideration and courtesy demand that you telephone or send Miss Mellen word.
12. Be courteous to all customers.
13. Remember that courtesy, respect, and cooperation of duties, are due the women on the cafeteria staff."

Meterites, Philos Will Meet Jointly

Session Will Be Held In April; Mother - Daughter Tea Will Be Celebrated During May

Plans were made at the business meeting of Meterite Club Tuesday for the joint meeting of Philo and Meterites, which will take place on April 17 or 18. Ellen Harry, music chairman, will have charge of getting instrumental music. Vocal music and an outside speaker will be provided by Philo.

Dorothy Gildea, program chairman, announced several committees for Mother-Daughter Tea to be held on May 16.

Directed by Mr. Carl Vonderau, Meterite Club members, on March 21, took an expedition through the tunnels of South Side. Starting the tour at the northwest corner of the building, they passed by the rifle range, entered a hot room, and immediately following, a cold one. Finally the girls arrived at the band room.

Alida Eidner, director, and a cast of seven presented a play, "Kid Gloves." Those taking part were: Jean Tracht, Mrs. Warren Mitchell; Lois Bloomer, Miss Annie Beaton; Peggy Greaney, Mrs. Philip Ames, Sr.; Janis Tremper, Mrs. Horace Dunlap; Margaret Meyer, Mrs. Charles Lavton; Carolyn McNabb, Mrs. Ted Makham; and Katherine Kixmiller, Mrs. Philip Ames, Jr.

Wash Stand Installed
A new wash stand was installed in the cafeteria last Friday. It is for people who work in the cafeteria to wash their hands before starting work.

Archer Speech Victors To Be In State Finals

Dramatic, Oratorical, Humorous Declamations Are Three Divisions Of Event

Six South Siders Entered In Meets

Contest To Be March 26 At Franklin College; Mrs. D. B. Rieke Supervises

Saturday, March 26, winners of contests of the three specified divisions of speech will participate in an Indiana State final speech meet to be held at Franklin College. South Side is entering two students in each of three possible fields, which are dramatic declamation, oratorical declamation, and humorous declamation.

Bob Safer and Helen Wiehe with "The Last Mile" and "Eyes" respectively, will represent South Side in the dramatic division. Safer and Wiehe tied for first in a similar contest staged by Wranglers early this term. Wiehe placed first and Safer second with the same selections in the invitational meet held here recently.

Name Oratorical Entrants
June McAlister and Bill Newhard are entrants in the division of oratorical declamation. The title of McAlister's declamation is "The World Is One"; Newhard's, "The Defense of John E. Cook." At a recent Wranglers' contest each won first place in his division.

South Side representatives in the humorous declamation section will be Bruce Bradbury and Jeannette Warren. Their selections, respectively are "The School Program," and "At The Swimming Pool." Warren placed first and Bradbury second in the finals of a similar contest sponsored by Wranglers recently.

All Reach Finals

The school has entered the state finals in the oratorical division for the past three years. It is the first time anyone has represented the speech department in the field of humorous and dramatic declamation. Last year Eleanor Monesmith won a second place decision in the state meet, and the year before Dalton McAlister placed first. It is significant that none of South Side's representatives to the contests have ever been eliminated in the preliminaries.

All contestants have been coached by Mrs. Dorothy Rieke, speech instructor, and those in the dramatic division have been given additional coaching by Mr. Herbert E. Rieke. None of the participants have ever competed in a state contest before.

The contests will all be held at the same time, and in two rounds. There will be an elimination contest at one-thirty, and the winners in the finals at three-thirty.

Plans Being Made For Clean-up Week

Inter-Club Congress Discusses Annual Affair, To Be May 1-5; Ivy Day To Be On May 25.

Plans for Clean-up Week, to be held the first week in May, were discussed at the meeting Monday of Inter-Club Congress, sponsor of this annual event. Owing to the fact that the Junior Chamber of Commerce stages a city-wide clean-up that same week, it was thought that the Congress should secure their co-operation. In years past, they have sent speakers to address the student body. Another idea suggested by members was again to make out a list of possible home room projects and to circulate this list to the home rooms.

The committee to work out further plans for the Clean-up Week campaign is Doris Williams, chairman, Dick Aronhalt, Rosella Foutz, and Dorothy Gerdorf.

Ivy Day, Congress' next major project, will be staged May 25. This day has become a senior tradition. Committees in charge of this affair are as follows: Music, Morton Nahrwald, chairman, Vera Berning, and Wilma Carter; to select the queen and her attendant, and to elect an orator, Dick Buchholz, chairman, Robert Byers, and Carl Goebel; program, Jean Fortriede, chairman, Max Spencer, Max Wagner, and Joan Cox; and the parade, Tom Moorhead, chairman, Bill Riethmiller and Clayton Jensen.

Adviser Chooses Play Understudies

Bill Riethmiller, June, Joyce McAlister Are Selected For Substitutes To Three Leads

June McAlister, Joyce McAlister, and William Riethmiller were selected by Miss Marjorie Suter as understudies for the three leading roles in "Mrs. Partridge Presents," the senior play. June is an understudy for Margaret Gross; Joyce, for Kitty Clinnard, and William for Bill Newhard.

The understudies for other characters are: Tom Gallmeyer for Kenny Warren; Dick Strausburg for Bill Gernand; Winifred Meyers for Beverly Griffith; and Phyllis Branning, the understudy for Donna Lou Foutz. The play, to be presented on April 15, has as a cast, Mrs. Partridge, Margaret Gross; the daughter, Delight, Kitty Clinnard; the son, Philip, William Newhard; a friend of Mrs. Partridge, Stephen Applegate, William Gernand; Delight's friend, Sidney Armstrand; Kenny Warren; and a friend of the family, Donna Lou Foutz.

Other characters in the play are Dick Garton, Lois Rea, Eleanor Vesey, Hazel Perry, Virginia Shidler, and Helen Wiehe.

How Many Realize Democracy Reaches Our Archer Portals?

In considering the two-fold meaning of any democratic agency we visualize the soul-stirring attributes of free speech and free press. The very significant fact of a government of the people is outstanding in any educated country today.

In this fast-progressing nation we oftentimes fail to realize the extent of our present-day democracy and the fact that this idealistic faction reaches even to the innermost of our modern public school system.

Perhaps we fortunate recipients of elementary training, graced with the ever-present privileges, do not any longer appreciate the almost essential grants which exist in the very meaning of the word democracy. We, in our Southern institution, are favored by a self-expressive newspaper in which book-learners' opinions may be publically expressed. Forums, in which we may freely express our deepest regards toward various debatable issues are also suggestive of our present-day scholastic surroundings.

If we were to extract to a comparative degree our present educational system with that of some dictator's regime, we should realize to the utmost the beneficial blessings we American students are obliged to receive.

For Future Gains Choose College As Sane Adventure

As the days grow warmer, as spring prepares to make its entrance, the senior realizes his high school days are ending. Many seniors will look for jobs, but juniors, sophomores, and even freshmen give serious thought towards a college education. "What is it?" "Will I get anything out of it?" "Is it a good investment?" and many other questions of this nature prey on the student's mind.

College like anything else is an investment. For some it turns out to be a profitable venture, for others—a loss. College to the amazement of some, is a place to work, and not a dreamland of sports and jam sessions. In these three short sentences, the truth and the hard facts are given. If a student is going to college to loaf away four more years of his life, he would do well to take that so-called education money and invest in some business and just hope; for no loafer has a chance in business or college. Students do not need to go to college to be a success. College education is no assurance that a person will be a success in business. To be sure it is a great helper and together with initiative and a good personality, it is a winning combination for anybody. Think twice before casting your life toward future educational prospects!

Teacher Supreme Lives On

Mere words and empty phrases can never quite fill or bridge the gap left in our lives by the passing of the "Grand Old Man of South Side High," Herbert S. Voorhees. Actions speak better than words. Mr. Voorhees never was a man of an imposing presence, but a quiet, refined gentleman and a scholar. In all his years of teaching at South Side, Mr. Voorhees passed the supreme test of a good teacher—he made the students respect and love him. He found his way into the heart of each and every one of his pupils, a task accomplished by few teachers. Teaching was his life; school children, his hobby. A finer teacher never graced the classroom of any educational institution. His passing was one world's loss, another world's gain. And we, who knew the "Grand Old Man," will always remember him as the gentleman and scholar that he was.

Once again, student book-learners are settling themselves back into the study realms, with the athletic rallies a thing of the pleasant-to-remember past.

Orchids to you, paint-brush wielders, who so purposely exposed the South Side Champ insignia on our mighty stadium.

Many-coursed eating habits were regally exercised at the annual athletic banquet deluxedly staged last p. m. Feast-festing?

From optical aspects, it looks as though the 1939 Archer tracking stars are going to be high-shooting for happy laurels.

And then there was the humorously hectic tale of the young man who grew a mustache to keep a stiff upper lip.

You're still champions to us, fellows!

Listen Editor!

To all loyal South Siders their school is practically a Utopia among other schools; but there are, sad to say, several glaring faults within the walls of this almost-perfect edifice. It is the purpose of this column to bring the worst of these blemishes before the eyes of the student body in order that they may read and heed. However, remember this is not a gripe column. Only constructive criticisms will be used. This week two letters, both pertaining to conduct in the halls, were deemed worthwhile by yours truly.

To Whom It May Concern:

Courtesy Week has come and gone, leaving scarcely a dent in the hides of some of our thick-skinned students. I have had my books knocked out of my hands by potential football stars just as many times since Courtesy Week, as before. I have also received as many gouges from carelessly carried pens and pencils and have been violently slammed against the walls (much to the detriment of the walls) even more often. Another form of discourtesy which especially rankles in my system is the persistence of some students to saunter down the hall three and four deep with linked arms. It is almost impossible to get around such a group. Halls may also be blocked by people who gather in droves between classes for a bit of trivial gossip. The tragedy of the whole affair is that when traffic is slowed up by these very effective blockades, other rude individuals begin to push. This of course, helps a lot—helps a lot to cause a traffic jam or to injure someone. Why can't some of these people get wise to themselves and realize that they live in a civilized country and are supposedly civilized themselves?

DOWN-TRODDEN,

Dear Editor:

Hardly a day goes by that someone doesn't make the following statement: "Wastebaskets have been provided for us by the taxpayers; so why don't the students use them?" I agree with this wholeheartedly. Of course, the wastebaskets should be used. But really this isn't as easy as it sounds. As soon as the bell rings after class there seems to be a concerted rush for the waste containers in the halls, and not for depositing purposes either. Whether these containers have some magnetic power I don't know, but I do know that they are usually surrounded after school and between classes. It takes a braver person than I to charge through a clique in the act of hearing the latest just to deposit a small piece of paper. Result: the paper usually winds up in my locker, where there is already quite an accumulated assortment of odds and ends, there to wait Locker Clean-Up. O happy day! This is probably slightly exaggerated, but I still want to know what is so enchanting about a waste basket.

TIMID.

Senior Synopsis

By R. U.

Graduating

With the ever-so-faintly issuance of the regal spring seasonal session, we find many, many senior Archer fellows and gals making plans for the forthcoming vacation blessing—an' yet, despite all of these fair bellows, the young fun-loving upper-starts continue to delve in extra-curricular news events rare.

WHY DOESN'T SOMEBODY tell us these things? We've just received the up-to-now neglected reportings that biggie Max Spencer is an artful master of the gala keyboard. That is, he tinkles a mean bunch of ivories. They continue that his rendition of "Deep Purple" is something mighty, mighty sweet on the 'earing organs—an' we thought he had poison ivy. Tsk, tsks.

NICE GOING. Senior Thespians, your PLAYing around in one acts is well worthy of any triflin' mention. With such extremely elegant and extraordinarily exceptional performances, one and all, we are all waiting with exuberant anticipation for that future Senior Play fete—or are we being too dramatic?

LAUGHTER WAS THE KEYNOTE when somebody said Kenny Warren was doomed to fatefully one day dislocate his collar bone when pulling on one of his stiff collars. Just a timely after-thought in the neck of time.

WITH CUPID SHOOTING HIGH, we find the lovely to look at, highly desirable twosome of Lois Rea and Eddie (I've found her) Reeves making its versatile way through our studyable corridors. From squiring reports, it looks like a perpetual emotion—mistermings?

WE GIVE YOU a Senior lady worthy of honorableness, nominally Gwen DeWees. Pursuing scholastic gains and executive serving in many Archer clubs, we post the long-due utterance of her praises. To you, Gwen, we say thank you for helping to make our Senior class a successful organization.

GOLLYSAKES, PEOPLE, jus' think in a tiny time duration, we will be churning the pages of OUR Totem. Have you subscribed? Then pay your quarters pronto, for the yearbook prospects are highly complimentary. And once again, dear enthusiasts, we must bring to you a heavy-eyed bon soir. Until that later publication North Siders gift to the ladies, she's

But Never Forgotten

Wee Sketches Of Our Big People

By Jeanette Warren

Ahoy, friends! We take it upon ourselves, this day, to introduce a very comely senior lass! Yes, sir, she's the gal that rings the Bell — Margaret Null.

Ex-president of Philo and present member of the same, she is also an active associate of Three E's, Social Science, Wranglers, French, Library, and S. P. C. clubs. Playing in the orchestra occupies much of her time too. Due to the fact that a clerk there holds a place in her affection, she frequently journeys to a certain Kroger store to buy her favorite food, pretzels. Mademoiselle Camille is a swinger and would prefer to swing to "Good For Nothing" played either by Tommy Dorsey or Kay Kayser— which leads to her favorite pastime, dancing. Errol Flynn and Margaret Sullivan are tip-top with this movie-gar who rates "Four Daughters" high in her memoir of ace movies. Oh yes, and in case you haven't observed it, she likes blond hair.

The fact that she likes to plan different ensembles of clothes is the chief pet peeve of her parents. Speaking of pet peeves—Margie has hers, too. They all have to do with people—she avoids those who are two-faced and those who dodge responsibilities. A very important bit of info' should be injected here before we forget—she is a member of that high and mighty singing organization of "slap-happy" seniors, directed by Miss Janice Dyer. You will remember Margie, too, as the gal who made a state Latin contest in her sophomore year. You've guessed it—she's another of those Harrison Hill immigrants. It is her desire to work in the personnel field in a big department store as an educational director when she gets to be a big girl. To prepare herself for this work, she intends to take a liberal arts course at Western College; then a year at Prince School in Boston.

Well, Margie, we wish you luck! So until then.....

Kelly Koed Kut Ups

If I made a carbon copy of the dirt columns, I pound out on this reliable typewriter and published them week after week, they would be just as new as the dirt I scrape up every week. In other words, kids, let the romantic side of your life shine! Spring is here, so let's get romantic. Fill the old dirt mailbox so full that I will have to empty it every day. Now I feel like writing some real dirt!

Flash! Here is the best news of the week! Dick Doermer and Becky Abbott are going steady! Yours truly just about fell over 'cause this is sorta unexpected, like an earthquake maybe. This combination is really a humdinger (if you will pardon the expression).

Another couple that are now going steady are Hazel Perry and Gene Hofstetter. What's this we hear about Sammy Hite? Would he like to break it up maybe? Everyone to their own opinion.

Steady-going seems to be quite the vogue this spring. Arthur Pontius and Jane Knippenberg are among those following this trend. Let's see if we can find someone else among the dirt that is also in style with the latest spring fashion. Oh yes, here they are, Melba Stuart and Roy Stule!

There is a traitor in our midst, no less. Yep, Joan Bradley up an' fell for Jim Sears of the Redkey team. It really isn't as bad as all that. She once lived there, and old acquaintances should never be ignored.

Newcomers to the good old dirt column are Will Whetsel and Zola Prill. They really burn the wires every night to continue their wooing(?). If that isn't love, I'd like to know what it is. (All right now, no cracks please.)

Whether Harold Kitzmiller knows it or not he has a very faithful admirer by the name of Kate Perry. If I were you kids, I'd check up on this little affair as soon as possible.

Ever since Edna Grossmann had her first date with Paul Galloway, North Side's gift to the ladies, she's

Southern Accents

One of the swellest things about the passing of time is the chance that we will have in later years to recall to mind the happy hours we spent years ago. We might look through last year's diary, and a thumb might accidentally slip into a page dated for this time last year.

Perhaps the thing foremost in the minds of the Archers at this time last year was our going to state. On March 25, we had a send-off pep-session. "ON THRU STATE" seemed to be echoing through the gym and corridors. We had the best record of any team in the state finals, and we were preparing to meet our foe, the Bulldogs of Columbus.

All of the students were thrilled over the one-acts, "Bargains in Caythay" and "Teapot on The Rocks" and were eagerly awaiting the coming of the senior play. Of course at that time it was not guessed who would play the leads or even the title of the great production.

The gym and dancing classes were over-working to prepare for the annual spring exhibition, with the "Big Apple" number on top. The jitterbugs of the country were just awakening to the fact that the country was swing conscious.

South Side was given quite a treat, when the Indiana University Male Chorus paid a visit to the portals and gave forth several vocal compositions. Yes, the applause of more, more came when they sang some of the current favorites.

No, just saving the best until last. The reconstruction program was being carefully planned and the starting blows were to be sounded very shortly. Yes, the long awaited improvements were soon to be well under way. And now look what we got, a two story building, one of the best. Paston, enter correction. The best in the United States!

been just another gal head over heels in love. Now they are dating every week end, and in my opinion and several others it has the looks of a steady romance.

Bob Young has been having quite a few dates lately with Betsy Dale of North Side. What does it all add up to? You tell me, 'cause Betsy is a mighty unpredictable young lady with numerous boys on her string. For instance, Sam Bacon had quite an affair with her this fall; and in his footsteps followed John Bonsh. Betsy must have that certain something that gets 'em.

By the way, while we are on the subject of Sam Bacon, I might as well tell you that ever since he has had a recent tiff with his lady love he has been a confirmed bachelor. But I think he'll get over that in no time 'cause any lad that has a cute gal as Gloria on his trail can't remain a bachelor for long.

It seems that a junior by the name of Ruth Doehla got in a huff when her name appeared in the dirt column recently with a certain boy. It makes me wonder when I hear something like that why the kids hate so to have their name in the column. Can it be that they are stage-shy, or is it that they like to keep their love affairs a secret? Well, what ever it is, just remember, take it in the spirit of good fun, 'cause really that's all it amounts to.

Alberta Keel has such an acute attack of love-itis that she just sits and stares at the object of her affections all during the fifth period. The lucky boy happens to be Bob Jordan.

And why was our darling post-grad, Betty Scott bubbling over with happiness Sunday? Could the fact that she met Norm Harrison on the train on his way from Chicago have anything to do with it? What about Paul Randall?

I guess that is all for this week. So listen pippie, try to get romantic for my sake, will you? That's swell... Yours truly.

Exchange Extracts

The students at Lakewood are casting votes right and left for the girl whom they want to be their Ice Queen. The winner will be a guest of honor at the rodeo at the Arena next month and is eligible for a trip to the New York World's Fair.

Since everyone is thinking about choosing just the right subjects for his program, we thought we would mention an item which appeared in the High School Life recently. It said that both physics and chemistry should be included in the high school work. They teach one the use of his hands in creative ability in the laboratory and in outside subjects. For outside subjects this spring the students will construct motors.

The Golden Gate International Exposition brought two new pupils to Technical High to study English. They came from Indo-China. They intend to study English at Tech while their mother stages an exhibit on Treasure Island. Since the students are all so nice the two visitors think they will enjoy their ten-month stay.

The juniors of the Mechanic Arts high school of Saint Paul, Minnesota gave a Saint Patrick's Day dance March 17. Green hats were distributed at the door for the merry-makers to wear. Music was furnished by the local Irish lads (for a day).

The P.T.A. of the Allied Arts department gave a novel program with a circus theme. Snake charmers, clowns, aerial numbers and a Barker were included in the program. The first part consisted of music by the glee club, chorus, and orchestra. The rest of part one consisted of a pantomime by the dramatic class plus work by the art class.

What Would You Do?

Time is approaching when half the student body will be assembled en masse to witness The Production of the Year, the Senior Play. Now we are not implying, nor even suggesting that there is a South Sider but what knows how to act. But, anyway, what would you do under the following circumstances in attending this production?

1. If, during intermission, you have nothing to do, you should:
 - a. Shoot spit balls at the bald pate of the pianist.
 - b. Be caty and talk about the performers.
 - c. With a beautiful blonde on his left, he is wanting something to do, eh?
2. If during a particularly romantic, dramatic, moment you should have to sneeze, you should:
 - a. Stifle it! Absolutely smother it, because the players might misinterpret your intention and take offense.
 - b. What else to do but sneeze; then turn on your neighbor, demanding that he be less audible in his comment.
 - c. For heaven's sake, don't forget your manners—pardon yourself.

Along The Clothes Line

It has been whispered about that this will be a most feminine and pretty season, and that it will call for a very sweet and scrubbed look. Everything will be laundered and starched and frilled.

The lingerie idea has been carried over into the milliner department, such as lace trimmed organdie arranged like a coxcomb on a high crowned quaint black straw. Streamers, of all kinds of filmy material, will swirl around about these high crowned bonnets.

Some designers say not to be surprised if a necklace is seen dangling on a forehead instead of the usual place. They also have dipped into their collections and produced wonderful pieces of jewelry that covers as many inches of your neck that is possible.

To make your ensemble with the petticoat even more chic, do this—match the petticoat with a pair of taffeta gloves, carry a bag that is fashioned after a lunch basket, and hook an old fashioned umbrella over your arm, the way Prime Minister Chamberlain does.

The boys will welcome this fashion. Instead of handing your bag with all your valuables in it, now it is proper to attach it to your evening belt. For evening, also complement your spring formal with a fan. Some of the newer ones are made of two or three huge flowers.

Furs of all kinds are good and are made into short jackets, wrap arounds or capes. Top a light wool dress with one of the newer chunkies.

Your spring afternoon dress might be made into three tiers of two or three ruffles of that rustling fabric surah, with gloves to match in dots, stripes, or print.

One creator champions the two-piece frock for evening. Black tops with contrasting skirts or visa-versa.

And that is all for this week. This is your flick-tipper of fashion bidding you goodbye until later.

Too Many Students Regard Polite Acts As Oddly Obsolete

Many of the teen-age boys and girls consider etiquette as just one of those things. In other words they regard manners altogether too matter-of-factly. Very seldom do we hear of the younger people of this generation reading etiquette books and articles that help to promote a more polite attitude. This majority have that familiar "if-you-don't-like-it-you-know-what-you-can-do" attitude. But sometimes, even the majority can be wrong, and this is one of the times. Because of this attitude, the actions showed in public places by our younger sets "ain't what they used to be." So let's polish up a bit on our manners.

Every now and then the question arises, "Should or should not a girl or boy rise and give his or her seat to elder in a time of necessity." Modern authorities on the problem say that is not necessary to do so, and some even regard the action as "oldfashioned." But no matter what the new fads may be, there are some left in the world that let their conscience be their guide; and as a result courtesy prevails over all. The fact remains that the most mannerly boys and girls do rise and offer their seats to elders, although they realize that it would not be considered a lack of good manners to remain seated. Perhaps you ponder over a correct answer because you feel that if you do what your conscience demands, that you will make yourself conspicuous. If you feel this way and think that people will laugh at you or criticize you for your action, take heed! If the people smile as you offer the seat, they are not laughing at you but are smiling simply because they are pleased to know that there are still a few of your kind remaining in the world.

One of the best opportunities to show your "bringin'-up" is on a crowded street car. Although it makes you boil to see all the men that remain seated, don't say to yourself, "Why should I offer my seat to those ladies if all the men retain their seats?" This is certainly the wrong outlook and discard it immediately; for it will only make you feel the less of yourself. And what your estimation of yourself is plays an important part in your life.

Let's start and swing the majority around, so that it considers etiquette as an important factor in our lives and not just "one of those things."

Let's Give Spring Cleaning To Our Mighty Dwelling

Clean-up time is near at hand, and all civic-minded people are setting a good example to those people who are lax in the aspect of cleanliness. The South Side student body should be among the first in setting forth this shining example. Everyone can help simply by putting their waste paper and trash, which gradually gathers in unwholesome quantities in their respective lockers, into the waste baskets or in the waste paper containers placed in the halls just for that purpose.

In addition to this heart arousing campaign, it might also be a stirring idea to give our scholastic exterior a complete, new going over in a regal dress-me-up fashion.

What is more repulsive or more disturbing to passers-by than unsightly objects scattered over an otherwise unmarred surface. So, come on, fellows, let's make clean-up week an all-time commemoration!

And everyone is still talking about Mrs. Rieke's very clever public speaking classical athletic commemorations. Heart touching events all, many Archers athletically-inclined net-tilting-notables were found delving in trophy receivings deluxe.

All underclass drama enthusiasts have once more started training under the very capable eye of one Margaret Suter. More Camilles in the making!

Highly decorative and highly appreciated are the fastly progressing murals a la Times chamber. Thank you, artful supporters!

And there was the modern young heroine of the child's talky tales who was known as the Little Red Henna. Bright sayings!

Incidentally, Archers, why not make Courtesy Week an all-seasonal commemoration? Let's show Emily Post we're really in the swing of nicety actions.

It won't be long students, before we start planning for our recreational pursuits during the forthcoming spring vacation blessings.

And there was the tale of the lad with spots before his eyes who said, "What a period I'm living in!"

Law, Nursing, Teaching To Be Discussed At School Today, Monday, Tuesday

Today the Law Conference will be held here at South Side. Attorney Merl Barnes will discuss the subject, "Law".

On Monday, March 27, another interesting vocational conference will be held. The subject of the discussion will be on nursing. Mrs. Mary E. Freed, head nurse at the Methodist Hospital, will speak.

Superintendent Slated Tuesday, March 28, the discussion will be on the interesting subject of teaching, the meeting being here at South Side. The guest speaker will be Mr. Merle J. Abbott, superintendent of the public schools in Fort Wayne. Two of these conferences have already been held. The first one was held Thursday, March 16, at the General Electric Company. Mr. R. H. Johnson, an electrical engineer, gave an interesting talk on electrical engineering. The last one was held at the International Harvester Company on Monday, March 20. The subject, mechanical engineering, was discussed by Mr. W. R. Westphol, a mechanical engineer.

Local Organizations Aid Mr. A. V. Flint and his assistants have had the co-operation of the Fort Wayne Engineers' Club and the Kiwanis Club in helping to get speakers for these conferences. Mr. Claude M. Summers of the Engineers' Club and Mr. Henry Meyers, of the Kiwanis Club, have given their time in assisting Mr. Flint with these discussions.

Alumnus Speaks To Math-Science

Mr. Maurice M. Felger Talks To Group; Subject Of Speech Is "Mathematics In Chemistry."

"Mathematics in Chemistry" served as the topic of an address by Mr. Maurice M. Felger, Indiana University Extension instructor, to the members of Math-Science Club Friday evening in the Greeley room. Mr. Felger, a graduate president of the group, discussed the elementary and basic principles of mathematics involved in chemistry.

Several songs were then sung with James Murphy leading and Richard Gerig accompanying at the piano. Bruce Bradbury then led the group in several games. Refreshments were served.

Orchestra, Band, Glee Club Render Program

At the music assembly Tuesday a variety of music was presented by the music department under direction of Mr. Jack Wainwright. The orchestra opened the program with a suite, "A Day In Venice." This piece, written by Elsiebeth Neven, is in four parts.

Some popular numbers were played and sung. Wilfred Bleeks sang "You're the Only Star in My Blue Heaven" accompanied by the orchestra and on the chorus the student body joined in and sang. "Rose Marie" was sung by Emelyn Rummel, Joan Earl and Betty Franklin rendered a vocal duet, singing "Out of the Dusk to You." Gerald Polman, dressed as an umbrella man and carrying old umbrellas and a rain bag sang "The Umbrella Man." On the third chorus the assembly joined in and sang. These numbers were accompanied by the orchestra.

The orchestra's last presentation was an overture, "Morning, Noon and Night in Vienna" which is one of Supe's compositions.

The chorus then presented a number, "Nightfall in Granada." The piano accompanied them in this song.

The band then presented its program. Its first rendition was a group of Irish melodies. "A Day in Ireland," Kathryn Beckman sang two of the melodies in this number and June Flaig played the harp in accompaniment. This group of Irish melodies was arranged by George F. Briegel. A trombone solo was next presented by Larry Phipps; its title was "Longing for Home," by John Hartman. The band closed the program with the playing of a march, "Cineland Parade" by C. E. Wheeler, and in this number the band was led by the student director, Bob Shmel.

March 23: Murray Squires.

U.S.A. Uses Theme Based Upon China

Talk, Pantomime, Games Carry Out Chinese Motif; Mothers Invited To Tea At Y. W. C. A.

U. S. A. Club's program at its latest meeting was carried out in the theme of China. A talk, pantomime, and games made up the program. The pantomime was called "The Tale of the Sacred Caterpillar." The cast included the following characters: Marilyn Sondles as Queen Fleopatrik, Irene Meyer as Prince Lickmealt, Maxine Crago as the Flower Girl, Eileen Hormann as Scribe, Louisa Haugk and Wanda Rohlfing as Ladies in Waiting, and Eva Jean Wylie as the Sacred Caterpillar. Reba Coppock told the story.

Velma Connert gave a talk on the Chinese girls. She told of the dress and entertainment of the girls. A display of Chinese articles were shown. Mrs. Scott and Miss Boyd, from the Y. W. C. A., were guests at this meeting. Mrs. Scott gave the members and their mothers an invitation to the Y. W. C. A. tea to be given during the spring vacation. She also read a story of Jacob.

The committee in charge was headed by Wanda Rohlfing. Assisting her was Maxine Crago, Irene Meyer, Reba Coppock, and Flora Ellen Saurer.

Refreshments of rice and oranges were served. The rice was eaten with chopsticks. This seemed to be a hit with the members.

Times Staff Grins As It Starts Work On April Fool Copy

The song entitled "The Pink Police Gazette" will not hold good for the April Fool issue, which will be distributed April 11. The song, if correctly applied to this edition, could be changed to The Blue, Yellow, Green, or Orange Police Gazette.

It will contain humorous stories about different faculty members and students. Although these stories are not true, they are not designed to hurt anyone's feelings. The express purpose of this edition is to give the teachers and pupils a big laugh and a let-up from a year of hard work and studying.

Betty Neeb will edit the Police Gazette and take charge of all editorial departments of the regular Times' staff.

Last year the April Fool issue was entitled The Bloody Bassoon. In previous years The Times put out The Tank Town Tuba and The Bugburg Bugle.

Since the Police Gazette is not included in a Times subscription, it will cost five cents a copy. However, regular Times home room agents will take orders for this issue any time. Extra copies will be printed for students who wish to buy a paper on the day they come out.

Dr. K. L. Seaman on Flu Complications
The recent Flu epidemic has produced many cases of tonsil, sinus and eye infections, these conditions usually lead to more serious complications such as "rheumatism," organic heart trouble, nervous complications, etc.
It is definitely known that adenoids grow as a result of infected tonsils, no other cause has ever been found.
All medical clinics teach and all doctors know that every case of earache, mastoiditis and most cases of deafness are the result of infection in the throat or nose.
THESE INFECTIONS CAN BE QUICKLY AND SAFELY REMOVED—NO CUTTING, NO HEMORRHAGE METHODS USED IN ALL OUR TREATMENT.

Four South Siders Place In Franklin Declamation Fete

Jeanette Warren, Bill Newhard, Bob Safer, Helen Wiehe Named Winners

Trophies Awarded
At End For Work
Contestants Look Forward
To National Meet To Be
In California This June

Sweeping major honors in all divisions, Bob Safer and Helen Wiehe, Bill Newhard and Jeanette Warren captured major honors in Franklin College's annual declamation contest held on the school's campus last Saturday.

Win Four Trophies
As only the two winners in the first round were sent to the finals, June McAlister and Bruce Bradbury, the other entrants, were eliminated by only one point, as both came in third in the oratorical and humorous fields.

Awarded trophies for their work at the conclusion of the meet, the contestants looked forward to the national meet to be held in Beverly Hills, California, this coming June, in which all are eligible to compete.

Bob took first place in the state dramatic contest with his oration, "Beyond the Last Mile," and Helen, who took second place, delivered, "Eyes." The two Archer entrants, during the South Side Wranglers contest held last December, tied for first place; and in the recent invitational meet, Helen ranked first, and Bob second.

Bill Newhard, with "The Defense of John E. Cook," carried off major honors in the oratorical division, while Tom O'Rourke, of Central placed second.

Win First Try
Jeanette Warren, the only humorous contestant to reach the finals, placed second with "At the Swimming Pool," being given two firsts and a fifth in the final judging.

This was the first year South Side entered either the dramatic or humorous fields, although top honors were won in both divisions. The oratorical field has always had South Side entered, and has always seen South Side come in with first rankings.

Mr. Maurice Cook, English instructor, accompanied the contestants on the trip to Franklin. All of the humorous and oratorical entrants were coached by Mrs. Dorothy Rieke, and the dramatic contestants by Mr. Herbert Rieke.

Tuesday Marks Joint Club Meet

Philaethians To Be In Charge Of Speaker; Meterites Will Furnish Music Of Program

Tuesday, April 18, Philo will take part in the Philo-Meterite joint meeting, one of the most important meetings on their calendar. Meterites are to furnish the instrumental music for the program, and Philo is to furnish the speaker. They have selected Mrs. Archie Keene, a former dean at Bloomington High School, who will speak on "Intimate Glimpses of Today's Hoosier Writers."

The Philo quartet, composed of Margaret Null, Ruth Dauger, Helen Savage and Romayne Rediger, will direct the instrumental music, and will furnish several selections. Rebecca Abbott, program chairman, is in charge of Philo's half of the program.

Other highlights on Philo's calendar are the Mother-Daughter Tea, May 1; Senior Day, May 15; and the Philo breakfast, sometime in June.

Sweeping Four State Titles Is All In A Well-Filled Week-end

IT HAPPENS ONLY ONCE IN A LIFETIME! (Courtesy, Jeanette Warren.)

Sweeping four state speech titles, two 135-mile trips, exploration of a haunted house, an hour of sight-seeing (education plus!), thirty murders in the Rue Rieke, and the unchristening of the newly-named "Mary"! For South Side's newly-crowned public-speaking champs truly "brought home the bacon" last Saturday from Franklin College in the annual state declamation contests.

Beginning in the beginning, where one unusually begins, Helen Wiehe, Bob Safer, Bill Newhard, June McAlister, Jeanette Warren and Bruce Bradbury, Archer delegates to the contests, accompanied by Joyce McAlister, Mrs. Dorothy Rieke, super-de-luxe coach, and Mr. Maurice Cook, swellegant English teacher, began the beguineing of a long, long trip to Franklin.

Begins Candid Snapping

Making their first stop at Shelbyville, the happy nine-tette guzzled cokes, while the Messrs. Newhard and Safer nursed a bottle of (surprise!) tomato juice. Whereupon, Mr. Cook shopped for film, then began his candid snapping with Old Faithful, his camera.

With Floridian bandanas on their heads, the McAlisters entrained Mrs. Rieke to stop near Franklin where they could hunt for a ghostly ghst in a deserted farmhouse. Clambering over the huge porches, the two groups encountered several signs of a no-stay nature, which were disposed of in double-quick time. Rushing from room to room, the nearest sign of a ghost came from the attic (where they sped immediately). Much to their disappointment, however, no ghost, not even a teeny, weeny torso, could be

Heads Banquet

Mr. Ward O. Gilbert, sponsor of South Side's Hi-Y Club, is in charge of the Hi-Y "Best Girl Banquet" to be held at the Y. M. C. A., Saturday night at 6:15 o'clock.

Staff To Start
Annual Issue
For April Fool

Edition Called "The Weekly Blast" To Come Out Tuesday, April 11; Copy Is 5c

The April Fool Issue of The Times formerly announced as the Police Gazette has become "The Weekly Blast." This annual edition of the school publication's staff will come out Tuesday, April 11.

"The Weekly Blast" will contain humorous stories of different faculty members and students. All articles will have a Gay Nineties vein running through them.

These stories are, of course, not true, and they are not designed to hurt anyone's feelings. The policy of the staff for this issue is to give the faculty members and student body a big laugh and a let-up from a year of study and work.

Betty Neeb will edit "The Weekly Blast" and take charge of all editorial departments of the regular Times staff.

Last year the April Fool issue was entitled "The Bloody Bassoon." In previous years The Times put out "The Tank Town Tuba" and "The Bugger Bugle."

Since "The Weekly Blast" is not included in a times subscription, it will cost five cents a copy. However, regular Times home room agents will take orders for this issue any time. Extra copies will be printed for students who wish to buy a paper on the day they come out.

Tomorrow Is End Of Grade Period

Second grade period ends tomorrow, the day before spring vacation. Letter grades will be issued April 12, the Tuesday after spring vacation.

Hi-Y To Hold Best Girl Fete Saturday Night

Theme Of Banquet Is "Lasting Friendship;" Will Be Held At Y.M.C.A. At 6:15

Saturday night, April 1, at 6:15 o'clock, the South Side Hi-Y will hold its "Best Girl" banquet. The theme of the affair will be "Lasting Friendship" and the banquet will be held in one of the Y.M.C.A. banquet rooms. Andy Bremer, president of the club, will serve as toastmaster.

The speakers for the evening will be Mr. R. N. Snider; Mr. C. G. Leonard, secretary of the Y.M.C.A.; Mr. E. H. Claire, assistant to Mr. Leonard, and Mr. W. O. Gilbert, club adviser. Mr. Snider will talk on "High School Friendships," Mr. Leonard on "Friendships in Hi-Y Work," Mr. Claire on "Future Friendships," and Mr. Gilbert will give a review of the Hi-Y work of the past year.

Music for the evening will be furnished by the Honolulu Serenaders. Dick Buchholz is chairman of the program committee which arranged for the speakers and selected the theme. Assisting him are Max Magner and Dick Aronhalt. Max Magner is in charge of the printing of the tickets and programs. The committee in charge of the menu and other arrangements is Andy Bremer, chairman, Clayton Jensen, Murray Squires, John Magley and Frank Devlin. An attractive program has been designed by Aubrey Kellogg.

The menu will be prepared in the Y.M.C.A. kitchen and will be served in the second floor banquet room and will consist of baked ham with raisin sauce, scalloped potatoes, glazed carrots, fruit salad, hot rolls, apple pie and coffee or milk.

Everyone is invited to the affair and tickets may be obtained through any Hi-Y member. Tickets are one dollar a couple.

Wo-Ho-Ma Holds Initiation Service

Latin Students To Enter Test Next Saturday

C. Snoke, D. Keslip, V. Stein-bauer, F. DuWaldt, J. Bex,
K. Ernsberger Entrants

Carolyn Snoke and Dorothy Keslip will represent South Side in the Freshman Division I of the ninth district Latin contest, which is to be held at Huntington, Saturday, April 1. Other contestants in Division I of this seventeenth annual contest are, representing Huntington County, Suzanne Black and Marjorie Anson; Steuben County, Janet Mitchell and Celia Piersone; Noble County, Verita Donat and Phyllis Hoffman; and LaGrange County, June Bowers and Katherine Swank.

Coytestants from South Side in the Allen County Caesar Division II are Violet Steinbauer and Frank DuWaldt. Those from other counties are, from Huntington County, Philip Shutt and Deloris Jackson; Steuben County, John Hartman and Jane Chapin; and LaGrange County, Genevieve Troyer and Marion Bontrager.

Katherine Ernsberger and Joe Bex will represent South Side in the Cicero Division III. Natalie Lowey and Louise Lantis will represent Huntington County in this division.

Lorraine Helsing of Noble County is the contestant in Vergil Division IV of the Latin contest.

Mrs. Bernice Higgins is chairman of the district contest. Miss Gertrude J. Oppelt will accompany the six contestants from South Side to Huntington. Miss Oppelt will also serve as one of the graders.

The county contest was held here at South Side on February 25. The six contestants representing South Side in the district contest were winners of the county contest. The results of the district contest will be announced early next week. The state contest will be held at Indiana University on April 21.

Rosemary Lehman was the winner of the state contest, Vergil Division, in 1937. Last year Betty Carton won first place in the state contest, the same division. June Flaig placed first in Division I and Eleanor Vessey placed second in the Cicero Division of the state contest last year. Mildred Hanke placed first in the Division I.

French Clubs Plan Conclave Tonight

South Side Group To Be Host
To Centralites At Program
Session In The Greeley Room

A joint meeting with the French Club of Central will be held in place of the regular one by French Club tonight at 4 o'clock in the Greeley Room.

Donald Blossom, president of the organization, accepted the invitation issued by Le Centre Francaise of South Side in behalf of the rest of the members. Their club adviser, Miss Mildred Brigham, is also planning to attend.

A delegation of Marionette Club representatives will contribute to the program. Hilda Leininger will speak on the French derivation of the term "marionette" and the history of puppetry. Kathryn Beckman will give a talk on the construction and costume of Marionettes. After these short talks Bill Morgan, Marcia Allen, Betty Bowman, and Jane Klinefelter will present individual acts with puppets. Also Miss Klinefelter will operate a puppet while Rosa Lee Hall sings a French song.

Plans have been made for a sound film of a tour of Paris to be shown. June Holzworth, club program chairman, will preside at the meeting. Refreshments will be served.

At the last meeting held March 16, discussions led by three of its members comprised the program. Their topics were construction of the great cathedrals by Annette Snoke, the crusades by Virginia Porter, and the system of Feudalism by Margaret Null. All three speeches carried out the general theme of the meeting, famous projects of the middle ages.

Pupils Asked To Check Names Posted In Hall

A list of all of the students whose names will appear on their Totems has been posted in the case in the front hall. Students are asked to check this list and report to the Totem office if there is a mistake in the spelling or if their name is not on the list and the student believes it should be.

By paying $2.10 before Friday a student may still have his name printed on the cover of his book. Classroom pictures for the Totem are to be finished by tomorrow. Yesterday, underclassmen filled out the underclass poll and pictures of the students voted for will be taken during vacation.

Following this talk, ice cream brownies were served.

"Senior Week" Plans Laid Out For Graduation

Dr. W. G. Spencer, Dr. Chas.
Houser Will Be Speaker, Minister At Last Service.

Plans for "Senior Week," to be observed from June 5 to 7, were formally shaped this week when Principal R. Nelson Snider announced Dr. William Gear Spencer, president of Franklin College, and Dr. Charles Houser, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational Church, as the commencement speaker and baccalaureate minister, respectively.

Dr. Spencer will address members of the senior class June 7 at 8 o'clock in the South Side gymnasium, while the site of the baccalaureate services has not been decided upon.

Dr. Spencer, who has headed Franklin College since 1933, served as president of Hillsdale College, Hillsdale, Mich., from 1922 to 1932. Prior to that time he taught at Colgate Academy, Hamilton, N. Y., and at Latin Dodane Academy at Dodane, Ohio.

Dr. Houser was elected by members of the senior class by secret ballots which were distributed in home rooms Monday morning. The home room results were taken to the office, tabulated, and then officially announced. The service will be held, however, on Sunday, June 4.

The annual senior dance, which will be held Tuesday night, June 6, in the gym, is being mapped out by class officers who have been meeting in secret sessions since the beginning of the semester.

So-Si-Y Convenes In Easter Service

Ruth Ellison, Velma Connett,
Dixie Hanna Give Speeches; Choir, Soloists Take Part

"How Can We Repay Our Debt to Jesus?" was the theme of the talks given by Ruth Ellison, Velma Connett and Dixie Hanna at the last meeting of So-Si-Y, which was held last Tuesday in the Greeley Room. The meeting was the Easter Worship Program and was in the form of a church program.

The room was decorated with some very beautiful decorations. The window had a cross through which the light shone, and the room was dark except for the light which came in through this window. On the stage or improvised choir loft was a silver cross with lights fastened to it. A choir of eight girls, Thompsons Hall, Dorothy Pifer, Thelma Pifer, Audrey Hall, Norma Whitel, Martha Cash, Peggy Greaney and Dorothy Jackson, provided the choir music. They sang "Beside the Cross," "Stars Above His Garden" and "An Everyday Prayer."

How To Repay Debt

Ruth Ellison gave a talk on how we can repay our debt to Jesus through service. She expressed her main idea by repeating these words from the Vision of Sir Launfal by Lowell. "The Holy Supper is kept, indeed, in what we share with another's need; Not what we give, but what we share—For the gift without the giver is bare. Who gives himself with his alms feeds three: Himself, his hungry neighbor and Me."

Dixie Lee Hanna summed her talk up by saying, "It is true that we can never repay Jesus. He is too generous to expect full payment. We can repay our debt by studying what he did and by following his example."

Velma Connett's main idea was love in connection with this topic. She quoted this from the Bible: "We love God because he first loved us." She closed with these few lines. "Greater love has no man than this, that he lay down his life for his friends."

Betty Rose gave an offering of Flowers and Becky LeFever read a Litany to which the congregation responded with "We dedicate ourselves." June Flaig honored the club by playing two happy solos, "At Church" and "In the Garden." Virginia Selby gave an Easter poem, "For Thee and Me." Marjorie Price accompanied the choir.

The committee in charge of the meeting was headed by Dixie Lee Hanna and those on it were Ruth Ellison, Thelma Krauskopf, Virginia Selby, Mary Emily Seibt, Rebecca LeFever, Marjorie Jackson and Dorothy Gerdum.

Miss Harriet Bove, secretary of the Y.W.C.A., and Miss Martha Pittenger were guests at the meeting.

Travel Club To Have Singapore For Subject

Singapore is the topic for the next Travel Club meeting. Virginia Menze is the chairman for this meeting and on her committee are Marilyn Gregg, Bonita Gregory, Vera Berning, Ivan Truman, La Verne Greiner, Bill Newhard, Olive Miller, Helen Medsker, Rebecca LeFever, Betty Minneker, Neva Robel and Veriene Wiedelman.

Bombay, India, was the topic of the last meeting held Wednesday, March 21. The program chairman was Billy Morgan. Katherine Zoegel gave an account on Bombay, June Van Pelt told about the religion in India, Alela Randol spoke on the magicians in India, and Marjorie Kruse described the dress of the Indians. Refreshments consisting of candy in the form of palm trees were served.

Billy Morgan's committee consisted of Katherine Zoegel, June Van Pelt, Alela Randol, Marjorie Kruse, Katherine Zinkel, Julia Pressler, Eleanor Whittever, Evelyn Longebone and Edmund Bauer.

Group Of Twelve Starts Senate Club

Is Parliamentary Organization; Dick Bailhe Is President And Clara Makey Is The Secretary

A new parliamentary club, the Senate, was organized by a group of twelve students last Thursday, March 23, in room 72. Richard Bailhe, Emilou Allendorph and Elizabeth Kelso were nominated for president. Richard Bailhe was elected.

Elizabeth Kelso, Clara Makey, John Virts and Sarah Jane Makey were nominated for secretary. Clara Makey was elected to that office.

Elizabeth Kelso, Richard Bailhe and Bill McNulty were elected to draft a constitution for the newly formed organization. Richard Bailhe was elected chairman of the committee.

Congress, Senate and Parliament were the names suggested for the new organization. The names were voted upon.

Snider In Chicago

Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, attended a meeting of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools last Tuesday at Chicago. Mr. Snider will return today.

Vacation To Last From April 1-10

School will be dismissed tomorrow at 3:20 o'clock for the annual spring vacation and will last until Monday morning, April 10.

Preparation Of "World Cruise" Involves Much Hard Work

By Eileen Hoffman
About 8:00 o'clock tomorrow evening, you will sink back in your chair and prepare to enjoy the combined perfection of synopated rhythm; exciting drama; snappy tap-dancing; graceful Hawaiian movements; and literally hundreds of smiling, pretty faces. As the "World Cruise" smoothly progresses you will be so engrossed in the production that it will not occur to you to wonder by what means such entertainment is conceived and produced. This is an account of what goes on behind the scenes.

The idea for the show shot into significance last June when Hazel Perry suggested it to the girls' athletic advisers. This was only the beginning of the exhibition which you witness in about two and one-half hours. The first of the hundreds of hours to be used in its production were those spent in working out the theme in detail. The tentative practices for the dances began soon after school started last September; and they will not be concluded until tomorrow night, a few hours before the performance. The first few months of preparation are peaceful, compared to the madhouse of confusion which reaches its climax about a week before and continues at its height until the big night.

Surroundings Described
To give you a faint glimpse of this situation we will describe the condition in and surrounding the gym office a few days before the event. A fluffy gray cat is investigating a tall pile of high black hats. She spies a pile of rustling grass skirts; but one of the invaluable office girls, anticipating the kitten's passion, snatches her up before further destruction results. Over in one corner of the gym office, Miss Gretchen Smith is interviewing a number of young electricians. Their conversation concerns the lighting facilities of the show and is frequently interjected with questioning "spot-light?" "brights?" "floods?" "color?" At this point a photographer sticks his head in and shouts, "We're ready for the picture in room 170, Miss Smith." She calls back, "Be with you in a minute."

She dismisses the electricians and prepares to leave, but an inquiring reporter detains her for "just a second" for a short interview. During this conference, a troop of chattering girls in shorts enter the office, inquiring, "Where do we go for the picture?"

Interview Progresses

After the departure of this brigade, the interview progresses in comparative quiet, barring the discussion on

Scribe Feels Fever Of Spring Gayeties Is Natural Tendency

For years the greatest persons in the world have given many hours of serious thought to that illusive thing aptly called "spring fever." More theories concerning spring fever have been advanced than any pertaining to any other ill, so-called.

People affected with spring fever have been called lazy, have been called sick, and fed medicine and syrup and molasses and have been called many other things; while, actually, they were normal people.

We think that spring fever is a perfectly reliable American, maybe cosmopolitan, institution. Any history instructor and student in this building will tell you that too abrupt changes always fail. Well, isn't it a change to live in a snow-encrusted world and then a warm, sunny, happy universe.

We are of the opinion that everyone is amazed, so to speak, at the transformation of the world and that the reaction is spring fever. We also believe that for the period when one suffers, perhaps that is the wrong word, from spring fever, we should all die of exhaustion and other allied ills.

By the time we have all loafed around a few weeks with spring fever, we have become accustomed to spring and summer; and we are all ready for another last few terrible weeks of school. We all know that it is a trying effort to stay in school during the latter part of May and the beginning of June, but it isn't quite so bad if we have spent a nice initiation to this life through the medium of spring fever.

Orchids To You, Mr. Briner For Your Aid To Sportsmen

A large number of boys go out for every varsity sport, this giving them an excellent chance for exercise and sports competition that is lost to many other boys. Until a few years ago only the stronger, more capable boys could play in the sports that went on here at this school.

Now that has all been changed, for the intramural department of South Side affords every able-bodied boy a chance to compete in almost every sport. Basketball, football, track, volleyball, handball, tennis, golf, softball, cross-country and horse-shoe are some of the intramural sports that can be entered by any South Side boy who is not going out for the varsity of that sport.

Except for this intramural department, a large majority of boys would have little chance to compete in the many sports that boys like to enter.

And who is responsible for the fun that comes out of this competition, genial Louis Briner, physical education instructor here. When Mr. Briner first came to South Side, there was no good intramural system. Now, after his unceasing effort in this direction, almost every possible sport is listed for the intramural department. The intramural lettermen even have a club of their own.

Any one can realize the value of regular exercise and can also appreciate the work that is being done by Mr. Briner. So we would advise every student to get on an intramural team if they are too small, or too inexperienced for the varsity.

Ah, Spell Of Sweet Spring!

Another spring day, but far be it from us to say how swell it is out. There is just one thing that we can see that is wrong, and that is the terrifying effect it has on people. No one in particular but just everyone in general. Take for instance the boys who drive to school in cars, fords, and wiley snipes. If possible, they are just a bit more dazed than usual racing around corners on the tread, scaring people out of years of growth. Then take the people who walk. It seems that some get the "back to nature" yen and insist on tramping through every piece of ground in sight, with the inevitable result of muddy feet and extremely irritated homeowners. Taking it all in, the teachers get the raw end of the spring deal. They have to undergo light headed students, who know even less than usual. Oh well, it's Spring!

For a real send-off for a keener spring vacation, why not attend the annual G. A. A. exhibition classic. Every athletically inclined female gymnast will offer her extra-special bit of talent for this forthcoming affair.

Hey fellows! Don't forget to pay your nickel for your wittily inscribed April Fool issue. It promises to be a really popular event. So for happy-timed readings, buy now!

And then there was a freshman who thought The Lady In Red was a woman who didn't pay her debts.

Listen Editor!

This week I received two letters that were really the tops. Both writers had their dander up over school conditions that have caused the despair of students and faculty for years. Wouldn't it be grand for the school and its inhabitants if this year's student body would firmly resolve to do something about the deplorable conditions mentioned in the following letters?

Dear Editor:

For months I have heard and, I confess, disregarded the constant plea of the teachers concerning marking of the desks. True, I have never indulged in this practice, but I have always thought that the teachers were griping just because it was their duty and was expected of them to a certain extent. Then came a certain seventh period. To the surprise and chagrin of myself and all my classmates, our teacher passed out ONE thin sheet of paper and told us to place our books quietly on the floor. You've guessed it, a test!! There I sat with nothing between me and the gruesome hieroglyphics on my desk but ONE thin sheet of paper. It doesn't matter whether I knew anything about the test, because I couldn't have transferred it legibly to my paper if I had. Every stroke I made with my pencil was cut short by "someone loves so and so" or "my telephone number is . . .". The climax came when I caught and broke my pencil point in an extra deep furrow. Now I know the real meaning of "in the groove." Upon picking up my paper and studying my desk-top, I came to the conclusion that either the former occupants of the desk were throwbacks to the cavemen and his practices of carving on his cave wall, or that a few thousand enemy termites had used my desk as a battlefield.

JANGLED NERVES.

Dear Editor:

I have lost all faith in human nature. I was feeling rather bedraggled and dilapidated by the time school let out this afternoon. Therefore, armed with a lipstick and comb, I strolled into the restroom for a few of those rejuvenating touches so all-important to a girl. But oh, what a sight greeted my eyes. The place was absolutely wrecked. Paper towels were strewn from one end of the room to the other. They had even been deposited in the lavatories, in which by the way, water was still standing. But that isn't all. Instead of removing excess lipstick with a paper towel, several thoughtless people had smoothed it out with their fingers and then swiped their fingers across the wall. To my amazement, I noticed that the individuals responsible for this mess were girls whom I had always considered especially fastidious. It's certain that every one of them would raise their eyebrows at least an inch higher should their home ever look like this, and it's equally certain that none of them would expect their parents to wade into such chaos. Why then, do they willfully and deliberately make unnecessary work for the caretakers of what is practically their second home? BAFFLED.

Senior Synopsis

By R. U.
Graduating

With all net-tilting frays a thing of the long-to-be-remembered past, Kelly Klaid enthusiasts are once more gathering their somewhat fun-worn personages back into the student cycle of book predilections.

In the Late P. M.'s we stumbled with wondering worryment, upon black-tressed June Holzworth, lame-footingly thumbing her irritated way through a vehicle-studded section of our down-town metropolis. The queristic portion of the whole scene was the bewildering factor that escort Ralph Obringer was trudging a little more sanely on the accompanying sidewalk. What is this thing called love? We're Still Laughing at Jack Brazzy for his gay, young relation of the crucial time he was struck down by a friend motorist. Disabled, for a small timely period, with a fractured skull, double concussion, and eight broken ribs, he managed to stage a happy survival. For a li'l while, so friend Brazzy tells us, he was pretty well broken up over the whole affair. Tall tales?

Thespians Talents Terrific are being thrust wholeheartedly by many of our senior staggers deluxe into our fastly forthcoming uperclass drama-fest. The title?—"Mrs. Partridge Presents." The efforts?—Amazingly industrious. Future responses—tremendous. This is one you shouldn't miss.

Pleasurable Greetings are always found floating through the chemically aromatic atmosphere of Mr. Ward O. Gilbert's home room. His heartening line to late-coming book-learners runs thusly, "G'morning glory." No wonder we become eager-tistical.

Now is The Time to distribute worthwhile bouquets to an erstwhile recipient. To you, Willie Newhard, with your school spirited club participations, verbage talents, and scholastic gains too numerous to mention, we say keen sledding. You deserve the many successes deemed to come your ambitious way.

Adding Add Libbings are the newists of Max Spencer crashing a Travel Club termination to gain an ever lovely olive. Helen Faux and Hank Velkoff offering keen-sounding verbage at a recent forum meet. Margie Null and millions more sighing over the sweetest strains of "The Masquerade Is Over." Heart-fallen South-folk returning from the regional contest.

And now, gentle copy watchers, we offer a prolonged ending to these 12th grade rarities dashing a hasty finis to our inscribed notings.

Peel the apple and the Lambeth walk. On the sidelines you hear the folks talk.

You'll Lindy Hop and Camel Hop. Peck, peck, peck, till you nearly drop.

The Red and Blue publication of Alliance, Ohio, reports that jazz band sounds have been coming from the physics lab, but this is due to the fact that the classes are studying cords and discords. Some of the more talented students played popular selections on the xylophone.

Everyone is always looking for something new and different. The tenth grade of the University High School of Springfield, Missouri, held a barn dance in the school gym. The "Out West" theme was carried out in both costumes and decorations. Decorations included a replica of an old adobe brick house, posters of cowboys and cowgirls.

The Journalism students of Butler University, Indianapolis, Indiana, were educated in the recent trends in newspaper photography. Unusual pictures of sports events, recent floods, celebrities, and other news happenings, taken by the Pioneer Press, were displayed.

In the Lincoln Junior High of Tacoma, Washington, the Social Service commission is sponsoring a paper and magazine campaign. Each home room will be given a quota to fulfill. The school's goal is 6,500 pounds. A prize of one dollar will be given to the boy and girl bringing in the most papers. The commission urges, "Clean house and make the goal 100 per cent."

Your dear (?) dirt editor was so afflicted with spring fever this week that she could scarcely make it down to the mailbox and remove the dirt. And what was worse she nearly folded up on the typewriter. But that's all beside the point, so let's get down to the dirt.

Little love-sick Betty Cowan is still pining away for that very popular lad, Dave Roth. It's too bad that I can't give you some encouragement, Betty, but I'm sure you don't stand alone. The fact remains though that his heart as yet, has not been won; so don't give up the ship.

Is Dick Gallimyer ever burning up! (Well, is he?) Anyway it seems that Ray Heavner has been paying a little more than the desired attention to that cutie, Alice Hall, and the heck of it is Alice doesn't seem to mind. Hmm. . . the eternal triangle.

A couple that are seeing a lot of each other since this warm weather has spurred the romantic intentions of the boys is Betty Baker and Dick Trot.

These lucky girls that have to make a choice between two boys. Tech. . . .tch. . . . Most of the girls feel pretty lucky if they manage to hook one let alone two. I guess that's life for you though. One of these oomph girls is Mary Rosendence. She was forced to make choice between Dick Brower and Howard Fishack. From the latest reports, I hear that Dick has a slight edge over Howard.

That Don Hire really gets around lately. It seems that every time I write the dirt column there's something new about him. This week his name is linked with that of LaVerne Griener. It's the first time that Max Magnar has really had some serious competition since he and LaVerne have been going together.

A new twosome that packs plenty of power is that of Marge Quackenbush and Don Beery. But, unfortunately for Marge, Don has quite a few

Southern Accents

Again we look into our diary of last year and fondly call to mind the joys and sorrows of yester year. These incidents which happened last year are very pleasing to consider and once in a while we wish that they could all re-occur.

The time, April 4. The place, Valencia Gardens, and the occasion, yes, you've guessed it, the banquet which was attended by so many citizens of the city and students for the six teams which were honored. Three teams of this city and three out-of-town teams. You remember that it was at this banquet that the State Champs received recognition and also those grand awards, the Hamilton watches. And it was also at this banquet that the general public entered into the spirit of the situation and paid their tributes to those swell teamsters.

Well, last week was courtesy week, and it was conducted in a different manner than in former years. Each day the names of the polite people were posted in the halls. Of course, we didn't have the public address system then, so they could not have announced the names like they did this year. If you'll remember, those courteous people were John Thackeray, Bob McKay, Dick Ferguson, Helen Kar-nap, and Donna Dennis.

The Latin wizards were again showing their talents at this time last year. The six girls who represented South Side in the District Latin contest were all on edge because they were able to go down to Central High to take the determining test. Yes, it's like you might have imagined, six girls from the school of champs carried away top honors.

April Fool's day is near at hand, and it's just like every previous first of April. The "Bloody Bassoon" was well under way. This year we are to have another bit of foolishness in print. Of course no one takes them to heart, and they are just for a joke. It takes a good sport to take a joke, but we are sure that that's the way you'll take it. If you'll recall it was "Little Napoleon" Snider and "Queenie" Pittenger.

fems on his trail that have more than their share of that "certain something."

That cute little freshie Bettie Squires has a new heart throb in the form of handsome Clinton Miller. There's a catch to it though (you know the old saying, "The path of true love never runs smooth"), and this time a certain Mildred is the obstacle.

It's been night on a year now that Bob Aulo has been carrying the torch for Betty McHenry of Central. What's the matter, Bob, can't you find anybody that can fill the breach she left in your heart?

Naomi Koopman has forsaken the love of Bob Guion in favor of pursuing the much sought after affections of Byron Suger. Naomi must not know when she's well off.

Wayne Heinzeleann has a bad case on a young lovely nurse named Joan Hueber. It must be one of those "When I'm well I can't get along without you" cases. Wayne affectionately calls her his lady in white. Must be love!

Evelyn Thomas is still very much that way over Jim Murphy. The only thing that holds up this romance is the fact that they have never been introduced. I am, therefore, entering an earnest plea in behalf of these two bewildered younguns to have somebody do them a real favor by introducing them to each other.

Well, here we are at the bottom of the dirt pile again. (I didn't think that I'd make it there for a minute, but, wonder of wonders, I finally did.) Listen studs, you know the old belief that the spring air fires the romantic imagination of young and old, well, why don't you let the romantic side of you go and see what happens? But don't blame me if it doesn't work, 'cause it's just a well meant suggestion. So long till next week. . . Yours truly,

Wee Sketches Of Our Big People

By Dorothy Hall

One of the brightest senior satellites in this building is a tall brown-haired girl whose mouth is her favorite instrument and which instrument she loves to listen to, Jeanette Warren has a large and willing heart and is always found in the middle of affairs making things hum.

This one young lady has so many various clubs and activities that it makes one's head whirl to think of being so many different places. Wranglers have chosen Jeanette to be their secretary, and a very efficient one she makes. She is one of the co-activities editors of the Totem. French Club, 1500, and S.P.C. are other clubs which can always rely upon her hearty cooperation. Editorial writer, star reporter and proofreader are the various positions which she occupies on the staff of The Times.

Whitewashes from the Grill (set-ups are always welcome) top Jeanette's list of personal pets. Running a close second to these are peanuts and Don Beery, her favorite member of her favorite basketball team. Bowling is another of her pet likes, and she aims to make Bolyard's score of 222 look just like a snap of the fingers.

Jeanette's pet dislikes are few: dogs, water in quantities (enough water to wash in is all right), little brothers, and people who take their time in the halls and get in her way when she is in a hurry (she usually is). She wavers between a like or dislike for baldheaded chemistry teachers and wonders if it would be wise for her to take one such teacher's advice and be a lab technician.

Like any other normal human, Jeanette has a favorite song. . . "Little Sir Echo" . . . and band leaders. . . it's a toss-up between Guy Lombardo, Horace Heidt, and Kay Keyser. Now that she is grown up, Miss Warren has no favorite crush on a movie star, but she sort of prefers Errol Flynn.

When asked if she had an ambition, Jeanette said "No" distinctly, but she glanced fondly at a picture of our State Champs. . . Even after a period of thought, she is still undecided whether or not she will be a journalist or the first woman president of the United States.

What Would You Do?

A momentous event in the life of every South Sider is about to occur. It is destined to sweep South Side from one end to the other. Namely, Clean-up Week, sponsored by Inter-club Congress. Now, realizing that South Siders are not too familiar with this week, we thought it would be a good idea to give you instructions as to how to conduct yourselves.

1. If, while digging dandelions, a young lady appeared on your horizon, you should:
 - a. First, find out what your horizon is and then act accordingly.
 - b. Be a gentleman and offer her your place.
 - c. Don't get excited; you've seen girls before.
2. If your teacher appears while you are in the act of picking up a dead robin, you should:
 - a. Give her the bird.
 - b. No comment.
 - c. I didn't do it, teacher, so help me.

Along The Clothes Line

Ushering in another gala Easter-tide season, your fashionable-informative scribe is here to ponder over more hints-to-the-wise along the clothes-line.

Go in for a flash of grey. Something in a dawn-grey print dress with a grey caracul jacket.

The glove situation has a bright outlook. I mean they are fashioned of gorgeous colors and look very striking with your little prints. But don't overlook the brief crocheted mittens.

Bustles seem to be here again. This effect can be achieved by a bow-knot in the back. The bodice will probably look like a peplum.

After bustles, the school-girl frounce follows. Little pleated frounces border skirts; others start from the hips.

Large and small polka dots spill like candy pills over all materials this spring. For something striking, match the dots of your frock with a dotted crepe breton.

Navy-green is a new change-about for black.

The boleros are short, very short. If you like boleros be sure to make it short and, for a novelty, tie a stiff organdie bow under your chin.

An arresting costume could be made of a green wool coat, with dotted red piping and dress, topped with a large, red cart-wheel.

A yellow rayon twill dress, topped with a bolero punctuated with red suede dots, is a splash of color; but yet it gives a smart effect.

If you have a lot of old stick pins around that are not in use, put them together in the form of a brooch for a stunning lapel gadget.

To fill in the neckline of your suit, take a dotted or bright scarf and tuck it softly into the neckline. This will give a dark suit dash and sparkle.

Studes! That Which "They Say" May Not Always Prove True

"They Say"! Yes, and in most cases nowadays people say too much (one half of which is true).

One of the most perplexing problems of the younger generation is that old "reputation" problem which has been hashed over and over again. Girls are ashamed to be seen in the company of certain young boys, and boys hesitate to ask certain cute girls whom they admire, for dates because they fear they are not the right girls to be asking; and because it would "lower their reputation" or something like that. Well, naturally everyone wants to guard against this kind of a name, and everyone should take precautions. But . . . when you refuse a date or decline from asking one someplace, are you positively sure that you are justified in the act? Are you sure that you are not accusing him or her falsely? Do you know for a fact that they are not the right associates? If so, then by all means refuse and decline. BUT, if there is the least doubt in your mind as to the reason he or she acquired that "bad rep," investigate before doing anything rash. Go to someone that you KNOW had a date with the particular person and find out how they were treated. If you then decide to take the date or ask the girl, and people still persist in saying that they are not the right company to keep; discard those other unjust opinions. After all, it's how they treated you and not how they treated others in the past that counts.

Half the people that have acquired a bad rep have no idea that they have done so. And half the reputations have no real truth behind them but are founded by people who have "heard" or by someone that has "said."

However, there are some who, we are sorry to say, really aren't the best people to make your intimate friends. There is no reason, however, that anyone should shun them or make them feel uneasy while in their presence. It is also not the best policy to make enemies of these kind of people.

If someone asks you about a boy's or girl's reputation, unless you are positive, don't say they have or they haven't a bad or good one. Say that you are not sure or that you don't know. Don't accumulate the ideas of all your friends and then make out that the persons are the worst kind imaginable. Don't form an opinion on what you have heard or what "they say."

Another thing to guard against is accepting a date or asking someone for a date whom you know has a bad reputation, then mistreat them or act ashamed to be with them and go out of your way so you will not see anyone you know while you are in their company. If you accept the date, then you must grin and bear it. Next time you will know better.

So remember when you "say" something good or bad about a person, it may make them or break them so be considerate of other people and think of the trouble and unhappiness you may cause someone by what may prove to be a false statement.

Wait A Little Longer, Studes! Your Time Will Soon Come

It is a highly recognized fact that as the fickle year takes its trend toward the springy seasonal blessings, a student's soaring mind is determined to turn to something or other. Just exactly what it is no one has ever been able to find out; however, it is undeniable that all thoughts definitely turn into a lighter vein.

There is nothing, unless it might be two luscious sodas, so tempting as a warmly altogether lovely spring day in which to partake in happy delvings throughout the blithe A. M.'s and P. M.'s.

But, how about making the most out of your valuable study days, gals and boys; for in the long run you will doubly be repaid, not to mention ever so grateful for having turned your wanderingly happy mindings to that other page of geometry instead of undergoing a session skip from our institutional dwelling.

Try This In Spring Vacation

Here's a new idea for spring vacation, kids. . . Why go to Etna Green, Indiana, or Waynedale for your vacation? Why wear yourself out at some active sport? We have a different theory about the maximum enjoyment to be obtained from the conventional spring departure. Most people would get more out of the time off if they varied their routine right at the same old stand.

The first day we would set the alarm clock as usual, but upon its first terrifying blast, we would turn the blessed thing off and stay in bed. The second day we would show up in Latin class in the middle of the afternoon. On the third and following days we would expand, alter, and work out some combination of the scheme suggested. No doubt the end of our glorious interlude would find us ready, willing, and able to come back to "the old grind." What do you think?

And once again we're journeying into the middle-semestered course. How many of you have had happy sailing?

Award Major Staff Position To Assistant

Maurine Seibert Is Circulation Manager; Virginia Goeglein Resigns Position

Maurine Seibert, junior, has been appointed to the position of circulation manager of The Times. She will take over her new duties immediately. Concerning her new duties, Maurine said, "I will try my best to carry out my duties and try to equal the record of the former circulation manager."

Maurine has been an assistant circulation manager on The Times circulation staff for two semesters. During this time she has kept her book near the top in the circulation ratings. She will replace Virginia Goeglein, who resigned to do Toteum work.

Virginia has held the position of circulation manager during the past two semesters. During this time she won the circulation cup for South Side in competition with The Northern, North Side paper. She also became the first circulation manager to collect all money due on subscriptions.

As new assistant circulation manager in charge of book four, Caroline Schuler, an 11A, room agent in room 78, will take the position vacated by the new circulation manager.

First Duty Given
The first duty of the new manager will be the collection of about two hundred dollars due on promissory notes for subscriptions. Notes are being sent by all assistants to persons owing money on their subscriptions.

Home room agents also are stressing the fact that all Times subscription payments are due March 31.

Last year every payment on Times subscriptions was made, for the first time in the history of the paper. The new circulation manager expressed her desire to equal this outstanding achievement.

Is Fifty Cents
The fifty cent campaign is being continued until the last of the month. Students may receive the paper the rest of this semester by subscribing now.

The entire student body will be able to purchase an April Fool issue of The Times for a nickel. This paper which is not included in the regular publication schedule of The Times will come out April 11. Every home room agent will take orders for this paper during home room periods April 11. Since the April Fool issue is not on the regular Times schedule no subscribers will receive the paper, only those persons paying a nickel.

Vocational Conference To Be Held April 10

The vocational conference on nursing which was to be held last Monday was postponed to April 10. Mrs. Mary E. Freed, head nurse at the Methodist Hospital, will be the speaker. The conference on teaching, which was scheduled for last Tuesday, will be held April 11. Mr. Merle J. Abbott, superintendent of schools, will be the speaker.

A conference on retail sales was held last Wednesday with Mr. J. L. Mueller from the Lincoln National Life Insurance Company as the speaker.

The conference on law postponed from March 23 was held last Wednesday at the home of the speaker, Mr. Merle Barnes.

So-Si-Y Will Feature Program For Easter

"How Can We Pay Our Debt To Jesus" is the topic of the next So-Si-Y meeting which will be held next Tuesday in the Greeley Room. A program of sacred music will also feature the meeting.

This program is in accordance with Easter and will tie the Easter ideas with the topic. Dixie Lee Hanna, Velma Connett, and Ruth Ellison will give talks on the topic, each taking one main feature of it, namely love, earnestness in purpose, and devotion.

Some of the girls in So-Si-Y will form a choir and contribute the music for the meeting. One of the windows will be decorated to look like a stained glass window.

Dixie Lee Hanna is in charge of the meeting.

Two Students Enter; Eleven Sunder Ties

Two new students have entered the portals of South Side. They are Mary Jane and Betty Jane Talavico, who migrated from Coesse.

There have also been several withdrawals during March. Those students are Helen Ross, who is staying at home, Gloria Spanley went to Florida, Audrey Jefferies has gone to work, Sam Anderson has quit, Robert Hinkle has gone to Logansport, Kathryn Boerger, post-graduate, went to work, Audrey Calder left for Schnectady, Lee Crosey went to Muncie, Dale Gierke has gone to Oak Park, Illinois, Maynard Richardson has quit and Eileen Brockman went to Campbells-ville.

German Club Holds Initiation Potluck Fete

An initiation-potluck was held at the latest meeting of the German Club. The members of the club were assigned different tasks to complete before the next meeting. Marian Miller, Robert Wylie and Helen Kespohl were on the foods committee, and Eileen Hanke, Gene Senseny and Calvin Schulz were on the initiation committee. Refreshments, consisting of sandwiches, baked beans, and Coca-Cola, were contributed by the club members.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

Mr. Sidell's general mathematics classes are studying problems of estate tax, personal property tax, income and special taxes.

The advanced classes in clerical practice of Mr. Furst are now working on projects in indexing and alphabetical filing.

Miss Pocock's English 8 class has begun the study of "Modern Plays."

Mrs. Grace Welty's home room 32 is having discussions about safety in connection with electrical devices in the home. The leaders are Paul Murphy, Lum MacDowell, Louis Miller, Betty Minneker, Keith McPherson and Tom Moorhead.

Mr. Whelan's physical geography classes made observations on the sun March 21. They then made graphs to show the movement of the sun across the sky.

Miss Kiefer's English 8 class is choosing subjects for their themes from written sources. Among those already chosen and approved are the following: "Telescopes and Astronomy," "The Air Hostess," "History of American Music," "Interesting Facts About George Washington," "History of Dancing," "Forestry," "Social Security," "Helen Keller," and "Flood Control."

Those elected in Miss Pocock's home room are: Chairman, Earl Werner, and vice-chairman, Basil Thompson.

In home room 32, the program committee had charge of program which was a game in identifying important people in the world. The chairman was David Slattery.

Imogene Wright has returned to school after an absence of two weeks on account of an appendicitis operation.

The health classes of Miss Crowe have been studying about respiratory system. From nineteen charts sent out by the Anti-Tuberculosis League, the students are studying things about tuberculosis from these isotype charts.

A grade of 100 was attained by Carl Goebel, chemistry 1, and Keith Kilpatrick, chemistry 2, on the mid-term examinations given by Mr. Gilbert to his classes.

In Mr. Post's typing class, the following were awarded white typing ribbons: Ruth Gebhardt, 42 words with no errors; Ilo Baumgardt, 43 words, 4 errors; Vivian Bushore, 41 words, 1 error; Phyllis Sprunger, 42 words, 4 errors; and Caroline Schueler, 49 words, 3 errors.

Mr. Heine's biology 1 class are studying about roots.

Miss Emma Kiefer's home room 58 has a new student in the class, William Storer, from Hutchinson, Minnesota.

In a recent test which Mr. Hull gave his physics 1 class, Bob Fowler received 100, and Gloria Werkman, 90.

The following students in Miss Smeltzley's history classes made A or A- on their reports on Alexander the Great: Charles Beall, Nancy McKay, Roger McVay, Marjorie Wigbel, Betty Ann Bohn, Betty Cowan, Eileen Edner, Kathryn Guild, John Gumpfer, Alene Loesner, Barrie Tremper, Carol Whittern, Dorothy Gildea, David Rea, Albert Verweire.

Jean Thomas, Dale Marschard, and Warren Skele, new students in home room 5, were introduced during the home room period by Dorothy Gildea, Roger McVay, and Kenneth Lampton.

In Miss Rehorst's sewing 1 classes, Gwendolyn Roberts, Marjorie Voltz, and Charlotte Ellerman have already finished their well-made garments. Betty June Franklin, Barbara Stalter, Kathleen Neith and Margaret Kutsch, sewing 2, have also completed their garments. The other girls will keep working hard so that they may have their garments to wear during spring vacation.

The boys taking architectural drawing 1 under Mr. Chappell have finished their preliminary drawings and have started the designs for their house. Each boy makes a complete set of floor plans and a complete set of elevations for the house which he designs.

The highest grades made on a health test over unit three in Miss Edith Crowe's classes were made by Violet Steinbauer, Ed Meyers, Jewel Diehm, and Marcella Driftmeyer.

The boys in Mr. Chappell's mechanical drawing 6 class have completed work on Unit 3 which deals with auxiliary views of revolution and solids. They are beginning Unit 4 which deals with development, conic sections, intersections and penetration.

Miss Fiedler has been ill and confined to her home for the past two weeks.

Last week, Miss Fortney gave a very difficult geometry test to her second semester students in the third and seventh periods. The following students made excellent grades: Hilda Schubert, 100; Frank DuWaldt, Delores Daniels, Martin Gernand and Sarah Jane Makey, 98; the following made 95: Donald Hensch, Janet Holtmeyer, Jean Fortriede, Lois Gumpfer, Bob Hines and Ralph Sebold.

Mr. Whelan's physical geography 1 class recently made a free hand map of Allen County to show the locations of the rivers.

Mr. Gould's botany classes some time ago planted seeds in the greenhouse and are now watching their growth. When they have grown sufficiently, pupils who are interested may take the plants to their homes.

Margaret Heine, a student of Miss Osborne's English 2 class has been ill with the mumps.

In Mr. Walker's marketing classes the following people received 100 on a recent test: Marjorie Jackson, Verlene Wiedelmann, Phyllis Fackler and Mildred Voight.

In Mrs. Rieke's second period class, the students are giving contest speeches. They consist of a five-minute constructive speech and a three-minute rebuttal.

After the exhibition, Miss Smith and Miss Dean's gym classes will play baseball and their dancing classes will make dance note books.

On a recent test given by Mr. Furst to his merchandising 2 class, Dorothy Bloemker and Roseline Newburn made grades of 98. Maxine Althouse and Helen Gysinger made grades of 96 while Albert Ferguson, Ruth King and Patty Lyman made grades of 94.

Mr. Heine's biology 2 class is studying heredity.

Miss Osborne's English 2 classes, periods 3 and 4, are having a contest to see which class will be the first to have completed their outside reading for this semester. At the present time the period 3 class is ahead.

The plane geometry classes of Mr. Sidell are studying quadrilaterals and parallelograms.

The girls in Miss Mellen's classes have had a review recently. Those who received the highest grades are Dorothy Brown, Olive Zahn and Eileen Byer.

Virginia Scherer who is in Miss Covall's typing 2 class qualified for an award for writing 41 words per minute with 95 per cent accuracy.

Pauline Oetting, in Mr. Cook's second period English 8 class, made an unusually fine sketch of the stage for the play, "Caste," which they are studying in class.

The girls in Miss Mellen's home nursing classes have extended their bed practice to making of the bed and changing the linens with a patient in the bed. Girls work in groups of two, one playing the part of patient the other the role of nurse. Those receiving the best grades are Marjorie Schelpher, Mary Whetsel, Marion Feichter and Mary Melching. The girls are graded upon the final result and the time required.

Thespians Give Play At Last Philo Meet

Philo-Thespians were in charge of the last Philo meeting held Monday at 3:45 o'clock in the Greeley Room. The group under the direction of Virginia Shider presented a play, entitled "Our Cousin From Sweden," which was written by Katherine Kavanaugh. Characters were as follows: Karena Shields, Pearl Wallen; Charlotte Mills, Ella Jo Reed; Ann Mills, Shirley Rubin; Hilda, the Irish maid, Dorothy Foellinger; Jeannette Johansen, Edith Summers; Mae Preston, Betty Marquardt; and Gladys Preston, Marian Miller.

Other entertainment was furnished by Elaine Hirschy, who played Chopin's Polonaise in C Sharp Minor. Katharine Beckman, accompanied by Virginia Fleming, sang "Deep Purple" and "Umbrella Man." The whole meeting was arranged by Rebecca Abbott, program chairman.

Spun Glass, Cellulose Discussed By Scouts

Exhibits of spun glass and cellulose as textiles were shown to the clothing group by Mrs. J. M. Purcell at the regular meeting of the Senior Girl Scout Troop No. 41 Wednesday, March 29, in the Greeley Room. After examining the exhibits, the girls discussed them.

Mrs. Walter Flaig and the dramatists personae chose a play which will be presented at the mother-daughter tea on Wednesday, April 26.

In the aviation division, Mr. Purcell explained more fundamentals about airplanes and flying.

Charles Close gave a talk in Miss Oppel's home room on gardening recently. Each spring, Charles ploughs a large plot of ground, plants seeds and tends the garden through the early summer. In the late summer, he is rewarded with tomatoes, corn, peas and potatoes.

In Mr. Makey's English 11 classes, short stories and plays are being finished.

Dorothy Burke, a newcomer to home room 56, from Baltimore, Md., was given an enthusiastic introduction by Reba Coppock.

The semi-annual national, state and city poster contest is now under way, and many students from Miss Dochterman's advanced classes are entering. Some of these are Don Beery, Harold Kitzmiller, Wilber Bengs, Jim Glass and Charles Hall.

The persons making the highest grades in an outside reading test given by Miss Osborne to her English 6 class, period 7, were Ralph Perry and Warren Wyneken.

Carl Goodwin, who is in Miss Covall's home room, gave an interesting talk on the five fundamental principles for the safe use of electricity in the home. Tom Gallmeyer and Paul Geiser are in charge of the safety lessons next Friday.

On a final formula test given by Mr. Welborn to his first period algebra class, 16 passed out of 27. Gloria Kramer made a grade of 100; Betty Wyss, 98, and Robert Grogg received 97.

The students in Mr. Makey's English 8 classes have finished writing 1,200-word themes.

Dr. K. L. Seaman on Flu Complications
The recent Flu epidemic has produced many cases of tonsil, sinus and eye infections, these conditions usually lead to more serious complications such as "rheumatism", organic heart trouble, nervous complications, etc.

It is definitely known that adenoids grow as a result of infected tonsils, no other cause has ever been found.

All medical clinics teach and all doctors know that every case of earache, mastoiditis and most cases of deafness are the result of infection in the throat or nose.

THESE INFECTIONS CAN BE QUICKLY AND SAFELY REMOVED—NO CUTTING—NO HEMORRHAGE METHODS USED IN ALL OUR TREATMENT.

Eddie Duchin Tells Reporter "Stardust" Is His Favorite Hit

By Bob Martin

Once again your roving reporter slips into the make-believe world of life back stage to interview the one man who is known to possess the "magic finger of the keyboard." Getting back-stage before the stage show is over we watch the rest from the wings; and from what we see, our opinion of Mr. Duchin's showmanship has risen to new heights. Some of the outstanding points were a top-notch skating act, "The Top Hatters," Ray and Trent, whose act is something new in acrobatics; then his arrangement of "You Must Have Been a Beautiful Baby" was one of the most clever we've ever heard, and as a finale the orchestra played the requests of the audience.

Conductor Very Amiable
The curtains close and we corner Mr. Duchin, who takes our questioning good naturedly. He was born in Cambridge, Massachusetts, where he attended the Dudley High School.

While he was in college he started his first band. He started his present band in 1931, and it might be noted here that eight of his original band are still with him. His favorite song is a song loved by every Hoosier, "Stardust." Then we asked him his pet peeves, to which he answered, "I believe I have only one, temperament." He likes all sports and he also noted how "basketball crazy" Indiana is. Mr. Duchin's favorite subject is history and he spends quite a lot of his spare time reading biographies and autobiographies. The unit was in Indianapolis and is going to Chicago. The theme song of this famous orchestra is Chopin's Nocturne in E flat.

Mr. Duchin said he could play all instruments—badly. If he plays the other instruments as well as he does the piano, then Webster's definition of the word is wrong—very wrong.

When we asked him about Ted Lewis, who opens this Easter weekend at the Paramount, Mr. Duchin replied that he knew Mr. Lewis personally and he honestly thought he was a great showman and a really fine fellow.

Here is an interesting note. The Duchin rhythm style which starts every number off prompted us to ask Mr. Duchin how it was worked out. Well, much to our surprise, the style did not require hours upon hours of practice to work out and to perfect. No, it just happened. However, we rather imagine it did take time to work into shape.

Comments On Swing
One last question we put to him, and that was what he thought of swing. Swing is all right, he thinks, but it's just like candy—too much is too much.

Here is another sidelight. Mr. Duchin has been contacted to play the part of George Gerschwinn in the motion picture of the life of George Gerschwinn. However, the picture is still in the primary stages, and it might not work out.

Five Archer Students Win In Music Contest

From fifty-five students who entered the eleventh annual regional music contest, five South Side students won. They are William Woodward Newhard, boys' voice; Alice Jean Light, violin; Ellen Harry, piano; Elaine Hirschy, piano; and Marilyn Marie Sondles, piano. Musicians entered both from Fort Wayne and vicinity. Students who were outstanding were chosen from five divisions, boys' voice, girls' voice, cello, violin, and piano.

Indiana University sponsored the contest with Floyd R. Neff in charge. Winners will go to Indiana University Friday, April 17. There they will compete with winners from Indianapolis, Bloomington, and East Chicago. Medals will be given to outstanding performers and those who are seniors who win recognition in the finals. Winners are eligible to compete for a scholarship in Indiana University School of Music.

Catholics Top Whole Nation In Basketball

Irish Bring National Court Title To Fort Wayne And Indiana To Climax Year.

Central Catholic brought honor to their newly established high school by winning not only the Indiana State Catholic crown but the National Catholic crown. Ten courageous boys comprised the burning squad by whose efforts the Irish downed all comers this season with the exception of the South Side Archers, Central Tigers, and Decatur Catholic.

The Irish hit South Side when the Archers were going full blast and fell by a margin of 10 points. Central's Tigers, sparked by Hank Kulesza, also proved a little too much for the Irish when Kulesza broke loose for a total of 19 points.

Decatur succeeded in handing the Central Catholic five its third and last defeat of the season by staging a great rally to beat the Champs in the final quarter. Central Catholic has won all the remaining games scheduled and has gone undefeated through the State Catholic and National Catholic tournament.

List Team Members

The ten men that carried the Irish colors so far are Stanczak, Gorman, Bitler, Boedecker, Dehner, Heiny, Klotz, Maxwell, Falvy, and Leto. There are those who thought that Central Catholic was not the ball team to bring home the bacon but there seemed to be no doubt that team was tough when they went through tournament play scoring an average of 40 points for the five games.

Ed Stanczak was the star individual player of the tournament. Always a demon under the basket, Stanczak used his 6 feet 2 inch stature to good advantage to dump in eight field goals and to shoot for his excellent play. Stanczak was given the Mundelein Cup and chosen as variety center on the all-star tournament squad.

Although the final score was not exceptionally close, the game was anything but lopsided. Leo of Chicago put everything they had into the game in an effort to down the Irish. The quarter scores were 8 to 3; 13-12 Central Catholic; 26-21 Central Catholic; and 44-37 Central Catholic. Had the Leo quintet been able to bottle up big Ed Stanczak they might have been able to match baskets with the Irish; as it was they knotted the score three times but were unable to forge any distance ahead of the Irish.

Greatest C. C. Team

This team was undoubtedly the greatest team Central Catholic has ever produced and proved its greatness by bringing to Fort Wayne and to Indiana its first National basketball championship and to Fort Wayne its first state Catholic basketball title.

In every respect winning a National Catholic tournament is as great an accomplishment as winning a State Public School Championship, from the standpoint of teams to be met.

Counting the tournament games won, Central Catholic won 25 of 29 games this season, a grand record for any squad.

Over a thousand Fort Wayne fans attended the game at Chicago and saw the Irish rise to glory. Coach Levick's squad, showing evidence of good coaching, played both a fast break and set game against the Leo squad.

All spectators who saw the tournament said that Central Catholic completely dominated the whole affair. Here's more power to a real Irish team who deserve all the praise given them and whose brand of basketball dazzled the eyes of a state long known as the home of basketball.

Girls Cannot Divert Pole Vaulter Altman From Love Of Sport

Daddy, what's that man doing way up there in the air? Why that's Arden Altman, sonny; he's the pole vaulter at South Side.

This might be a typical conversation of a father and his son in the stadium some afternoon. This Altman lad is reported to have Hicksville, Ohio, blood. He moved to Fort Wayne shortly after birth. When he became the age of six years, he entered the portals of James Smith school. While in the seventh grade he decided to try out for the basketball team, and although he didn't make the first team, he was an able substitute.

The basketball coach asked Altman if he wouldn't try out for the track team. After pondering a while, he went out and tried several events before he decided that he was best suited for the pole vault. He also ran in the high hurdles and on the 440-yard relay team.

When Arden entered South Side, he at once started training for the track squad. He trained all winter and thus developed the necessary muscles for vaulting. As a result, he won the sectional pole vaulting event at North Side last year with a vault of 11 feet 3 inches. This is the highest that Arden has been able to vault up to this time.

His ambition is to become a good vaulter at Purdue University, the college which he hopes to attend. His favorite subject in school is mathematics. When asked how he liked the new track coach, Mr. George Collier, he replied, "He's the tops; I ought to learn something under his coaching."

Arden has earned 140 points toward a varsity letter and hopes to make the necessary 200 during the coming track season. Track has been the only sport that Arden has participated in so far at South Side, but he hopes to come out for football next fall. When asked what he thought about the girls of South Side, he replied, "I don't have time for girls during track season and I am out for track the year around."

If you haven't met this South Side sportsman you should really do so, because he is a real friend.

Would you like to visit a London night club, Old China, India, San Francisco—in fact, take a trip around the entire world in just one evening? Then come on the "World Cruise." You'll thrill at the beautiful girls of the South Seas and want to join in the fun when you see the Yam! Don't miss the "World Cruise," the annual spring show of the physical education department. The boat sails the evening of March 31, so don't delay in buying your passport!

It's terrible how some of the upperclassmen try to make some of the underclassmen believe most anything. You should have heard Gwen Roberts trying to convince some girl in the exhibition that she would have to buy a ticket even though she was participating in it. Shame on you, Gwen!

Hear ye! Hear ye! The show is about to begin! Again the time for the annual G. A. A. exhibition has rolled around, with a bigger and better performance than has ever been presented. You won't want to miss seeing the "Yam," the "Top Hat Girls," or the graceful skaters, to say nothing of the many beautiful costumes worn by equally beautiful girls. Make it a date to attend the "World Cruise" tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, for only 25 cents. We're sure you'll enjoy it!

Our Easter eggs, chocolate bunnies and white lilies go this week to that tiny, indispensable senior musician, Velma Lehman. She has contributed much to the success of the dancing classes and the G. A. A. exhibitions ever since she entered these portals as a greenie. Besides her accomplishments on the piano, she has shown great skill in dancing, as well as playing on the accordion. She has been working tirelessly on tomorrow night's exhibition, doing her part as usual to make it a grand hit. So hats off to that senior among seniors, Velma Lehman!

Mickey Connett proved to be an invaluable inspiration to the girls in charge of the costume department for the exhibition. His very presence seemed to spur them on to better things. It must be grand to have what it takes to draw the attention of so many girls? Nice cat you have there, Velma!

A special invitation to join the G. A. A. is hereby extended to Max Spencer and Joe Bex, who seem to be very much interested in certain activities offered by this thriving organization. These boys were adding to the general confusion in the G. A. A. office the other night after school by securing two ping-pong paddles and a ball and proceeding to have a game right in the midst of things. Could it be that ping-pong is only a minor attraction, considering the many good-looking girls that were present?

It seems that Hazel Perry forgets she's a senior or else she just naturally likes to be around the freshmen. Hazel almost begged Miss Dean to allow her to appear with them for their Totem picture. No sophisticated seniority about her. Maybe that's why we all like her so well.

Again we must admit that we are ready to jerk this paper from the machine and go on our way; but we cannot before we make this last parting thought, which we know you are tired of hearing. Why won't more girls contribute to this column? We have the green box outside the gym office especially for your articles and should appreciate it if more girls would find time to drop in any information they may know about any of our girls in the physical education department, including the G. A. A. We promise that we will never speak of this again if the box is full next week!

We wish to thank "Miss Pat" for her good wishes for our spring show. It's good to hear from you again, Miss Patterson, and we only wish that you could be here to see it.

Second orders for G.A.A. pins will be sent in this week. All girls who wish to place an order for one of these grand emblems, should turn her money into the office by tomorrow night.

Have you seen Betty Porter and Bernadine Bender present their newest version of the modern "Romeo and Juliet"? They gave their performance in the shower room (of all places!) and the act was really a wow!

Soon the baseball season will be here again, and watch out for some of our mighty sluggers. Girls like Margery Price, Pauline Oetting, Dorothy Bloemker, Donna Dennis, Wilma Carriger, and Hazel Perry can really send that ball a-sailing!

Tumbling Season Comes To A Close

G. A. A.'s Finish Tumbling; Eighty Get 100 Points; Nineteen, 75; Ten, 50; Six Get 25

G. A. A. tumbling season has ended for another year and those in Miss Alice Dean's beginners class have received many points.

Those who went to the required number of meetings received 100 points. They are Irene Meyer, Betty Medsker, Jacqueline McKay, Betty Mann, Lanora Meyer, Anabelle Masterson, Eleanor Muntzinger, Mary Menze, Clara Makey, Betty Marquardt, Audrey Mutschlecker, Sarah Jane Makey, Gertrude Merkel, Geneva Martin, Janet Michel, Kathleen Neith, Jon Neith, Francis Nash, Julia Prince, Bernadine Pressler, Betty Penter, Phyllis Renkin, Delaine Rose, Norma Russell, Betty Stein, Rose Steimen, Jeanne Smith, Jean Squires, Maxine Sterling, Lucille Scheumann, Carolyn Stalter, Sylvia Shely, Betty Thiele, Marjorie Voltz, Maxine Volz, Marjorie Van Curen, Norma Whitesel, Eva Jean Wylie, Rosanna Weston, Pauline Werling, Rose Wyss, Kathryn Zaegel, Pauline Zaegel and Helen Anderson.

Also Receive 100 Points

Others who did the same and got the coveted 100 points were Marjorie Boese, Betty Bligh, Betty Baker, Bernadine Bender, Joan Blum, Elaine Berger, Delores Bedenhorn, Helen Beery, Dorothy Beyra, Margaret Calkins, Phyllis Clark, Mary Alice Denten, Florence Rickmeyer, Myrtle Ernst, Helen Fry, Alice Fisher, Carolyn Fisher, Virginia Gray, Peggy Greaney, Ruth Galbreath, Frances Gross, Violet Halbreath, Virginia Goetlein, Audrey Hall, Betty Hangan, Lois Holzworth, Thompson Hall, Dorothy Lou Hoelle, Ila Hirschman, Alice Flenke, Wilma Kellogg, Martha Jane Krauskoph, Betty Kammeyer, Elizabeth Kelso, Dorothy Lankenau and Katherine Lahman.

Nineteen persons earned 75 points toward their letter or numerals. Those persons are Lois Bremer, Marjorie Boese, Barbara Brown, Peggy Berning, Marion Feichter, Peggy Faux, Phyllis Fenster, Dorothy Herman, Phyllis Hoppe, Nancy Hess, Martha Hart, Marie Lebanoff, Gloria Orr, Neva Robel, Agnes Ruch, Jean Sheets, Helen Underwood and Olive Zurburg.

Few Receive 50 Points

Still less was the number who ended the season with 50 points. They are Margaret Brown, Lois Campbell, Ruth Woehla, Violet Ehrman, Doris Feichter, Betty Littlefield, Marilyn Loomis, Mary Murchland, Phyllis Orr and Marjorie Rieneke.

There were some who for some reason or other missed out a few times but they at least earned 25 points. They are Bertha Murphy, Mary Parker, Marilyn Sappington, Pat Ehle, Neva Kirk and Eleanor Lambert.

Dallas Zuber King Of Drop 'Em In-ers Of Mural Net Play

Dallas Zuber today wears the crown as the king of the intramural netters. Dallas scored 96 points to lead the intramurals; however, he had a hard fight to obtain the spring crown. For the first two months of the season Tom Brower, a teammate of Zuber, led the scorers. At the finish Tom was but four points behind Zuber with 92 points. Last year a heavyweight, Harry Diem, won the scoring title.

In third place this year was Ronald Duiser, a middleweight. Ronald scored 53 points to warrant his ranking. Dick Gettys, of the Black Hacks, finished in fourth place with 40 points. The fifth and sixth ranking scorers were Colicho and Springer of the S. O. M. A. C.

The intramural scoring race this year was not quite such a battle; that is, from second place on. The first two boys were close to each other all season, but as a whole the race was not very interesting. Some forty points separated the first two scorers from the rest of the field.

The final standings of the twenty leading scorers are listed below.

Player, Team	Points
1. Zuber, F.O.P.	96
2. Brower, F.O.P.	92
3. R. Duiser, Flashers	53
4. R. Gettys, Black Hacks	40

Track Point Getter Is Expected Role Of 'Swift' Arnold

Now that the cloud of dust that the basketball season stirred up is clearing, our undivided attention is given to track and our track star, "Gone With The Wind" Arnold. "Swift" was born in our fair city on March 4, 1922, and received his preliminary teaching at South Wayne and Harrison Hill grade schools.

"Swift" is now under our new and able coach, George Collier. When asked what he thought of our new coach, he said, "I think he is a swell guy, but surely makes us guys work hard."

Breaks Two Records

Last year Allison broke two records, one in the N. E. I. C. meet and one in the city meet in the low hurdles. Besides running the low hurdles, he also runs the 440- and 880-yard sprints, and he also broad jumps.

Besides being outstanding in track, Allison is as outstanding in his scholastic work, as he has been named to the National Honor Society. Some of the clubs he is in at present are Radio Club, Lettermen's Club, Airplane Club, Stamp Club, band, Forum, and Extemp.

Hopes To Attend Purdue

After graduating from high school, Allison hopes to go to Purdue and study aeronautical engineering. While attending Purdue, he hopes to make the track team and join just as many clubs as he did in high school. Allison has a bright future in store for himself but one thing is darkening it, and that is that he is in the doghouse with his favorite girl. Upon asking her name, he replied, "I can't tell you her name because if I did, I would never get out of the doghouse."

When asked how he became the star he is today in track, the 5 feet, 10 inch and 145-pound man said: "When I flew my gas models, I had to chase them for miles; I guess this is what helped me to be a fair runner." So ladies and gents, in case you see a man running down the street with his head facing the sky, you will know that he is not crazy but it is just "Swift, Gone With The Wind" Arnold getting in training for track season.

Teacher Changes Office

Mr. Benjamin Null has had a change in his office. His office was just a small room across from Mrs. Alda Jane Carson's room, which is number 35. His new room is about three times as large as the old one and is across from Mr. Herman O. Makey's room, number 72.

Senior G. A. A. Girl Both Sportswoman, And Economist

A sophisticated senior, a versatile sportswoman, and a competent home economist—what more could you ask for in a young lady? All of these admirable qualities are exemplified by G. A. A.'er extraordinary, Marjorie Schelper.

The only regretful mention we have to make of her is that unfortunately, since she is a 12A, she will vacate South Side all too soon to make her way in the business world. Marjorie has taken a four-year commercial course here to prepare for this venture. Perhaps that is why she has participated in G. A. A.—to alleviate the mixture of facts, figures, and stuff which (so we are told) one's mind is pressed in South Side's commercial course.

Nevertheless, her entry into athletics has been whole-hearted, and Marjorie has acquired a name for herself in speedball, hockey, volleyball, tumbling, basketball, baseball, and track.

Notwithstanding the above business preparation, "Midge" would like to turn her hand to owning and operating a beauty parlor. Reading and such outdoor sports as roller skating also entice her.

More technical facts: Birthplace, Fort Wayne; date of birth, March 15, 1921; grade school, James H. Smart; has numerals, letter, and 2,000 points; favorite subject, home economics; favorite teacher, Miss Smith.

Her favorite radio programs are the Kraft Music Hall and the Chase and Sanborn hour; she thinks David Niven and Priscilla Lane are tops in Hollywood; she favors shades of blue and green.

Dislikes Two-faced People

Two-faced people contrive to Marjorie, as to many other people, a major pet peeve. Chocolate cake, according to "Speed" (her other nickname) is the most delicious food in existence. Liver and onions are very distasteful. She selects Don Beery from our Green brigade as her favorite basketball player.

In general she admires the type of boy who is straightforward, honest, neatly dressed, and courteous—in other words, the perfect gentleman. She also admires the flyer, Jacqueline Cacehan, and she is greatly interested in aeronautics and horsemanship. "Dawn Patrol," "The Citadel," and Herbie Kay respectively reign in her estimation as the prominent movie, book, and orchestra leader of the year.

Large Number To Take Trip To Washington

Thirty-one North And South Siders Are Listed; Will Tour Capital, Annapolis.

Thirty-one students from North Side and South Side will take a trip to Washington during Spring vacation.

Their tour will take in some of the well-known buildings of the nation's capitol, Washington, D. C., and will also include a side trip to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland, and tour of the home of the first president of the United States, George Washington. Miss Rosemary Harvey and several other chaperones will accompany the students.

To Visit Buildings

The tourists will reach Washington Monday morning after leaving here Sunday, April 3. Places of interest which the group will visit include the Department of Justice, the Embassies and Legations, the zoological gardens of Rock Creek, the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington Cemetery, Alexandria, Mount Vernon, the Washington Monument and the aircraft buildings.

At Annapolis the travelers will see the cadets in their daily drill. The Congressional Library will also be toured by the group. On Wednesday afternoon the travelers will go to the galleries of the House and Senate as guests of Congressman Gillie. Lunch will be served at the capitol.

Reservations by students and others were turned in Monday by Miss Harvey. Mr. W. R. Hall, traveling passenger agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad, will be present personally to conduct the tour.

South Siders and North Siders who are going are as follows: South Side, Betty Daniels, Helen Banks, Margaret Rapp, Eddie Reeves, Kathryn Bippner, Marian Miller, Marjorie Butler, Dorothy Bloemker, Betty Showalter, Delilah Shaffer, Emelyn Remmel and Kathryn Guild; North Side, Rose Steiber, Shelly Wagner, Ellen Kattell, Bill Gerhardt, Isobel Fraser, Dick Till, Jackie Huguemard, Eleanor Fritz, Don McPherson, Paula Bailey, Pat Sweet, Mrs. R. D. Benninghoff, Dan Benninghoff, Art and Don Aiken, Jean Scott, Betty Gray and Bob Richardson.

Sweeping Four State Titles In Week-End

speech, a tour of the campus was made by all-most all. Then for the business at hand—the contests. A mass meeting was held by judges, coaches and contestants. After instructions were issued, the semi-final round was held. The two winners in each contest of each division were to take part in the finals. After that, all were to assemble in the auditorium for the second time when the trophies would be awarded.

Four Win Out

Of the South Side contestants, Bob Safer, Helen Wiehe, Jeanette Warren, and Bill Newhard marched on through state. Only two, June McAlister and Bruce Bradbury, missed being in the finals by one point, as each came in third. Then the finals were held—the six trophies awarded—five to Fort Wayne students, and four of them to South Siders. One by one, the first-place figures holding laurel wreaths and the second-place loving cups were given. To Bill Newhard and Bob Safer first in oratorical and dramatic declamations, and to Jeanette Warren and Helen Wiehe, second with humorous and dramatic deliveries, long and hearty ovations were sent up. From Central of Fort Wayne, Tom O'Rourke won second in the oratorical division, and Eva Causey of Indianapolis took first in the humorous division.

But more than the state contests, all four of the finalists who swept two-thirds of the Franklin honors, are eligible for National Competition in Beverly Hills, California, this coming June.

Visit Capitol City

Taking their honors with them, the orators supreme sped spasmodically into Indianapolis. Lunching at the Seville, the four winners lined their trophies upon a table top. After dining de-luxuriously, the happy hicks from a city of 122,000, stared amazed at the Circle at the core of a city of 300,000. When all of a sudden, some one remembered that their trophies were left at the Seville. After plucking their loot, the seven Archers darted between automobiles, busses, and an occasional kiddy-car, to wend their way to the state capitol building, where "education" went into their midst. Dodging the Indiana state police, Helen, Jeanette, June and L. R. (Lone Ranger) Bruce, found additional pleasure in gazing at hotels—and the people in them.

All the while, however, the state basketball tourney was drawing to a close, and all could not but recall the events of a year ago. Heading for home, the naming of Mrs. Rieker's car, "Mary," dedicated to a certain oration, was made.

By The-Poll-of-the-Month Editor

If Maxwell Stroud, alias "Jack" or "Buck" Benny, were to visit South Side this second, he would undoubtedly be greeted with an ovation second to none, except the one given the State Basketball Champs, for his work in making the Jello program a success.

For the Jello program with Maxwell, Andy Devine, Mary Livingston, and the rest, ranked first in the Poll-of-the-Month conducted by The Times among South Side's two thousand students.

But close behind in second place slipped Don Ameche, Charlie McCarthy and Co., Dorothy Lamour, and the host of others that have created and kept the goodwill of the Chase and Sanborn Sunday evening program. Helping to round out the big triumvirate, Kay Kayser's College of Musical Class and Dance polled third place among the prize-winners, hitting the 278 mark.

Baby Snooks probably put the Good News program into fourth place, for any South Sider cannot but appreciate the human qualities in Fannie Brice's creation.

People can have what they will, but a well-filled hour of drama or light, frothy comedies with leading Hollywood and Broadway stars in the leads will always find some part in a well-balanced radio diet. And in this case, the Lux Radio Theatre conducted by Cecil B. DeMille every Monday night completed the bill of fare.

The homespun humor that made the Jones Family and Judge Hardy's Children successes, came proudly to the front when One Man's Family copped sixth place with an even 100 tallies.

Bing Crosby and Bob Burns in the Kraft Music Hall rated seventh and held up the long parade of Hollywood stars that have gripped a majority of the leading net-work programs.

The first tie of the poll occurred when a short half-hour program broadcast on Sunday nights chilled its way into eighth place. For The Hermit, broadcast from a Detroit station and operating on just a sectional scale, tied with Fibber McGee's fibs for major honors.

Sweeping into the South Side sweepstakes, the Lucky Strike Hit Parade found favor in ninth place, while in a tie for tenth position, Bob Hope's Pepsodent show and Gang Busters vied for honors.

It is remarkable to note that Sunday and Wednesday occupy a tie for first place with three programs each, concerning the days on which the leading programs are broadcast. And that Tuesday ranks second with two shows, and all other days have one.

French Club To Meet With Central Group

A joint meeting with the French Club of Central will be held in place of the regular one by French Club Thursday, March 30, at 4 o'clock in the Greeley Room. Plans are being made to have a travel film of France shown.

Several representatives of Marionette Club will explain the history of the art of puppet-making, and will give a demonstration in the form of a short skit.

At the last meeting held March 16 discussions led by three of its members comprised the program. Their topics were construction of the great cathedrals by Annette Snoke, the crusades by Virginia Porter, and the system of Feudalism by Margaret Null. All three speeches carried out the general theme of the meeting, famous projects of the middle ages.

the other side of the room between Miss Dean, some dancers, and their costumes. Around the table in the center of the room, office helpers are busily stitching away on costumes depicting among other things Ireland, Spain, and Hawaii. The steady beat of the drum from the central gymnasium announces the Hawaiian number. A straggly pale "Hawaiian maiden" sings "Moon of Manakoa" while other pale "natives" sit back in circles and with graceful movements accompany the song.

Over in the handball court comes the sound of smart rat-a-tap-taps, as the members of the dance club go through their routine for the "High Hat Tap." All over the school there is no escape from the unceasing preparation of the great event. The girls may be tired, but in the short rest periods between practices they pass it off lightly as they inform us "That is the price we pay for fame!"

U. S. A. To Hold Party For April Fool's Day

U. S. A. Club will have an April Fool's Party tonight in the Voorhees Room. The happenings at the party will be a complete surprise to the members. Members are asked to note the change in the rooms.

The committee in charge is under the head of Irene Franke. Assisting Irene is Elinor Muntzinger, Marilyn Sappington, Jane Cocks, Dolores Reiter and Bernadine Bender.

P.T.A. Will Sponsor Band Concert Soon

At the Parent-Teacher Association executive board meeting held March 27, it was decided that the P.T.A. will sponsor a band concert. The date will be set later. The P.T.A. wishes to thank The Times for congratulating the new elected officers of the Parent-Teacher Association.

Senior Play Tickets Are Now Being Sold

Tickets for this year's senior play, "Mrs. Partridge Presents," which is to be held in the school's gymnasium Saturday night, April 15, were distributed to members of the cast Tuesday evening by Miss Margery Suter, director. Reserved tickets on the gym floor cost fifty cents, while seats in the bleachers are sold at the general admission price of thirty-five cents. The ticket sale will go on for the rest of this week up to the night of performance.

Yam Is Next

The Yam is the next number on the program, and it will be presented by M. Hoover, L. Greiner, M. Wolf, J. Cleaver, M. Quackenbush, E. Helms, M. Griffith, R. Laudadio, A. Randol, L. Campbell, D. Ulrich, A. Smith, B. Stover, G. Roberts and H. Perry. Following is the Irish Lilt, which is to be given by J. Cleaver, L. Greiner, M. Quackenbush, H. Crago, L. Campbell, M. Seemeyer, B. Nichols, M. Stough, P. Fager and T. Draper. The Irish Lilt is to be followed by net games in which the girls from Miss Dean's and Miss Smith's gym classes again take part.

Miss Dean's dance classes will then entertain with some skating. The skaters include J. Cleaver, J. Simmers, M. Hull, M. Quackenbush, L. Campbell, M. Barrett, B. Porter, L. Holloway, F. Gumpner, M. Crago, M. Brandyberry, J. Michel, M. Stough, B. Nichols, L. Schaefer, V. Rush, T. Draper, P. Fager, L. Greiner and M. Russ. A combined group of Miss Smith's and Miss Dean's dancers will present a modern dance, Valse Mystique. Those taking part are H. Perry, E. Helms, C. Marshall, A. Johnson, B. Bireley, G. Roberts, E. Eidner, E. Ferguson, W. Pierce, M. O'w, M. Roberts, P. Sanford, J. Blum, L. Bloemker, G. Kramer, M. Quackenbush, L. Greiner, B. Nichols, P. Fager, T. Draper, M. Crago, M. Stough, J. Cleaver, D. Burke and P. Fensler.

Present Spanish Dance

The modern dance will be followed by a Spanish Dance given by eight of the Dance Club members. In contrast, the Spanish Dance will be followed by a Tyrolean Waltz Clog presented by C. Marshall, B. Stover, A. Johnson, J. Michel, J. Blum, N. Haley, D. Kimmell, D. Jagers, L. Bloemker, G. Kramer, J. Van Pelt and G. Babcock. Miss Smith's dancing classes will then be featured in the Mazurka. Girls featured in this are M. Hoover, H. Perry, M. Griffith, E. Helms, B. Stover, P. Fager, L. Campbell, G. Roberts, M. Roberts, B. Bireley, M. Kimmell and E. Eidner. Miss Smith's second and third period classes will participate in an act depicting Chinese coolies and maidens. Girls turning Chinese for this are E. Helms, B. Stover, A. Johnson, J. Michel, B. Nichols, N. Haley, M. Kimmell, C. Marshall, M. J. Hale, M. Sondles, E. Kiessling, G. Hanke, C. Whittem, W. Beckman, A. Longworth, E. Lehman, K. Perry, L. Bloemker, G. Kramer, G. Babcock and D. Jagers.

A tumbling act will then be presented by both the beginning and the advanced tumblers. The beginning tumblers are R. Spore, S. J. Makey, E. Kelso, V. Gray, G. Orr, B. Hargan, A. Fisher, H. Marschall, D. Dieler, C. Fisher, F. Shiner, R. Stemen, M. Volz, M. Ernst, D. Rose, M. Sterling, B. Thiele, E. Boerger, R. Galbreath, V. Galbreath, B. Pressler, W. Kellogg and P. Orr. Janis Tremper, 9B, Enjoys Talking With Mr. Albert Spalding

By Janis Tremper

The holiday on last Monday resulting from the Central Catholic victory celebration was doubly pleasant for me. In addition to the unexpected freedom from school I also had the pleasure of meeting and talking with Mr. Albert Spalding, world famous violinist, who played a concert at the Shrine theater Monday night.

When my father and I entered the hotel where he was staying, we found that we were a few minutes early for the appointment and thought that we would have to wait. However, the first person we saw at the desk was the great violinist. He was inquiring about trains leaving for Chicago, and told the clerk that he felt it would be impossible for him to sleep in the hotel because of the noise from the celebration. Later on during his conversation he said that while he was interested in young people he thought that their celebrations should not be destructive, but organized. I have since wondered how he slept, for the first train he could get to Chicago after his concert was very early Tuesday morning.

Albert Spalding looks like a typical business man. He is tall, slender, with dark hair and a ruddy complexion. He has a very engaging smile, and talks rapidly and constantly, but he did not monopolize the conversation at any time.

Mr. Spalding discussed music generally with my father and Mr. Gaston Bailhe, who was also present. He said that a taste for music must be developed just as a desire for reading must be acquired. He spoke highly of the Fort Wayne Civic Symphony Orchestra and its value to the city. He said that he especially enjoyed chamber music. He talked of his student days in Paris, and told us something of his debut.

Although he speaks rapidly it is a real pleasure to listen to the conversation of this great artist. His music has carried him to cities all over the world and his experience and knowledge is reflected in his manner and way of talking. Albert Spalding is a man of greatest distinction.

Moltzberger. Pupils in Mr. Murch's classes mimeographed the programs, and decorations were furnished by the Wranglers and Mr. O. W. Braungart of the Wabash Railroad. The office girls assisted in making the costumes and assisted in the general preparations. Albert Ferguson, Walter Straight, Tom Gallmeyer and Bill Reithmiller are in charge of the lighting.

SCALP HUNTERS SNATCH SNIDER

“Calamity Jane” Carson Still Indian Killing

Overtakes Redskins Riding
In Ford V8 And Rapidly
Kills All Three Of Them

Succeeds In Killing Off Three Indians

Receives An Offer From The Ole Rocking Chair's Got Me Undertaking Place

In another rousing Indian fight last Tuesday, “Calamity Jane” Carson picked off three more fugitives from a tepee. Once a week “Calamity Jane” tries to end one or more Indians, as the case may be, to the not too happy hunting ground (not to happy because the CCC boys have not replanted any trees and the Indians therefore can't play wood tag). She does this to keep her shootin' eye in practice.

This week “Calamity” more or less hit the jackpot, pullin' in three instead of only one or two. It seems that these Indians happened to be riding the range in a Ford V8, which can't compare in speed to Calamity Jane who is the fastest thing on two legs this side of Snakeskin Creek.

Jane was comin' in to town to renew her supply of shoe strings, and when she saw the Indians, and immediately decided to get in a little target practice. Since she believes in the old proverb, work your way up from the top, Calamity started picking off moosehairs at two miles. Then she shot off the suspenders and ventilated the Indians hair oil, which they were wearing at the time; because as she put it, “They were getting a little hot under the collar.”

Then Calamity took time out to read the latest copy of The Gappy Gulch Gazette, which she happened to be carrying with her. After she read some of the stories, she was so un-nerved, that her next shot slipped a bit, and she killed one of the Indians before she was through with her target practice, which she immediately started again.

However, she was still off because she was trying the overlapping grip and immediately developed a slice. Then she changed back to her old grip and began to get results again. She shaved one of the two remaining Indians, and then got thirsty and decided to finish off the job quickly so that she could go straight to town.

Once having come to this conclusion she shot the two Indians with a half-nelson shot, this being her specialty in which the bullet skids around the victim's neck before finally entering the body and allowing the gore to flow.

After she had arrived in town, it has been rumored, she received another offer from The Ole Rocking Chair's Got Me Undertaking Establishment, “we pickle anything.” For many years the town's leading undertaking parlor has been trying to get Calamity to furnish them regularly with “preserves.”

So far, Calamity has always refused the offers, because the work was too boring. However, if the

“Hairless Joe” Gilbert Taken For Bad Crime

Sheriff Snider And Deputies Perform Arrest; Suspect
Denies Candy Snatching

“Hairless Joe” Gilbert was recently arrested by Sheriff Snider and several of his deputies for one of the worst crimes ever committed within the confines of Snakeskin County. When first picked up, “Hairless Joe” steadfastly denied having anything to do with the disappearance of quantities of candy from the babies of this end surrounding communities.

For some time the “small fry” of this region have been loudly and disturbingly complaining about their numerous misfortunes. It seems that as soon as they get any candy at all, no matter what kind it may be, they are followed by a certain person who, when the opportunity presents itself, takes the children's candy.

After several hair-raising encounters with this unmasked menace, the kiddies of Gappy Gulch got up in arms and determined to do something about the disreputable conditions under which their life-line (peppermint stick candy) was leaving the premises of their baby carriages.

In a short time an entire posse was organized and on the trail of “Hairless Joe”, who was the logical suspect because of his love of candy, especially peppermint sticks. Before long the posse had surrounded and captured “Hairless Joe”, who then reposed in the town jug.

After spending several days in captivity, “Hairless Joe” requested some equipment from Rears and Sebeck, which turned out to be an outfit for an amateur chemist. After several minor experiments, none of which turned out, “Hairless Joe” asked for one small piece of candy with which to conduct an experiment. With the deputies looking on, “Hairless Joe” started in on this experiment. His purpose was to find out what candy was made of, but, after several unsuccessful trials, “Hairless” had to give this task up as one too tough for him.

Daddy Davis' Dive And Den To Stage Revue Featuring “Dopey” Dochterman And Co.

Coming in person to the stage of the Daddy Davis' Dive and Den, “Dopey” Dynamic Dochterman, the versatile snake charmer from the blue grass country, will be engaged in Gappy Gulch starting Friday night in an all new revue.

Featured with “Daddy” are Hot Lips Jeanette Warren and “Ozzie” Gunzenhauser who will perform in the sensational apache dance a la sliver.

Dopey has traveled the country, even as far as Jasper Junction in search of talent to bring to Gappy Gulch the best that she can display (?). Dopey herself plans to do the Woo-Woo Wiggle, an amazing series of contortions that she just picked up!

For the first time since Custer's last stand and Sitting Bull's last squat, there has never before appeared such an array of splendor and “culture” on the American stage. Critic as far as Belchville have paid as high as $.02 to see the startling revue.

Dopey starts her dance with a few “aerial twists” and an occasional “drop kick” just to get things started. Then, settling down to business, she stands straight before the audience giving them a perfect chance to toss

Tugboat Roxy Harvey Lost In Seventh Sea

Bell Of Gappy Gulch Tested

Chaw & Spit; Yahoo!

Tugboat Harvey missing at sea, oh how that effects the hearts of some of the Gulch's most prominent bachelors for Tugboat was the belle of the Gulch. All the men rushed for her (for her money). She was the most envied by all the Gulch girls at the town saloon. She spent every night she was in the Gulch at the saloon giving the men thrills by showing them how she could pour moonshine in her stomach by the barrel, but better than that Tugboat could spit tobacco better than any other man in the whole Gulch. She was known for her Triple-Boomerang Curve. She would line three saloon bartenders up in a row and then bite off a generous size hunk of tobacco and after chewing it for several minutes and working up a nice cud she would let forth her wad and it would curve in and out around the three bartenders and after it had passed the third man it would obediently hurry back to Tugboat's mouth where it would immediately enter and she would commence the chawing of it. Once while performing this spectacular feat, however, Tugboat's wad curved the wrong way and hit one of the bartenders directly in the mouth and the poor guy died of lockjaw.

But alas all of these days are gone forever for Tugboat is lost somewhere on our spacious ocean. You see Tugboat decided to join the navy and see the world, but when she got to the city, much to her dismay she found that women couldn't join the navy and so she was sunk, for being without sufficient funds she was unable to carry on. She then began to muse about the seaside saloons where she entertained the sailors with her old tricks. She flirted with all the sailors and became every sailor's girl friend. Then after a year of playing around Tugboat decided to pick up some rich sea captain, so one dreary day a rough old sea captain rushes into a saloon where she happens to be performing and she immediately hooks him. Then determined to travel and see the world she persuades her hubby to take her along on his numerous journeys through the seven seas. She visited many countries. Once while in Africa she thrilled the natives through her interpretation of the Suzy-Q, and

T. B. Tests Result In Senior Camp

300 Oxygen Tents Comprise The Camp; “T.B. Tin Tribune” Is Paper Published By Campers

Coughing their decrepit ways to success, 300 once sturdy seniors of the Muchtoo High School gaily pitched a picturesque reservation of oxygen tents on the outskirts of Gappy Gulch. These new abodes were set up after some T. B. (too bad) tests were offered to the upperclass brigade, which in the 300 cases proved that so many senior people weren't what they were cracked up to be, although they are cracked up.

A high-light of the camping troop will be the T. B. Tin Tribune published by “Hop-A-Lung” Max Spencer, whose motto is, “If you don't like our idea, then solung.” Circulation manager will be “Ima Nemic” Mueller. Together they hope to make the Tribune fairly take your breath away. “It's already taken mine,” quotes Max between wheezes. I. N. Mueller is planning to use the money which they earn for the installation of an iron lung in everybody's tent.

Another excellent feature of the reservation will be the A Capathetic Choir, under the direction of “Corny” Magley. They will use as a theme the beautiful little tune, “Eureka, Foul Breath,” or “Not a Cough in a Carload.”

Editor Spencer says that those desirous of membership should mail to him any steel top off of any Lincoln Zopher. And he will send in return his famous novel, “Death Is a Permanent Thing” or “Stay Out of Them Swinging Doors.” If you still want to join, after reading this touching volume, you may then ring for the nearest ambulance. Bring your own wheel chair. Get on and ride!

“Hold Tight” Harvey

Roxy Harvey
“Hold Tight” Harvey, the cigar smoking belle of Gapper Gulch, has been missing at sea for the last several days. This snap shows the last sight of her as seen by a bird in the air. Roxy, as she is affectionately known by her friends—behind her back, is shown astride a whale named Oscar. Oscar suddenly descended, and Roxy had bargained with Davy Jones to rent space in his locker. Roxy at the present time is awaiting some cute looking mer-he-maid to elope with.

Buck Buchholz Holds Up A Stagecoach

“Sticks ‘Em Up” With Bean
Shooter; Passengers All
Give Accounts Of Event

“Buck Buchholz Rides Again.”

Just as the Clara Schmidt, the super-de-luxe stagecoach, operated by the Holman Molder Makey and co., coasted around the curve on Gappy Gulch, a daring bandit wanted by all counties this side of Slug Stream, masked by a scarlet handkerchief with the initials L.L.M. in a corner, pulled out his copper plated bean shooter and stuck up the passengers on the stagecoach.

Victims of the robber are reputed to be:

Dottie “Sarong” Magley, who listed among her belongings taken by the culprit, one bottle of perfume named “Evil Hour, My Sin, Night Of Passion.” All Dottie could say about the potential power of the perfume was, “Wow!”

Wild Butch Hiene, was taken from the coach, told to stand on his head. Wild Butch declared edgewise and sideways (well, you say up and down, sometimes, don't you?) that the robber was a horrible, treacherous, nasty man. He was recognized by him. “If it hadn't been that during the holdup that he took out a slug of Infant's Delight tobacco, and gave me a chew, I'd never a recognized him. You see, there is only one man that I know of that is able to withstand the mighty power of that ‘baecy juice, and Buck Buchholz it is.”

Gracie “Camille” Welty on her way to the personal appearance at the little theatre in Gappy Gulch could only say, “Gosh, he had swell buck teeth!”

Olivia de Sluzzeroo Frenchy Perkins, as cute a damsel as ever was raised on grade “F” milk, ankle up to the bandit and said, “Thow about a date, Toots?” No answer.

Holman Molder Makey, owner of the stagecoach line, could only say, “If I ever see that lug around my ranch, the Bar 72, I'll toss an F theme at him, the lug.”

At the present, Buck is hiding out in the hills just west of Gappy Gulch, and there is said to be a cavern where he stores his gold. A posse started out for him right after the robbery, but they passed the Ye Golde Cuspidor, owned by Carlotta Van Gorder Burg, and were detained by the fumes of, ah, um, well, it wasn't pink lemonade.

Spike Sterner's New Gown Shop To Open

Mademoiselle Spike, a la Sterner's new Parisian gown shop, exclusive for burley babes, will have its grand opening just one week from tonight. As a special treat, Spike's newest creation, instead of strapless gowns, gownless straps will be shown.

An exclusive modeler in his shop will be Hot Cha Hemmer, a nifty number from the mountains of Kentucky. Of course Hot Cha still derives much pleasure from modeling, since she knows she can gain much hold in this way which in time will help her to open up her own dress shop.

Also in Spike's new store, high heels on shoes will play a featured role. In a special statement to the Gappy Gulch Gazette, Spike says, “I don't see why heels should be both on top of the shoe and on their bottoms. So I just took off the ones attached to the shoe.”

Vernie “Voodoo Floogie” Flint, caretaker and part owner of the “Hunting Hounds For Gappy Gulch Gangsters” is taking charge of the manhunt which has been directed for Snickles Snider, our dear sheriff, this past week.

Floogie, his wife calls him that, has personally taken along two hounds. Floogie calls the two hounds Horatio and Hector, after two dear friends of his, Susie Q Sidell and Quaint Kelfer.

Beginning at the edge of Gappy Gulch, where the hunt started, Floogie, with Hector and Horatio, started after the band of Possum Foots that lifted Snickles from his crib near the Snider window. Snickles always slept in a crib, as he never changed when he was a child, and now he thinks that changing to a bed, or even an old soapbox, would be too much of a strain for him.

But the Possum Foots, under the leadership of their guide, Chief-Rain-in-the-Puss Alderdice, crept away over the hills and managed to make their escape by dawn's early electric light. But Floogie Flint, heading over to the old bog near the swamp, asked directions from Old Man Mose Makey, who is a hermit living alone by himself. Mose told Floogie that it wouldn't do him any good to become a Possum Foot Chaser, and induced him to become a hermit like himself.

So that is what happened to Floogie, who just Floyed his way out of Gappy Gulch with Horatio and Hector.

Fritzelle Lohman Is Flower Queen

Gappy Gulch Gardenia Committee To Hold Celebration April
32nd For All Putrid Patrons

The Gappy Gulch Committee for Arranging a Gardenia Exposition has elected “Fritzelle” Lohman as queen of the celebration to be held April 32 this year. Formal announcement of his appointment will be made at a banquet tomorrow night. Fritzelle will not be told of this coming honor until then. So all gawky gulchers are asked to please keep this dope under their hats.

Mr. Lohman's gown will be designed by Gappy Gulch's supreme dress designer, Maxine Spencer. Miss Spencer has invented a reversible backless gown which will make its debut on Fritzelle's torso. As Mr. Lohman looks well in pastel shades, it is presumed that the gown will be of this color. A crown of eskimo gardenias will complete his ensemble. Miss Spencer is also designing the costumes of the attendants.

These attendants have also been selected, appointed, elected and rejected by the council. They are: Crown-bearer, Billy Newhard; flower-bearer, Maurice Murphy, and fools (jectors), Henry Velkoff and Mark Hall.

The sight of this exposition will be the field adjoining the Ranklow Beauty Salon.

The celebration will be the most elaborate that Gappy Gulch has ever seen or hopes to see. “Fritzelle” will be simpleeemo-smoo-oothered in gardenias reeking of goo. Woo! The Blowing Blatters will preside; tooting themselves into the hearts of all. Their leader, Skulker Shimel, has suggested the theme song of “They Laughed When I Went on the Dance Floor with a Sack of Water; They Didn't Know I Was Going to Swing It.” Corny, but nice!

BULLETIN

Helen Banks, chief contender for the Champion Spitter of Gappy Gulch, will give forth in a public demonstration today on the public sidewalks of the Gappy Gulch courthouse. Banks is able to spit so far because she took the hobby during her high school days.

Fritzelle Flees

Fritzelle Lohman

Fritzelle Lohman, who just was named the flower queen of this year's gardenia exposition, has been sneaking off in the early morning light to play upon the broken down flute which he possesses. Fritzelle is very jubilant about it all, but admits that the flute is really a broken down gas pipe used in the Gappy Gulch Gazette Lunchroom at one time.

“Slug” Mitchell Founds School For Weaklings

“Iron Claw,” Always Clad In Leopard Skin, Refuses
To Don Flannel “Tongies”

“Slugger” Mitchell, that versatile anchor man on the daisy chain, will open up a primary school for weaklings. The purpose of the “Slugger's” school is to encourage better brawn, build bigger muscles, and bring back the caveman as he once was.

“Who was dis guy Charles Atlas, and what's he got dat I haven't got?” says our power man between chaws of raw horse meat and rusty nails.

It is a well-known fact that the “Slugger” once downed two singer midgets in 57 rounds with the aid of his four brothers. He also once downed four beers single handed.

“Iron Claw Mickey” says, “I guess it's my poisonality what gets ‘em.” However, intimate friends state that the “Slugger” was a walking wall flower before he started reading the ads. But now with the aid of Oscar's Oily Ointment, he is rid of all blemishes and foul odors.

“Slugger” will put hair (state color desired) on your chest, give you your choice of any three muscles, and will place 50 dollars on your cuff.

Our all-American hero “Willie the Gyp” Reithmiller sent his body to Mitchell and rose from a 97-pound weakling to drawback on the Sing-Sing football team. Willie says, “I used to have spots before my eyes. But I washed my glasses, and now I feel like a new man. Thanks to the “Slugger.”

Behind the power of the “Slugger” lies his little woman, and Chinese man servant, “Swing-Lo” Kowalski, who, or so it is declared, made Mickey eat his Krinkly Wrinkles every morning and thusly brought forth the handsome physique which now presents itself.

Sheriff Snider, before his horrible kidnapping, was trying to get “Slugger” Mickey to don a pair of drawers, as he persisted in running hither and yon in an altogether non-engaging leopard skin, which he was said to be wearing for sentimental reasons. The secret is that it was hand-embroidered by Swing-Lo, who incidentally

“Throaty Till” Rieke To Stage Dynamic Debut

To Gappy Gulch, from the Metropolitan Opera Company and Spaghetti Jern, “Throaty Till” Rieke, the prima donna of the footlights, and her slap-happy manager, whom she affectionately calls Tammy, Professor Gallmeyer, will arrive today via the Santa Fe Kiddy Kar Kompany.

Throaty Till plans to make her debut in the new opera house to open next week backed by Murphy's Lina-ment and Fleu Powder. Making her first appearance with Gypsy Rosalie Dickmeyer in “The Boys from Sarah-Cuss,” she plans to wow ‘em all.

The only other person in her cast is Roberta the Great-Safer, who helps around. Roberta, who yearns to be an actor, declares that Throaty Till is his idol and will always be her slave.

Gappy Gulch: Citizens today were on the verge of forming a posse to save Sheriff Snider, who was captured by the Possum Foot Indians tribe one week ago tomorrow, and to punish the ringleaders of the Redskins Scalpers (who incidentally can't play basketball).

Last night, a mysterious note was given to Mrs. “I'm Glad He's Gone” Snider by a cigar store Indian, who was standing on the corner of Moo and Goo streets. Sub-sheriff, rugged Rowena “Hold-Tight” Harvey, as tough a lady who ever smoked black cigars, and sheriff sub-two, Bervely “Snake-Hips Hips Hooray” Griffith, as tough a sheriff that ever used Ovaltine as a chaser, at the present time are holding the Indian in the county jail.

The whole affair began last month when Chief Rain-in-the-Puss Alderdice and her tribe of Possum Foot Indians visited the medicine show in Gappy Gulch. Because they were gyped out a legal pink slip or passport for their reservation, they kidnapped Sheriff Snider and are holding him for ransom in the Gappy Gulch canyon where dead men don't tell no lies.

Virginia “I Ain't A Talkin'” Goeglein, admitted to secret agent L-13 that she saw two men with hatchets and painted faces sneaking up to the Snider but in back of the jail (Roscoe has to keep one eye on the criminals) the night of the snatch. Lil' Virginia kept her eyes peeled, and she positively identifies the two savages as George “Buxom” Pinkhouse and “Corny” Micky Mitchell, end men on the annual Possum Foot Indian's Minstrel Show.

The two savages, it is supposed by local policemen, took Snider or else he went willingly to get away from it all. Hunted down by Harvey's super-hounds, the two savages took Snider to the village outside of Death Valley.

At the time the three men arrived, the savage Indians were just beginning their annual spring revue. Their chief, Chief-Rain-in-the-Puss Alderdice, was quietly smoking a chocolate cigarette, while she was making up this year's new cook book. One of her special recipes is to boil sheriffs in mayonnaise until they turn a slight red color, and then to season them with little sticks of dynamite. “Yum, yum,” she says.

But Chief Rain-in-the-Puss came to the center of the Indian Village, and—commanded the savage tribe of Possum Foots to give Snider the hot-foot.

At the time of the command, Lil' Luring Lukie Kowalski, the notorious siren of Gappy Gulch, as tough a woman who ever bobbed a man for daring to say her name in public, was doing a POLKA (ain't it scandalous) around the fire in the center of the village.

And right behind poor Lukie, a bevy of horrible looking hags, namely, “Kuddles” Kixmiller, “Ratsy” Rea, and “Curdle” Rohrbach, were doing a sort of Gay Nineties shag. Incidentally, dear readers, these were the three that were imprisoned by Sheriff Snider last week, for daring to come to town, and while crossing a muddy

Chrissie The Crunch Mott Wins Title In Hog-Calling Contest

With all Gappy Gulch in an uproar over the outcome of the much publicized hog-calling contest, we will squeeze out and announce that (surprise!) "Chrissie the Crunch" Mott wins! Shaking the earth from hill to hill, Gappy Gulch was quite aware of a slight disturbance when that night-glamour girl began to "call". (Not saying what she called—which was beyond any repetition more than a ditto.)

Hailing from the town night-club, "Chrissie the Crunch" climbed up the road to the town's meet-in' place singing, "When the Hogs Come Home." Squeezing between the bars, we soon discovered that our slap-happy glamor-girl of Gappy Gulch's Grandpappys' Glub was as nervous as the flea in the flue. Twittering and flittering to the sight of the contest, "Chrissie the Crunch" mounted so high that her pink and purple plaid slacks showed beneath the bright red ruffles of her starched muslin pettie-coat beneath her blue dress (the traider), and was she embarrassed! Rising up on her heels, Geller and Goebel, she began to begin the beginning of a much too long tale (not the hog's). Two sour pickles in each jaw, she began to crunch and call. She called, she thought, 'til the pickles burst. She thought the end had come! But, alas, it was April Fool, no such luck. She began to crunch and crunch and soon a faint sound began to come out between the pickles. Then the famous call that was marked in the history of Gappy Gulch came forth from the little flower of the night-club.

When the cntest was over (it lasted 222 seconds, much too long), the judges finally announced the winner from the results of the calling. Since Snippy Snider has been kidnapped and Shippy Harvey has been lost at sea, all the hogs in the neighborhood were free to investigate the curious noises over the hill. Due to this fact and that "Chrissie the Crunch" was the first, second and last entrant in the contest, "Chrissie the Crunch" Mott wins! Because of the difficult circumstances and surroundings, "Chrissie the Crunch" deserves our hearty applause and appreciation.

'Dead Eye' Suter To Direct 'Pranks Of Passionate Patsy'

All Muchtoo High School students will be ready, willing and unable to present their long awaited for Thespian high-light, "The Pranks of Passionate Patsy" at the high school gymnasium Saturday night. "Dead Eye" Suter will direct this dynamic extravaganza and because of her ability to do a double dribble with a basketball, it is expected that she will bounce this dramatic high-light into a debatable prestige.

The entire cast which is composed of three cows, two dead bodies from Grizzly Gus' Gappy Gulch Gulp Inn, and 3,000 seniors for the mass scene have been working strenuously for two nights, and it is an expectant theory, believed by many, that this will possibly be the work which will close down all theaters for all time.

"Dead Eye" Suter has been forcing her cast to take severe jolts of Doctor Doolittle's Dope Stencher, which she believes are the real cure for all let-down feelings and all body odors. In fact these little pills are deemed by many to be the fatal urge which started "Maw" Daniels on her fateful career of gorpy killings and all around bad antics. Mademoiselle Suter merely adds a dash of her pickles to the unhappy corpses and thusly calls them well-preserved.

The slap-happy bunch of gaw-boned seniors are working their vrey heads off (we use waste containers) to make sure that this performance will be worthy of the twenty-eleven somolians, which is the required fee of admission.

After Saturday night, Dead Eye, so-called because of the frozen pupil in her left socket, will receive callers at the Webustwell Hospital for Decrepit Foundlings, Old Maids and Broken Down Automobiles. If not here, she will be at the Murky Morgue, Inc. Box 32.

Indians Irk Pixilated Perkins

Several complaints have been received from residents in Gappy Gulch about Indians walking over their lawns. When questioned about these unusual antics, they merely grunted, "Ugh!" A nice committable expression, we'll say. Now these Redskins, as Indians are often called, not only walked on the lawn but insisted on making it their private stamping grounds and held a square dance while Sheriff Putterball Parks tried in vain to make them let him be the caller for the dance. Pixilated Perkins, on whose lawn the shin-dig was held, let herself go and really did her stuff in the "swing your partner with a hey-dee-ho, give her the air and watch her go." The Indians looked on in amusement while Gazy-Daisy Dyer yodeled "Waltz Me Around Again, Willie the Jip." Then to the surprise of all, the squaws took off their hose and watered the lawn. Immediately after they took off their socks the grass curled up and died. Opinions vary as to what was the cause of this. Some say that the grass decided to end it all because the atmosphere was too much for them, it had turned sour. So, now, dear readers a suit is pending between the Gappy Gulchers and the squaws with the killing feet. How it will end no one knows.

Weeping With Warren

BY CRACKY

At the next meeting of the Buck-shot Booklovers Group an address will be given by "Delovely" Warren, for obvious reasons, the unknown author of that worst seller, "Why I Live Alone and Like It." The booklovers group has, for some time, been trying to get Warren to speak to their organization.

However, until yesterday, "Delovely" couldn't be caught by representatives of the group. Yesterday, as he was walking home, he saw one of the booklovers and immediately started running. While running away from the man, he ran a red light, and the sheriff picked him up. While he was thus detained, the booklover caught him and got him to speak to his club.

A few years ago "Delovely" was afflicted with a bad case of halitosis, and at that time he was avoided by everyone. So, just to show 'em he could get away from them all and enjoy it, he went into the mountains to spend his time; and the result was his not so very famous worst seller "Why I Live Alone And Like It."

It has taken "Wolly" Warren ten years to get his book published, but he finally persuaded The School Press to take a chance and print it. Although two printers became ill on the job, the job was finished, and now look what has happened. Only two copies have been sold. And these at a fire sale.

Cagey Comments

This here snap shows Chief Pain-in-the-Puss Alderidge as she was about to hoof it in order to catch her Easter dinner. "Pussy" is always one of those clever people, and we citizens of Gappy Gulch cannot but commend mighty powerful Pussom Footter for her track ability. We also hope Dorothy doesn't suffer from fallen tonsils or something of the sort as a result of her fine performance.

Now right above you, you see Beef Briner in one of his afternoon siestas. Beefy is always beefing about something, but we hope that he is having a happy time. No bull, either. You see, Beefy the Brawnless used to be anemic and suffered from falling of the eyelashes, a rare malady, you'll agree. But then he discovered that some of Foo Friddle's eyelashing potions were powerful enough to restore his lids. Because the hair grew so fast, he now has a complete false set which he wears at all of Gappy Gulch's social functions.

Killer-Diller Griffith Will Go Into Finals Of Dance Marathon

One of Gappy Gulch's outstanding citizens, "Floy-Floy" Griffith, who is nationally known for her abilities in the field of marathon dancing, will enter another marathon dance contest. This contest is being held at Skunk Hollow in two weeks.

"Floy Floy" has won many medals and loving cups with her extraordinary ability to dance on and on. She has entered marathon dance contests for several years, and during that period has become known in marathon dance circles, if they dance in circles, all over the nation.

Recently Floy Floy has went into training for the big dance of the year, the National Marathon Dance Contest, held this year at Skunk Hollow. Some of the worst dancers have entered this contest, and Floy Floy has great hopes of winning another medal for last place, or in other words, another booby prize.

For three weeks Floy Floy has been holding work outs at her spring training camp on Rattlesnake Venom Creek. During this time, according to her trainer, she has improved rapidly and is in fine condition. Did you ever hear a trainer who didn't say that?

However, Floy Floy has our best wishes.

Ye Olde Hamburger Inn Opens Today Under Able Direction Of 'Pretzel' Moss

Today marked the opening of Ye Olde Hamburger Inn owned, operated, controlled, leased and managed by "Pretzel" Moss. The new location is at the corner of Onion and Mustard Streets. Sounds good anyhow. This type of inn is something new in this neck of the woods. Peoples from miles around have already come to look at the marvel of the ages. Just to think, a real, genuine hamburger stand here is Gappy Gulch. The first of its kind. "Pretzel" Moss will go down in history for this.

Since tomorrow is the opening date, a special menu has been planned by the proprietor. A hamburger with your choice of mustard, onions, celery, or both will be given to the first three customers free of charge.

"Pretzel" was asked to give forth a vocal statement rendering his feeling about his marvel of the ages. His words are, "It twer'n nothing folks. It just came to me while reading Popeye. If they can do it, why can't I, I says. Then I hurried down to rent a building, and, well, here I am."

We of this enlarged portion of the main road will be interested to know that "Pretzels" has shares of stock to sell in his latest investment. A private talk with "Prosperous Pretzels" can be arranged at any time, providing that it is convenient with him and that you have a nice little roll of bills, not the kind with a cornob in the middle either.

Patrons of "Pretzels" will be interested to know the reasons why he did away with his former business. Well, it seems that "Pretzels" Moss had been in several kinds of conglomerations in the past and that he was getting sick and tired of wondering from day to day just how he would buy his next meal and where he would sleep if Mrs. Patrick Michael O'Donald should decide that her rooms needed new occupants. That seems like her 'Saratoga' Shoup Swings High With A Fooi Yacka Sacka Want Some Sea Food, Mama?

The girl who has baffled millions with her daring horse racing and rodeo mystifcoes, the one and only "Saratoga" Shoup, has finally sent in her entry blank for the big rodeo to be held in Skunk Gulch on March 35. Emma, or perhaps better known to her friends as "Side-Saddle", will be in the pink of condition for the event. "Saratoga" has taken the role of the favorite in the big rodeo, as she appears to be "too hot to handle." One of Side Saddle's greatest feats was that of beating "Willie" Moss in a darin' hoss race, or mule and horse race as it later proved to be. "Willie", being a lover of the mule, demanded a race with Shoupie; the deal was closed and on the day appointed a great crowd of two people gathered at the track. "Side-Saddle" was clothed in a beautiful red flower sack, while "Willie" came in his miner's outfit. The steeds were paraded before the gapping throng, and the race began, rather Saratoga began before "Willie" began. Before "Willie" had moved our heroine had finished. Judge Cornelia Burpy Gapping Jaws Oppelt declared that a new record had been set by our Book Worm friend. While Moron Moss is still at the starting point.

However, enough for the horse and mule, let's get to the rodeo idea. Saratoga is undoubtedly the est cow-puncheress in the world, and she can really string that lasso. It is in the lasso division that Shoupie is given the role of darkhorse role. It seems that Side-Saddle can twirl the rope, but can't untwirl it, a poor situation; however, any day now she might find a solution. Saratoga Shoup has been billed the world's greatest rifle marksman. She can shoot a basketball off a child's head at the amazing distance of one foot. When the red flour sack (denoting the Shoup colors) appears in Gappy Gulch the crowd will sense that they see a true champion, "Saratoga" Shoup.

The Gappy Gulch Chamber of Commerce has announced that a special section will be reserved for Shoupie's rooters at the Gappy Gulch outdoor arena, where the rodeo will be held. The Shoup rooters may purchase their deats or the vent at any Skunko Feed Store or a Gilbert's filling station at Normaville. A special collection is being taken up to aid in sending our heroine to the rodeo, as "Saratoga" spent all her wad on her ponies. Up to now, with over a thousand citizens of Kukoo Canyon having been robbed over 3.50 has been raised in Shoupie's behalf.

We wish to remind you that the great rodeo will be aired over the Gappy Gulch 5-watter. "Rippy" Reike will be at the mike to give the color, and "Cupie" Hodgson and "Toots" Fortney will be in charge of giving the description of the warrior events. So, if we can't see you at Gappy Gulch Saturday cheering for Side-Saddle, we hope you'll tune to 19,000 on your dial. Don't forget to watch Shoupie Saturday, as she is our choice to win over the other two contestants, one of whom is blind, with another who can't see.

Kussed Kut-Ups

Effen you twarn't a lookin' somewhere else, one could almost see what's become of Gappy Gulch in the last year. One can hardly remember all the things that happened, but perhaps this will refresh all your minds.

It was last September that Ireen and Eileen Blombach, twins effen if I never seen a one, started prospecting in the Giddap Gappy Gulch Grove for Galoshes. Taking their fooi yacka sacka sea food with them, the two started out to cover the rocky road to the canyon. After three years' work, all they found, was the gold fillings outen Wee Willie's Blasses false teeth. Willie hasn't been as sprry as he might have been, but he still is able to hobble around Gappy Gulch on the two ironwood crutches that pore lil Marjie Bowser whittled for him.

In November, the annual barn dance was held in big Jim Glasses barn. Jim took all the red ears of corn and him them for himself until the night of the barn dance. But just then as he was ready to pull the red ears outen his shirt, he was regusted because "Hold Tite" Hire had died all the other ears red that afternoon.

It was in December that the first winter wedding ever to be held in the Gappy Gulch occurred. Grandpap Carol Barker and Grannie Dorothy Amstutz decided that they orler elope and be married in the little chapel owned and operated by "Marryin' Same" Hite. The two climbed down out of the old hotel where they board, and rode over to the chapel. But seein' that Granpap had forgot to git his weddin' ring, the whole affair was called off.

In January, the Local Unit of the Beautiful Busybody Assn. for Gappy Gulch Girls held their statementing at the home of Pearl the Peach Rehorst. Now Pearlie, just to live things up a bit, told a few awful whoppers and an awful fight ensued. To stop what she had begun, Pearl offered everyone some pieces of Lucy Mocher Mellen's candy made in her Hottentot Cafe.

On the next day, seventeen members of the Beautiful Busybody Association for Gappy Gulch Girls were quietly laid to rest in Evergreen Cemetery.

In February, our paperboy, Woo Woo Will Wilson, became awful shy as a result of his coming into contact with Bea Etzler, the horrible hag from Hagville, and all he could say was "Wow!"

In March, the first few days to be exact, Adelaide "A-2141" Fiedler and Lizzie Kareless Kelly visited the Gappy Gulch Home for Galumptious Galls where they represented the Society For The Prevention Of The Sarong to investigate the tales that Caretaker Rasputin Rhinehart had been putting poison in the girl's food. The two stayed for supper and have never been heard from since.

In April, Georgeanna Hodgson, going on 4, stayed up all night last night waiting for the Easter Bunny. Georgie, her friends call her Comet, was truly disappointed at her misfortune, and it would be very nice if some one would comfort her.

Society Daze

Miss Rassmatazz Harvey entertained several guests at her palatial domicile last evening with a dignified taffy pull. All went smoothly until "Fingers" Gerig found his hand in Miss "Hold Tight" Montgomery's pocket. Upon removing his hand, much to his dismay, "Fingers" found four fairly wilted roses stuck to his hand. The secret was out...Hold Tight's rosy cheeks were not her own...She stammered "A rose is a rose is a rose is a rose..." Maybe Gerlie Stein is a plagiarist.

Immediately following the Steeple Chase this afternoon, spectators were amused at a most unusual sight. Tiny Nahrwald, jockey, upon dismounting found that in the course of the ride his horse had become sway-back. Tiny, disgusted with the whole thing, then and there decided to become a heavy weight boxer. He will fight under the title of the "Whistling Tornado", Two-ton Nahrwald and will train on Wheaties and milk. We expect great things of you, Two-ton.

Mr. Henrietta Van Velkoff, dashing young sheik of the younger set, astounded pedestrians on Fifth Avenue yesterday afternoon in his mad dash through town in his new gasoline machine. He was burning up the pavements at 25.5 MPH. What nerve! What daring! So what!

Dapper Dick Didier, all tricked out in a new derby, checkered usitf, monocle, cane, and smoking a stogie, sauntered down Fifth Avenue this glorious afternoon, presumable trying to vamp the girls. It seems that all he could attract was a string of cats, toms at that. Tell us your secret, Little Colonel. What have you got that gets them? Some say it was Schmatz's pickled herring. Any comment?

A bathing beauty contest will be held in the seclusion of "Smuts" Schmidt's Hotel, next Saturday afternoon. All contestants must register with "Smuts" at Schmidt's Hotel before that date. The rules are the same as in other years—anything goes, but be conservative. After a heated discussion, the board decided to permit the raising of swimming suits to below the knees. This decision brought a howl from the Ladies Aid to Youthful Bathers but they very nobly gave in. Such supreme sacrifice should not go unrewarded.

That is all for today so keep your feet dry, don't take any wooden nickle, and 23 skidoo

How To Become A Don Juan Is Tought In 10 Easy Lessons

After much thought, I have consented to write an article for the Gappy Gulchers and enlighten all prospective Cassanovas as to how to become a Don Juan in ten easy lessons.

Now, first of all, there's the slight matter of a girl, all very necessary, I assure you. Girls like them masterful...you know, cave mannish. So spot your victim, and without thinking, mush over and assert yourself. Easy? Well, no, but love will out, I always say. Now that you've got her attention, show that you are a versatile person. Stand on your head, don't mind the cement...remember, the ways of true love are rocky ones. You might try wiggling your ears, but on second thought she might misunderstand, so stick to blinking your eyes.

Another phase of Don Juanism to be considered is setting the stage, creating the correct atmosphere. "Love in a cabbage factory" and stuff like that is all right for novels, but for real life you've got to have it romantic...you know, "Breezes at Midnight," perfume and "Where Did You Get Those Great Big Eyes" music. Then, too, a moon, a canoe and a guitar never hurt any Don Juan's suit.

Speaking of clothes, be very particular in what you wear. Color is the spice of life. Wear checkered suits, clean and neat, and twice as flashy. Sport mid-night blue spats and fireman red socks. Wear a black derby and swing a yellow cane. Be a sheik.

Your conversation has a lot to do with your success. Don't be afraid to use some new lingo. Don't be old-fashioned all your life. You know how it is, people will talk, but if the spirit moves you, why say, "Ish Kabibble," or "I love my wife, but oh you kid." They go for that cute modern slang. Oh, I know dad would never have said that, but he didn't drive his horse as fast as I drive mine. Times have changed.

Some girls like them sort of polite, gallant if you please. So when ever you have a chance, bow from the waist. Why? Oh, I don't know, but it sounds good anyway. Dash your coat in the mud, and be sure not to splash her in the process. What is a coat, after all? I don't know, you tell me.

Well, Don Juaners, I've had my say. Do what I tell you to do, and your love life will be a success.

Gappy Town Folk Are Aghast As New Movie House Opens

Next Saturday night at seven-thirty, the doors of the Grass-hopper movie house will swing open to permit the public to join in the gala opening of this modern place of amusement, which is located on the corner of Snake Avenue and Main Street. Orie Cecil B. Davis is the proprietor, and upon being asked for a statement concerning his newly-set-up business he replied, "At last my life's ambition to become a theater owner and manager has come true."

Purple being Mr. O. C. B. Davis' favorite color, we find the entire building decorated with this shade predominating. To break the monotony however, little pink flowers were painted on the wall near the ceiling which is done in lavender and purple stripes.

The opening was to have been held last Saturday, but because of Mr. Davis' great difficulty caused by his new stagehand, it had to be postponed. He hired one boy for this position but at dress rehearsal, when the lad was ordered to run up the curtain, the boy responded, "What are you talking about? Run up the curtain! I'm a stage-hand, not a squirrel." But now Mr. Davis has a stagehand who came from the county-seat where he had much experience along this line of labor.

Mr. Davis assures the public that the most of the time will NOT be taken up in showing what will be shown the following week, as is usually found the case.

Camille Welty will make a personal appearance at the opening. She will sing the refrain of "The Old Covered Bridge" from the opera "Sarie" by X. V. Czchctoki. Then she will honor the audience greatly with the singing of "Home Again", a score by Primadonna Welty herself. She will be accompanied by the "Slap - me-happy foursome," Gappy Gulch's own symphony.

The first movie to be shown is "Snow-white Smeltzly and the Seven Seas." This movie received four bells by an authority of Holly-lumber. It portrays the life and loves of Snow-white during her extensive travels.

Get A Lift With A Casket!

The Gappy Gulch Gazette publishers have been asked to remind all hoppy town folk to get in their rorders early for a kener kimona for the Digwell undertaking establishments, whose motto is "When better bodies are pickel, we'll pickel 'em," desire that people not wait until the last minute to get their caskets.

"Last year, everyone waited until the last minute and we had to toss torsoes any old place," says Homer Digwell, the illustrious owner of the aforementioned place of business.

The Digwell Company has installed the layaway system, and it is found to please any old dead thing that comes straggling in.

Carl Corpe says, "I was simply carried away with their super deluxe service." Carl had previously tried the streamlined casket with the bullet-proof cover, and found it very convincing.

Gappy Gulch Will Have Kiddie Car Races Next Week

Entrants Are Compelled To Be Insured

Sheriff Moonshine Snider, Shyster Friddle To Be Officials Of This Big Affair

So Submit Blanks Of Past History

Officials Of Race Are Hod Hodgson, Grampy Parks; Have Selected The Winner

The whole of Gappy Gulch is ga-ga as well as goo-goo about the kiddie car races which are going to be held next week some day at 10 o'clock sun time. All entrants were compelled to submit blanks telling of their past history (if it was worth telling) and they also were told to make out an insurance policy to the race officials who happen to be Sheriff Moonshine Snider and Shyster Friddle. Both intend to get rich on the race. Other officials for the race are Grampy Parks and Hod Hodgson who if I may say have already picked the winner. They say that Hod has it all figured out by geometry that Hefty Moss will pull through on top, but Grampy claims that Lucky Osborne will leave the Hefty one holding the bag. But I always say don't count your eggs till the chickens are hatched; or something like that.

As for the entrants they are compelled to restrict the weight of their carts according to their weights, so probably most of the carts won't be so light. The entrants wear crash helmets in case the Hefty tried to bash their brains out. As far as the general conduct of the race goes there isn't going to be any because Moonshine Snider and Shyster Friddle don't think the contestants are capable of following any such rule. The contestants are particularly warned against fouling. However, when Hefty Moss stated that he was out to win, hope of fair play was abandoned.

Saratoga Thorne stated that she has all her money on the Hefty. If this statement is true (and it often isn't) it looks like the Hefty one has it all bagged up.

Tempus fugit—the day of the race. Everybody's crowded in the town square all the entrants are lined up as follows with their odds: Lucky Lucy Osborne, 2-1, Orful Oppelt 300-1, Chassis Covalt 90-0, Gol'Darn Gilbert, 200-3, Motor-Mouth Makey, 500-199, Hefty Moss, 0-0.

Now to give a little description about each of the entrants before describing the race. First, Lucky Lucy Osborne, hails from Spider Center where she learned how to lasso her opponents while riding her Kiddie Kar Special. Arful Oppelt runs her Burping Special by the gas which she expels from her gaping jaws. Chassis Covalt of Krap Center is known for her Kiddie Kar which has only two wheels and of which Chassis is the body. Gol'Darn Gilbert of the Gulch runs his Kiddie Kar with TNT, so you can expect to see plenty of fire from him. Motor-Mouth Makey of East Gulch although it's against the principles of the race, runs his Kiddie Kar by a motor which he has stored in his gaping jaws. Then of course Hefty Moss, the triple threat of the race, hails from a certain institution in Richmond, Indiana.

The race is now ready to begin. All the Kiddie Kars start out from the starting line down Main Street toward the Town Hall. Hefty Moss is in the lead with Orful Oppelt burping closely behind. Lucky Osborne fell asleep at the starting line so she's disqualified. Motor-Mouth Makey got so excited he swallowed his motor and was rushed to the veterinarian. Chassis Covalt and Gol'Darn Gilbert decided to get married the last minute so Orful Oppelt and Hefty Moss left them at the church. Just when Orful Oppelt was passing Hefty she had to burp, the expulsion of gas hit Hefty Moss in the back thus sending him over the goal line for a glorious victory over Orful Oppelt.

“Hairless Joe” Gilbert Taken

As a result of his lack of success “Hairless” started to brood, according to Sheriff Snider and his deputies. For three days he would not eat a thing. Then one night he began pacing the floor of his cell in a frenzy. Immediately the doctor, who wishes to remain unknown, was called and after a thorough examination, he told the peace officers that “Hairless Joe” was insane, as a result of worry over his unsuccessful experiment. Send your orchids in care of the Caggy Crackpot Asylum. That is all.

‘Oh Mama, He Hurt Me!’

Shown in this action (?) picture, Punch-Drunk Bolyard is shown with Powder-Puff Chedester after their recent slap-happy sluggeroo. Punch-Drunk, who won the tiff, admitted that he used lipstick on his gloves, and when they collided with Chedester's face, the warpaint came off. When Powder-Puff tried to rub it off, Punch-Drunk admitted giving him one in the kisser.

Cuddles Dyer And Goo Goo Goegelin Winners In Contest

All the little toddlers had paraded past the Judge's stand and undramatically given their version of the real McCoy in wailing. The beaming Judge stood up to speak—his decision had been made the day before—and not wanting to lose a chance to give out, he spoke thusly.

Out in the middle of nowhere, Where something is found in none, Nothing is found in somewhere And something is found in some.

The waiting mothers continued to sit mute as if nothing had broken the silence—(which really was the truth)—It took more than silence to daunt the Judge, for what si sweeter than a high opinion of yourself? He continued thusly—“Winner of the first prize is the fetching little number who reminds me of a little poem by nie: Little spider on the wall, Where are you going, so fast an' all? Won't you tell me where you're going, And teach me how you do your sewing? (The Judge was interested in the latest thing in seams).

So-o-o-o, my little mothers, I give you as winner of the first prize, small Cuddles Dyer, and long may her wailing be heard.

“Bo-o-o-o-o-o-o-o-o-o” went the little mothers. “Ah-ah-ah-ah-ah,” said the Judge, “the odds are great on Cuddles,” and he beamingly slapped the pocket on his person where gentlemen carry winning lottery tickets. “And,” went on the Judge, “the winner for place and show is little Goo Goo Goegelin.”

When Goo Goo's nurse heard the decision for place and show, she began quickly to agitate her hosiery and came up with her hands full of winning tickets. She started rapidly on through the crowd, intending to collect her bets before all the little mothers should recover from the shock. But the picture had changed. The Judge's careless decision had finally soaked into every little mother's noodle. Quickly each one tucked her infant under her left arm, grabbed her musket with her right hand, and in a body they started toward the Judge's stand chanting in a deadly manner: “Get out of town before it's too late!” From here on use your own imagination.

‘Herm’ Makey Is Speedrace Victor

The Flying Bat Soars To Victory With “Wild Bill” Wilson Sailing Into Second Place Position

The hitherto unhappy financial backers of “Herm” Makey will be glad to know that the Flying Bat has finally come through. He won first place in a speedrace held at Skunk Hollow last Saturday.

His open seater, replica of the much publicized one-horse shay, was able to gallop around the course with enough unsuspected pep to break the speed record for the two hundred-mile race.

In second place was “Wild Bill” Wilson who flew his Super-Electro 4 at tremendous speed during the last ten laps to make up a loss of fifteen minutes tuning up his carburetor.

For many years “Herm” has been working on his creation with the belief that he would some day win the annual derby day race at Skunk Hollow. When interviewed immediately after the race he said, “I can't believe it.”

Herm and Wild Bill worked as a team during this race so that if one of them lost out then the other might be able to win. They now plan to continue racing their respective crates to more victories, if that be possible, and they hope it will.

However, it seems that their creditors have different plans for both men. It seems that they used the funds of several business men to build and operate these planes, and then refused to give their backers a ride in the finished planes. Now these business men don't care about the money, all they want is an airplane ride.

Effervescent Parks To Be Life-Guard

Is Well Known For Prowess In Water; To Have Charge Over Of Swimmin' Hole In Summer

This summer the life-guard at the old swimming hole will be “Peppy” Parks, well known to residents of Gappy Gulch for his prowess in the water, it was announced today by the Gappy Gulch Committee for Acquatic Safety in Connection with the Old Swimming Hole. They picked “Peppy” over a sparkling field of three other candidates because he could swim, and the others could not. For many years Peppy has spent his summers around the old swimming hole, and finally, about three summers ago, he decided to jump in the water. After trying four inner tubes around his body he jumped, and landed in the hole, but this hole was beside the road and had no water in it.

But “Peppy” did not give up then, no siree, he jumped again and this time he landed in some water and promptly sank when the air went out of his inner tubes. However, after taking a correspondence course in swimming, he became the aquatic star of Gappy Gulch and surrounding metropolitan areas.

During his short career as an important figure in the aquatic world around Gappy Gulch, he has promoted a swimming race every Sunday afternoon. The prize for the winner of these races is a gold medal. However, only one person, “Peppy” Parks himself, ever entered the races.

Because of this, “Peppy” now has so many medals, of assorted sizes and shapes that, unless he rides in a truck, he can't wear all of his medals. Although his swimming ability was one of the main reasons for his being appointed life-guard at the swimming hole, another reason was that he would draw large crowds, mostly feminine. He has been considered one of the top heartbreakers in Gappy Gulch for some time, and it is thought that his presence will cause more people to patronize the ol' swimmin' hole. If this happens, it has been rumored around that “Peppy” will receive extra dividends for his work.

His salary has not been publicized as yet, but it is believed by usually reliable sources that he will receive two cents an hour, with time and a half for overtime when the crowds, if there are any, get heavy. Before he finally signed his contract, “Peppy” was a holdout for three cents per hour, but he gave in at last and will now grace the old swimming hole with his presence for only two cents.

Tugboat Roxy Harvey Lost

Back Bay Shuffle. The natives stated that they had never seen such a wild dance and dancer before. While cruising on the Mediterranean, Tugboat took sick and the doctor told her she would have to go to shore immediately, so she and her husband disembarked in their small rowboat for shore, which was about a thousand miles away. This was the last that was ever seen of the two except for the above picture which was taken by a sea gull (or some bird-ic). In the picture you will note that her hubby is either swimming behind or else in Davy Jones' locker 40 fathoms under. So if there is any industrious man here in Gappy Gulch who has ambitions of capturing the hand of Tugboat here's your chance.

“Slug” Furst, “Burly” Gould Cause Trouble

Site Of Disturbance Is “Ye Olde Gappy Gulch Bar No. 17; Sounds Terrific

On one quiet afternoon (says you) last week the peace was disturbed for miles around Gappy Gulch by sudden noises from the “Ye Olde Gappy Gulch Bar Number 17.” Old timers from Guffy Gulch five miles away ran for cover as they thought, from the sounds, that another earthquake like the one in “52” was coming.

Actually a fight was taking place in the bar-room. “Burly” Gould, that small but powerful young man with the quick temper, was loosening his fury on “Slug” Furst, the man who would give Joe Louis a run for his money any day in the week. Their loud shouts and arguing was the cause of mothers covering their children's ears for the language was a little worse than usual. After much inquiring it was learned that “Burly” had decided that he would treat “Slug” to a drink, for once, since it was his birthday. “Slug” was planning to surprise “Burly” by setting him up to a drink for the first time. Each was happily thinking of the surprise of the other when the time came to pay for the drinks. As they both rose to pay the bill, they collided and upset the table, breaking it and the drinking glasses. When they were informed that they would have to pay for the table, “Slug” Furst decided to let “Burly” pay the bill. Evidently “Burly” Gould thought “Slug” would pay. After an argument “Slug” let the Joe Louis out of him and tok a swing at “Burly.”

So a brawl was under way. These two burly boys of Gappy Gulch soon had the tables and chairs reduced to kindling.

Today it has at last been decided who should pay for the drinks, by a judge. “Slug” and “Burly” were each fined 50 cents and damages.

‘Snake Eyes’ Sidell Takes Team On To West Championship

Mr. Paul Sidell, better known as “Snake Eyes” Sidell, has announced that the horseshoe pitching contest last Sunday afternoon on the farm of Sheriff Snider, three and a quarter miles from town, going west.

“Snake Eyes” of course made use of his old habit of spitting on the horseshoe before letting it fly. When we asked why, explained that it was all a long story. Well, having nothing to do and dinner not being ready yet, we listened.

It seems that when “Snake Eyes” was very young, he was watching some of the men pitching horseshoes back of the blacksmith shop one afternoon, and he wandered too close to the diamond and received one of the horses' patent-leather shoes on the head. Right then he vowed to get even with the very misbehaved horseshoe and all of its relations. At first, he used pony-shoes and the stakes were so far apart but then as time marched on and he got older and better the stakes were moved farther apart. Finally he got good enough to throw the regulation distance, but the horse shoes were not very well behaved and would not land near the stake. Then one rainy afternoon he was ready to throw the shoe, but he was just slightly nervous, so he stalled by stepping back and spitting on the shoe. Then he stepped back into the throwing box, aimed at the stake, and threw. Well, sir, just as he let fly, a bolt of lightning hit the other stake and charged it with electricity.

As every one knows water and electricity do not get along well together, so that the horseshoe was drawn right to the stake for a ringer. Well, the horseshoe was charged with so much electricity that when “Snake Eyes” spits on it and lets fly the iron stake just naturally draws the shoe to it.

“Snake Eyes” gives his pitching arm a goose-grease rub-down every night to keep it in condition. He also has, as we noticed, horseshoes tacked up all over the house. When we asked the idea, he explained that on his many trips around the country and the world, he has collected a shoe from every notable horse he has come in contact with.

Rowboat Races Are Drawing Attention Of Gappy Citizens

With the spring plowing over with, here in the Gulch, everybody's turning their attention to the rowboat races which are held every year when Snider River overflows its banks. This year the race is going to be one of the largest the Gulch has ever seen, thanks to R. “Moonshine” Snider. You see, Snider Creek runs down the mountain from Moonshine's cabin, and last winter while Moonshine was working in his still he spit tobacco juice in the tank and the dang thing blew up. So this winter with the river overflowing with water as well as moonshine, you can expect to see some of the entire Gulch's population out there battling. Among the entries so far are Earl “It's on the House” Sterner, Perky Parks and Moonshine Snider himself.

On the Horseshoe Diamond, last week, Spike Makey won a spectacular victory over Burpy Oppelt. The score was 19-16 in the final quarter of the match. Burpy was getting ready to swing her shoe when suddenly she let out one of her championship burps and the horseshoe flew through the air and into the spectators until it hit Moonshine Snider's jug right in the middle. Moonshine got so mad that he picked up the strayed horseshoe and threw it back at Burpy. Burpy who was still recovering from the shock of this extraordinary outburst from her mouth, was unaware of the descending horseshoe until she heard the vile language coming from Snider's mouth. Then she ducked and all thought that she was safe, but she had to swallow another burp and while in the act of doing this she was beamed on the Adams Apple by the horseshoe. Thus since she was out cold Spike Makey managed to win the match after altering the scores a bit.

Last week a slicker from the city by the name of Hod Springer introduced some crazy game called golf into our rostrum of sports. Hod's known about town for his crazy ideas which he picks up in the city, but this seems to be the worst of all. He says that you'd have to own the whole Gulch in order to play this crazy game, and then all you do is drill holes in the ground and hit a ball into the holes with little sticks. But baseball was introduced by Hod and it became so popular that much to the dismay of Erma Dochterman, Sluggo Gould left the Gulch to play on some big city team. And they say that Erma now has her affections turned to Hod Springer himself. But they say that Hod has plans of going to some golf tournament somewhere, so it looks like Erma's ready for another let down, tsk tsk.

‘Toughie’ Bolyard Wanders In Daze

Our Hero Goes Punch-Drunk As Thousands Cheer; Big Battle With “Powder-Puff” Chedester

One of the more recent catastrophes to beset an inhabitant of Gappy Gulch is the result of a brawl between two of this community's fellow citizens. As a result of this little mix-up “One-Round” Bolyard is now wandering around in a daze.

After a complete examination it is found that the Goose Goslin of Gappy Gulch is punch drunk. The person who put Mr. Bolyard in this very deplorable condition is none other than “Powder Puff” Chedester, whose heart belongs to daddy until Buck Buchholtz and his gang lift it and leave poor dady in the well-known lurch.

It seems that the two participants in the fight mixed it up with only their fists to slug each other with until they each caught sight of some heavy chairs which turned out to be swell for bopping each other on the top of the head with. We too have come to the conclusion that these chairs were admirable boppers, for both of the boys show the results of their combat.

For a long while they fought to a draw, and then the roof of the building in which they were fighting fell in; and “One-Round” Bolyard ended his round. It seems that “Charley Horse” Chedester suffered no ill effects from the cave-in since at that moment he was coming in the door from which he had just been thrown.

In his present condition, Bolyard can make no statement, and even the doctors, veterinarians, can't tell for sure what is bothering Mr. B. The theory has been advanced that maybe he is punch drunk, and this theory is generally accepted as being correct. However, we wonder whether Bolyard is punch drunk because of the fight with “Powder Puff” or because of the punch he has drunk. Mr. Bolyard is in no condition to answer that question, either, but he is still drinking punch.

Louie “Lug” Hull Will Sell Gulchers Suckers

Under the direction of Louie the Lug, Hull, Gappy Gulch's first big candy sucker company will be opened next month. Louie's motto will forever be: “Suckers For The Suckers.”

His special sale will go on right after the company opens. In a special statement to the Gappy Gulch Gazette, Louie says, “I won't guarantee any good from my company, and I won't pay for any broken jaws as a result of chewing my tripple dipple bubble gum, which I threw in extra.”

Louie's secret formula which develops his candy sucker process, is a secret which no one knows. For that reason Louie also stated, “I once lost the formula, and in order to keep my company going, I just threw some stuff together and sold it to the townspeople. Then the townspeople threw me together and sold me to the junk pile.” Louie's first customer is little Dorothy Amstutz who natures a sweet tooth. Dorothy has been standing by the vacant lot waiting for the workmen to build the building, so she can buy her bubble gum right away. “Yum, Yum,” she says. Unquote.

Medecine Show Is Being Run By Tracksters

Punky Pill For Posture Preservation Is Final Outcome Of Much Manual Labor

Keifer And Magley Are The Operators

Purpose Of Medicine Is To Prevent Curvature Of The Spine In School Kiddies

This little burg of ours has had two excitements this week. Besides the public hanging of the "two-gun rip, roarin' shooters of the West", a medicine show owned and operated by "Cut-up" Keifer and "Mangler" Magley came to town and is now standing on the Main Street court house square. Yessiree, right in the middle of town.

These two quacks have been searching and searching for years for a medicine to prevent curvature of the spine in school kids. It is a known fact that pupils, after bending over a desk, year in and year out, often add a slight twist to their backbones. At last these two "questful quacks" arrived at a conclusion and cut came a formula. A formula for a "Punky Pill for Posture Preservation" is the outcome of so many hours of hard work and nervous strain.

All of the country hicks, city slickers, and holdens, too, were standing with mouth agape and marveling at the miracle, maneuvered by these master medicine makers. Such a sight it was, the whole town, practically, were standing on the court house square. Yes all 300 of them.

M. D.'s Keifer and Magley told a thrilling story of the close escapes they had while coming to this town. Why up on the west road near horse-shoe creek, their little medicine wagon was overtaken by a band of malicious robbers. Why at the point of a gun the two docs had to yield all the money they had picked up at the last stop. A gang of masked bandits blocked the road with their horses at Hairpin Bend and after some of that smooth talk on the part of the docs, some of that smooth sailing sales talk, they promised that they would come back to that very spot on the second Wednesday of next week and let them hold them up then. The bandits were so wrapped up in the docs and their medicines that they believed them and said that it sounded like a square deal.

While down in that Indiana Village, the wonders of the ages put on a medicine show for the Indians. The Indians believed that they were the white medicine men, and so they all gathered around to sell the miracles in medicines. They were selling the Cure-All at twenty-five cents a bottle and the Indians offered them their price. Well, you know that these two doctors wouldn't do anything that was dishonest, so they accepted their price. The Indians said that they had been cheated so many times that they wanted to set the price so that they could be sure that they would not be cheated this time. Their price was twenty-five cents a bottle or three for a dollar. All of the Indians were so excited by the cheapness of the price that they bought all they could carry.

These two famous formula fixers revealed a deep dark secret. They said that after twisting their brains around and sitting up so late at night to make up a formula, they have to take so much of the medicine to get themselves back to their normal condition that this medicine business has its expenses. Sometimes they have to take all of the medicine they mixed, and then don't have any to sell. Often, after taking all of this medicine they can't remember the formula and then have to go through all of that stretch and strain to bring it back again and then they are in the same spot that they were in before. They have to take more medicine to get back in their normal condition. So you see their business goes around and around. Maybe that's why medicine shows are always so dizzy.

All people who desire to see a demonstration have the opportunity to come to the court house square at 9 A. M. and at 3 P. M. today. The special demonstration today will be the taking of some of the "Punky Pills for Posture Preservation" by a school child who is taking the third grade over for the fifth time. After a few minutes you will see her straighten up, and she will look just like she did the first time she entered the door of the third grade.

As a special course in his institution, the Slugger will offer a cumbersome method of the new game known as bridge. Excelling in this too, our mighty teacher usually gets the bid by placing a black jack on the table and thrusting a pair of iron knuckles to the jaw of his more unfortunate opponent.

The only trouble the Slugger has so far encountered is that the Postum-Foot Indians continue to beat it out so late at night that he loses sleep, and consequently much of his strength. Slugger also claims that their arrows get in his hair, so that when he puts it on in the morning, it's full of holes, "which is bad for the scalp," he toothlessly ad libbs, with a happy smile.

'Ma' Daniels Before The Court

Ma Daniels, the notorious she-bandit of Gappy Gulch, is shown here the next to the last time she appeared in court. Shown taking the count with Ma are Patrolman Two-Ton Murphy and Sheriff Snider. Ma this time was convicted for trying to scrape the gold off Clyde "Clapper Jaw" Pierce's goldfish. People just don't know what to do with "Smilin' Dan," but blame her backwardness on her inferiority complex.

"Ma" Daniels Is Again On Loose

"Killer" And Her Boys Rob The Local Post Office And Slug Pappy O'Houlihan Yoder Out

Betty "Ma" Daniels, the toughest lady ever to gurgle a vanilla coke spiked with lemon pop, and her band of boys again swooped down on the federal post office last night and robbed the disarmed guard on watch, Pappy O'Houlihan Dorsa Yoder.

Collecting the loot which consisted of $24 and a canceled commemorative postage stamp, Ma shoved the swag in her left shoe, as the sole on the right one had gone.

"Killer" Daniels and her gang, after butchering the poor watchman and combing his hair with a hatchet, sped toward their hideout on the edge of Gappy Gulch. Dropping their pea shooters and sling shots, the boys carried "Smilin' Dan" on their shoulders much as they would a victorious football hero.

The gang has tentatively been identified as the following: Andy the Goon Bremer, Slap Happy the Slug Ed Reeves, Eugene Wappy Pistol Tigges, Ray the Rat Bushing, and Max the Mug Magner. It is not quite certain yet, but inside information gives it that Frances Van Buskirk was also on the inside track.

Killer has long been wanted by the police for her notorious record in Gappy Gulch. It was just last week that she was sentenced to death for giving Rowena "Hold Tight" Harvey a bouquet of flowers loaded with a stink bomb. Dan was convicted, but managed to saw her way out of the jail to aid her boys.

At the present time Z-Men are on the trail of Killer in an old farmhouse. The four men, Lundy the Lout Welborn, Ivan the Burp Truman, C. A. the Skunk Bex, and Jack the Joker Wainwright all crept up to the door where a torpedo was carefully concealed.

It has just been rumored that on Monday afternoon, four Z-Men were buried by the Aiken Paine Undertaking establishment.

C. Van Gorderburg Will Entertain At Ye Golden Spitoon

To Whom It May Concern:—Lady extraordinary, Countess Carlotta Van Gorderburg will arrive today in our little community of Gappy Gulch. Miss Van Gorderburg is a protegee of the Dutch Embassy but because of her unrepresable feeling (that of a jitterbug) toward life she was carted away. It is said that her lowness—with all pardons to the Countess, I meant lowness—trucked through the halls of the embassy. She went up and down the stairs with the help of the Yam. By these frivolous actions we now have with us Countess Van Gorderburg.

Two Weeks Later—To Whom It May Concern:—Lady extraordinary, Countess Van Gorderburg is gaining the center of much public attention here in Gappy Gulch. The town council has called a meeting to decide what to do with Her Highness, Countess Van Gorderburg. Since the last of these messages Gappy Gulch has been reduced to no more than a jam session—Yeh, man, let's jive—it's just the influence of her highness upon your loyal reporter's soul.

Within that time her highness has been seen teaching that great drummer, Gene Kruppa Bacon, the rudiments of real skin heating. Meanwhile, she and Two-Ton Tony Murphy have been hitting it off pretty well—last night they were seen in the back room of Ye Golden Spitoon, Two-Ton Tony's Tavern. As far as all reports go I believe her highness is trying to get a job as a one-woman floor show for Tony's Tavern.

One Deck Later—To Whom It May Concern:—Lady extraordinary, Countess Carlotta Van Gorderburg has landed a job swingin' for the patrons of Tony's Tavern. Meanwhile the rangers of Gappy Gulch are again working as the city of Gappy Gulch is again returning to normal life after truckin' down streets after an example set by the Countess Carlotta Van Gorderburg.

Fudge Maker Blows Chemistry Lab To Atoms, Kaploie Foo

Terror ravaged in Gappy Gulch last night when that mad scientist, that genius of the Gulch, that renown inventor of the rubber soap that wouldn't bounce, Dick "Grizzly" Garton, blew his laboratory to bits. Last night at 2 a. m. sun time, Grizzly was gathering together his usual midnight snack when suddenly the entire laboratory in which he was experimenting in the impossible disappeared in a cloud of black smoke.

Since Grizzly escaped without injury except for a savage attitude toward fudge, we managed to acquire from his twisted mind in side information about the fire. We now quote Grizzly's own words:

"Well, you see, I always likes to work at night in privacy and seclusion," he utters a guttural laugh. "Last night I happens to be a working on a formula for a blotter that will blot pencil writing when suddenly I runs across a fudge recipe," Grizzly utters words of contempt against fudge. "Seeing this recipe, I immediately embarks upon making fudge besides my pencil blotting paper. I gets the fudge all mixed and on the stove when suddenly I remembers it was my blotting paper formula which is boiling instead of my fudge. Then the next minute, oh Ach Himmel, I, my laboratory blows up with a foom and my formula and fudge has both disappeared. Then as I gets up I finds I have been sitting in my fudge all this time, and I sees my valuable formula no more, oh Ach Himmel." Thus uttering more words of contempt against fudge, Grizzly leaves us, thus ending the interview.

'Killer' Welborn May Get Fired

Gappy Gulch May Have New Hangman If Swing Shenanagin's Sloppy Work Don't Stop

Rumor around the town now has it that Gappy Gulch may have a new hangman unless the present hangman settles back down to work. "Killer" Welborn, present holder of the above mentioned office, has not been giving the town the service that it expects and should receive.

The fault with "Killer" is that he does too much swingin' around to the music of various orchestras of the town. From usually reliable sources we heard that the present powers in the city are very disgruntled by the type of work being turned in by "Killer". In fact, his last few hangings have been so sloppy that even those persons holding season tickets have not attended the hangings.

"Killer" has always enjoyed hot music, but, until about three months ago, he did not show the concern over it that he now does. When asked why he followed swing music more now than he ever did, he replied, "I'm in the groove now; I'm not icky any more."

In times gone by "Killer" has turned in some of the sweetest jobs of hanging over seen in these parts, but recently his swing festivals have caused him to bungle his jobs a bit. Because Gappy Gulch is the town that it is, it must have a competent hangman, and many people, lots of them very prominent, are suggesting a change.

Whether this change will come about depends on "Killer" himself. If he improves his work and brings it back up to the old standard, he will continue to hold his present position; but, if he follows the swing trail too much longer, he will find himself without a position.

"Slug" Schmidt Swipes Money From Church

Sunday School Teacher Will Leave Sinful Soul Church Because Of Dishonest Act

"Honesty is the best policy." At any rate that's the way it strikes "Sunbeam" Schmidt since she was estranged from The Church of the Sinful Souls last Saturday as a result of a git-together held by members of that congregation. Word got out that, taking advantage of her position as counter-upper and treasurer, she filched a few odd dollars nearly every Sunday. Under cover check-up, previous to her ostracization, revealed the cleverness of her work. To throw those who might have occasion to suspect her of dirty work off the trail, she would let an occasional Sunday slip by whilst she squelched the urge to help herself to the filthy-luker on the collection plate.

"Naturally 'Slippery' Sunbeam has been denied her right to teach the 'Little Jewels' as she has formally on Sunday mornings for the past thirty-nine years. One parent said, 'When I think of the sacrilegious act that that woman has committed, and that she has been in direct contact with my little Bruce for high unto nineteen years, I am tempted to say 'horsefeathers.' And that is the extent of the desperation to which these desperate parents have been driven. A pretty state of affairs, we must say. No one has been able to estimate the duration of the crime, but it was observed that Mlle. Schmidt's wardrobe has been perked up to the extent of an additional stream-lined, detachable bustle which she wears to church and to funerals. Sunbeam herself has refused to divulge just how long she had been at her treacherous work."

The scandalous Sunbeam in regard to her petty larceny charge, says, quote, "I have nothing to say. However, I do think my former friends have acted hastily. They have not taken into consideration that four generations of kleptomaniacs have preceded me. They have not considered all the contributions which I have made to the church. They have not considered the aid which I have given in all the activities which have been sponsored by the church."

street, lifting their skirts up above their ankles! (This last sentence was just okayed by the strict censorship authorized by our fair censor, chief of all the glamorous, gorgeous, beautiful, lovely to look at, 23 Skidoo, girls in Gappy Gulch, "Delicious" Demaree.)

And right then and there Chief Rain-in-the-Puss decided that our Sheriff should not be condemned to the pot, but to the pan, since she always wanted to see what roast sheriff tastes like.

So the redskins took our sheriff to an old Indian hut to await nightfall when the ceremonial would begin. And so.

Will Sheriff Snider ever live long enough to see Gone With The Wind? Will he ever be able to finish that continued story in the Morning Mist, and the one in the Evening Hate-Breeder?

Will he, when placed over the burning flames, get an "Indian Hot Seat"? Won't he ever get to see the New York World's Fair?

(To be concluded in the next issue of My True Confession, A True Story for Daring Adventures in—bang—bang—The Indians Got Me!)

ELIMINATE GUESSWORK ABOUT YOUR TONSILS

By DR. K. L. SEAMAN

Just "looking" at your tonsils will give little information. The tonsils should be carefully and thoroughly examined by opening the tonsil crypts and making pressure on the side of the tonsil which will empty them.

In most cases pus can be seen draining from the crypts. There is no "guess work" if the above routine is carefully followed.

In children, infected tonsils usually cause swollen neck glands, adenoids, abscessed ears, St. Vitus Dance, etc.

Tonsils completely removed by the "No cutting"—No hemorrhage blunt instrument method, produces the least injury, minimum of shock, the cleanest and most normal throat.

Bill Reithmiller Is W. C. T. U. Winner

"We Cheat The Unions" Confer All-American Boy Title On Town Drunk And Stumblebum

William "Pee Wee" Reithmiller was yesterday chosen the "All-America Boy" by that great organization, the W. C. T. U. (we cheat the unions). The decision of the judges was announced at 4 a. m. this morning so that few would be awake to hear the startling results. Willie is possibly the most fitting youth to receive the distinction, as he is 6 feet 11 inches in height, weighs 299, has good buck teeth, bow legs, and above all a rotten personality. Could we ask for anything more in an All-America Boy? For emerging the victor, Willie will receive a check for $2.49, to be presented him at a great banquet to be held in Coon Junction, April 35. The prize will take care of four years' tuition fee for Willie at the Idaho School of Delinquent Morons. Willie has developed his "Chuck Atlas" body at "Beef" Briner's gym, where he played ping pong almost twice a week. Such a drastic strain on his body caused Willie's legs to sag slightly.

Perhaps Willie is best known for his great football work. He has been the fastest waterboy ever to see action on the Old Maid's Home eleven. Bill has been under a great strain lately as he has been awaiting the decision for some time. However, he expected to win this year's contest, as he placed second the last fifteen years.

Other youths under consideration for the coveted award were "Saggy" Bonib of Macville, "Lem" Bacon of Spanleyville, and "F. D. R." Parkinson of Hodville. The judges of the contest were four of the best loved educators of our country, namely "Hod" Springer, "Florida Special" Deichart, Charles "Baron" Hall and William "Killer" Miller.

W. P. A. Queen Is Dizzy De Lancey

Also Noted For Blacksmithing Efforts In Gappy Gulch; Is A Very Good, Shovel-Leaner

After "Ditch-digger" DeLancey, queen of the W.P.A. union, awkwardly tripped off to see that gorgeous Hedy La Marr in the movies in the town's only theater, a great change took place in her life. Guess what? For some several personal reasons of which no one has been able to learn, "Ditch-digger," the worthy champion of the world's best shovel-leaner, has become a lady blacksmith! She wears a coon-skin cap to protect that fur (which she calls hair) from any possible destruction in that little shop called, "Ye Old Gappy-Gulch Blacksmith Shop." Also she wears a large pink apron to protect her baggy yellow, orange-striped trousers which she wears to attract the attention of "Burly" Gould and "Slug" Furst who are usually suffering the ill effects of the evening before in the "Ye Old Gappy-Gulch" bar. Through her great efforts to become the World's Best Blacksmith, her face has turned a bloody red because of the extreme heat from the forges.

Her fame as a lady blacksmith has been spread into every possible nook and corner of Gappy-Gulch, namely because by the expert labor done by her large, sinewy arms and by that determined look for success in her eyes. Upon an inquiry of a rival blacksmith, "Ditch-digger" DeLancey stated that she imported only the best steel, coming from the neighboring town, "Two Twerps Nest's Best Junk Pile."

Her apprentices are many including Helen Savage, Marjorie Roberts, Myrtle Ernst, and Jean Stewart. Her ability to shoe horses has enabled several of the town's Worst horses to win the Tennessee Derby.

First Convention Of Student Forum To Be Held Here

South Side Social Science
Club To Be Host April 21
For All Day Program Fete

Panel Discussions
Are Top Features

Speakers To Address Group Meeting; Eugene Schmidt
To Serve As General Head

Welcoming approximately fifteen schools to the first annual Indiana
Student Forum, the South Side Social Science Club will act as host in the one-day session of the group in South Side, Friday, April 21.

Eugene Schmidt, president of the local unit, will serve as toastmaster during the morning sessions and will act as general head for the entire program.

Name Outstanding Speakers

Outstanding speakers who will address the students during the day are
Mr. Walter Myers, Director of Civic Education Service in Washington, D. C., Mr. John Essig, Executive Secretary of the Fort Wayne Housing Authority, Dr. Thurman Rice of the Indiana Medical Association, and Dr.
Andrew Cordier of North Manchester College.

Meeting in two general assemblies, an official welcome will be made by both Merle J. Abbott, Superintendent of Fort Wayne Public Schools, and by Principal R. Nelson Snider, of South Side during the morning gathering. In the afternoon luncheon, Dr. Cordier's address, "European Politics and American Interests," will be a prime feature. The South Side music department will provide instrumental music for the affair. A general business meeting will be held, which will be followed by a meeting of the board of directors.

Outline General Plan

The general plan, as outlined by Mr.
Wilburn Wilson and Miss Eleanor Smeltzley, South Side advisers, divides the delegates into four panels, which will feature discussions on Housing, Health, Foreign Relations, and Problems of Youth. Student speakers from each of the schools represented will address the groups concerning the various topics. Beverly Griffith, senior member of the Archer organization, will be the student leader for the Foreign Relations Program, which will hold session during the afternoon. Jim Murphy, junior member, will discuss the amending of the Neutrality Act.

At a meeting held last night, final plans for the affair were shaped, and reports from the various committees in charge of the affair were given.

Soph Home Room Chairmen Chosen

Will Take Charge Of Sale Of Sophomore Party Tickets;
Event Will Be Held May 12

Home room chairmen, to handle the sale of tickets for the Sophomore Party to be held May 12, were selected at a meeting of the sophomore class officers and faculty advisers held last Tuesday.

Each of these home room chairmen will conduct the ticket sale for the Sophomore Party. They will serve on committees and in any other way possible.

Officers Hold Meeting

The meeting Tuesday was attended by the sophomore officers, Bob Hines, Becky Abbott, Sam Bacon, Betty Elberson, Bob Robinson and John Bon-sib, as well as the faculty advisers,
Miss Lucy Osborne and Mr. Earl Stern.

Two other faculty members have been announced as members of the sophomore faculty advisers' committee. The two new members are Miss Blanche Hutto and Miss Lucy Mellen.
Miss Hutto will assist in the art work which will be done in connection with the decorations for the party, and Miss Mellen will assist with the refreshments for the party.

To Meet Again Tuesday

Other plans in connection with the Sophomore Party were discussed at the meeting. The next meeting of the sophomores will be held in Miss Osborne's room next Tuesday. At that time several committees to work with the officers in connection with the party will be selected and announced.

The recently selected home room chairmen are as follows:

Grad Is Honored

Helen Cox, valedictorian of the class of '38, has been named among the eight women eligible for initiation into Alpha Lambda Delta, honorary sorority for freshmen at Northwestern University; only girls who achieve outstanding scholastic records in their freshman year are eligible.

Senior Conference To Be On April 13

Four state colleges will have representatives at a senior conference to be held April 13. The schools that are sending representatives are Indiana, Purdue, Indiana State Teachers College and Ball State Teachers College. An assembly will be held for the seniors. After the assembly, students may ask the representatives any questions they may wish to ask.

Versions Vary But Doris Still Wears Very Pinkish Face

One of those mistakes that make people get red in the face don't happen often, but when they do! Some people have said it one way, others have said it another.

One way this story has been told is this: Richard Buchholz, president of Inter-Club Congress, happened to be absent at a recent meeting, so naturally Vice-President Doris Williams took charge. Absent-mindedly Doris asked for the Inter-Club Congress report at that meeting.

On the other hand people have told it this way: When Doris took charge, Max Wagner, representative of Math-Science, wrote Doris a note telling her not to forget to ask for the report. Not thinking anything was wrong, she asked for that report.

However, this is the honest truth.
Doris was in front of the club and Max Wagner was sitting near her in the first row. Everything was going along all right when Max whispered to Doris, saying, "Call for the Inter-Club Congress report." Thinking of other things, Doris asked, "Is there any Inter-Club Congress report?" No one said a thing. Again Doris repeated the question and still no one answered. She repeated it again, and this time was too much, the silence was broken and everyone began to laugh.

Doris looked around in amazement,
and then realized her mistake too late.
To quote what some people say, she will never live it down.

Three E's Meet Will Be Saturday

Mary Lee Kixmiller Will Entertain Language Group In Her Home At 3301 Webster St.

Mary Lee Kixmiller will be hostess to the Three E's Club Saturday afternoon at two o'clock in her home at 3301 Webster Street. The prospective program for this meeting consists of a report on an article dealing with salt, its derivation and its word relation; this article is taken from the magazine, "Word." A derivative lesson on English words with Greek and Latin roots and a discussion of English words that during the Renaissance came into the English language from Greek and Latin, will also be features of the meeting. Foreign phrases will be the topic of the game which will conclude the program.

The last meeting of the group was held at the home of Eileen Hoffman on Friday evening, March 17. Eileen gave a report on boners that frequently occur because of misunderstanding and Helen Faux told of words that, during the Renaissance came into the English language from the Greek and Latin. A spelling lesson was presented in the form of a story. With this the program was concluded.

Major Totem, Times Heads Are Selected

Virginia Goeglein, Richard Gerig, Bruce Bradbury To Take Over Duties In Fall

To Learn Points
During This Term

Interested Students Should Communicate With New Appointees In Near Future

"Virginia Goeglein, junior A, and Richard Gerig, junior A, will be editor and business manager of the 1940 Totem, and Bruce Bradbury, present news editor of The Times, will act as next year's Times' general manager," Miss Rowena Harvey announced.

List Former Positions
These major staff members were announced at this time so that they can work with this year's staff and gain a knowledge of the many technical points connected with this work.

Virginia Goeglein is the present circulation manager of The Times staff.
Before taking this position last September, she was the assistant circulation manager. Richard Gerig is copy editor on the Times staff at present.
He is a proofreader and a former assistant copy editor. Bruce Bradbury is a former star reporter and feature editor. He is a proofreader and copy reader on the staff at present in addition to being news editor.

"These students were chosen to head
The Totem and Times staffs as they are thorough, conscientious workers, and are good leaders," Miss Harvey said. Richard Gerig has had some connection with The Totem staff this semester. Two circulation managers are to be chosen soon. Other staff members are also to be selected in the near future.

In regard to filling the position of editor, Virginia said, "I am glad I got it. I am going to try to please everyone. I promise a leather cover on the 1940 Totem."

Richard Gerig said, "I am pleased to get it. I'll do my best. I am going to try to break all previous circulation records."

In regard to filling the position of the next Times' general manager, Bruce Bradbury said, "I only hope that whatever small part I shall contribute to The Times will be the best I can display to help in the promulgation of a school paper that sincerely will serve the school."

Virginia Goeglein will succeed Max
Spencer, present Totem editor; and Richard Gerig will succeed Kenny
Warren, present business manager.
Betty Daniels will be succeeded by Bruce Bradbury.

All students who are interested in becoming Totem staff members should see either of the newly appointed Totem heads. There will be many positions which must be filled, and for this reason there are many fields of work open to interested students.

To "HERB"—

"Our Friend and Colleague"
He taught, not of books, but of things and men

No creed or bias 'er crept into his ken,
His mind, alert and open, always ready to reject the inconsistent.
But to approve what "common sense" and science brought to balance with his life.

He taught his pupils thus to find, to look, to seek knowledge for its worth,
Its use to sharpen wit, to elevate both mind and soul,

To see, to feel the Universe and find in it a place,
And finding, learn to live with all
God's creatures, rules, and grace.

New Pupils Should Attend Times' Meet

A meeting for all persons in South Side who would like to become members of The Times staff will be held tonight in room 16.
At this meeting the new understudy system by which new workers will be trained will be explained. All persons who would like journalistic work should attend this meeting.

Free Speech Clinic Is Being Sponsored For Public Schools

Demosthenes, that famous gentleman of ancient Greek culture who cured himself of a speech impediment by learning to enunciate clearly while holding back pebbles in his mouth, would appreciate the speech clinic established for the benefit of pupils of the public schools of Fort Wayne. A traveling speech and hearing clinic has been engaged and sponsored for a month's stay in Fort Wayne by Psi Iota Xi, women's sorority which has two chapters here, in conjunction with Indiana University.

The clinic is free to the community.
Upon the presentation of a written consent of their parents, all children applying will be examined for speech difficulties, and will be given group and individual hearing tests. The clinics will be held daily, except during spring vacation, in the new addition of Central High School.
